Evangelistic Drive Here Gets Started

Dr. Miller Preaching And P. M. Pitts Leading Singing In Revival

The great statewide revival in Alabama is on and Evangelist Elmer C. Miller, of South Bend, Indiana, arrived in Clanton to conduct the meetings scheduled for Chilton County, to be held in the Clanton courthouse for the two weeks from January 3rd to January 17th inclusive.

A packed house greeted the Evangelist at seven o'clock Sunday evening wher he made his first public appearance and much enthusiasm was in evidence. Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners had prepared the court room in every way to be comfortable and well lighted and soon began to carry in extra benches to seat the overflow audience. Attorney Pitts was selected to lead the music in the campaign and he immediately launched into a spirited musical program and the audience backed him up splendidly and everyone epjoyed the feast of good music. The evangelist was much pleased with the music and said, while he practically always has his own, highly trained musical directer in his revivals and his own pianist, he believes we are to have as good, if not better music under the leadership of Mr. Pitts.

He was introduced by Rev. Haskew, postor of the M. E. Church, who read the scripture lesson and Rev. Ezell, pastor of the Baptist church lead in the prayer.

Dr. Miller then took charge and said this was his first campaign in Alabama and was much delighted with the spirit of the good people here and was sure we are to have a wonderful revival. He felt certain God was in the movement and when He starts such a movement no power in the universe can frustrate it. This is a part of the state-wide revival inaugerated by Evangelist Bob Jones last summer and thirty evangelists are now in the state in as many county seat towns, all begining Sunday. This is the first of its kind ever held in the United States, and now evangilists and pastors believe this to be the begining of a nation wide revival that will become historic in its great uplifting, and soul winning power.

Dr. Miller came here direct from Memphis Tennessee, where he was the director of the Great National Convention of Evangelists and Christian workers held there in the Ellis Auditorium from December 27 to January 23. Where most of the Nation's greatest evangelists were assembled, including Bob Jones, Billy Sunday, Burke Culpepper, Paul Rader and many others of wide reputation, and all believe another mighty revival is the only power that will pull this country out of the material spiritual depression that has overwhelmed us.

On Sunday p. m., Dr. Miller met a committee of local workers, where the plans for the campaign were carefully gone over and the program outlined. Committees to have direct charge of the activities in connection with the evangelist are as follows:

Music, Mr. Pitts, Mr. Parrish, Mr. Roberts, and Miss Mary Ellis.

Ushers, Mr. Atkinson, Mr. H. T. Pipes, and Mr. W. H. Sarter.

Delegations, Mr. Buford Lawrence, Miss Scarborough, and Mr. Stapp.

Young people, Miss Emma Sue Morris, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. C. D. Thomas, and Miss Madelyn Orr.

Treasurer, Mr. Evans.

Mothers day committee, Mr. W. H. Sartor, and Mrs. Upchurch.

Preaching trip, Evangelist Miller, Rev. Haskew, and Rev. Ezell.

Schools, Prof. Warr.

Evangelist, Miller took for his subject on Sunday evening, "The Price of Power." He said in part, "The greatest need of the church today is power. There have been times in the past when, with far less numbers the church had far greater power in attracting a lost world.

And this is because so many are worshipping idols, just as they did in the days of Belshazzer. People are worshipping the automobile, the movie, and the radio, and turning their backs on the church.

No nation has ever survived a turning away from God, and never will. Present day archeoligists are digging up buried cities which for many centuries have been hidden under the dust, of nations once just as powerful and prosperous as this United Sates.

The church has lost much of her power because she has not been willing to pay the price for power. No doctor in Chilton County gained the confidence of your people without paying a price by years of study and spending much money to gain a

WIFE OF RUFUS FOSHEE DIED LAST SATURDAY

Mrs. Sula Foshee, age , wife of Mr. Rufus L. Foshee, of the Mt. Pleasant community, died last Saturday at Central Alabama Hospital in Clanton, following an illness of two weeks.

Burial was at Clanton cemetary Sunday afternoon with Martin in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell.

Mrs. Foshee was the daughter of Mrs. E. F. Grear, who survives her. In addition to her mother she is survived by her husband and five children: Mrs. Don Littlejohn Arthur Foshee, Barney Foshee, Earle Foshee, and an infant two weeks old.

Her surviving brothers are Frank and Jesse Grear, of Augusta, Georgia; three sisters, Mrs. Sallie Eiland and Mrs. Tom Lowe, of Montgomery, and Mrs. M. D. Foshee, of Clanton.

HOME OF RUFUS WHITE BURNED SATURDAY NIGHT

The home of Rufus White, on the Selma road, near the Presbyterian church, was destroyed by fire about twelve o'clock Saturday night. The building and contents were almost a complete loss.

The city fire truck was delayed in getting to the scene because the lock to the warehouse door had been plugged. It was necessary for the firemen to break in to the truck.

This caused some delay in getting the fire fighting apparatus into operation, and the fire had gained full Mr. Ben Sims.

It is understood that the huse in which Mr. White lived was owned headway by the that time.

Robbers Entered J. C. Page Home

Last Friday night the home of Mr. John C. Page in Clanton was entered by robbers, and quite a number of valuable articles of silver and jewelry were taken away. When the thieves left the scene they departed in Mr. Page's Ford automobile.

The car was located in Montgomery Saturday morning. When Mr. Page went to Montgomery Sunday to get his car, the police had located a lot of supposedly stolen goods in a rooming house. Upon examination of the goods Mr. Page found practically all of his stolen goods there.

So far the idnentity of the robbers remain unknown. The family of Mr. Page was not at home on the night the robbery occured.

WILL SING AT PROVIDENCE

The Central Singing Society meets next Sunday afternoon at Providence. Singing will begin at 2:00 o'clock. All singers have an invitation to attend.

Concord was the meeting place last Sunday afternoon, and the singing was simply fine. There were more directors than could be used, and there was a large class of singers. The only trouble was that folks were a little late about getting there. A visitor was Mr. Nail from Verbena. We were glad to have him with us and help us sing.

Everybody do your best to get to Providence next Sunday afternoon by 2:00 o'clock so that singing may begin on time. Visitors are always welcome at the Central singings.

WINS SUBSCRIPTION TO BANNER IN FIDDLERS CONTEST

Mr. F. Smith of Maplesville, Ala., Route 2 was winner of the Union-Banner's contribution to the American Legion Fiddlers Contest at the Courthouse last Thursday night. The Union-Banner offered a one-year's subscription as our prize, and it was won by Mr. Smith. We are glad to have Mr. Smith listed amoug our large list of readers.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SCOUT COUNCIL TO BE HELD TALLASSEE

On Friday of this week at Tallassee Scout men will gather in their Annual Meeting of the Central Alabama Area Council at 1:30 o'clock with a full program including an address by Deputy Regional Scout Executive J. V. Dabbs, of Memphis. Chairman C. E. Stapp expects Clanton District scouters to attend 100 per cent.

Scouting in Clanton is making progress and 1932 will no doubt see the greatest advancement by our local scouts. Troop 48 of Clanton, Troop 51 of Lay Dam, the Cub Pack at Mitchell Dam, Troop 43 at Thorsby, all come under the same leadership of the local group of officers with the scout executive making frequent service visits.

A play by Troop 9 bringing out some important scout points is on the program as well as reports. Lets have a large attendance from Clanton.

A. A. JACKSON SAYS COOPER MISTAKEN

Editor The Union-Banner:

Will you again be so kind as to give me space to come before the readers of your good paper with the same text. When the righteous are in authority the people rejoice, but when the wicked beareth rule the people mourn.

It was well said in the Union-Banner last week, that the principal thing that was the matter with European nations today is that Uncle Sam is unable to lend them any more money. Is it not a fact that our nation has loaned to sixteen foreign nations many billions of dollars which was collected from the people of this country in taxes and revenue. And now these nations say that they are not able to pay this money back to our government, and some of our rulers are in favor of canceling these loans.

Will righteous rulers collect billions of dollars in taxes and revenue from the people of our country and give it to foreign nations and thus cause a deficit in our treasure of billions of dollars, and then put more billions of taxes and revenue on a nation that is now burdened down with taxes and revenue. Let the reader answer.

Well just a word to Mr. Charles Cooper: I think you took a bark at the moon before your chain was pulled. In your front page, double column box car letter head lines in The Union-Banner of last week, in which you critized Mr. Roper and myself I think if you will read my letter again which was in both The Union-Banner and Chilton County News and read with a better understanding you will find that it had no reference to our county officials. I do not consider our county officials as being rulers, I think we have some good county officials, but do not think they could have much to do with the present depression.

But I do think some of them are responsible for our county's high taxes and are guilty of inefficency and wicked service. Have you ever read in our county papers where some of our officials were acused of discriminating against the little school children in favor of the large children in transporting large ones to and from school and letting the little ones walk? Have you ever read in former articles of our county papers where our representative was asked whether or not he voted to pay themselves about twenty thousand dollars for nine days they did not serve, and the question was never answered?

Mr. Cooper have you noticed how some of our officials have been kicking through our county papers against high taxes? Now who is responsible for our high taxes, the State or our county? The State gets 65 cents out of every one hudred dollars of taxable property, and our county gets $1.35 out of the same amount of property. Will not the appropriations which the State makes to Chilton County amount to about as much as the state tax does which Chilton County tax payers pay to the State?

Now isin't it a fact that Chilton County and Chilton County officials are getting the benefit of the tax payers' money of Chilton County?

It was nice indeed for our commissioners to exempt all who were subject to pay road tax last year and this year. But we old fellows who are too old to pay road tax have to pay the special road tax. Tell me how can our commissioners do such business without discriminating? Were not we old fellows just as much entitled to an exemption on the special road tax as the younger fellows his road tax?

Mr. Coper, unless you are getting pretty good pay for doing the other fellows barking, you had better let him do his own barking. I think there will have to be some mighty hard barking done before this year is out.

Respectfully,
A. A. JACKSON.

DISCHARGES RECORDED WITHOUT ANY COST

The following law regarding the recording of ex-soldiers' discharges was passed in the last Legislature of Alabama:

"Any person who holds an honorable discharge from the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps may present the same to the probate judge of the county wherein he or she may reside, and probate judge shall cause the same to be recorded, and there shall be no fee charged for this service."

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We urge our people to attend the revival that is in progress at the courthouse. In this meeting there is a blessing for all of us, and we are anxious that you receive your share. Be there at every service and take a part in the worship.

Next Sunday we have our regular services at our church. The Sunday school meets at 9:45 and preaching by the pastor at 11:00 a. m. The night service will be at the courthouse.

We have added the name of Miss Evelyn Atkinson to our church roll. We extend to her a welcome into our midst.

It is easy to go right when you start right. For that reason line yourself up with the church in the beginning of the year.

THE FAMILY OF A. J. JONES OF LOMAX GIVES FACTS

Andrew Jackson Jones, of Lomax is 83 years old, and the father of fifteen living children. He is living with his second wife.

His first wife was Margaret Calloway, mother of three children. His second wife was Amanda Baker, now 65 years old, and the mother of 12 living children. They have 50 grandchildren ad 34 great grandchildren, which makes a total of 99 in the family, all living.

These facts are sent to The Union-Banner for publication by Mr. Jones himself. A. J. Jones is a nephew of Uncle Pink Jones, of Corinth whose family record was published in the paper a few weeks ago.

WAS 99 ON DECEMBER 31

The oldest living person in Chilton County that we know of is Rev. J. T. Nelson of New Salem community. He was 99 years old on the last day of 1931, December 31st.

Even though he only lacks one year of the century mark, Rev. Nelson is in fairly good health. Of course, he is feeble, but he gets about by himself, sees and hears fairly well. He has fairly good control of himself in every way. We hope for Bro. Nelson peace and happiness the rest of his days on earth.

County Agent Will Discuss Farm Prospects For 1932

COUNTY-WIDE MEETING JANUARY 15TH

On Friday, January 15th, at 2:00 P. M., at the courthouse, Clanton, Alabama, County Agent Stapp will hold a meeting to discuss the outlook for crops and livestock in 1932.

Economists from Washington will be present to present charts showing general conditions and what we may look for this year. This should prove to be about the most important meetings of the year.

Mr. Stapp attended a three-days meeting in Auburn the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd of December, at which the outlook for 1932 was discussed. He states that summary of information given out at Auburn will be presented at the county-wide meeting here on the 15th, and will prove valuable for farmers, merchants, bankers and all people in the county who are dependant upon farming operations.

At a similar meeting held last January, the crowd could not get into the courthouse.

Mr. Stapp states that the meeting will begin at 2:00 P. M., and in order that you may get a seat it will be advisable to be a little early.

Every one is asking: "What shall I do in 1932?" Attend the meeting and we are sure you will get some information that will help you answer the question.

ELDER BLOSSOM OF SHILOH AND MT. GILIAD JOINS STAFF

The Union-Banner introduces to its readers this week a new addition to its list of correspondents, who promises to be a regular contributor in the future. It is Elder Blossom who ficticiously preaches one Sunday at Shiloh and the next Sunday at Mt. Giliad. The writer and both churches are of course ficticious.

Elder Blossom will use negro dialect in his discourses, but the sermons will not be jokes at all. Of course, there will be enough humor in them to make them interesting. And just because they are in negro brogue, use ficticious characters and contain some anecdotes, our readers are asked not to get the idea that they are in any sense sacrilegious. They are going to be the pure gospel told, if possible, in such a way that people will enjoy reading them, and at the same time be benefitted thereby.

Look for the double-column heading "Dat Bloomin Preacher" in this week's paper. Read it; and if you like it, look for it again next week. If you care to express your views on any sermon, you may address your letter to Elder Blossom, in care of The Union-Banner. Or if your comment is for publication, just address it to The Union-Banner.

We believe that this feature is going to be one which our readers will thoroughly appreciate. And if read from week to week, will be of untold value to the people of Chilton County.

Mrs. M. L. White Entertains Friends

Among the charming affairs of the Yuletide given last week was the spend-the-day at the home of Mrs. M. L. White, with Mrs. P. T. Hinkle and, Mrs. H. T. Pipes as joint hostesses, honoring a few friends.

The home was effectively arranged for the occasion with decorations of holly, mistletoe and small Christmas trees and bells. The table spread with antique cloth had as a centerpiece Father Time with 1931 fleeing, and the Cornucouia pouring out Plenty for 1932. White tapers in silver holders burned at either end of the table.

The guests enjoying this delightful occasion were Mrs. G. L. Phillips, Mrs. M. A. Mullins, Mrs. Hugh Foshee, Mrs. Laura White, Mrs. J. P. Van Derveer, Mrs. Josephine Askins, Mrs. C. V. Heath, and Miss Mollie Hannon.

BARN OF BEN CLARK BURNED SUNDAY NIGHT, DECEMBER 27

On Sunday night, December 27th, the barn of Ben Clark near the Wesson place up the old highway was burned, together with all contents. The loss consisted of 140 bushels of corn, 21 bales peavine hay, 1,100 bundles of fodder, 40 bushels peas, 21 sacks cotton seed meal and the seed out of a bale fo cotton. One calf was burned up and a cow was burned so that it is said she will never be any more good. Mr. Clark reports the odor of gasoline could be detected when he and others got to the burning barn; and it is supposed that someone set it on fire.

The barn was on the place belonging to Emmett Blankenship of Birmingham. All the stuff belonged to Mr. Clark. Mr. Clark's dwelling house on the same place was burned three or four months ago.

PREACHING AT COURTHOUSE

Dr. Elmer C. Miller, of Indiana, who is holding a revival at the courthouse. This is one of the Bob Jones meetings, one of which is being held in every county in the State. Dr. Miller has been preaching here since Sunday, and has had good attendance. He will be here all next week.

The Boys in Jail Thank all Friends

Many Gifts Sent Them By Friendly People Over County

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow us a small space in your paper to thank the people over the county who sent or brought in gifts for the boys in jail.

Especially do we wish to thank Judge L. H. Reynolds for the fruit and candy which he brought to us himself. He visits the jail once each week to see about the needs of every prisoner.

We also wish to thank Sheriff Gillespie for the nice chicken dinner served to us Christmas Day. This dinner, together with the several boxes of cakes and fruit from relatives and friends, made up a fine dinner, for which we are truly thankful.

We had as our visitors Sunday morning Rev. Jesse Mitchell and family from Verbena Route 1; also several others from that community. Mr. Mitchell and his wife both gave us a good talk. We believe the sole idea of these people coming here was to do good; to give advice, and encouragement to the men in confinement. We like this kind of visitors and especially invite them to come back again.

We find but one thing wrong with this jail, and that is the way we have to talk with visitors. Tuesdays and Fridays are visiting days, and we believe every prisoner should be allowed to talk with his people in private; but as it is we might as well cut out visiting days altogether.

Again thanking every one who helped to make this a good Christmas.—The Boys in Jail.

LOCAL ATTORNEY PAYS EULOGY TO JUDGE SMOOT

Editor The Union-Banner:

The sincere beravement over the passing of Hon. George F. Smoot, Circuit Judge, is certainly evident. We cannot escape the realization that the death of a man of such calbre makes us poorer indeed. And to us this loss seems most immediate.

Everyone who came within the province of his judicial domain was impressed by his official ability and intergrity. All who enjoyed his personal acquaintance and friendship were infuenced by his sterling qualities as a genuine gentleman. All the language of praise ever written in eulogy of human character might aptly be restated among these lines Is there a man who did not respect and admire him?

I am not content with the mera utterance of a passing word of praise. My admiration of such men prompts me to give a more vivid and lasting expression. Whatever is said here cannot adequately and permanently write him as great as he was. His unimpeachable character and ability entitles him to live forever in our memory, so that we might better emulate his unique attributes. On many occasions I have stated the thought and substance of what has been said here. And now words must necessarily be convincing.

Respectfully,
RAYMOND C. SMITH.

FROM WEST PALM BEACH

Cap is having the time of his life in the land of flowers.

He landed in West Palm Beach on the night of the 24th. It has been Christmas with him all the while. Don't know just when he will get back to old Chilton County, but if he gets back he will have something to tell all of you.—Uncle Remus.

WILL WORK TELEPHONE LINES ON LAY DAM ROAD

All who are interested in the lines of the Peoples Telephone Company that lead out from Clanton up the Lay Dam or Lock 12 road are asked to meet at Gore's bridge Friday morning, January 8th, for the purpose of repairing said lines. Bring tools to work with. If it is raining, come the next day.—H. V. Honeycutt, T. G. Wyatt, R. C. Hand, E. H. Headley, Carl Gore, Wm. A. Franklin, J. B. Farley.

REPORT OF CO. TREASURER IN BANNER NEXT WEEK

The treasurer of Chilton County, Mrs. Gertrude Calloway, has filed with The Union-Banner her report of the receipts and disbursements for the last six months of 1931, and the report will be printed in this paper next week. Watch out for your paper, and when you get it hold on to it and keep it for future reference. These reports may prove of value to you in later days.

POOR ORIGINAL

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

CAMPAIGNING AGAINST THE FARM BOARD

(Editorial, Farm and Ranch, Dallas, Texas, December 5, 1931).

As the time nears for Congress to convene, the campaign against the Federal Farm Board becomes more intense. Its enemies plan its destruction. Speakers are shouting, "The Farm Board has failed." Newspapers are full of interviews. Their war cry is, "Take the Government out of business."

Has the Farm Board failed in a greater degree than the various organizations of bankers, manufacturers, congressional committees and commissions appointed by the President for the purpose of restoring prosperity to this country? The Farm Board is condemned, not only by the cotton and grain trade and other handlers of agricultural products, but by many farmers because the market has been at low levels. It is condemned because the law under which it operates calls for efforts to stabilize prices, and which it tried to do because of the insistent demand from farmers and the trade. The Farm Board undertook to do this in face of world-wide economic depression. It attempted the almost impossible because the people demanded it. The Farm Board was first condemned for holding cotton and wheat and in turn was damned because it tried to sell some of it. Agriculture has not prospered and the Board is charged with ignorance and inefficiency. Will some of these Board enemies explain why other agencies, including their own organizatians, have not been able to restore prosperity?

Sober, honest thought will result in the conclusion that no commission, board or committee, no matter what its origin or what its financial support had the power or the ability to suddenly pull this country out of the depths of depression at a time when the rest of the world was fighting a losing economic battle.

The Farm Board, in a large measure, has been successful. It has stimulated interest in cooperative marketing which the United States Chamber of Commerce advocated just so long as it thought it wouldn't work. If the Farm Board is let alone it will complete its work of organization and the farmers of this country will attend to a great deal more of their own business than they do now. But, isn't that the very thing that the enemies of the Board do not want? Every bale of cotton and every bushel of wheat going to the cooperatives is just one bale and one bushel less for the trade to handle.

Back in 1913 the Department of Agriculture published a bulletin calling attention to the abuses in the cotton trade. It cited instances of where producers were deprived of the full amount due them by the system of buying and handling their product. That was eighteen years ago, and the trade in all that time never made an effort towards reform until the cooperatives began buying on a quality basis. Now a few members of the trade are following suit, but the most of them are either unable or unwilling to hire buyers who know grade and staple in order that producers receive what is justly due them.

The trade has had plenty of time to institute reforms and has refused to do it. Now they are facing a constantly decreasing business as the power of the cooperatives grows. To camouflage their purpose of putting the co-ops out of business, they are crying, "Put the Government out of Business."

THANKS FROM J. P. JACKSON

Mr. J. P. Jackson, of Liberty Hill community, wishes to thank his neighbors and friends for their kindness to him when his home was recently destroyed by fire.

By the prompt response of neighbors, a number of things were saved from the fire, which occured on Wednesday night, December 23.

WOMEN PROMOTING COTTON PRODUCTS

Alabama women are helping solve the agricultural problems of the states and South by using more cotton garments, cotton household furnishings and other cotton products. They declare this to be one of the best ways women can assist in bringing prosperity to the nation.

A campaign for the "increased consumption of cotton" is now being conducted by the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs, Parent-Teachers Associations, Business and Professional Women's Club, American Legion Auxiliary, Women's Christian Temperance Union, League of Women Voters, County Home Demonstration Women, and the Council of Jewish Women. The campaign to use more cotton is southwide.

Merchants, chambers of commerce, civic organizations, the press, radio stations, theatres, and others are cooperating in this work.

"If every woman in every cotton growing state will buy two cotton garments it will start the wheels of industry and give employment to thousands of men and women," declares Mrs. W. J. Adams, president of the Federation Women's Club, who is promoting the work among the state women and their organizations.

In addition to the above reason Mrs. Adams advances the following reason women are in position to increase the use of cotton:

"Women own 40 per cent of the wealth of the United States and spent 65 per cent of the nation's income that goes into retail trade."

HOG PRODUCTION IS INCREASING

A marked increase in the production of hogs throughout the United States and in practically all the individual states is shown by the December 1st pig survey by F. W. Gist, state and federal agricultural statistician.

In Alabama, it is stated, the number of sows farrowed in the fall of 1931 was 9.6 per cent more than in the fall of 1930, and 28 per cent more than in the spring of 1931, while the number of pigs saved in the fall of 1931, in this state, was 12 per cent greater than in the fall of the preceeding year.

The average number of pigs saved per litter in the fall of 1931 was 5.5, compared with 5.4 the previous fall, and the same number in the spring of this year. Increase in the size of the fall pig crop of the United States was practically 20 per cent over that of 1930.

Sows bred or to be bred for spring farrowing in 1932 are 61 per cent greater than the number of sows farrowed in the spring of 1931, and this number represents 15 per cent of the total number of hogs over six months.

It is thought that this tendency toward expansion in hog production is the result of more plentiful feed as well as the desire to supplement low cash income with a production of home supplies of meat products.

INDIAN GRAVE

FOREST AND FARMING

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 4. — The forest resources adjacent to the farm are drawn on more heavily in the winter months than at any other season of the year, according to the Alabama Commission of Forestry. At this time fuel wood is the most important item, although other products needed around the farm are cut, such as fence posts and rails, timbers for house or barn, or logs to be carried to the neighborhood sawmill to be converted into lumber for farm buildings and general construction purposes. The cutting of fuel wood can be made of great benefit to the woods by confining it to an improvement cutting.

The usual practice of the landowner is to allow the thant to cut fuel wood regardless of species or size. As a result, the best and most rapidly growing species six to eight inches in diameter, breast height, are cut because they are easily handled, and the crooked, deformed, slow growing trees allowed to remain. A policy of this kind reduces the productivity of the wooded area to from one-half to two-thirds of what it should actually grow. In place of this the tenants should be allowed to cut only the inferior, suppressed and less valuable species for fuel, and the straight rapid growing species should be permitted to grow to merchantable size. In some instances it is advisable to supply the tenants with a crosscut saw, since some defective trees may be too large to fell with an ax. The tenants should be admonished to cut low stumps and be careful of the young timber when felling the large defective trees. Otherwise excessive breakage of the residual timber stand may defeat the object of the cutting.

Concord-Billingsley

We were very glad to have the visiting singers with us Sunday afternoon, and with their help the singing was real good. We invite you back again.

Our Sunday school put on a contest during the past quarter between the men and ladies. The side that received the most new members during this time is counted as winning side, and will be entertained or treated by the other side; so the ladies won by the majority of two. A committee of three has been appointed to arrange for this treat. We expect to have a nice time.

This contest was for the purpose of getting those who do not attend Sunday school to come. This is the beginning of a new quarter and new year; and may we strive to make our Sunday school and Christian Endeavor better.

The wedding of much interest was that of Mr. Olin Williams and Miss Margaret Stanford. The wedding took place last Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride near Lawley, Alabama. Rev. G. W. Stewart, pastor of this church, performed the ceremony. The couple will make their home in this community. We welcome them, and wish them a happy life together.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Herrod and children of Haynes spent the past week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams.

Mrs. W. A. Williams and children returned home Sunday after spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kynard, of Selma.

Miss Virginia Little spent the past week end with her friend, Miss Norine Headley, of Pleasant Grove Community.

Mrs. J. S. Sheppard of Clanton spent the latter part of the past week with her parents.

Misses Bessie and Jettie Williams visited Mrs. Fonza Williams Friday of the past week.

Mr. Charlie Williams spent Saturday night with Mr. Porter Williams.

Mr. Carson Williams spent the past week with Mr. C. H. Herrod and family.

Miss Sarah Misseltine has returned home from Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Williams and family spent a few hours at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams, Saturday night.

Mr. T. L. Williams dined at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams Sunday.

Miss Allie Williams spent Friday of last week with her aunt, Mrs. Emma Williams, and daughter, Eula Belle.

A NICE CALENDAR FOR YOUR SCHOOL AT BANNER OFFICE

The Union-Banner has a few nice 1932 calendars, which it wishes to place in every school in the county. The calendar has a large picture of George Washington and is in commenoration of the birthday of the Father of our Country. 1932 is the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington and 1932 is the 40th birthday of The Union-Banner. The Union-Banner is one-fifth as old as George Washington would have been had he lived until now.

We would like for someone—either a teacher or pupil — from every school in the county to call by our office within the next few days and get one of these calendars, and take it and hang it up in your school. When you come for one of these calendars, please give your name and the name of your school, so that no schools will be duplicated.

FARM AND GARDEN QUERY BOX

(By K. C. Davis, Knapp School of Country Life, Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.)

Querry—What care, if any, should be given asparagus beds in the garden during the winter?

Answer—This is a good time to remove the tops to the rotting heaps. Then spread over the asparagus roots a large quantity of well-rotted manure. Let the asparagus shoots come through this in the spring, and the growth will be surprising.

Query—How can I have some winter greens growing in the house during the winter without buying expensive ferns or palms?

Answer—Stems of English ivy may be placed in jars of water and the tops tied up to a window casing where they will grow all winter. A few stems of wandering jew may be used in the same way. Narcissus bulbs are very inexpensive and can be grown in wet soil or in shallow dishes of water, containing a few pieces of gravel to hold the roots.

Query—Please give a treatment for seed corn to prevent damage from weevils.

Answer—Place the seed corn in a tight container, such as a large can or barrel well covered. On top of the seed place a saucer with a few tablespoonfuls of carbon bisulfide. Then cover the container for the next twenty-four hours. The fumes will kill all weevils in the corn or other seed.

POULTRY

POULTRY MASHES SHOULD CONTAIN VITAMIN D DURING WINTER MONTHS

(By J. H. Bodwell)

It is hard sometimes to realize why cod liver oil should be added to the poultry mixtures in the winter and why it is not very essential in the summer to poultry flocks.

To begin with vitamin D is very necessary to control rickets or leg weakness and to get good hatchability of eggs.

There are very few feeds that contain sufficient vitamin D, which are practical to feed in the winter, except cod liver oil.

Of course the ultra violet rays of the sun help to prevent leg weakness, but think of the short hours of sunlight each day compared to summer time. Also think of the many days in winter that we do not see any sun at all. Furthermore, very few flocks are let out doors in the winter. Therefore, to insure sufficient quantity of vitamin D to poultry flocks in the winter time one should buy poultry mashes that contain 1 per cent cod liver oil or buy the cod liver oil and mix it with the mashes.

His Associates

A few minutes later Denson stated that he had no connection with a veterans' organization in Birmingham which is working to establish political strength for ex-service men.

"Who is associated with you in this movement you have started, Mr. Denson?"

"Merely those folks out in front tonight," the white haired veteran attorney said. Smilingly he walked out of the building. — Birmingham Post.

Answers Questions

"They should have $100 a month," the speaker replied, while the audience applauded.

"Do you favor immediate payment of the remainder of the soldiers' bonus money?" somebody else wanted to know.

"If you'll increase that money due them from $750 to $6,000 I'll agree with you," replied Denson while the auditorium resounded with cheers again. Finally, assuring his audience that his proposed movement would be put over, the speaker turned and walked into the wings, and his thousands of listeners, all in a good humor, walked out.

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Sermon By Elder Blossom, Delivered To The Shiloh Baptist Church (Colored)

I'se prowd to be here dis mawnin. It is de fust servis in de new yeah, 1932; and befo I reads, I wants to tell you about whut hapened in Clanton las Sadday.

I went in de drug sto to git me some chewin wax; you kno da keeps evy thing in drug stos dese days, and when I kum out dat poleasman wuz standin on de curb lookin out in de street, an bout dat time a stranger walked up to him an axed him whur he cud buy a wheel-bar, an widout lookin round de poleas sed: "Dars a drug sto rite behind you." Yes sur, you kin git anny thing in a drug sto dese days, fum a pattern fur a new dress to a capstone fur a monument.

Den I went to de shoo shop to git my shoos fix, and dat cripple man sa, "what kin I do fur you?" An I tole him I wanted my shoos haf-soled, and he sa alrite, and when he fixed em, and I started out, an got to de doah he sa "cum back." An I went back an walked up to him, he sa "What you want?" An I sa "What you want?" An he sa "nothin, whut did you kum back fur?" An I sa, "You said kum back, an I kum back to see wnut you wanted." Den he laffed an sa dat he wus jest axin me back when I wanted moah work dun, den he axed me whur I wus gwyn Sunday, an I told him dat I wus dew at Shilo. Den he sa: "Preacher, give dem niggers all dats cummin to um dawn dar." An I sa: "Leave it to me."

So, wid dis, I will read a leson beginnin wid de 6th verse ob de fust chapter ob Malachi, an read down to de las verse.

Now de tex fur to day is found in de 22 verse ob de 16 chapter ob de book ob Levitions, which reads dis way: An de goat shall bear upon him all their iniquities unto a land not inhabited, an he shall let go the goat in the wilderness.

De fust thing I wants to tell you bout a goat is dis story whut my gran mamy told me. She got it fum de white folks in slavry times. De story may not be true, but sometimes I believes it, knowin goats lak I does.

She sed dat de Lord wuz makin a sheep, an de debil wuz watchin him, an when it wuz finished de debil sed: "I kin make one lak dat." An de Lord sa "Go to it." An he got some clay an started, an when he got it done he walked round it an looked at it, an when he saw it wuz not a sheep he giv it a swif kick an sed: "Go-it;" and his tail sticks strait up, an he has bin a goat ever since.

Now dis goat in dis tex wuz known as de scape goat; and is mentioned only foah times in dis book. An when de priest laid his hans on him an den turned him loose in de wilderness, de sinner's sin wuz gone fur good. Dat goat wuz never seed nor heard of no mo; neither wus de sinner's sin remembered no mo.

Now dis goat wus a type of Christ, an when a man takes Christ fur his savior an axes his hevenly father to furgiv his sins da is gone, never to be mentioned no mo; des lak dat goat took de people's sins away wid him, des dat way does Christ tak away our sins.

Now, I wants to sa a few words bout de lesson I read in de book ob Malachi. Dem people wut Malachi wuz talkin to got to de place whur all da had wus too good fur de Lord cept de sick an lame an wuthless. An de Lord got tired ob sick sacrifices, an I don't blame him nuther. After he dun giv dem evy thing whut da's got, den offer him de wuthless stuff whut da couldent use, an den expect him to continue to bless dem. An you know folks is gittin dat way now. An jest to show you how da is whin I filled my pintment on time at Mt. Giliad Brudder Josh Young axed me if I had ary pig, an I sa no. An he sa he wuz gwyn to gib me one; an we went out to de pin, an he took a sack an got in de pin to ketch one, an dey wuz all fine pigs but one, an he wuz a little ole runty one, an he katch dat runt an put him in de sack an clum outen de pin. An when I axed him why he gib me de runt, he sa "beggers musnt be choosers."

Den I got out my Bible an red dis same scripture to him, an he got mad an took dat runt outen de sack, an put it back in de pin, an as he walked off he muttered somethin, an I axed him whut he sa, an he turned round an sa: "I don't no whut we is gwyn to do wid you preachers, you all is gittin so stuck-up dat you want de bes ob ebry thing."

So I got in my Ford an drove off an lef him standin dar, an dat nigger aint ben to church since. Now, I wants to read a poem whut I composed jes fur dis sermon, an den I will close:

"When you ketches a sheep to cut his Throat, he never sa a word,
You kin do whut you please to him,
An yet no sound is herd;
An jes lak a sheep make no soun
In de midst of all his woes,
Jes dat way our good Lord done
While in de hans ob foes;
But if you want a racket ketch a goat,
He'll yeil wid all his might;
Jes lak de debil an all his imps,
When danger cums in sight.
So don't be a goat, but be a sheep,
An wid de good Lord stan;
An whin de day ob Judgment come,
You can inter de promise lan.
Now let us stan an be dismis.

The Standarized Elementary School

Jemison and Clanton Classified Last Year As "B" Schools

The plan for the classification of elementary schools in Alabama is the outcome of a cooperative effort on the part of the State Department of Education and the Alabama Education Association. It represents the composite thought of many teachers, supervisors, and administrators as to how elementary schools may be improved.

The plan of standardization divides the standard schools into 4 groups according to merits of the schools scored: Class A, B, C, D. In every school system where an attempt is made toward standardization of the elementary schools, a committee is appointed according to the regulations which guide in such a program throughout the state. Such committee has been appointed in this country school system. The principals, P.-T. A.'s, and others interested, have already begun to seek the advice of the committee in reference to requiremnts for standardization of their respective schools. The state bulletin 1932, No. 2 reads as follows: The county or city school superintendent appoints a committee on elementary school standardization in his school system. Preferably, this committee is composed of a high school principal, an elementary school teacher, an elementary school supervisor, and the superintendent himself. After this committee familiarizes itself with the whole Alabama plan of elementary school standardization, its members visit, inspect, and advise when requested to do so by local school officials. Within the month of March each school applying for classification is visited, checked and scored by this committee on standardization. This final check and score determines a school's rating until March of the following year.—B. Lawrence.

FELT SICK
AFTER EATING

"None of my food agreed with me—I would frequently taste what I ate, long after my meals, and I did not see a well day for weeks," says Mr. Peter Seeger, 329 S. Elmwood St., Kansas City, Mo. "I began taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal, and kept this up for weeks. Gradually the pain left me and I began to feel better. I ceased to be troubled with gas, and could eat what I liked." FNA-11

Do Not Forget To Pay Your Poll Tax

This is to call your attention to the importance of keeping your poll taxes paid up. There will be a number of elections coming that you will be interested in and it will pay every citizen to sacrifice in order to maintain his rights as a voting citizen.

Remember that it is your vote that talks and by paying your poll tax you are in a position to back up your convictions.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

The annual meeting of the United Protestant Church of Thorsby (Congregational) will be held at the church at 7:00 p. m., Wednesday. January 6th. Reports from the pastor, officers, and the various departments and activities to the church during the past year, plans for the future will be in order. The usual dinner in connection with these meetings in the past will be omitted this year, but not permanently abandoned. All members and friends of the church are invited to be present.

The stereopticon lecture given by Rev. Each last Sunday night on the subject "The Rock Mountains" presented to a good audience many scenes of beauty and grandeur, also depicted in some measure missionary activities among the miners, and communities of that section.

Mrs. A. K. Horn of Montgomery, who was for many years a resident of Thorsby, was a birthday guest of honor New Years day, at a party given by her Thorsby friends at the home of Mrs. J. H. Goddard. The plan was cafeteria style. Everyone was supposed to make a contribution to the edibles, and it was certainly "put over" in fine shape. There was an abundance of eats and everything prepared by an artist in that line. One seldom finds such a bounteous dinner, every item fully up to par, except in Thorsby where our ladies are noted for their cuisine abilities. The viands were all placed on one table and served cafateria style. Mrs. Goddard made an admirable hostess, and there was much social intercourse and enjoyment among the limited number present, as the affair was in a private house, where it does not take so many to make a crowd. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Horn, Mrs. Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCain, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. Norton. Mrs. Horn returned to Montgomery Saturday having expressed thorough enjoyment of her visit and kind'y attentions received.

Another party of considerable note was a gathering of young people of Thorsby last Saturday night, at the home of Mrs. Reinhart. There were so many we could not get all the names, but were assured everybody had a good time, with games and social intercourse.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Schaster of Birmingham were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. N. Laurell. On returning home they took with them Mrs. W. Lowe, who spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Laurell.

Three bars Hand Soap for 10c at Wyatt Drug Company, Thorsby, Alabama.

Two ladies and a gentleman who have been touring the south as far as New Orleans, and were returing to their homes in Flint, Michigan, stopped for a little visit with their old time friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lucas.

Mr. T. W. Robinson, who has been spending several weeks at home with his family in Thorsby, returned to his work as district superintendent of repairs on the L. & N. Railway lines, Monday. Miss Jennye Robinson and Mrs. Anna, who have been spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Villadsen at Tuscaloosa Sunday.

Miss Bannie Honeycutt has returned to her home in Atlanta after visiting relatives and friends in Thorsby.

Many Thorsby people know that Mrs. Each is ill, in fact so ill that her doctor has ordered her to lie in bed for a month, and has also prescribed a diet very different from that she has been accustomed to. In conversation with her yesterday, she said the neighbors had found out in some way what is permissable and were vieing with one another in sending in the nicest dishes that could be prepared for the prescribed menu. She wished the writer to express to each and all her sincere gratitude for these attentions. But here is another phase of the case that she did not ask us to mention, and we wish it clearly understood that we are doing it entirely on our own initiative. We asked, "Do you have many visitors?" She looked up with her winning smile and said "Oh yes! One day ten, another day fifteen." "How long do they stay?" "Some only a few minutes, others two hours.

Wouldn't almost any well woman feel that she had done a fair day's work if called to entertain like that? Her orders are to be quiet, and rest. Most of us know that was worse to her than a sentence of 30 days hard labor, she was used to that, and few women could keep up with her activities. That's the reason she is in her present condition. The strain on her heart was too much, and like any other piece of machinery it got out of order. Neither she knows we would prescribe entire absence of those who want to see her, but we do prescribe such visits in homeopathic doses, if you wish to see her get well.

Hulga Christiansen and his mother were New Years dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Petersen.

The Misses Rachel Petersen and Virginia Quessenberry, students in Norwood Hospital, were visitors for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Petersen.

Little Sue Shaneyfelt, of Hartselle, Alabama, is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Littleton, at Collins Chapel.

On Saturday afternoon, January 2nd, Mrs. V. H. Sutlive gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of the recent bride Mrs. Rascoe Maddox. There were about fifty friends present. After the many gifts were opened by the bride and inspected by the guests, cards and pencils were passed around on which each person wrote a wish for the newly married couple. These cards were then presented to the bride to be read in private. Then Miss Mary Ella Gerald read a very interesting love story, after which refreshments were served. All seemed to enjoy the occasion,

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marcus of Atlanta are spending a few days with kinsfolk in Thorsby and Clanton.

The following clipping has been received from Mrs. S. C. Wood of Uvalda, Texas. As it concerns the doctor, who has many frieinds in Chilton County, we send it in for publication:

Kills "Expensive" Deer

Dr. S. C. Wood, who recently came to Uvalde from Alabama, brought down a nice ten-point buck one day this week which he termed an "expensive" deer. Dr. Wood figures that the deer cost him around $1,500. Previous to locating at Uvalde, he made four hunting trips to this section from Alabama but without success. This year was his fifth attempt, o figuring it all up, he believes that he was entitled to kill one buck this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Higdon and Miss Eliza Lee Sharpe left Saturday morning for Campbellsville, Ky., after spending a few days with Mrs. Higdon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Higdon and Miss Sharpe were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin for a turkey dinner New Years day.

Mr. Higdon and Mrs. Higdon are connected with Campbellsville College. Mr. Higdon is dean of the college and Mrs. Higdon is head of the history department.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Franklin had a family reunion Christmas Day. A delicious turkey dinner was served to the family, which included Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Higdon, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin and Peggy Mims, Dr. Horace G. Franklin, and Dorothy Vaughn Franklin. Other guests were Miss Eliza Lee Sharpe of McKinley, Ky., Mr. James LeCroy and Mrs. Fowler.

Mrs. B. D. Thompson is spending this week in Clanton with her mother, Mrs. J. T. Goodgame.

Miss Leata Cooper is making her home with Mrs. Ola Kelley. We are glad to have her with us again.

Miss Esther Johnson returned to Birmingham Sunday after having spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson, of Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Reilous Franklin entertained at lunch New Years: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mims, Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Robinson and children, Robert and Florene, of Jemison; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Higdon, Miss Liza Lee Sharpe of Campbellsville, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Franklin, and Dorothy Vaughn, Dr. Horace Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mims and children, Catherine and Kenneth, of Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Horton entertained a number of friends at a new years eve party.

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the many deeds of kindness shown us by so many good people in the recent accident which resulted in the death of our dear husband and father.—Mrs. Albert Atchison and family.

Prof. L. C. Warr, principal of the Chilton County High School, and Dr Miller of South Bend, Indiana, who is holding a revival in Clanton, were visitors at chapel at Thorsby Institute Tuesday morning. Dr. Miller spoke very interestingly to the student body.

Three bars Woodbury Soap and tube Facial or Cold Cream, $1.00 value, for 75c at Wyatt Drug Co., Thorsby, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall entertained for dinner last Sunday Mrs. Robert Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Petersen and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meade and Helen Louise.

Miss Mable Gibbons of Prattville visited her grandmother, Mrs. Kelley, Sunday.

Mr. H. V. Thompson spent the week end in Birmingham visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moody spent news years with Mrs. Moody's mother, Mrs. H. M. Gerald.

Miss Valeria McCracken of Gainsville, Ga., was a visitor at the Gerald home Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Miss Mary Ella Gerald, Miss Valeria McCracken and Mr. Sumner Gerald, and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg were guests at a 7:00 o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Howard last Wednesday evening.

Friday at chapel at Thorsby Institute, Katheryn Foss, who was graduated in June, and is now a freshman at Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., sang three numbers. It seemed good to hear her sing once more.

Byron Bean, also a graduate in June, and a freshman at Piedmont, gave a short talk on his impressions of Piedmont. He is enjoying his life there very much, but still has a warm place in his heart for Thorsby Institute.

January 16, at seven-thirty, the Helen Keller Literary Society of Thorsby Institute will give a Mexican and Indian program. Part of it will be in costume. Readings, Spanish and Indian music, will be sung, and a "cycle of Indian life" in pantomime will be given. Everyone is invited. Admission ten cents.

January 23 the first music recital this school year will be given. No admission will be charged. Everyone is invited.

Last Saturday night the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church held a measuring party at the dining hall. The height of each one who came was measured and he or she paid a cent for each foot of his or her height. After the measuring group games were played. Satsuma oranges were the refreshments. After these, "Now the Day is Over," was sung, followed by prayer by Rev. Joseph Each.

Mexico was the missionary topic of Christian Endeavor Sunday night. Camilla Mae McCallum was the leader. Various talks were given on the geography and history, customs, etc., of Mexico. Pictures were passed around of various buildings, sculptures, street scenes, etc. These had been loaned by Mrs. E. P. Ensminger, Spanish teacher at Piedmont College. Mrs. Ensminger was not many months ago in Mexico where she acted as interpreter for an important conference held there by representative Americans to help America and Mexico understand each other better.

Mrs. Katie Davenport and children, Duncan and Hattie, and Mrs. R. E. Phillips, and little daughter, Hazel, of Birmingham, spent the week end with Mrs. Davenport's and Mrs. Phillips's brother, Mr. Norwood Johnson, at Thorsby.

CLANTON, THE LEADER MANAGER, M. LANDE ALABAMA

Mr. James Thomas, of Birmingham spent Sunday in Thorsby.

The first of the year's social events was a pretty bridge party given by Mrs. Clyde Sims at her home on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Grover Bice capteured high score, and was presented a pretty boudoir pillow. Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway received low score, her prize being a miniature pillow.

A ver enticing salad course was served, each plate having a beautiful hand-painted calendar, each having the receiver's name, which were Mrs. R. R. Franklin, Mrs. Mack Gray, Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway, Mrs. Clarence Horton, Bill Blood, Grover Bice, Lee Pate, Miss Marie Powers, Edith Johnson, Christine Bosworth and Kathryn Lenoir.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Robinson entertained Mr. Leon Taylor and Miss Mabel Johnson to dinner one eveing last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Littleton entertained a few friends at watch party Thursday night, December 31. Some of those who enjoyed this were: Mr. Lewis and Miss Mabel Johnson, Mr. Leon and Clarence Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McCain, Mrs. E. R. Piper and Miss Mae Woods spent Wednesday in Blocton.

E. R. Piper spent Friday in Birmingham.

Mr. Lewis W. Johnson, of Fort Benning, Georgia, is spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs Norwood Johnson.

NINE YEAR OLD BOY DEAD

Walter Paul Logan, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Logan, of Verbena died Tuesday morning. Funeral services, in charge of Rev. J. W. Jones, were held Wednesday morning, followed by burial in Samaria cemetery, with Martin, undertaker, in charge.

AGED MAN DEAD

Joshua West Henley, age 84, better known as Uncle Dock, died last Saturday at his home near Mt. Nebo. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. F. A. Gibson, assisted by Rev. W. S. Cox, and the pastor of Pleasant Grove church, were held Sunday. Interment was in the Pleasant Grove cemetery with Martin in charge.

Mr. David Vines, who has been working in Selma, has returned to Clanton.

L. F. HURTT INJURED BY A HIT AND RUN DRIVER

L. F. Hurtt, age 67, of Verbena, was badly injured Monday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock when struck by an automobile driven by a hit-and-run driver. The victim was rushed to Central Alabama Hospital, and late Wednesday morning had not regained consciousness.

It was reported that Mr. Hurtt had been to Verbena, and was returning to his place of business just south of Verbena. He was walking along the edge of the highway when hit by the auto, which was also going south. Members of his family heard the noise when the car struck him, and rushed to his assistance. The automobile sped away from the scene without stopping or offering any assistance. No trace of the car has yet been reported.

Hospital attendants found the skull of the aged man fractured in three places, and little hope is held for his recovery.

The injured man is the father of Hardy Hurtt, the famous Ford mechanic of Clanton.

SPECIAL SERVICE FOR EX-SOLDIERS JAN. 15

Dr. E. C. Miller, who is conducting the revival meeting at the courthouse, announces that he will hold a special services for all the ex-soldiers in the county on Friday night, January 15th.

A special invitation is made to every ex-soldier to come to this service.

BURIED AT CORINTH

Miss Lucy Ellen Mims, age 41, died at her home in Corinth community last Monday afternoon. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mims. Funeral services were held at Corinth church Wednesday morning, Rev. Hughes officiating. Burial was in Corinth cemetery with Martin and Sons in charge.

PASTOR GETS POUNDINGS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to thank the people of Maple Springs for the pourdings recently given me. The first one some few weeks ago, consisted of groceries and cow feed worth about $15.50. Also they gave us a Xmas surprise in which were found two nice quilts which were made and donated by the people of Maple Springe community.

On each star of the quilts is the name of the one who pieced same, and a goodly number of them carry the date on which they were pieced. Also through the center of each quilt the following is very conspicuous: "From Maple Springs Church." We trust that this gift will for many years speak the love which Maple Springs had for their pastor and family during the year 1931. Thanks to Maple Springs church.—M. Lockhart, pastor.

J. H. ore Gand son, Aubrey went to Atlanta Monday night. They will return the last of this week, accompanied by Mrs. Gore, who has been visiting in the Georgia metropolis for several days.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

There are a great many people in America nowadays who seem to have lost faith in the future of the country completely. They apparently believe that all leadership is lost, politically and economically, that America has been deprived of its inventive genius and its courage, that all consumers in the United States are supplied with everything they will need for all time to come and that consequently there is no hope for development in the future. All of those of little faith might get some tonic effect from reading an address given a few days ago before the Boston Chamber of Commerce by Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. In touching on this spirit of defeatism Mr. Hays said:

"America can never face a permanent unemployment problem or loss of basic wealth until opportunity and ambition dissolve partnership. As an example of how in the past we have created resources where none existed, to help stoke the banked fires of initiative and enterprise, I direct your attention to the motion picture industry. Subtract the wealth created by the motion picture, radio and the automobile from America's income and you must look to your balance sheet. Yet these vast industrial empires have been added to our national estate in virtually twenty years. Opportunity in democracy is never a monoply of the few—or the exclusive friend of any particular generation.

"And there are still enough new ideas over the hills ahead, waiting to be cultivated, to furnish jobs and opportunity to six millions or to sixty millions. Ideas so stupendous that even contemporary open-mindedness can no more estimate their earning and employment power than our grandfather could reconcile experience with the telegraph or telephone."

Anybody who will stop for a moment to think will recognize the truth and significance of these statements of the former Postmaster General. It cannot be that in two brief years, American genius and American enterprise have been completely dried up. The forces which perfected our great industrial enterprise are still at war. America is not surfeited with new things. Many things are coming within the next few years, like the radio, the motion picture, the automobile and the airplane came during the last generation, and they will be just as much in demand from the American people as were these achievements of the present era. We are now going through a process of readjustment, necessary because we tried to travel too fast and to take the whole world on our shoulders instead of looking after America first. These adjustments will be completed finally, and then we will move forward once more.

There has been of late a noticeable change in the attitude of the professional business baiters, the men who thought that the way to make themselves popular and to help the farmer and the laborer was to cripple and destroy American industry, which furnished employment to labor and gave it the wages with which to buy the products of the farmer. These business baiters have found that crippling business does not work out as they thought it would, and now, having succeeded in hamstringing it with paternalistic laws and regulations, they find that they have well nigh ruined the farmer and the workingman, and everycne else as well. As a result there has been a change of attitude, and if, as now seems more probable, the tendency in Congress and the state legislatures from now on will be to help rather than cripple business, the process of readjustment will have been quickened considerably. As Mr. Hays says further on in his admirable address: "No one of course would suggest that legislation yield its right to interpose upon reasonable conditions, clearly in the public interest. I only urge that the method employed shall be such as to cause the result to coincide with the intent. I ask for reasonable freedom for American business to keep itself abreast of changing conditions and to erect a more stable edifice of prosperity." With that suggestion no reasonable, right thinking American will have any quarrel.

ONE WHO SEES BOTH SIDES SAYS "NO"

The clamor that has been promoted for the creation of a United States Department of Education was rather chillingly soused with cold water the other day by Secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur of the Department of the Interior, himself an educator of note and president of Leland Stanford University, now serving in the President's cabinet at Washington by reason of a special leave of absence from his college duties.

He, if anybody, is in position to see both sides of this long agitated endeavor to put into the cabinet a secretary of education, heading a federal department.

The newest presentation of the proposal came from the recent session of the National Advisory Committee on Education, which, apparently looking ahead to expected new opposition, tempered the notion with the idea that the proposed secretary serve in a semi-honorary capacity, without salary.

But it was all easily to be interpreted as a step toward centralizing the educational power, now concentrated in the several state governments the building up of a new bureaucracy in Washington and the eventual establishment of a large, salaried, powerful, national department. That it was seen, would be the inevitable trend.

Whatever the committee had recommended in the line of "local autonomy" the educator-secretary found reason to approve. But, in his Washington experience, he has seen enough of centralization to make him wary of shifting control of, and responsibility for, matters of state control to Washington.

"Many of today's problems of government belong," he declared, "many hundred miles closer to the people than is the city of Washington."

And, relative to the education scheme: "My experience with federal bureaus and departments does not encourage the belief that, once created, decentralization becomes their goal."

Seldom, in discussion and consideration of public proposals of large importance, is there evidence like this, that of one who in himself is notably both educator and experienced administrator of national affairs. Secrtary Wilbur's brief words are words to remember.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

JAPAN ACTIVE AGAIN—

The results of the League of Nations' "compromise" with Japan on the Manchurian question are already beginning to show. Under the so-called agreement the Japanese were to cease operations in Manchuria and to withdraw as rapidly as possible. At the time the agreement was made all observers, excepting the blind adherents of the League, were of the opinion that the agreement was a complete victory for Japan, showing the utter ineffectiveness of the League in a real crisis.

Subsequent events have tended to bear out the truth of these observations. Latest news from the Orient is to the effect that the Japanese are once more extending their operations toward the important city of Chinchow. It will be recalled that in the League agreement Japan retained the right to go "bandit hunting" if necessary, and this latest expedition has for its Japanese excuse the putting down of "bandit depredations."

The neutral observer will be inclined to believe that Japan will never get through "hunting bandits" in Manchuria and that a permanent occupation of the unhappy province will be the result. In fact all of the actions of the Japanese in Manchuria are said by neutral observers to indicate that the Japanese intend to stay in the province.

The League has again been able to cover its failure by the window dressing of a "compromise agreement" but this has fooled nobody. France, the most powerful nation in Europe, is said to look upon the Japanese occupancy of Manchuria with favor, and as France goes so go its satellites in Europe and so go the League and the League Court. Americans are no longer to be fooled with assertions that the League and the League Court are "great, neutral, judicial bodies." They have found out better and for that reason internationalist sentiment in the United States, excepting that which is artificially stimulated, is on the wane. Americans are more convinced than ever that the thing to do nowadays is to save America first. That is a big job in itself.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

On our trip through South Florida last week I saw a young lady walking backward as she talked to two young men who were following her. My car was going forty-five miles per hour, but I observed that there was a ravine just a few feet behind the girl. I have wondered many times if that girl kept walking backward until she fell into that ravine. She was seemingly very much absorbed in the conversation with the two young men, while backing toward danger. In that case I am quite sure that the boys were watching for her, and saw to it that no harm came to the girl. However, I have seen girls who were backing into danger, while being persued by young men. They seemed trustful, they seemed absorbed, and all the time they were being pushd on toward danger. When young ladies are walking with young men, it pays to walk with their faces forward and with their eyes looking ahead.

In the home of a farmer at Ponce De Leon, Florida, there is a dog, and this dog stands high in the estimation of those who own him. I asked the owner of the dog if his prized possession would run a rabbit? His reply was that the dog would run with great enthusiasm until the rabbit ran into a briar patch, then the dog would stop and bay the briars. In other words, that dog would run with great enthusiasm until he came to where there was danger of being scratched, and then he would sit down on his tail and bark at the briars. How much like a human some dogs are. If that dog had been a real rabbit dog, he would have chased the "cotton tail" to the briar patch, and through the briars, and on until the meat was his. Many of us, like that dog, are terrible on doing things until we are face to face with a difficulty, or a few scratches, and then we stop and set up a howl. Have you ever seen a man baying a briar patch, when he should wade through in percuit of something that is worth while?

At Tarpon Springs there is a little dog in the home of a doctor, and this little dog is known for action and affection. The little canine was troubled with one thing that was a bit unusual in the dog line, and that was that she had more tongue than she could house. No matter how hard that dog tried to pull her tongue into her mouth, an inch of it would be exposed. How much like a human some dogs are. It is not so unusual to see human beings with more tongue than they know what to do with. We have seen them so long that they were reaching out into other people's business. Some people's tongues cause them to be abnormal. O that we could learn to house our tongues.

One balmy spring afternoon I had waded into the waters of St. Andrews Bay up to my waist and was throwing my artificial minnow far out over the rippling waves. My line was of the twenty-four-pound quality, and I was expecting big fish. While working the reel, there was a tremendous jerk on the line, and I was sure that the fun had started. There was coming in one of the most pleasant pulls that I had ever hooked, and then everything went slack. My supposedly strong line had a weak place in it, and the fish went away with my minnow. That was too bad, but my line was no stronger than it was at the weakest place. The same thing is true in the life line of all of us. We are never stronger than we are at the weakest point. It is not unusual to hear men and women saying: "That is my weakest point." If you will test the strength of your life line at the weakest place, you will know what to expect as you try to draw in the weight of success. The reason why so many big things are lost in your life is because you have weak places in your character.

While riding along the Atlantic coast just below St. Augustine, I observed that the trees and shrubbery on the inland side of the highway were all leaning away from the ocean shore. Everything looked as though a heavy log had been rolled over it, and had left it leaning toward the west. The question was asked: "Why are those trees leaning so far toward the West, and all of them leaning in the same direction?" The answer came back: "Because the wind is constantly blowing from over the waters, and it is blowing in such force as to make the trees and shrubbery grow in that shape." May I not ask: "Why is it that men and women have such leanings in certain directions?" It is because the breezes of life have been constantly blowing in that direction. The breezes that blow through your home will bend the life of every child in that direction. The breezes that blow through your community will bend every youth in that direction. During the year 1932 we have got to face the breezes of life, and how careful we should be to get into that atmosphere where heavenly breezes blow. May we not stay where the breezes blowing over our souls will bend us toward God and the right, and cause us to lean heavily toward the everlasting hills? "Breezes of Paradise blow through our soul. Blow thou balmy breezes of love, and cause our spirits to bend toward God, and to lean forever toward that shore that is above."

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—Overlooks None.

I Sit Me Down—Yours received, contents noted, and I sit me down—. No, that's all wrong to begin this week and a new year with. In the first place, I have received nothing, not even for Christmas. However, after doing a little mooching around, I find that I am not the only one who has come through the late gift season on the short end, so I suppose I have fared about as well as the most of folks. Santa Claus had quite a job seeing everybody this year. But that don't keep me from wishing you, one and all, a prosperous 1932. That's from the heart, too. And I really believe we are all on the threshold of better times.

1932—A Year Of Prosperity—I listened to an optimist explaining one way he had it all figured out why 1932 was bound to be a year of prosperity. He took the numbers this way: 1 is straight; 9 is round, or practically so; 3 is round also, but you'll notice it has a little corner in it; and 2 is just plain 2—there you are—straight 'round the corner to prosperity—of course, the PROSPERITY is just thrown in to make everything come out right. But then, everything WILL come out right if we see prosperity return in 1932, so that smooths things out and makes everything right, I suppose, after all. A better way to help make 1932 a year of prosperity, though, is to pull off that long face, if you have been wearing one, and put on a big long smile in the place of it. That'll help—LOTS!

BELIEVES COTTON BOUND TO GO HIGHER—

The price of cotton is bound to go up, for a world necessity cannot long sell below the cost of production. This is the view expressed by The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist in a recent issue as follows:

"In the pullman car seats alongside us we heard two men discussing the cotton situation. One man told how his company is storing cotton in vacant warehouses in confident anticipation of a rise. 'It's bound to go up,' was his conclusion.

"And we found ourselves wishing that Southern farmers everywhere could take up this as a sort of campaign cry:

" 'It's bound to go up.'

"Or if anybody prefers to phrase the same idea in more dignified and authoritive language he can quote the conclusion of the Wall Street Journal: 'Supply is enormous, but price is even relatively smaller, and unless one is looking for an end to civilization cotton must appear to be extremely cheap. It seems a conservative assumption that cotton is now on the bargain counter.' And 'bargain counter' prices don't last. As we wrote just after the big slump in cotton prices came, it is impossible that a real world necessity will long sell below the actual cost of production. Hence we are glad to hear the general report that a great proportion of those intelligent farmers who have not yet joined the co-ops (but we hope will do so later) are hauling their cotton back to their farms. Mark Sullivan said recently:

" 'In 1926, on December 15, cotton sold at 10 cents a pound. Only nine months after that, on September 15, 1927, cotton sold at 22.5 cents a pound. In 1921, on April 15, cotton sold at 9.4 cents a pound. Twenty months later, on December 15, 1922, cotton sold at 24,2 cents a pound—considerably more than double.'

"We do not expect to see cotton over 10 cents a pound for a year or more. But neither do we believe it will long stay below the cost of production.

"It's bound to go up."

If we aren't real careful there are going to be a lot of dole-full sounds emitted in Congress during the coming winter.

Isn't there some way the Farm Board could train those grasshoppers to eat the surplus cotton?

Remember the good old fashioned girl who was satisfied if the boy friend blew-in seventy-five cents on Saturday evening?

It is said that they are having rabbit hunts in New York county. In Manhattan, however, they spend most of their time getting the lambs.

The Bob Jones Revival—Well, sir, just as I got this far along with this old "colyum" in comes none other than Rev. Miller, who is conducting the Bob Jones Revival this week, along with Percy Pitts, who is conducting the musical end of the revival. The revival got away to a big start last Sunday night, with the courthouse well filled. Rev. Miller comes to us from South Bend, Ind., and is stirring things up in a big way. After all, though, that's what a revival is for.

Uncle George Willis Again—You've heard it said: "You can't keep a good man down." Well, you can't. Neither can you keep people from finding it out if a good man IS good. I've had quite a bit to say of Uncle George Willis from time to time, but still I don't feel that I've said any too much good of Uncle George, because, if you have anything to say of him it just naturally has to be good—he's just that kind of a man. Of course we have other good folks in our vicinity—we have 'em richer, poorer, larger, smaller, but there's one way in which none can excel Uncle George—there are no jollier ones to be found. No, sir! No matter what the season—no matter how hot the sun shines or how chilly the winds may be blowing—when you meet Uncle George you'll find he's still wearing that big old honest smile that just WON'T come off. You can't make him mad—don't try. And it does me a whale of a lot of good just to meet up with cheerful old Uncle George and have a few words with him, any time, any place. I wish I had lots more friends like him—I wouldn't worry or fret—I'd just hunt up one of those friends and chat things over with him, and I know I'd feel better—I always do. Talking with Uncle George one day this week and he says like this: "Tell 'em Uncle George attends pretty near anything that comes along, and tries to get a little fun or good out of it all. I went to the Firemen's football game, went to the fiddlers convention, and I got fun out of both of them—and now I'm attending the revival to get good from that." And away he went, chuckling merrily. That's Uncle George Willis, all over.

Congratulations—I suppose there were lots of weddings during the Christmas holidays—some of them, no doubt, being figured in by some of my other good friends. Some of them I have heard of, and some I have not, maybe. Now, let's see. There's Bill Tippett—he's undertaken the job of learning to be a first class mechanic and a model husband all at one and the same time. The best of luck to Bill and Mrs. Bill. And then, there's my good friend Luther Culpepper. "Luke" is a kind of shy and retiring bird, by nature, and so, one day this week when I met him on the street and started to congratulate him on his marital venture, I was a little surprised to have him give me a cue to hurry up and say it. He isn't shy any more—not "Luke." "Congratule me," says Luke, "for I reckon I'm just a little bit the luckiest guy in the world. I've got the best little girl in the world for a wife, along with a lot of other good luck to be thankful for, and I see no reason why 1932 shouldn't be my best year yet." Well, what could I say? They're all like that—why not let all the newly wedded ones rejoice while they can?

Glimpses—"Dief" struts by—by the way, I must drop in "Dief's new cafe—if he makes half the success with it that he has with his filling station, it'll be a wow. Oops! I thought for sure I was shot that time, but it was only a Model T back-firing—I've been the target for so many fire crackers lately that I believe I'm coming to know what a shell-shocked veteran feels like. I smell peanuts parching—if there is anything I like better than a handful of parched peanuts it must be two handsful. Somebody togged out for a dance, or a frolic of some kind—oh, well, it's a merry old season. Uncle W. H. "Sweet William" Sartr, in person, and he growls out his usual good morning and nods pleasantly—Uncle Bill is a good scout after all. And then there's another good old scout—I won't give his name—I say he's another good old scout, after all (he can get). It's nearly show time, and I haven't been in ages.—Man in the Moon.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—and Some He Saw Not.

Writings of Rev. Haskew

Readers of The Union-Banner have become accustomed to look forward wtih much interest to the regular contributions of Rev. D. W. Haskew every other week in his column headed "Moral Echoes." Therein the pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church has become one of the most valuable contributors to our editorial page. My attention was called this week to an article by Rev. Haskew kew in the last issue of The Alabama Christian Advocate. I think it is the best thing he ever wrote, and I am giving it a place in my column this week because I believe my readers will enjoy reading it at the beginning of the new year:

Why Men Ought Not To Worry

"Fret not thyself because of evil doers," admonished a Jew in the olden days. This admonition was lodged against the sin of worry. Everywhere the wicked reveled in ease, comfort and power, while the righteous groveled in the dust, and the observing Jew became fretful, and worried over the seeming injustice. After becoming balanced in his judgment he asks that worry be thrown to the winds, and that envy be considered as the part of wicked.

In this period of depression, one of the most abundant sins, and one of the most pernicious sins, is that of worry. As we look out into the new year, it is well for us to take stock of our worries, and see if we can not resolve to worry less during the year 1932, than we did during the year 1931. We have given ourselves over to the demon of worry, and he is doing his best to run us distracted. Young people are worrying, old people are worrying; they worry in the country and they worry in the city; rich people and poor people are worrying; preachers worry and stewards worry; there is worry everywhere.

One man has said, "Worry is the rust on the blade of life." Worry is the friction in the human heart. It is not motion that heats the axle of a train, it is friction. The word "Fret" is close kin to "Friction." Friction produces a hot box, and endangers and delays the train on its run. That is what worry will do for each of us. Even in a good cause worry never helps, but hinders. A young lady who had to care for a fretful old lady made this sensible remark: "I believe that the sin of worrying is just as wicked as the sin of profanity." Henry Ward Beecher said, "It makes a great difference to a man's comfort and general health whether he nurses his worries and sorrows on his knees, or spanks them and puts them to bed." Worry is the poison that creeps into our blood to rob us of the joy of living. No man can carry the worries of yesterday, the worries of today, and the worries of tomorrow, without drawing on his reserve power. God never made a Christian strong enough to carry the burdens of the past, the present and the future, all at the same time. If we do not unload, we must break. If you want to break your back, break your health, break your usefulness, just load your shoulders with worry.

The hound of worry is on the track of the best of us. He is pursuing us in business, he is after us in society, he is chasing us in church life. Florence Nightingale tells us that when she was on her way to the Crimea, the soldiers told her wierd stories about certain dark birds with blue breasts, that would come and perch on the mast pole of the ship. When the storm was the darkest they would gather in droves about the ship, but no one ever captured one of them. They mingled their doleful noise with the sighing of the wind, and their very presence would freeze the soul. The black birds of worry will give to us "The dumps so dull and heavy." Let him who is not guilty of worry, cast the first stone at those who are loaded with these burdens. We are not inclined to thrash without mercy those who have the dark, blue breasted birds flying about their ship, but we would beg that the ship be sailed out into calm waters, where the birds of worry never come.

We give ourselves to worry because we carry about with us shattered nerves and over-worked brains. For weeks and months, the business man, the house wife, the professional man, has been confined to one eternal strain. From early morn until late hours at night, energy has been burned up by concentration, until the whole system is about ready to snap. Sleep takes its flight and the brain becomes heavy, and the outside world grows dark. Over-work never fails to produce worry.

We refuse to acknowledge that we are creatures with limited powers and worry is produced. We pit our strength against something over which we have no control or power. It is not unusual for people to worry themselves sick over the weather. It rains when they want sunshine; it is cold when they want heat; it is hot when they want a cool breeze. Show me the man who is able to hold back the cyclone, or brush back the snow clouds. People worry themselves sick over conditions which they have no power to regulate. Political, social and business conditions are such that they worry day and night.

We get into a hurry to do things, and because there is a delay, we drift into worry. Have you ever dreamed of trying to catch a train that is leaving you? In your dreams you run ever so hard, but you get nowhere. That is the way we seem to be in the pursuit of things that we want in this world. We want a large income. We strive in that direction, but do not seem to make any progress. Then worry sets up. We want to do well with our children. They disappoint us in many ways. We have not learned the fine art of giving them some time. This generation is saying "Step on the gas," and get what you want. Theodore Parker was dealing with the slavery question, and things did not move to suit him and he left us this record, "The trouble seems to be that God is not in a hurry and I am."

We give way to a morbid imagination and that is productive of worry. As soon as the car leaves the door, the mother starts to worrying abut the children. She can imagine a thousand things that could happen to them. She worries until the car stops at the door, carrying all to the journey's end in safety. There is a bridge down the way of travel, that bridge may have been washed away; it may give down as we are crossing it; it may not be there at all. Worry, worry. The storm that never comes, the accident that never happens, the hunger that never knocks at our door, are the things about which we worry the most. If you will write down the things over which you worry, and then check them ten years later, you will find that nine of every ten never happened. Our morbid imagination induces us to cross the bridge before we reach it.

THOUSANDS OF BATHERS ENJOY SUMMER WEATHER AT FLORIDA BEACHES

(From Uncle Remus)

"Wish you were here, hot and dandy. Swimming all day. And, tell that to Ripley."

And how they sent those postal cards and enjoyed that ocean swimming at Palm Beach on Christmas day, 1931.

Practically all news stands in Palm Beach during Friday reported an excessive postal card sales as hundreds of tourists sent away a tropical Yuletide greeting. One place reported the largest sale in months.

"Folks in the north are certainly going to receive some real "hot" Christmas news," the operator of one stand said. "Every one has at least got one card to send away. This tropical weather must be a real novelty to them. And, there are a lot of strangers here," this person reported.

Not hundreds but thousands of bathers dotted the bathing beach during the entire day—many taking their first swim on Christmas day. Beach umbrellas, those gaily-colored sun shades, lined the shore, giving the setting a real enchantment, especially for the one day out of the year.

Throughout the day the thermometer hovered around the 80 mark—just a mid-summer temperature. Early morning breezes took it slightly lower but never to an uncomfortable level.

Flowers bloomed and summer clothing predominated as the resort and West Palm Beach observed a truly remarkable Christmas.

But, even native Floridans were enjoying something different than the last two seasons. A year ago the thermometer had dropped 24 degrees lower and a blustering wind made it uncomfortable. Even two years ago the sun god was not as kind as he was yesterday.

Then it was cool but yesterday it was enjoyable at the beaches.

NOW IS GOOD TIME TO WORK TELEPHONE LINES

The Board of Directors of the Peoples Telephone Company calls the attention of all phoneholders to the necessity of rebuilding their lines. At this season of the year people are not busy at anything else much, and it is an ideal time to get their telephone lines in shape.

Phoneholders on all lines are urged to get together some day soon and all pitch in and have an old-time working on their line. The directors on each line get busy and call all your phoneholders together and make preparation for this working. If you haven't the money to pay your fee with, fix up your line anyway, so that you can talk to your neighbors and so that other people can call you when they want you. We know money is scarce, but anyone can spare a few hours, or even a few days work on your lines. You can't afford to be without your phone.—Jesse Baker, president; Jas. M. Robinson, J. P. Jackson, E. H. Mims, T. E. Wyatt, directors.

Commodity Prices Are Lower!

"Why Not Cheaper Electricity?"

A Fair Question — A Fair Answer

THAT the average rates for residence electricity have steadily declined has not occurred to the average citizen. The following interesting chart compares average living costs with the average rates for domestic electricity throughout the nation during the 40 year period ending 1930.

Taking the year 1913 as 100% and following the dotted (Living Cost) line, beginning in the year 1890 at 70%, there was a continued advance up to 218% followed by a decline to 160% for the year 1930. Living costs have RISEN 60% above 1913.

To trace out the average cost of residential electric service along the solid line one finds a striking contrast. Electricity costs have declined from 218% in 1890 to 70% for the year 1930. Electricity costs in the home have FALLEN 30% under 1913.

In the territory served directly with electricity by this Company, the average rate for residential service has declined 37.1% during the past 5 years. Living costs for the nation have declined approximately 10% during the same period.

Lesson for January 10

THE FIRST DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—John 1:19-51.

GOLDEN TEXT—The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Makes Five New Friends.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Makes Five New Friends.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What It Means to Follow Jesus.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Bringing Others to Christ.

I. John Pointing out the Lamb of God (vv. 19-34).

Through the testimony of John the Baptist, his disciples were directed to Jesus. His theme was "The Lamb of God, the Sin-bearer of the World."

II. Two of John's Disciples Followed Jesus (vv. 35-37).

As a result of the Baptist's testimony, two of his disciples left him and followed Jesus. One of these disciples was Andrew (v. 40) and presumably the other was John, the apostle. When John pointed out Jesus as the Lamb of God, the long-expected Messiah, these disciples sought further acquaintance with Jesus. Through John's testimony, they looked upon the Lord. When they looked, they believed. The proof of their belief was their following after him. John speaks, the disciples hear and follow. The whole plan of salvation is wrapped up in this simple testimony and action.

III. The Two Disciples Abiding with Jesus (vv. 38, 39).

1. Jesus' question (v. 38). Seeing the disciples following him, Jesus most kindly inquired as to their object.

2. The disciples' reply (v. 39). They answered his question by inquiring as to his dwelling place. Their reply showed their desire to go apart privately where they could disclose their hearts to him. Knowing their hearts, he invited them to his place of abode. Therefore, for the remainder of that day they held sweet intercourse with the Master.

IV. The Disciples Bringing Others to Jesus (vv. 40-46).

This portion of the lesson is one of the most inspiring passages of the Bible for the encouragement of soul winning.

The very genius of Christianity is self-propagation. The usual method is to begin with those nearest us—home folk and relatives—and then pass out to ever widening circles. The disciples, who were with Jesus in blessed fellowship, go at once to tell others of the priceless treasure they have found.

1. Andrew brings Peter (vv. 40-42). This is a beautiful example of brotherly affection, expressing itself in bringing another to Christ. The best place to begin our testimony to Christ is among our kinsfolk (Luke 8:39). This was a great piece of work for Andrew, for Peter became one of the pillars of the church of God. This was in keeping with what Christ announced, for when Jesus beheld him he said, "Thou art Simon, the son of John. Thou shalt be called Cephas"—meaning a stone.

2. Philip bringing Nathanael (vv. 43-46). Christ found Philip the following day as he would go forth into Galilee. Philip followed him in response to a personal invitation. Then Philip found Nathanael and witnessed to him concerning the messiahship of Jesus. He said unto him, "We have found him, of whom Moses in the law and the prophets did write, Jesus of Nazareth" (v. 45). Christ is the sum and substance of the Old Testament. Nathanael was somewhat skeptical, but was honest. The proper thing is to invite the skeptical to put Christ to a test. Christianity welcomes inquiry.

V. Nathanael Seeing and Hearing Jesus Testifies to His Deity (vv. 47-49).

As soon as Nathanael heard and saw Jesus, all his doubts rolled away. Jesus proved that he was the omniscient One. We do not know what Nathanael was doing under the fig tree. Perhaps he was praying for heavenly light and guidance. Jesus saw him while there. He who is willing to be led shall surely come to the light (John 7:17). He who acts upon the light given shall see greater things (vv. 50, 51). Angels ascending and descending upon the Son of man with the open heavens show that Jesus Christ is the means of communication between earth and heaven (Heb. 10:19, 20; Eph. 2:18; Gen. 28:12).

This narrative concerning the experiences of the first disciples exhibits the following stages of Christian experience:

1. Hearing about Jesus (v. 36).
2. Looking upon Jesus (v. 36).
3. Following Jesus (v. 37).
4. Abiding with Jesus (v. 39).
5. Witnessing for Jesus (vv. 41-45).
6. Bringing others to Jesus.

The Present Duty

Between the great things we cannot do, and the small things we will not do, there is great danger that we shall do nothing. There are not a few people waiting for an opportunity to be heroes, or something unusually brilliant, who in the meanwhile are not ordinary useful citizens.

Meet God

"Meet God in the secret place each day before you come in contact with the world."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Page were recent visitors to Birmingham.

"OLD IRONSIDES" TO VISIT MOBILE JANUARY 11 TO 15

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 4.—From January 11th to 15th, Mobile will be host to the most famous ship afloat, the U. S. Frigate "Constitution," or "Old Ironsides," as she is familiarly known to most people. She will arrive in the afternoon of Monday, January 11th and depart Friday morning, January 15th.

Following the ship's appearance at the sesquicental celebration at Yorktown, Virginia, in October, 1931, she started a cruise of southern waters, stopping at various South Atlantic and Gulf ports so that the people and especially the school children of this section of the country would have an opportunity to inspect the noble old frigate whose exploits at sea inspired our young and growing republic.

"We hope," Secretary Adams stated, "that the children and patriotic citizens whose contributions made possible to a large degree the restoration of the famous old ship, will accept this invitation to board her. 'Old Ironsides' is more than an inspiration—she is an American tradition. The successful accomplishment of her mission at sea when she was commanded so ably by Hull, Bainbridge, Stewart, meant more to our young nation than the victories credited to her in the pages of history."

When the Mayor of Mobile steps aboard the deck of the 'Constitution' to officially welcome her to the port, the old ship will appear just as she did when she conquered the Barbary Pirates and gained a succession of victories over the British ships in the war of 1812, so faithfully has she been restored.

In 1923 the "Constitution" was found to be deteriorated to an alarming extent, and it was evident that unless extensive restorations were made the old fighter would lose her relentless battle with the elements. Congress in 1925 authorized the ship to be restored to a seaworthy condition and the school children, patriotic societies and others donated funds and materials for the restoration which cost approximately $650,000. One firm in Mobile donated a sail and similar interest was taken elsewhere in keeping the old ship for the nation. Naturally, much of the original ship was replaced, but in refitting her the original design was carefully preserved. This marks the fourth time "Old Ironsides" has been rebuilt.

All of the railroads that enter Mobile have announced that extremely low rates will be in effect to the port during the "Constitution's" visit, and large crowds are expected in the Gulf City for that event.

"The "Constitution" was launched in Boston, Mass., October 21, 1797. Far fetched and carefully selected were the timbers that went into the construction of the vessel. From Georgia came the live oak for her keel and Maine supplied the fir for her original spars. Paul Revere made the copper bolts and spikes that joined the frames and planking. Betsy Ross made her first flags and signals. She is truly a national ship.

Her first real test came in 1803 in the war with the Barbary Pirates. For centuries the four Barbary States, Morocco, Algiers, Tunis, and Trippoli, had levied tribute on even the most powerful European nations and, if payment was refused, had captured the ships and dragged the crews off into slavery. Since 1785 the United States had suffered indignity and insults at the hands of the pirates. Two squadrons had been sent to the Mediterranean before the "Constitution" as flagship arrived with a fleet of war vessels to blockade the port of Tripoli. After a several months bombardment of the forts and town, a peace treaty was drawn in "Old Ironsides" cabin by which tribute to Tripoli ceased and American captives surrendered. Later a similar treaty was dictated to the Dey of Tunis.

The "Constitution" achieved her greatest renown when in the War of 1812 she stood invincible against the English navy. Three days after war had been declared "Old Ironsides" left Washington for New York. Off the Jersey coast she ran into a squadron of five English vessels, but by superior maneuvering and sailing escaped and headed for Boston. From Boston, she put to sea again and after capturing two British merchant ships met and defeated in thirty minutes one of England's best frigates, the "Guerriero." It was a dramatic victory for America and the Constitution. In that half an hour, America rose to a sea power. Five months later the "Constitution" won a similar victory over the "Java," a British 38-gun frigate off the coast of Brazil. There was great rejoicing when she returned to Boston.

The last great fight of the "Constitution" was fought against two enemy ships on February 20th, 1815, three days after the treaty of peace had been signed with England. By skillful sailing and fighting each ship separately, "Old Ironsides" defeated the British frigate "Cyane" and the sloop "Levant."

The battle scarred ship was then laid up for extensive repairs and then went on two cruises in the Mediterranean. In 1830 she was reported unseaworthy and condemned to be broken up, but a poem by Oliver Wandell Holmes called "Old Ironsides" aroused such popular feeling that money was appropriated for rebuilding her in 1833.

From 1833 to 1855, the "Constitution" made numerous voyages, the most important being her cruise around the world in 1844-45, when she covered 52,279 miles in 495 days at sea. For a number of years the old frigate was a training ship at the Naval Academy. In 1871 she was rebuilt at the Philadelphia Navy Yard and again in 1905. She was completely rebuilt at the Boston Navy Yard prior to this present cruise.

After such an eventful and renouned career as the champion of American liberty, small wonder it is that Americans have been anxious to preserve this venerable ship. Funds for the restoration were generously subscribed by the people of America, a large part of which was raised by school children and the balance necessary was appropriated by Congress.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Sunday school here has turned a bright face toward 1932. We began the new year with good attendance and a very good, interesting lesson. Our subject for discussion was "The fact and meaning of the Incarnation."

Our superintendent and teachers are all working together. We hope to have a brillant new year.

Our B. Y. P. U. is making wonderful progress also. We look forward to the third Sunday; it's our regular preaching day. Rev. Lowery is pastor. Everyone is cordially invited. Come and be with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones of Dothan spent Sunday with his father, B. G. Jones of Jumbo.

THANKS FROM BEN SIMS

Mr. Ben Sims, who is in a United States Veterans Hospital in North Carolina, sends word that he wishes to express his thanks to all friends in Clanton who remembered him with a kind word and a good wish for Christmas and the New Year.

SHAREHOLDER'S MEETING

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the First National Bank of Clanton will be held in the director's room of the bank at 8 o'clock p.m., on Tuesday, January 19, 1932, for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them.

This, December 10, 1931.

knowledge that gave him power. No statesman has gained power in this district without paying the price of faithful service to the well being of the public and you will never have a position of power in the community as a Christian leader unless you too are willing to make sacrafice and cut loose from the entanglements of sin and a compromising life.

A powerful life is a sacrificing life. No self - indulgent life has power. A life of power doesn't mean a life of influence. Jesus was a man of no reputation. Paul and Silas didn't have influence enoukh to keep out of jail, but they had power enough to shake the jail from cellar to garrett and then open the doors and walk out, free with the jailor and his family as converts.

Money don't mean power. Many a washerwoman knows more about Christian power than all the ungodly multi-millionaires in the United states. He related how a washerwoman in a New York town where he had a meeting, had given $50 toward the campaign which her banker told him was half of all she had. This woman was used of God in winning the outstanding social woman of that city, who then established a mission where thousands of lost men have been saved.

A life of power is one that is connected with the power plant of Heaven and knows how to utilize God's power in human needs. It is a life of devotion and prayer. It is not time wasted to pray any more than it is time wasted in filling your gas tank with gasoline. You might as well try to hatch chickens out of golf balls as to win a community to God that is not filled with prayer.

A life of power is a life that lives. When the church loves the lost as a mother loves her children, then the unsaved will be born into the family of God. Nothing so stimulates the life of a family into action and joy as the coming into it of a new baby, and nothing so revives the church and the community as when men and women are born again.

On Monday morning at eight o'clock, Evangelist Miller spoke to the Clanton High School, on the invitation of Prof. Warr, and a very enthuasiastic service was held. The students greeted him with cheers and spirited singing of the high school songs, after which Dr. Miller gave them a much appreciated message. It was arranged that they will come to the revival on Thursday evening in delegation. The court room will be decorated in high school colors, and seats reserved for them as the special guests of honor. A great time is expected. The evangelist will preach a special sermon for them.

On Monday p.m., Dr. Miller visited many of the business men of the city and was much pleased with his cordial reception. In his early life he was a business man himself, having been purchasing agent for the Studebaker Company of South Bend, Indiana.

He felt the call to preach the Gospel and cut loose and has won great success in the field of evangelism.

On Monday night another large audience was present and Mr. Pitts, with his choir delighted everybody with another fine community sing.

Dr. Miller took for his subject: "Christ Crowded Out," from the story of Bethlehem, and drew many striking comparisons and gave many very impressive illustrations of how people crowded Jesus out of hotels, politics, business, society, homes, education and pleasures.

He said in part "The hotel landlord at Bethlehem had no room for Jesus in his first night on earth, because he did not recognize who it was seeking admittance. The world at large are crowding Him out now for the same reason. The greatest advertisement for the best hotel in America would be to have the honor of entertaining Jesus as a guest in that hotel.

People from all quarters of the earth would flock to any hotel that had entertained the Christ of Gallilee. You never heard of Bethlehem before Jesus was there and then it became the most famous place in the whole world. The most famous place in Alabama now is where Jesus is passing by. There is nothing that ever came to Clanton that will advertise your town as favorably, and be as valuable to your business interests and your real estate values as a great soul-winning revival where Jesus is meeting and saving a host of people. Let it be known that you are entertaining Jesus of Nazareth in your town and the fame of your city will sweep the whole country.

Our nation became the most powerful nation on earth only because our forefathers solemnized the marriage of religion and liberty and founded it on the eternal word of God and we will only prosper as a nation so long as we give Christ the proper place in our national policies. Crowd Jesus out of politics and we are doomed.

The greatest asset in any man's business is a partnership with Christ.

The modern social set, with its froth, sham, jazz, and gambling parties don't have such room for Jesus, but they are not happy. After you have gone the limit in the devil's program of so-called pleasure your heart is just as empty as ever. It's like the apples of Sodom, full of ashes and bitterness. Jesus wants every one happy, and Christian people are always the happiest people. Any pleasure that crowds Jesus out is a ghastly fiction. One day in pleasure as a Christian is worth more than a lifetime of chasing the rainbows of worldly and sinful pleasure.

If I had a dozen children I would never send one of them to a college or university where Jesus is crowded off the faculty. I thank God for your public school system in Alabama, where the Bible is read and the voice of prayer is heard. Many states are not so fortunate or do not have that much good sense. You have wonderfully fine teachers.

On Tuesday morning Prof. Warr and Evangelist Miller visited the schools of Thorsby and Jemison, where they addressed both the high school students and the grade children, and fine meetings were held in each case, and the faculty delighted with the talks.

On Tuesday night, which was a very stormy night a good attendance again came to hear the evangelist, who spoke on the subject: "What does the world owe you?" Taking his text from the story of Nehemiah, rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem.

He said in part: "All the world owes any man is an opportunity to do a great service for humanity and that debt will be paid to every man.

"Don't worry Christian people when there is opposition to a revival meeting. It is always the best evidence that the Holy Spirit is in the community for business and the devil is mad.

"The greatest obstacle to the progress of the church is not the booze gang, or the gamblers, but the indifferent, cold, croaking, chalk and vinegar church members who say 'it can't be done.'

"A man of determination who goes ahead in a good cause in spite of all opposition is the greatest man in this community and worth his weight in diamonds.

"The only right the church has to exist is to win the lost of this community, and it is the business of the church as much as it is the business of your mills to make cloth."

ELECTION TUESDAY SAYS NO TO MOBILE TAX AMENDMENT

Chilton County Votes Over 13 to 1 Against Ratification

Defeat of the state constitutional amendment retaining the 3 1-2 mills ad valorem levy in the City of Mobile, after the "Carpet Bag" debt is retired, was indicated late Tuesday night on scattered and incomplete returns from Tuesday's election.

The majority against ratification stood at 2,685 in the State.

Mobile County, with 23 boxes in Mobile reported, showed 2,286 for ratification and 3,773 against.

Chilton County went overwhelmingly against retification of the constitutional amendment. The unoffician caunt in Chilton County Wednesday morning shawed 32 for the amendment and 422 against it.

"HER UNBORN CHILD" A PAGE FROM HISTORY

Famous Stage Play Makes one of The Best Talkies of the Season. Is Most Realistic

We saw a corking talkie last night —a talkie with an unusual title but with a finese of treatment and sincerity of purpose that struck a responsive cord in the hearts of the capacity audience at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton. "Her Unborn Child" will be shown for the last time here tonight, Thursday, January 7th. The second show will begin after the preaching service is over at the court house.

Since the talking picture captured public interest there has been no audible screen entertainment, at least not within our knowledge, that has aroused the tremendous response of "Her Unborn Child."

With its poignantly human dialog and smashing dramatic climaxes, this searingly frank story is, as the advance notice had it, "a page torn from true life—a page brimming full of pathos, realism and humor."

As a terrific stage success it toured the length and breadth of the land, startling legitimate theatre patrons with its truth, gripping them with its humanness and power. For one year it played to capacity houses at the Eltinge and Forty-Ninth Street Theatres, New York. Now, the dynamically dramatic tale of a "boy and girl in love, forgetting everything else" is presented as a talking picture, with a cast of Broadway stage notables.

Remember that tonight is your last chance to see this famous talkie at the Wadesonian Theatre here.

JUDGESHIP OF THIS CIRCUIT GIVEN TO F. LLOYD TATE

Former Attorney General is Miller's Choice to Succeed Smoot

Judge F. Lloyd Tate of Wetumpka was appointed Tuesday by Governor Miller, as judge of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, to succeed the late Judge George F. Smoot.

Judge Tate, one of the prominent lawyers of this section of Alabama, was formerly Attorney General of Alabama. In past years he has served at various times as supernumerary judge, and as solicitor of the 19th circuit. Lately, however, he has for some years been engaged in the private practice of law at Wetumpka.

In the last gubernatorial campaign Judge Tate was an ardent and active supporter of the candidacy of Governor Miller. He had many endorsements from over the circuit, for the important post to which he has just been named. In all, there were some five or six applicants for the place which Governor Miller has selected Judge Tate to fill.

PAYDAY DAWNS FOR TEACHERS IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

State Treasurer Ready To Pay Out $1,812,000 On Warrants At Once; All Counties Share

Payday, for which thousands of teachers in the common schools have waited in many counties for months, has dawned at last.

State Treasurer S. H. Blan yesterday advised Dr. A. F. Harman, state superintendent of education, that he was ready to pay to all counties, the sum of $1,812,000 as a part of the general education fund for the current school year.

"The payment of this amount, in my opinion, will mean a pay day for teachers in every county of the State," Dr. Harman said.

Dr. Harman said that the release of this sum was "the most heartening occurrence for the schools in the last eight or ten months," and that it would serve to "give encouragement to the people of the whole State," who had been apprehensive regarding the immediate future of the school system.

Most of the payments made by the State to the schools heretofore have been made to defray outstanding debts of last school year and offered but small if any relief in the matter of teachers' salaries for the current year.

The huge sum represents more than 60 per cent of the entire general education fund which amounts to $4,254,000 and will be paid to county treasurers upon receipt of their warrants at the State Treasurer's office.

It follows the release Monday of one-fourth of the County High school fund which will give to each county at once $1,125 and a release, too, of a substantial sum to the State Teacher Colleges and other high institutions of learning.

An Oasis in the Desert

As we journey through the desert of this life there looms continually before us as a mirage an oasis where we may rest free from care and temptation; but as we proceed that blissful prospect recedes.

SENATOR DARDEN AGAINST WHITE

Coosa County Lawyer Will Seek Job As Head Of Commission

Hugh White, president of the Alabama Public Service Commission, will seek re-election to the post making his formal announcement Saturday, and he will be opposed by Senator John A. Darden, of Coosa, who has also formally announced.

Hugh White has been connected with the Commission as legal adviser, secretary and since 1927 as president. He was appointed by Gov. Bibb Graves to succeed A. G. Patterson, resigned. Following his appointment he was overwhelmingly elected to the post by the people. His first connection with the Commission was as commerce counsel in 1923.

Senator Darden has served his county three times in the Legislature which includes his senatorial terms. He is the present senator from Coosa and Clay Counties, and is a prominent lawyer of his section of the State.

The campaign for president of the Alabama Public Service Commission promises to be an interesting one. There have been many hot campaigns in Alabama for this post. Usually, the office inspires a contest and inasmuch as it comes in an off political year, it is usually the warmest fight of the off-year in Alabama politics. Both Mr. White and Senator Darden are good campaign speakers. It is expected that Mr. White will make his race on his record with the Commission. On the other hand it is expected that Senator Darden will insist on reduction of certain rates and charges of public utilities.

Roosevelt Boom Gaining

Announcements continue to be made for the places of delegates at large to the next Democratic national convention that will be held in Chicago on June 27. An array of distinguished Alabamians have already announced and in every instance they have expressed themselves as preferring Franklin D. Roosevelt for president. Already W. W. Brandon, Judge Norville Leigh, A. H. Carmichael, William C. Fitts, L. J. Bugg and T. D. Samford have announced for delegate at large. There are eight of these places to fill with six already having announced.

Political interest continues to be fixed on the attitude of Judge Leon McCord, of Montgomery, towards the place of Democratic national committeeman from Alabama. Judge McCord has announced his candidacy and let it go at that. In the meantime Borden Burr and Charles McDowell are actively in the race while the name of Watt Brown, incumbent committeeman continues to be mentioned. This race promises to be an interesting one before the voters go to the polls in May to decide their preference.

District Races Lagging

There have been few announcements so far for the places of delegates from the congressional distrists. Forty of these are to be chosen, each with a half vote. There will be four delegates chosen from each of the 10 congressional districts in Alabama. It is expected that interest in these places will become greater now that the Democrats have selected Chicago as the place of meeting. Had the Democrats gone to San Francisco or some far Western city, interest in the honor would have been at a low ebb, since most people find it impossible to take the time from their business to make such a long trip at such a great expense. But Chicago is only one day and night away from Alabama and the railroad fare to Chicago is not prohibitive for a great many people as it would have been had San Francisco been selected. A great deal of approval has been given the selection of Chicago by Alabama Democrats.

While Alabama will select a United States senator this year to succeed Senator Hugo Black, the only man who has been nominated for the place is Senator Black himself. He will ask the voters for the customary second term and his friends do not believe he will have opposition.

An array of offices will be filled in the 67 counties in Alabama and news coming to Montgomery indicates that there will be plenty of candidates in the various counties. Holding public office during the depression seems to appeal to a large number of people who would ordinarily not be interested in political preferment.—Atticus Mullin in The Montgomery Advertiser.

Dr. F. P. Ensminger of Demorest Ga., will preach at East View Monday night, January 18th.

ELDER BLOSSOM THANKS BANNER FOR PUBLISHING SERMON

A day or so ago The Union-Banner received the second sermon from the Elder Blossom, colored, which we are publishing this week. His first spell appeared under the heading "Dat Bloomin Preacher" last week. Together with this week's sermon Elder Blossom said: "Ah wants to spress my preciation to you, Mr. Editer, fur de space ye gib dis elder las week. Ah laks to talk to de good people bout my sabiour, and thru de Banner Ah kin retch more than Ah culd eber see face ter face.

"Ah moute pull a yarn on some ob my frins an call dem by name, but its not my tention to hurt da feelins. So, efen youse de victem, don't git mad, cause its all done in good umer."

The Union-Banner will add that we are glad to cooperate with Elder Blossom in getting his messages before the people. We believe that his thoughts, although expressed in his simple style, deserve the careful perusal and consideration of all our people.

JUNE APPLES ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Perry Littlejohn, the body man, brought in to The Union-Banner a few days ago two small apples taken from a June apple tree on Christmas day. They were the second growth of 1931. They were grown on a tree at the home of Mr. Littlejohn's sister, Lula Littlejohn, on Thorsby Route 1. The apples were small but they had the full flavor of real June apples.

TAX COLLECTOR EXPLAINS LAW

Statute Regarding Sale Of Property For Taxes Remains Unchanged

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the taxpayers of Chilton County.

First, I want to call attention to a misunderstanding that seems to prevail in regard to a statement I made through the paper just before I took over the Tax Collector's office, in regard to the sale of property for taxes.

If you will refer to my former letter and read it carefully you will find that I made the statement that if your personal property were sold for taxes, it could not be redeemed. This is the law; but the above statement had no reference to real estate. Under the law you have two years to redeem real estate that is sold for taxes.

In other words, the law pertaining to sales of property for taxes is the same as it has been for years. I hope this will be clear, and that no misunderstanding will get anybody confused.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the people for their hearty co-operation. Nothwithstanding the financial depression, the people have far exceeded what I expected in the payment of their taxes. I trust that some way can be provided so that all tax obligations may be taken care of in due time without levy or sale.

We are sparing no time nor effort to give you the service we feel that you deserve, and as I stated in my former letter, it will always be a pleasure to serve you in any way we can.

In conclusion, I would like to impress upon those who are subject, the importance of paying your poll tax. This is a very important election year. We will elect a president this year, as well as several county officials. Unless you pay your poll tax by the first of February you can not vote in any of the elections this year.—Gratefully yours, W. G. Culp, Tax Collector of Chilton County.

REGISTER AND PAY POLL TAX NOW

The people of Chilton County are reminded that now is the time to pay poll taxes. February the first is the last day on which this duty can be discharged.

This year is election year. You will want to be able to vote in the Primaries and General Election. If you are subject to poll tax, be sure it is paid by February the first.

Those who may be entitled to register may do so at the courthouse between January 25th and February 4th.

GREAT COMMUNITY REVIVAL STEADILY SWEEPING ONWARD

Courthouse Auditorium Is Too Small To Accomodate Crowds That Are Coming To Hear Preaching Of Evangelist Elmer C. Miller

The great community revival is sweeping onward with ever increasing power and interest. The courthouse, where it is being held, which is the largest public building in the city, is proving too small and is overflowing at almost every service now. Sunday night and Monday numbers went home who could not gain admittance.

Evangelist Elmer C. Miller, who is conducting the campaign, is pleasant, loveable, and together with a strong personality makes him a winner. His messages are clear cut, forceful, convincing, and spirit filled and he creates an atmosphere of profound religious conviction.

On last Thursday night the Clanton High School attended in a huge delegation, practically 100 per cent, and filled the entire center section They were accompanied by most of the faculty, and Prof. L. C. Warr was on hand to greet them. They gave several lusty yells and their high school song, which were much appreciated by the large audience. The evangelist delivered a forceful sermon on the theme: "What is life?" using for his text "He that findeth his life shall lose it and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it." At the close many of the students responded to the invitation of Dr. Miller to come to the front to confess Christ as their saviour or renew their vows to Him. It was a very impressive service.

On Friday night a number of other schools of the county attended in delegations, including Verbena, Thorsby Institute, Jemison, Maplesville and Isabella. The Thorsby Institute led by Miss Jenkins, their principal, sang their Alma Mater song which was splendidly rendered and much appreciated.

Saturday forenoon at 10 there was a great meeting for the grade children, when the evangelist gave an illustrated talk which many said was the best of its kind they had ever heard. Many teachers and parents attended. The Verbena "kiddy band" attended in a body, and led by Miss Elizabeth Hubbard, teacher in the Verbena school, rendered a fine special number. Mrs. Atkinson of the Baptist Church, Clanton, had her sunbeam class present and gave a special musical number; and Miss Emma Sue Morris, music teacher of the Clanton Grammar School, had her school give their school song, "The Grammar School." All were very well rendered and added much to the musical part of the service. The evangelist gave praise to the winners of the musical features, and first prize went to the Verbena "kiddy band."

On Saturday afternoon a mass meeting was held for everybody and a large audience was present. The evangelist spoke on the subject: "Who Cares?" and dwelt on the great importance of all Christian people now taking special interest in the salvation of their neighbors and members of the family who are not saved. He said "many people in Chilton County think no one cares about their souls because no one has ever personally invited them to become a Christian. All know their soul is worth more than their body, and while you look after feeding them now, which is fine, at the same time if you fail to seek their salvation they think you don't really care about that which to them is by far the more valuable. Jesus had but one purpose in coming to this earth, 'to seek and to save the lost.' First to 'seek' them and if you are a follower of Him you too must 'seek' them.. It's the nature of the sinner to be timid and you fust seek them and let them know you are interested. There is no lost man or woman in Chilton County who would not be saved and made happy during this revival if all the Christian people would do their full duty. It is a time of golden opportunity and I believe many will never be saved if they are not saved now."

Sunday afternoon there was a great mass meeting for men only, and the court room was practically full of men and it was a powerful service. Evangelist Miller spoke on the subject: "The Dual Man," and said in part: "Man has two natures, one is inclined to evil and the other to do good; and this conflict has been waged from the days of Adam. God has given you free choice which side to cultivate and develop. All the forces of righteousness are at your command if you decide to do right and all hell cannot overcome them; but if you side in with the devil then God is powerless to save you. If you are determined to go to hell, brother, that is tragic, and Heaven will have to spare you, but the worst of it is you will drag some other fellow with you. You have no right to live a life or do any thing that will make it harder for your pal to win Heaven.

"Any father that lives a life that damns his boys by his influence ought to be in the penitentiary.

"Profanity is one of the most dispizable, lowest down sins a man can be guilty of. Profanity is the retreat of a cowarn. It is first cousin to a liar. It is the vehicle of incompetent brains. That young fellow who thinks it's smart to belch out a rotton stream of profanity is the worst enemy of society, and will crush your daughter's virtue like an egg shell. A profane man will pollute a whole community and fill the atmosphere with the poison of hell. No man can be a good citizen and swear. No man can be a good father and swear. Anything can cuss, even a parrot."

The great sin of the impure life was dealt body blows by the evangelist, and all present were held in rapt attention until the last word was

What Shall I Do In 1932?

This Question Of Great Importance To Farmers Will Be Considered At Courthouse Meeting Friday Afternoon Of This Week

On Friday, January 15th, at 2:00 P. M., at the courthouse, Clanton, Alabama, County Agent Stapp will hold a meeting to discuss the outlook for crops and livestock in 1932.

Economists from Washington will be present to present charts showing general conditions and what we may look for this year. This should prove to be about the most important meetings of the year.

Mr. Stapp attended a three-days meeting in Auburn the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd of December, at which the outlook for 1932 was discussed. He states that summary of information given out at Auburn will be presented at the county-wide meeting here on the 15th, and will prove valuable for farmers, merchants, bankers and all people in the county who are dependant upon farming operations.

At a similar meetings held last January, the crowd coul d not get into the courthouse.

Mr. Stapp states that the meeting will begin at 2:00 P. M., and in order that you may get a seat it will be advisable to be a little early.

Every one is asking: "What shall I do in 1932?" Attend the meeting and we are sure you will get some information that will help you answer the question.

NEW TRAFFIC LIGHT INSTALLED AT UPCHURCH'S CORNER

The Town Council of the Town of Clanton has had a traffic light installed at the intersection of Second Avenue and Seventh Street, better konwn as Upchurch's corner. This light should prove a great help in handling the traffic at this corner, where the traffic is the heaviest anywhere in the town. This is a dangerous corner, and everyone should exercise caution while crossing there, whether driving or walking.

Elsewhere in this paper is published the ordinance which the Town Council has passed regarding the proper observance of this signal light.

Beginning Friday morning, January 15, strict observance of the traffic rules will be enforced. The light must govern use of the street at this point for vehicles and pedestrians alike.

The Town Council and police force desire the full co-operation of everyone in helping them enforce the traffic rules. They wish it known that this signal system has not been installed as a money-making machine, in the way of fines etc., but as a safety measure, and that strict enforcement of the rules from the beginning is the only way in which the full benefit of the system may be obtained.

One of the most significant and constructive developments in all history of the Cotton Belt was the recent agreement between Southern bankers, the Federal Farm Board, and the cooperatives to hold a total of some 7,000,000 bales off the market until August 1 next year.

MILLER DECLINES COTTON SESSION

Says Legislature May Be Called But Not To Consider Cotton Law

Gov. Miller will not call an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of considering proposed legislation to reduce the production of cotton in Alabama this year.

He leaves no doubt that this is his decision of the question whether such action should be taken, which has been brought to his attention with varying frequency during the past two months, in a statement issued yesterday afternoon. In this statement, he sets out in detail the reasons upon which his decision is based.

To his decree on the cotton reduction extra session proposal he adds, however, that it may be necessary later on to have a special session for financial, educational, road and other relif, and that if such a session is held, agricultural questions could be included in the call.

Referring to the results submitted to him Wednesday by Representative R. J. Goode and Commissioner of Agriculture Seth P. Storrs, of the poll by Mr. Goode of other members of the State's law-making body to find out their attitude toward the holding of an extraordinary session of the Legislature to take up the enactment of cotton reduction statutes, the Governor in his statement says some of the legislators wanted a session to consider only this question, while others desired the inclusion of school, financial and road matters in the call.

Legal Minds At Variance

Some of the "great and learned lawyers," he adds, clearly declared that such cotton legislation passed by other states would be void under the constitution of Alabama, while others regarded the enforcement of such legislation as impractical.

Citing the various sorts of legislation adopted by other states to curtail the production of cotton, Gov. Miller said a law to prohibit the planting of cotton would be unconstitutional; a law limiting the acreage planted in cotton during any year would not only be unconstitutional but would also be impractical and unenforceable and that even if it were constitutional, such legislation would establish "a dangerous precedent."

If the farmer can be prevented by law from planting except so many acres of cotton each year, the Governor declared, then you could also limit him in the amount of corn or other products he could raise. "You can prescribe the territory of the merchant to sell goods," he states further, "the lawyer to practice law, the doctor to practice medicine, the banker to receive deposits."

"Prohibit by statute the planting of only a limited acreage of cotton, and it would take numberless police officers or deputy sheriffs, surveyors, chain bearers at enormous expense to the state and counties to see that each farmer obeys the statute; and it would array neighbor against neighbor."

COMING WEEK TO NAME CANDIDATE

North Dakota Requires Presidential Aspirant To Announce By Jan. 22

Washington, January 10.—Budding presidential candidates in the Republican and Democratic gardens will bloom or fade this week—the coming out week for the 1932 campaign.

Whether an open campaign against the renomination of President Hoover is to be made depends to a large extent on a decision expected momentarily from Senator Hiram Johnson of California.

The restless State of North Dakota, with a law requiring filing of candidacies in the presidential primary before January 22, is forcing the issue in both parties.

Senator Johnson is being urged by a combination of anti-Hoover Republicans and independents to enter not only this primary but all others.

Roosevelt In Race

The North Dakota call will be used by friends of Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, to put him formally into the contest within the next seven days.

Whether Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, the other avowed Democratic candidate, will test strength with Roosevelt in this Northwest agrarian area is regarded problematical.

Unless Johnson goes into the North Dakota race, Joseph I. France, a former Maryland senator, is expected to be the only likely contestant against Hoover there.

Washington is still buzzing over the unexpected decision of Charles G. Dawes to resign in the early Spring as ambassador to Great Britain. His friends do not expect Dawes to get into the primary campaign against the President, pointing to the General's deep sense of loyalty.

Dawes "Available"

They do understand, however, that he has definitely cut away from the Hoover administration at a time and in a manner which gives the party notice that he will be available if wanted next June at the nominating convention.

The Roosevelt boom to be set off by a call from the Democratic committee of North Dakota is to be carried forward by a move to place him in the Pennsylvania primary. In that state there is every prospect of a showdown between the New York and Maryland governors.

Roosevelt also is to go into the New Hampshire primary in March—the opening contest of the campaign. However, there is every indication the Roosevelt group will stay out of "favorite son" states, including Ohio, Missouri, Oklahoma, Maryland, and Virginia.

The anti-Hoover movement in the Republican organization has definitely come to the cross-road. Senator Norris, of Nebraska, a leader of the Western Republican independents in opposition to the President, has declined to go into a Republican convention fight against the President.

Third Party Discussed

The veteran Norris, who bolted the Republican presidential ticket of 1928, is known to have turned down requests that he go into the North Dakota primary as well as others. He is counseling his advocates, however, to be ready for a third party if the Republicans nominate Hoover and the Democrats pick a man not to the liking of the "progressives."

Senator Borah, of Idaho, another leader of the Western Republican independents, also has been much discussed as a presidential candidate and has been urged to get into the race. He, too, is balking.

Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, has been talking a lot with the Senate Republican independents and they have been weighing him as a candidate, but there are indications that he has not been called into the Northwestern states.

Meanwhile, the names of Newton D. Baker, or Ohio; James A. Reed, of Missouri; James M. Cox, of Ohio; and Gov. Murray, of Oklahoma, bob up constantly in the Democratic speculation.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH WINS THIRD AND FOURTH GAMES

Chilton County High School's basket ball team defeated Isabella last Friday by the score of 20 to 19. Arnold was high scorer of this game, getting eight of Chilton's 20 points.

On Tuesday night Chilton High defeated Maplesville 15 to 8. Clyde Popwell was high scorer for Chilton, with six points. Jeff Tucker starred for Maplesville.

These games were the third and fourth victories of the season for Chilton High. The "Tigers" are a new team complete, Littlejohn being the only letter man on the squad.

ORIGINAL

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

FARM INCOME OF 1931 DROPPED 26 PER CENT

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 11—Preliminary estimates indicate a total gross farm income of $6,920,000,000 from the farm production of the United States in 1931, or 26 per cent less than the gross returns of $9,300,000,000 from the production of 1930 and 42 per cent below that of 1929, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at Washington. This estimate includes the value of farm products sold and farm products consumed in the farm home.

The total value of the crops produced in 1931, on the basis of December 1 farm prices, was estimated at $4,123,000,000, or $1,700,000,000 less than the value of the 1930 crops. The income to be derived directly from the sale and food consumption of crops amounted to only about $2,900,000,000, or about $1,000,000,000 less than in 1930 and the income from livestock amounted to about $4,000,000,000, or $1,400,000,000 less than 1930.

The gross farm income for the United States is probably about equal to the pre-war 1909-1913 average and is the lowest since 1911. As a result of war-time price inflation and war-time demand, farm income reached about $16,000,000,000 in 1919. From that high level it fell to about $9,000,000,000 in 1921, and recovered to about $2,000,000,000 in 1925. Between 1929 and 1931 farm income dropped from $12,000,000,000 to $6,900,000,000.

The recent changes in gross farm income are largely the result of the great price changes of the past two years associated with the economic depression. The combined total physical volume of crops and livestock sold or consumed in 1929 was only about average, in 1930 about 2 per cent below the average, and in 1931 about 2 per cent above the average.

The volume of crops sold, or consumed in the farm home, had reached in 1928 a level of 5 per cent above the average of the 1924-1929 period, declined to about 2 per cent below in 1929, to 6 per cent below in 1930—a year of general drouth—and then recovered to about the average in 1931 as a result of improved yields in cotton, fruits, and grains.

Postmaster Bass of Birmingham says that postal savings in Birmingham increased in two years from $180,000 to $2,930,000. Postal savings funds are now being placed in Federal Reserve banks.

A recent comparison of the Florida citrus industry with the citrus industry of California and Arizona shows that cooperative marketing has been distinctly beneficial to the western growers. Higher prices were received for their products, although they are much further from the big markets.

An official of the American Petroleum Company says that gasoline bootlegging is now being done to the extent of $50,000,000 a year through evasions. He said that tax evaders evaded taxes in seven different ways: "Abuse of refund and exemption privileges; adulterate motor fuel with non-taxable products; trucks across state lines, usually at night; divert ostensible out-of-state shipments to the same state; make false bills of lading, and operate dummy sales corporations."

COTTON ON HAND IS AMPLE FOR 2 YEARS

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 11—In making their plans to plant cotton in 1932 farmers need to consider one important fact. It is that the supply of American cotton now stands at approximately 25,800,000 bales, which is enough for two full years of consumption.

This important fact was presented by extension service workers of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn and by county agents in connection with plans for better farming. The average annual consumption of American cotton recently has been about 12,000,000 bales, or less than half of the supply now on hand. But consumption has increased recently, and, should it in 1932 reach the 1929-30 figure of 13,000,000 bales, it will be half of the present supply.

At this rate the carry-over of American cotton on August 1, 1932, will be close to 13,000,000 bales as compared to 8,900,000 bales on August 1, 1931. The normal carry-over has been 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 bales, or about half of the August 1, 1931 carry-over and one-third of the prospective carry-over on August 1, 1932.

"The severe declines in cotton prices in the past two years," said the statement, "have resulted from greatly reduced demand and large supplies of cotton, and from the more general conditions that have brought about a lowering of international commodity price levels. The world business depression and falling consumer incomes, not only reduced the price of cotton, but reduced the amounts consumed as well. World production has not been reduced in line with the declining consumption and large stocks of cotton have accumulated."

These figures are presented at this time in order that cotton growers may know what is ahead of them and what to expect in the way of prices if another big crop of cotton is made in 1932.

FARMERS GET CASH FROM TURKEY SALES

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 11—Farmers of Alabama are $130,000 richer as a result of sales of turkeys for the Thanksgiving and Christmas trade, J. B. Sylvest, manager of the produce department of the Alabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association, reported as shipping for Christmas were completed.

He reported that 31 carloads or approximately 45,000 birds were shipped out of the State, and that 21 of the carloads were handled cooperatively through the Mutual Supply Association.

In addition, Sylvest estimated that 15 carloads or about 20,000 birds have been or will be consumed from Alabama tables. This makes a total of 65,000 turkeys, which at $2 per bird, which, according to Sylvest, was about the average, makes a total of $180,000 paid to growers.

Sylvest said the quality of the turkeys this year was far baove the average, due mainly to the fact that growers had a liberal supply of corn which was used in fattening.

Counties from which the turkeys moved include Dallas, Montgomery, Bullock, Russell, Lowndes, Pike, Houston, Perry, Wilcox, Marengo, Sumter, Greene, Hale, Autauga, Barbour, and others.

FARMERS CONTINUE ORGANIZATION WORK

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 11—County Farm Bureau workers continue to report progress in enlarging membership in their organization, county, state, and national, and announcement is made from state headquarters here by E. L. Deal, executive secretary of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, that "every day from now until the annual meeting in July or August will be membership day."

Cullman continues to take the lead, Manager J. S. Hyatt reporting that in one day 120 members came into the office and paid their dues in the Cullman County Farm Bureau. Baldwin and Pike counties also report splendid progress with leaders in both counties striving toward their goals. Tuscaloosa and Dallas are next in line.

An intensive campaign is now under way in Dale County, a series of meetings being held in the communities with President J. O. Delony and others as speakers. These meetings will be followed up by personal solicitation. Madison, Lauderdale, and Blount counties are also among the leaders in efforts to increase membership.

The taxation program of the farm organization, success of which depends on a larger membership, is helping to attract many to the organization who formerly have taken little interest. This program calls for the substitution of an income tax for the State property taxes, which substitution would mean a cut of one-third in the taxes of nearly all farmers.

DAIRYING

MILK SUPPLY SHORT ON ALABAMA FARMS

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 11—The dairy situation is such as to require precaution in expanding for commercial purposes but an increase in Alabama for supplying the family is needed. In Alabama there are tens of thousands of farm families who are under-supplied with milk and butter.

Those who are considering increasing herds to sell milk and cream should consider the fact that the number of dairy cows on farms of the United States is 4 per cent greater than a year ago.

Stocks of all imported classes of dairy products were lighter by about 34 per cent on October 1, 1931, than in 1930; and 31 per cent less than the 5-year average. However, the dairy industry of the United States is nearing an export basis which will tend to hold prices at a comparatively low level for the next few years.

From January, 1929, to September, 1930, the general level of prices of dairy products declined 37 per cent while the price of feed declined during this same period 61 per cent. With rather large crops of hay and grain on the farms, dairying is being resorted to by many Alabama farmers as promising a way out of their present difficulties.

In general Alabama farmers are safe in planning to keep more dairy cows to produce a larger share of the food needed for their families. Those who are planning to produce dairy products for sale must prepare to meet increased competition from the western corn belt states where the number of dairy cows has been materially incrased because of low-priced grain. High-producing cows fed abundance of home-grown feed can meet this competition successfully, at least to the point of supplying the needs of Alabama.

SPREAD TOO GREAT IN HOG, PORK PRICES

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 11—Live hog and retail pork prices are much too far apart and farmers are receiving much less for live hogs than is justified by prices consumers are paying for pork products, according to J. D. Moore, extension marketing specialist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, who is stationed here.

He quoted figures from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to show that on December 15 "prices at New York retail markets for good grade pork chops average 26 cents a pound, a reduction of 7 cents or 21 per cent from the price December 15, 1930; ham 22 cents a pound, a reduction of 7 1-2 cents or 25 per cent; sliced bacon 32 cents a pound, a reduction of 9 cents or 22 per cent; picnics 14 1-2 cents a pound, a reduction of 5 1-2 cents or 27 per cent; and lard 13 1-2 cents a pound, a reduction of 3 cents or 18 per cent from a year ago. Prices of live hogs at Chicago for the week ending December 12, averaged only $4:18 a hundred-weight compared to $7.92 for the corresponding week in 1930, a reduction of $3.74 or 47 per cent."

Meanwhile, C. B. Denman, member of the Federal Farm Board, issued a statement saying that "with agencies between the farmer and the consumer making little or no reduction in their margins, practically all the burden of supplying the consuming public with low-priced pork products is being carried by farmers. The percentage farmers receive of retail prices of pork products is the smallest on record. Current retail prices warrant considerably higher prices for hogs than farmers are receiving."

JESUS AND NICODEMUS

LESSON TEXT—John 3:1-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Tells How Much God Loves Us.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Answer to a Ruler's Question.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Beginnings of the Christian Life.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The New Birth.

I. The History of Nicodemus (vv. 1, 2, cf. 7:45-52; 19:38-42).

The lesson today has its peculiar significance in the light of Nicodemus' station in life. He was a learned rabbi, a doctor of the law, and presumably a man of good character. His coming by night indicates his timidity. Like Joseph of Arimathea, he was afraid to espouse openly the cause of the new teacher of Galilee. Though timid, as an honest man, he investigated and obtained first-hand information. Because of this information, he uttered the brave words in the Sanhedrin against judging a man before hearing him (John, 7:45-52) and rendered loving service at the Lord's tomb (John 19:38-42).

II. Jesus' Discourse to Nicodemus on the New Birth (vv. 3-17).

1. The necessity of the new birth (vv. 3-7). If one is ever to see or enter the kingdom of God, he must be born again. There can be no personal choice in the matter. Regeneration is the first demand the gospel of Christ makes upon man. The reasons for this are:

a. The Kingdom of God is a spiritual kingdom, therefore there must be a spiritual birth in order to enter it (v. 3). As we enter the physical kingdom by a natural birth, so we enter the kingdom of God by a supernatural birth.

b. The nature which is ours through the natural birth is radically and essentially bad (v. 6, cf. Gal. 5:19-21). That which is born of the flesh is flesh. In the Galatian text Paul gives a catalogue of the works of the flesh. The flesh cannot be improved (Jer. 13:23). In order to enter into the kingdon of heaven there must be a nature fitted for heaven. There is nothing that can be substituted for the new birth. Men today are trying to substitute morality and education for the new birth. Nicodemus possessed these, yet Christ declared that he needed more.

2. The mystery of the new birth (vv. 8-13). Though the new birth is mysterious, its results are definite. This mystery is illustrated by the wind. We cannot discern from whence it cometh or wither it goeth, but we know by its effects that it blows. The fruit of the life demonstrates its nature, whether it is heavenly or carnal. We need not to be told that we have had a physical birth for our bodies with their various faculties in exercise prove it. Even so, the presence within us of a nature which has no affinity for the things of the world, a strong affection for God and a disposition to yield prompt obedience to his commands proves our birth from above. Just as the tree is known by its fruit, so tastes, desires, and ambitions prove the quality of our nature.

3. The ground upon which the new birth rests (vv. 14, 15). Christ's atoning death on the cross makes regeneration possible. He took the place of sinners. His infinite merit was placed to their account. He suffered in the sinner's stead. Just as the Israelites had only to look upon the brazen serpent in the wilderness, so the sinner needs only to look upon Christ uplifted on the cross (Num. 21:4-9; John 12:32; II Cor. 5:21; I Pet. 2:24). Our salvation cost on the part of God the giving up of his only begotten Son, and on the part of Christ the suffering and shame of the cross.

4. For whom the new birth was provided (vv. 16, 17). "Whosoever believeth in him." These verses give in a condensed form the whole plan of salvation. Observe:

a. Its source—"God so loved."

b. Its ground—the death of Christ—"He gave."

c. Its recipients—"Whosoever."

d. Its condition—"Believeth in him."

e. Its results—"Should not perish—have everlasting life."

III. Man's Attitude Toward Christ (vv. 18-21).

1. Some believe and are saved. Those who believe are now free from condemnation.

2. Some will not believe and are therefore resting under the condemnation of God. The awful sin which causes men to be eternally lost is unbelief in Christ. The cause of their unbelief in him is their love of sin.

Work and Worry

It is not work that kills men; it is worry. Work is healthy: you can hardly put more upon a man than he can bear. Worry is rust upon the blade. It is not the revolution that destroys the machinery, but the friction.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Overcome Difficulties

"The soul that the Holy Spirit is guiding will be taught to expect difficulties, and to patiently plod on and overcome them."

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Thomas, of Verbena, visited Clanton Monday.

FOUR ESSENTIALS TO GOOD FARMING

Auburn, Ala. — With a view to profitable farming in Alabama in 1932, District Agents J. T. High, Emmett Sizemore, and R. G. Arnold, of the extension service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, said that major emphasis should be placed upon:

(1) Farming to make a living.

(2) Producing cotton more cheaply.

(3) Improving the soil, and producing nitrogen at home.

(4) Developing other crops.

The first unit of this profitable farming program has two objectives in view. They are (1) better living, and (2) cheaper living. The farmer who makes his farm as nearly self-sustaining as is feasible will have more to consume and he will also do less buying, thereby leaving his net cash balance larger.

By producing cotton at minimum cost positive cotton relief is obtained. Unless this is done profits from cotton production cannot be expected on a great many Alabama farms.

Soil improvement is essential to low-cost production of cotton and also other crops. On poor soil production costs are certain to be high. Nitrogen can be produced abundantly on Alabama lands by planting legumes—winter and summer.

Farmers in diferent sections of the state must decide for themselves which other cash crops they can afford to plant. In making the decision they need to confer with their county agents. Before planting there should be reasonable assurance that there will be a market for the product when ready for market.

County Agent T. M. Gowder says that farmers in 7 communities of Jackson County have bought 7 purebred beef bulls. They are Angus, Hereford, and shorthorn breeds.

More than 500 Etowah County farmers attended a stump-blowing demonstration and learned how to use explosives in freeing their lands from stumps. The demonstation was conducted by L. L. Self, county agent.

Recent advances in freight rates authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission are expected to increase railroad revenues in the United States by more than $100,000,000 this year. Provision is being made for applying this increased revenue so as to make it strengthen the railroad structure as a whole.

It has been estimated that the value of negotiable paper arriving by mail in the New York money market last year totaled six billion dolalrs. Meanwhile airplanes engaged in passenger transportation are expected to fly in the United States 12,000,000 miles in 1932. Slightly more than half of this is expected to be flown at night with both mail and passengers.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

THE RAILROAD SITUATION AS PRESIDENT HOOVER VIEWS IT IN HIS MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

This very clear statement by President Hoover of the problems which confront the management of American Railroads so closely parallels the statements by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and other great trunk line systems that it is here reproduced for public consideration. This statement made to Congress by President Hoover deserves the careful consideration, not only of Congress, but of every American citizen.

Railways

"The railways present one of our immediate and pressing problems. They are and must remain the backbone of our transportation system. Their prosperity is interrelated with the prosperity of all industries. Their fundamental service in transportation, the volume of their employment, their buying power for supplies from other industries, the enormous investment in their securities, particularly their bonds, by insurance companies, savings banks, benevolent and other trusts, all reflect their partnership in the whole economic fabric. Through these institutions the railway bonds are in a large sense the investment of every family. The well-maintained and successful operation and the stability of railway finances are of primary importance to economic recovery. They should have more effective opportunity to reduce operating costs."

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

When you read this church notice I want you to ask yourself this question: "If the church is worth having, why should I not give to it my best?" There is not a man in Clanton who would be willing to burn our churches, and forsake the Christ whom we worship. Yes, you want prosperous churches, but you want the other fellow to produce them. Why not put yourself into the church and make the church what you want it to be?

We have Sunday school at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m. The night service will be at the courthouse. Clanton would become a new city if the people here would take their church life seriously. One thousand years from now you would give a billion dollars to have again your present opportunity. Come next Sunday and hear the message: "The peril and the privilege of opportunity."

Locals

Farmers around Alexander City are increasing their dairying, according to Sam Day, county agent. One cream route is now serving 150 farmers who are shipping cream each week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cleckler announce the birth of a son on January 9, 1932. He weighs 8 1-2 pounds.

J. M. Smith of Thorsby, manager of Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association, was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Claud Calloway has gone back to Miami, Florida, to work as a telegraph operator for the Florida East Coast Railroad.

Mr. Wood of Saundersville, Ga., and Mrs. Kahn, of Milledgeville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kin Vinson last Saturday. They returned home Sunday.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION

There will be a fiddlers convention at Thomas Jr. school house, Friday night, January 15. All fiddlers are invited to come.

There will be several valuable prizes given, come everybody and laugh off the blues.

There will also be amusement besides the fiddlers. The admission will be 10 cents and 15 cents. Man and his wife, 25 cents; boy and his sweetheart, 25 cents.

MT. PLEASANT NEWS

The faculty and Jr. II Class are planning a reception for next Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mastin; given in honor of the Jr. III Class. Several interesting contests will be given.

The Jr. III Class is presenting a series of debates in their English work. An interesting debate was given last Monday. The subject was "Resolved that the mechanic is better off than the farmer." Curtis Traywick and Mabel Gillespie upheld the affirmative side, while the negative side was supported by J. P. Culp and Harry Parker. The affirmative won.

Chapel exercises will be conducted next Friday by Miss Baldwin. Her programs are always interesting and we hope many visitors will be present.

Rev. Haskew, pastor of the Methodist Church of Clanton, has promised to come out to our school soon and conduct chapel and give two or three talks to the classes.

We are very glad to have our beloved sixth grade teacher back in school with us. She has been out several days having some dental work done. Miss Bessie Eiland supplied for her.

Mr. George Burnett spent new years day in Thorsby visiting friends and relatives.

Gertie Mae Jones has recently recovered from the mumps. We are glad to have her in school again.

Our principal, Mr. R. B. Johnson, was in town shopping Saturday.

Miss Bessie Eiland spent the day Sunday with Mayme Logan.

Miss Murline Powell spent the past week at Sylacauga with her sister.

The boys and girls basket ball teams from Thomas Jr. High School will play a double-header here on Friday afternoon, January 22, at 2:15 p. m. Everybody is invited to come.

A singing exercise was held at Miss Ruby Well's home last Saturday night. A large crowd was present.

We are proud to have in our community Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Devaughn, who moved here from Thomas community.

The school is proud to add a new member to the Jr. I Class—Paul Martin, who comes from Milledgeville, Georgia. He enrolled on Monday of this week.

The Salem B. Y. P. U. gave a social at Salem Church last Friday night, January 8.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cooper gave a party last Saturday night in honor of their daughter, Luettie.

Miss Georgia Mae Blalock has been the guest of Misses Luettie and Callie Cooper the past two weeks.

Mr. Clifton Jones spent new years day in Tallassee with his uncle, Mr. Willie Jones.

Miss Ilar Massey was the guest of Miss Eunice Holley Sunday afternoon.

A singing was held at Liberty Hill Church last Sunday afternoon. We had a large crowd with us. Our 1932 song books have been received and distributed. We extend a cordial invtation to all singers to come back on every second Sunday evening and join our singing society.

Harold Littlejohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Littlejohn, has pneumonia. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss Kathleen Smith was a visitor to Collins Chapel last Sunday. She reports a pleasant trip.

Miss Baldwin spent a pleasant week end with Miss Lera Bean.

EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL SPECIAL FAVORS TO NONE

J. O. Mize, Citizen of Maplesville, Takes a Slant at the Bus and Truck Business on Highways

Editor Union-Banner:

I have seen several pieces in the paper relative to the busses and trucks that travel over our highways, often crowding us home folks almost off the roads. The bus and truck business does not look like equal rights to me. Let us stop and think just a little.

The railroad companies bought their rights of way from us farmers, and paid us a fair price for same. Then they hired us to help them build their railroads, and paid us a good price for our labor. Then after their roads were complete and ready for use, they hired our boys and girls to help them maintain their roads and run their offices. Thereby they gave thousands of people from the country good jobs, and paid them a fair salary. That was equal rights to all and special favors to none.

The railroads have also bought millions of dollars worth of timber from the people. By way of cross ties and bridge timbers many thousands of workmen have found employment that they could make good money. Today it is almost impossible to sell cross ties or bridge timbers.

The railroads did not stop at the benefits enumerated above. They pay us thousands and thousands of dollars each year for our schools to help us educate our children. Still equal rights to all and special favors to none.

We buid our own highways with our tax money and the tax money of the railroads. We get them all fixed up and ready for us to take our produce to market with some pleasure. Then comes the bus and truck companies, that have possibly not invested anything in road building, and literally take possession of our highways. They often crowd us off the roads. This does not look like equal rights to all. If the bus and truck companies have ever helped us pay for our rights of way, or have ever paid anything to our schools, I have not known of it.

If everybody could see the question as I do, the bus and truck companies would not exist much longer. I will not ride on one of their busses. I will not hire them to haul any freight for me. If this suits you readers of The Banner, tell your neighbors. Let's just wait for the trains to come and handle our freight; also wait for the passenger train. It is much safer for travel than the bus.

If the patronage of the public were returned to the railroads where it belongs, then all the trains would be put back to running, and all the railroad workers would go back to work, and times would be better. Then we could travel over our highways with safety. Let us see if we can not restore the good old times again.—J. O. Mize, Maplesville, Ala.

If mortal man has any wisdom about cotton, it would seem to be true that the time to hold cotton is when cotton is cheap and the time to sell cotton is when cotton is high.

STORRS URGES FARMERS TO HAVE CLAYS TESTED

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 11.—Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture, today issued a statement urging Alabama farmers to have clays on their farms tested for their commercial value in making brick, sewer pipes, drain tile, china, stoneware, flower pots and other useful products.

"Farmers now have the opportunity of having clays tested free and we are hopeful that all farmers will take advantage of this opportunity," Mr. Storrs said.

"All that is necessary is for the farmer to write a card or letter to the Industrial Development Board, Birmingham, asking for a sack in which to ship the clay sample. The sack will be stamped and addressed, therefore, all the farmer will have to do is to place the clay in the sack and place it in the mail box or the post office."

The survey is being made to assist land owners of the state in locating industries to use their clays and to assist industries in locating owners of useful clays.

DEATH OF MRS. W. S. ADAMS

The death angel visited the home of W. S. Adams and family and took away their darling mother on December 31st. She was the mother of three children, Lishie Miner, L. B. Adams, and Rosa Adams, and was survived by her husband, W. S. Adams and three children, thirteen grandchildren and a host of friends and was loved by every one who knew her. She was a great worshipper of Gods great work.

She was born and raised here in Chilton county. She was born July 1871 and died December 31, 1931. She was 61 years old.

Burial services were conducted by Rev. R.M. Honeycutt. We thank each and everone for their kindness and help during their mother's sickness and death.—Lee Gladden.

CONNATSER PROSPEST

This season Bruce Connatser, first baseman from the New Orleans Southern league club, may be Cleveland's "find." If Connatser, another former University of Alabama star, makes good at first, Eddie Morgan probably will be shifted to right field, giving the Indians one of the best outfields in the league of Vosmik, Averill and Morgan.

W. M. U. MEETING

The annual meeting of the W. M. U., of the Chilton County Association will meet with Jemison Baptist Church on Thursday, January 21.

We hope all churches will be represented that have a W. M. U. All new officers are expected to be present and get started in the year's work. Each lady bring her own lunch, so don't forget. Come and lets make it a day worth while for our Lord.—Mrs. W. H. Raybon, Sec'y and Treas.

BUCK GORE'S FLOUR SALE THIS WEEK

Marion Gore is prepared to "set the world on fire" this week with what will probably be the biggest flour selling event in the history of Chilton County.

Mr. Gore will have on hand something around 500 barrels of high grade flour for this occasion, which will come off Friday and Saturday of this week.

It is a big shipment direct from the mill, and Buck wants it impressed very forcibly on his friends over the county that he is getting this flour to sell and not to keep.

Accordingly, he has put the price down to the level of hard times. Just look at his advertisement in this paper, and you will at once realize that this is the time to lay in your supply of biscuits for several months.

FRANK GRESHAM ELLISON

Frank Gresham Ellison, 20-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Ellison, died last Friday at the home at Mitchell Dam. The funeral was conducted at the home Saturday by Rev. J. D. Hughes. Burial was at Mullins cemetery with Martin in charge.

MRS. MARY JANE EDWARDS

Mrs. Mary Jane Edwards, age 92 years, died Tuesday morning at the home of her son, Will A. Edwards, in South Clanton.

Burial was at Concord Wednesday with Martin in charge.

DEATH OF J. D. WILSON

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson and took away their beloved son, J. D. Wilson. He quitely passed away on Saturday night, January 9th, about nine o'clock.

To know him was to love him, but God loved him best and called him home. He was about 22 years of age, just in the bloom of life. He leaves to mourn his death, his father and mother, three sisters, and five brothers and a host of friends and relatives.

Our loss is Heaven's gain. Father, mother, sisters, and brothers, try to be submissive to God's will, for He doeth nothing wrong. So when God calls let's try to be ready to meet him on the great beyond.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Bently, he was laid to rest in Big Springs cemetary to await the resurrection morning, may the Dear Lord bless the bereaved ones, he will be sadly missed by all.—A Cousin.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met last Sunday aftenoon, though there were not so many present.

We had a good singing for the first time, to sing in the new books. We have the new Morris-Henson books now, and we hope to have a large crowd with us next second Sunday.

Directors for the afternoon weret Mr. J. W. Lowery, Mr. Hiram Littlejohn, Mr. Houston Melton, Rev. Billingsley, and Mr. D. T. Melton. Pianists were: Mrs. Hubert Devaughn, and Miss Gertie Lee Lowery.

We elected Rev. Billingsley for our Chaplain and Mr. D. T. Melton assistant Chaplain. We were indeed glad to have Rev. Billingsley with us, also the visitors. We invite all of them to visit us again. We especially invite all good singers and lovers of music to come and be with us every second Sunday afternoon.—Sec'y.

TACKY PARTY

There will be a tacky party at the Collins Chapel Church, Saturday night, January 16th. The admission will be 10 cents if you are dressed tacky and 25 cents if you are not. An interesting program is being arranged. It is hoped that the Clanton quaret can be present.

The proceeds are for the church piano.—Zac Y. Appleton.

WALNUT CREEK NEWS

The regular preaching services were held at Walnut Creek on last Saturday and Sunday with Sunday school and Christian Endeavor on Sunday also.

The Sunday school was fine with good attendance and good interest, but we are hoping for a better attendance than we have at present.

Our Christian Endeavor is still progressing nicely. We have an average attendance of 45 or 50 and most every one who attends takes an active part in the programs. Our society has been divided into two groups, one group puts on the program one Sunday night and the other the next. The names of the groups are Faith and Hope. The faith group presented the program on last Sunday evening, their topic being "How shall I spend my Money?"

On next Sunday night the Hope group will discuss the topic, "My Share in my home." We invite everybody to come and find out what your share in your home is.

The first quarterly conference of Clanton Circuit meets at Walnut Creek Saturday, January 16, 1932. There will be preaching at eleven o'clock and the conference will meet immediately after noon. All the official members of the church are urged to be present.

On Saturday night there will be preaching at Walnut Creek Church by Dr. Miller, who is conducting the community revival at the courthouse in Clanton. We are very proud to have Dr. Miller with us. We urge everybody in our community and surrounding communities to be present for we know Dr. Miller will have a wonderful message to deliver. This will be a splendid opportunity for those who do not have a way to go to the courthouse to hear this splendid evangelist. Everybody come and let's have a splendid meeting at seven o'clock Saturday night at Walnut Creek Church.

BAKER SCHOOL NEWS

Last Saturday and Sunday the regular services were held at Liberty Hill. Rev. Holland, the pastor, delivered two excellent sermons. Brother Holland has been our pastor for the last few years, and we enjoy his lectures very much. We invite every one to attend these services on the second Sunday and the Saturday before, in each month.

The singing society met at Liberty Hill Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and practiced in the new books. We invite the public to meet with us next second Sunday afternoon and take part.

Mineral Springs presented the play "Poor Father" at our school last Saturday night. Only a few people attended, but all seemed to enjoy the play very much. The proceeds went to Mineral Springs Church and Baker School.

Baker Junior High boys played a basket ball game with Stanton boys on the home court last Friday afternoon, January the eigth. It was a real interesting game. The score was 32 to 6 in favor of Stanton. Our next ball game will be Friday, January 22, with Mt. Pleasant on their court.

THE MACHINE AGE SPOILS A PROPHECY

By H. L. RUSSELL

Advisory Council, Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association.

A NOTED British scientist forecast thirty years ago that by 1931 all available wheat land in the world would be under cultivation, and if the yields per acre could not be increased beyond that which then prevailed there would be a world shortage. The average yield then was 12.7 bushels per acre. During the past seven years, the world over, it has been 14.1. On the 320,000,000 acres in cultivation this increase would amount to almost a half billion bushels more production than the world standards of thirty years ago. In place of dire distress due to shortage, we have had dire distress due to surplus.

H. L. RUSSELL

Wheat farmers have shown no great inclination to curtail materially their output; perhaps a 10% decline compared with 70% reduction in steel. This unwillingness, or perhaps inability, to adjust production to current needs makes the problem all the harder to solve.

Not only are we now growing more wheat per unit of land, but acreage has been very greatly extended. In twenty years Canada has increased acreage 250%, Australia almost as much. Another significant fact is the materially lessened use of wheat. A much more diversified diet has developed. More vegetables and fruits are used than formerly. The reduction of 1.2 bushels consumed per person per annum since the last generation necessitates nearly 150,000,000 bushels less wheat than was formerly required.

Machines Increase Supply

The factor that has exerted the most potent influence in this rising world flood of grain has been the rapid development of the machine. The old days of the cradle required from thirty to forty hours of hand labor to harvest an acre of grain. Then came the binder, which reduced the process to four or five hours per acre. Now the combine does the work in forty-five minutes per acre.

Where it used to cost ten cents a bushel merely to thresh the grain, the modern combine cuts and threshes at a cost ranging from 3 to 5 cents a bushel. With this reduced cost of production, the possibility of acreage expansion is tremendous. Lands heretofore regarded as worthless except for grazing have recently come into competition with the older wheat belts.

The Russian Effort

Within the past two or three years another disturbing element has come into the picture. Soviet Russia is attempting a comeback fraught with possibility that cannot yet be fully evaluated. Russia is eagerly utilizing the very latest of scientific knowledge to enlarge her agricultural possibilities. With feverish anxiety she is literally pouring millions into the expansion of her university research institutes, experimental stations and breeding farms. Her scientists are combing the earth for new crops and new methods. No country in Europe is manifesting more interest and activity in laying hold of the best science, wherever it may be found.

It is of more than passing interest that the wheat yields reported on the huge trust farm known as the "Giant" ran last year as much as 18 bushels to the acre. On this single farm the crop harvested is reported to have been 3,865,000 bushels. A single farm of 427,000 acres under government control and mechanized as fast as human energy can be applied is a new factor in the world's picture.

There can be but little doubt that the Russian situation may yet assume quite a different attitude from what obtained even in pre-war days.

Bankers Hold Farm Conference

A "feeders' conference" was held in a state bank at Presho, South Dakota, attended by fifty farmers. The conference stressed the feeding of low price wheat and barley, and marketing it through livestock. Later, booklets on the feeding of wheat were distributed among the farmers, and a feeders column was carried in the local paper each week.

"We have had more success with the conference and with the feeders column in the local paper, than with any other undertaking we have tried," the bankers said. "As a result there is about three times as much livestock being fed out in our territory than ever before. We plan to hold other similar conferences the coming year."

The benefits of civilization exist because of the capital accumulated by those who have gone before. Through accumulation of capital our great railroads have been constructed, our public utilities have been built and our mills, office buildings and homes have arisen.

AN ORDINANCE

An Ordinance to prohibit any person or persons driving or operating any automobile, motor truck, motor vehicle, wagon, buggy or other vehicle and to prohibit any pedestrian walking along, across or over any street or avenue in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, or at any intersection of a street or avenue in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, wherever an automatic traffic signal is located, suspended or installed, and against the red light of said signal, whenever the red light of said automatic traffic signal is lighted or burning; and to prohibit any automobile, motor truck, motor vehicle, wagon, buggy or other vehicle to make a complete or "U" turn at or on any street or avenue in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, or at any intersection of a street or avenue in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, wherever a sign or signal is posted or located by the proper authorities of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, prohibiting said complete or "U" turn; and to prescribe and fix a penalty for failing to comply with the provisions of this ordinance:

Be it Ordained by the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, as Follows:

Section 1—That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to drive or operate any automobile, motor truck, motor vehicle, wagon, buggy or other vehicle or for any pedestrian to walk along, across or over any street or avenue or at any intersection of a street or avenue in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, wherever an automatic traffic signal is located, suspended or installed against the red light of said signal whenever the red light of said automatic trafic signal is lighted or burning; provided further that the provisions of this Section shall not apply whenever said automatic traffic signal is not being operated, or is not in operation.

Section 2—That it shall be unlawful for any automobile, motor truck, motor vehicle, wagon, buggy or other vehicle to make a complete or "U" turn at or on any street or avenue in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, or at any intersection of a street or avenue in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, wherever any sign or signal is posted or located by the proper authorities of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, prohibiting said complete or "U" turn.

Section 3—That any person or persons who shall violate the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $1.00 nor more than $100.00 or be sentenced to hard labor for the Town of Clanton for a period not exceeding six months, one or both, or a suspension of license to drive a motor vehicle for a period of not more than six months at the discretion of the officer trying the said offense.

Read, adopted and approved this the 13th day of January, 1932.

POTPOURRI

Catching Ermine

Because an ordinary trap would tear the delicate fur of the ermine, a steel blade is greased and placed in the snow to lure the animal by its resemblance to ice. Licking the knife, the tongue of the animal freezes to the steel blade because of the low temperature during trapping season. It then becomes an easy victim.

Lively contrast in two or even three colors is the keynote of many frocks this year, not only for women, but also for children. ODD THINGS AND NEW—By Lame Bode

(WNU Service.)

Prohibition Will Observe Its Twelfth Birthday Soon

Celebration Will Be Held at the Mayflower Hotel in the National Capital

Next Saturday, January 16th, the 12th birthday of prohibition will be celebrated by the drys all over the country.

The Anti-Salon League of America will hold its 25th Convention at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington from the 15th to the 19th inclusive. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth of Birmingham will be one of the two keynote speakers having for his theme "The Position of the Southern Democrats in 1932."

Other delegates from Alabama are Rev. J. R. Hobbs, President of the Alabama Anti-Saloon League, J. Bibb Mills, Superintendant of the Alabama League, Hon. F. M. Jackson, Rev. L. E. Barton, Secretary of the Baptist State Mission Board, Rev. Eugene L. Crawford, Hon. Watt T. Brown, Hon. Ira Champion, Rev. M. E. Lazenby, and Rev. L. L. Gwaltney.

The Alabama Anti-Saloon League at its recent annual meeting held in Birmingham, reviewed the work of the past year and outlined a more aggressive and intensive plan of organization for the coming year. They passed strong resolutions stating the position of the League on the question of a refrendum on prohibition which is being advocated by Mr. Raskob and other leaders of the Association against the Prohibition Amendment, and also that it would be the policy of the League to support only those candidates for public office who are known to be opposed to the repeal, modification, or a refrendum of the prohibition laws. The following is the complete resolution adopted:

Whereas the organized liquor forces of this nation are preparing to refer the matter of national prohibition to a popular referendum, therefore be it resolved by the Trustees of the Alabama Anti-Saloon League in session in Birmingham that we oppose this propsed referendum for the following reasons:

First, The Eighteenth Amendment was adopted in response to demand of public sentiment by the most overwhelming majority that any Constitutional Amendment has ever received. Forty-six of the forty-eight American states ratified the Amendment and that ought to be conclusive.

Second, the Amendment has shown marvelous economic results in its salutary effect on labor throughout the nation and in savings of the people. There are more home owners and more savings accounts even in these times of depression than there were in the days of saloons.

Third, there is a supreme issue involved in the liquor question which good citizens will never surrender; and the same citizens will not be bulldozed by the wet papers and wet politicians who claim that it is a political issue only, and in consequence, the church should have nothing to do with it.

Fourth, the talk of a refrendum by the wets is mere camoflage and propaganda. They know that a resolution calling for the refrendum would have to pass the Congress by two-thirds vote, and would have to be ratified by three-fourths of the state legislatures, or Constitutional Conventions called by the states. This would probably require more than two years time; and during the time every effort would be made to weaken the laws and prevent their enforcement; the people would be held in a state of uncertanity while the liquor element would draw upon all of their resources, financial and otherwise, to leave the impression that the prohibition laws should be abolished. "Untold millions of money for the merciless fight to break down prohibition in the United States would begin to flow. Bales of wet papers, hours of radio programs, flying squadrons of speakers, armies of paid heelers and ward workers would be turned loose upon the land. All of these would be cheerfully and gladly paid by the liquor trade as an investment. The expectation would be that over the bars of the country, in nickels and dimes of the common people, the investment to defeat prohibition would be richly paid back.

On the other hand the call would go out to the Christian forces who have but little money to meet and offset the campaign put on by the liquor forces. This would precipitate the most bitter and acrimonious campaign the country has ever known and would result in national turmoil and confusion. Moreover the referendum would be a costly matter coming at a time when those who favor prohibition have not the means to offset the money behind the liquor trade.

Fifth, the country has never had a referendum on any Constitutional amendment and there exists in the minds of able constitutional lawyers doubt as to the validity of any referendum on Constitutional provisions. They believe that the results of any such referendum would be declared null and void when tested in the courts of our country. But if a referendum were valid why make an exception of the liquor question when none was made of slavery, woman suffrage, income tax and other great economic questions.

Sixth, that it is our firm conviction that the prohibition laws far outweigh and transcend party lines and that the preservation and enforcement of these laws are of greater importance to the country than the success of any political party.

Seventh, that we will only vote for and support those candidates for public office who are known to be opposed to the repeal, modification or a referendum of the present prohibition laws. The Anti-Saloon League is a non-partisan organization and we earnestly hope that no political party will put a plank in its platform advocating repeal, modification or a referendum of the prohibition laws.

Be it further resolved that the press of the state both religious and secular be requested to publish these resolutions.

GLAD OF REVIVAL THOUGH NOT ABLE TO ATTEND

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you give me space in your paper for the followirg few words?

Do we often enough give thanks for the multitude of good people in the world?

Paul's letters are full of expressions of joy in his Christian friends many of them he saw very seldom but he rejoiced to know they were there. The same with us in this time of great need. How thankful we should be for the revival that is being held in our county and the good men that are making it possible.

Those of us who cannot attend can think of it and pray for it and feel the fire. I know, for I am allready feeling it.—A Reader.

JASPER COURTHOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Jasper, Ala., Jan. 12.—The Walker County Courthouse was destroyed by fire tonight with an estimated damage of $200,000. Many valuable records in the offices of the two circuit judges, the circuit and county solicitor, and in the health and education offices were destroyed.

The fire started in the steeple of the building during a heavy thunderstorm. County officials said they had been unable to determine whether the fire was started by lightning or whether defective wiring in the courthouse clock was responsible.

No one was injured.

GIVES NATIONAL ECONOMIC PLAN

By ROME C. STEPHENSON

Former President American Bankers Association.

WE hear much of future economic planning to save the nation from a repetition of depression and promote more stable business activity. I know no better plan to suggest to insure future better times than that every wage earner, every family and every business throughout the country lay down as soon as they are able a program of proper savings as the foundation of their financial policy.

R. C. STEPHENSON

I know of no better plan than this to build for the nation as a whole a stronger economic situation,—that is, through a common structure of individual working, earning and saving. And I know of no better plan to revive activity in a depression than to spend a proper volume of past savings to keep the momentum of business going. But unless there are savings in prosperity there cannot be spending during depression.

Those who practiced this plan during the past period of prosperity have a security and a protection against present adversity that could be provided in no other way. Those who did not are the ones who are now most dependent upon others. If there had been more preaching of this doctrine when it was more feasible to put it into effect than it is now, there would be less depression and less financial insecurity today.

However, while there should have been more emphasis on savings during prosperity, a measure of the emphasis today might properly be the other way,—at least to the extent that those who can safely do so may well increase their spending instead of overdoing their saving. While many have seen their earnings fall, there are millions who have not suffered so seriously in respect to the real purchasing power of their incomes. If we listened to all the scare stories of the day, one might get the impression that everybody was out of a job and nobody's business was earning anything. Many of our people who are able to continue a normal program of prudent buying are curtailing their expenditures beyond reason.

A Business Stimulus

The sum total of this unreasonable curtailment of spending is an economic influence contributing to the stagnation of trade. By the opposite token, I believe the resumption of normal spending on the part of those who are able to do so would be an important tonic toward the stimulation of trade. I do not mean by this that we should have indiscriminate spending merely for the sake of spending, but the very motive power of our economic life is the interchange of goods, and unless we have that we cannot have prosperity.

I strongly believe that we are at that point in the depression stage of the business cycle that any sound stimulating influence will start a real movement in the direction of a return toward prosperity. So much of the weakness of the old state of affairs has been liquidated, so many maladjustments corrected and such large volumes of our consumers' goods have been used up or worn out that the pressure of necessitous purchases must sooner or later be felt. When that time definitely comes we may consider it the first impulse of a new era of normal business.

When Government Aids Agriculture

Demand for relief, agricultural or otherwise, comes naturally from those who feel most keenly the impact of economic pressure. These most affected fly quickly to government for aid. But too frequently agencies set in operation by governments simply postpone inevitable readjustments. The basic laws of supply and demand have never been permanently and successfully set aside. So in general governmental intervention that artificially stimulates prices or even maintains them when the prevailing economic situation obviously shows that readjustments are inevitable are expedients that yield only temporary relief rather than permanent cure. Porous plasters may relieve pain for the moment but they rarely get at the seat of the real trouble.—H. L. Russell.

Rain and Wind Do Big Damage

FORTY-FIVE TELEPHONE POLES BLOWN DOWN NEAR MILLBROOK

Tornadoes and heavy windstorms swept over Alabama last night, killing at least one person, causing extensive property damage and halting telephone and telegraph service in all parts of the State.

Telephone communication between Montgomery and Birmingham was cut off when winds blew down 45 telephone poles along the old highway, between Robinson Springs and Millbrook, linemen reported to the telephone company office. Other damage caused by the storm in that vicinity had not been learned last night.

A negro woman was killed near Faunsdale, Alabama, about 5 p. m. yesterday, when a tornado struck near there. Fifty houses were demolished, 12 persons, mostly white, were injured, and much livestock was killed.

Telephone poles were also blown down about four miles south of here hampering communication with Troy, but officials said they were able to get messages through.

Highways Hazardous

Blinding rains and washouts on a few of the rural roads made highway traffic hazardous and several busses were behind schedule. The bus from Birmingham to Montgomery was 30 minutes late and the Anniston-Montgomery bus was about three hours late. Bus company officials had not heard from the Anniston machine early this morning.

Four persons were killed in a tornado at Robinson Springs about three weeks ago, and Gordo has been swept by damaging winds several times in the last few years.

The steady downpour of rain caused leakage in a building at Lawrence Street and Dexter Avenue, Montgomery, and merchandise in the Royal Clothing Company was damaged.

Water rising several feet above the street level at Forest Avenue and West Third Street, caused a street car to short circuit. Otherwise, street car service was impaired by the storm, Alabama Power Company employees said.

Little Damage Here

Heavy rain fell in Montgomery and although little damage had been reported in the city, the storms were reported to have blown down telephone wires about eight miles north of here, making highway travel hazardous.

Mrs. E. A. Latham, of Gordo, suffered a broken back when a tornado swept through Pickens County and destroyed her home. The winds blew down trees and damaged vegetation over an area of about one-fourth of a mile wide and four miles long. It had not been learned whether other persons had been injured but rescue parties were being organized at Gordo to search through the Fellowship community which received the brunt of the tornado. A five-inch rain accompanying the winds, virtually made the roads impassible in the vicinity.

The Montgomery offices of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies reported wire trouble caused by storms in all parts of the state. Communication between Montgomery and Mobile was hampered by falling lines but both companies said they were able to get messages through to nearly all points.

A storm was reported between here and Mobile and communication services reported wire trouble, but exact location of the storms and the number of possible injured persons or the amount of property damage could not be learned.

While winds and rain swept this part of the state other sections of the South were suffering from tornadoes, press reports said. One person was killed and 100 were reported injured when gales struck Hamilton, Mississippi.

P. H. Smyth of the United States Weather Bureau here, forecasts heavy windstorms in this section last night and today.

Rivers and streams in all parts of Alabama were reported swollen by the heavy rainfall. Reports from Birmingham said the Warrior and Cahaba Rivers were rising as rain continued to fall.

CLOSE UTILIZATION PROFITABLE IN LUMBERING

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 11—Various wood using industries claim that the meat packers in using all of the hog but the squeal are rivalled in efficiency by their own operations which utilize all of the tree but the bark, states the Alabama Commission of Forestry.

Under ordinary conditions one-sixth of the tree is left in the woods in the form of high stumps, upper logs and branches. Some of this loss is unavoidable but much is saved if stumps are cut low and the trees are used as far into the tops as possible for framing lumber, box boards, chemical wood and paper wood.

At the sawmill one-third of the tree goes into lumber, the primary product of most mills. Half of the tree volume, consisting of bark, sawdust, slabs, edgings and trimmings can be saved or used for fuel, lath, box boards, furniture dimensions, mouldings, paper pulp, wal board, insulating board, charcoal and chemicals. Very often the by-products net the operator as much profit as the lumber. These practices put into effect by leaders in the industry should be emulated by all engaged in such enterprises.

From Elevator Job to Baronetcy

Sir Reginald Wolseley, until recently an elevator operator in a hotel at Waterloo, Iowa, and his wife photographed as they were about to sail from New York to take their places among the titled ones of Great Britain. Sir Reginald passed up his claims to the baronetcy and came to America many years ago. He was recently persuaded by Lady Wolseley, with whom he was reconciled after a long estrangement, to return to England and assume his title.

UNION GROVE

Health of this community is very good at present.

Mr. Bernie Chandler has been seriously ill with pneumonia but is better. We hope he will soon be out again.

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are progressing just fine. Let's everybody attend and keep it growing. We had several new members to enroll last Sunday, which we were glad to have. We especially want all the young people to attend.

Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night were preaching dates at this place, and three fine sermons were delivered by Rev. J. Robert Bean. You don't know what you're missing until you hear him once, and then you would attend regular. We were sorry Mrs. Bean was unable to be with us at these services. Hope she will soon be able to be out again.

The United Singing Society met at this place Sunday afternoon with a very good crowd and a fine singing.

Miss Florence Cofer of Jemison spent last week with Miss Pearl Chandler.

Mrs. T. J. Dorminey spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. S. P. Shaw of Jemison.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Webb had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Shaw Sunday.

Misses Jessie Dorminey, Pearl Chandler and Edna Robinson dined with Miss Delene Collum Sunday.

Mrs. T. J. Dorminey's grand baby, Bettie Pink Caldwell, from Cordova, has been very sick. Last news was that it was improving.

We are glad to see Mrs. Vernon Webb out again.

Miss Bonnie Hilson spent Sunday with Miss Dortha Littlefield.

Miss Artell Thrash is visiting her sister, Mrs. Norman Campbell, of Acton.

Mr. John T. Dorminey from Florida, visited his mother, Mrs. William Dorminey, last week.

Miss Claudia Smith spent the week end with her parents at Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Dorminey announce the birth of a fine boy.

Mrs. Willie P. Crumpton of Clanton spent the week end with Miss Amy Sue Robinson.

Miss Onzelle Thrash and Miss Ruby Williams dined with Miss Amy Porter Sunday.

Mrs. William Dorminey spent last Thursday in Birmingham with her brother, Mr. W. E. Green.

Mrs. James King of Bessemer is visiting in this community.

Mr. Howard Robinson, Misses Lefoyl and Thomasine Dorminey, and Miss Amy Robinson spent Sunday afternoon in Clanton.

Misses Winnie Kate and Edna Robinson had supper with Miss Bonnie Hilson Sunday night.

Mrs. Carrie Shaw is planning to organize a Sunbeam Band and she urges all the parents to cooperate with her to make this a success.—Edna Robinson.

INDIAN GRAVE

Mr. Levis Wright spent Saturday night with his sister, Mrs. H. T. Lee.

Miss Josephine Billingsley gave a birthday party Saturday night. Everyone reported a nice time.

Mr. Lewis Deramus visited Mr. H. T. Lee Saturday night.

Mrs. Zula Tarryington is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mary Gaines, this week.

Mrs. Fannie Golson spent the week end in Prattville.

How about the Smiths?

Every neighborhood has a family like the Smiths—the type of moderate means who live comfortably but not extravagantly. And prominent among the modern aids to comfort and convenience in such a typical household is telephone service.

When friends are to be invited for an informal evening—whenever something or someone is wanted—the Smiths make a comfortable voice-trip by telephone. They know it is the quick, convenient and inexpensive way to reach their friends and firms with whom they trade.

The Smiths use their telephone to talk with friends and relatives in other cities, too. Not carelessly, of course, but wisely. They use Station-to-Station service at night, when the rates are lower, as explained to them by the "Long Distance" operator.

There are millions of people like the Smiths, who find that the advantages of a telephone in the home so far outweigh the small cost that it doesn't pay to try to do without it.

Our Sunday school enrollment has dropped to 71. Let's get busy and bring some new members next Sunday. We received four new members last Sunday.

Our Christian Endeavor rendered a program last Sunday night. Several good talks were made on the topic. Visitors are always welcome.

MILLER DECLINES TO CALL COTTON SESSION

105 Legislators Join With Agricultural Leaders In Plea For Session To Aid Farmers

Governor Miller has declined to immediately call a special session of the legislature to consider cotton acreage reduction in the state, thus, defeating all hope of Alabama joining in a southwide movement to enact laws to assist farmers in reducing cotton production in 1932 and 1933.

The Governor made his position known following a three hour conference with Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture, and R. J. Goode, Gastonburg, Alabama, member of the Southern States Cotton Conference, in which they urged the Governor to call a special session and presented a legislative poll showing 105 members of the legislature unconditionally in favor of the cotton session.

"The poll showed all senators replied with 31 for the special session, four non-committal or conditional and none opposed. The House poll showed 96 members replied, with 74 for the call, 17 non-committal or conditional, and only five opposed," the agricultural leaders told the Governor.

"We believe that never in the history of the State has there been such unanimity of opinion by the members of any legislature. It means, as expressed by many of the legislators themselves, that the people of the State are from 75 to 90 per cent in favor of legislative action."

Commissioner Storrs and Mr. Goode further stated following the conference:

"We have exhausted every resource at our command for a special session and have been loyally supported by agricultural, educational, business, professional people and others in all walks of life, who appreciate the seriousness of the situation, for which we are fully appreciative.

"There has been an almost unanimous expression by members of the lgislature for a special session. The responsibility is now entirely with the Governor since he only can call the legislature in session."

CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

We are asking for space in your paper to express our thanks to friends at Mitchell Dam, surrounding community and elsewhere, who were so kind as to lend us their assistance during the recent sickness and death of our darling baby boy. POOR C

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

The annual meeting of the United Protestant Church of Thorsby (Congregational) was held Wednesday evening, January 6th. There was a good attendance of members and friends of the church. Report were read from the officers of the various organizations which represented most of the church activities, showing real progress during the past year. Owing to the expenditure of considerable money for repairs and painting of the parsonage, there was shown a deficit of upward of $80 in the treasury, something that has not happened in the annual reports for many years. A plan was proposed and accepted by which it is hoped to wipe out this deficit within the next few weeks.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were Carl C. Petersen, trustee for three years, his term of 3 years having expired. Hold over trustees are J. O. Johnson and Miss Marian Fairbank. Two deacons were elected for one year, Rev. E. W. Butler and A. N. Laurell. Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald was elected as church clerk for one year, to succeed herself. For superintendent of the Sunday school for one year H. Rascoe Maddox was elected, and for assistant superintendent in charge of the primary department Mrs. S. E. Norton, which office she has held without interruption for upwards of 25 years. Two deaconesses, Mrs. Norton and Mrs. C. C. Petersen, for one year.

Mr. C. A. Peterson, one of the charter members of the church, was present and was elected chairman of the meeting. The next night we were told he attended a meeting in the Masonic Hall, and before morning was suffering a return of the trouble which has made him a good deal of an invalid for the past two years, and which, to all appearances, he had pretty much overcome. Reports early this week indicated he was in a serious condition.

Rev. Each announced there will be a song service at the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 7:15. All who enjoy singing are invited.

Rev. Fred P. Ensminger, superintendent of Congregational mission work, in Alabama, Tennessee, and West Florida, is spending a few days in Thorsby and vicinity. He plans to attend the regular quarterly meeting of the board of trustees of Thorsby Institute Thursday at 9 a. m.

On December 31st Luther L. Culpepper and Miss Eunice Edwards of Clanton were married at the home of Rev. J. W. Jones.

Cecil Each was a visitor for a short time at the home of his parents in Thorsby, returning to Birmingham Sunday night.

Mrs. John R. Rives, enroute from Florida to her home in the North, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. N. Laurell Tuesday. Wednesday Mrs. W. B. Hamilton of Birmingham was a caller at the N. Laurell home.

Mr. Roy Raybon spent last Thursday with his family in Thorsby, returning to his work in Birmingham Friday morning.

Miss Crowe and W. B. Scott of Montgomery and Mr. Painter of Birmingham spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Scott in Thorsby.

Quite a delegation of Thorsby B. Y. P. U. members attended the services at Clanton courthouse Monday night.

There will be preaching at the Baptist church Sunday morning and Sunday evening. We hope to have a large crowd to start the new year off with.

Mr. Harper attended the preaching services at Jemison Sunday.

Circle No. 1 of the W. M. S. met with Mrs. Jim Nix Tuesday afternoon. At that meeting they elected new officers.

On Tuesday afternoon, January 12th, Circle No. 2 met with Mrs. M. E. Willis. At that time they elected new officers.

Mrs. E. R. Piper and Miss Mae Wood visited their sister, Mrs. Willie Johnson, at Underwood, Sunday afternoon.

A box of Bayer face powder or jar Bayer cream free with each $1.00 purchase at Wyatt Drug Company, Thorsby, Ala.

Mrs. S. M. Connatser and Mrs. Fox spent Thursday with Mrs. E. R. Piper.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Villadson returned to Tuscaloosa after spending the week end with relatives.

Mrs. Anna Thorson and Mrs. A. E. Reagan spent the week end with Miss Naemi Turnquist in Selma.

Mr. Charles Peterson has been very sick the past week end, but we hope he will be up by the time this is published.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray spent Sunday in Prattville.

Mr. Horace Corley returned home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gray of Birmingham spent the week end with Mrs. Gray's mother, Mrs. Enoch Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Langville, Mrs. Vivian Dennis and little daughter, Peggy, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Grothy Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall and Edna Childress spent Sunday with Mr. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hall, near Union Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fitch, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Buchi and Mrs. Morris, all of Birmingham, were spend the day guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell Sunday.

Dr. Leslie, wife, and two daughters, of Ensley were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Piper.

Three bars of Woodbury soap and tube of cold or facial cream, $1.00 value, for 75c at Wyatt Drug Co., Thorsby, Ala.

Mr. Ronald Lucas, son of Chas. Lucas, and Mrs. Mina Thornton of Flint, Michigan, arrived here Saturday night for an indefinite stay.

Miss Willie Whitley of Birmingham was a dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith, Tuesday evening.

Friday morning at chapel Mrs. Maddox, commercial teacher at Thorsby Institute, gave an interesting talk on the history of shorthand. After this she dictated at the board to Ella Howard who wrote in shorthand, and to Mary Ruth Nix who wrote in long hand at the same time. This showed how much longer it takes to write a letter in long hand than in sort hand.

Friday night a group of pupils and teachers from Thorsby Institute attended the revival meeting held in the courthouse at Clanton under the direction of Dr. Miller, evangelist. The pupils and teachers sang the alma mater, as a special number.

Next Saturday night, January 16, at 7:30 the Helen Keller literary society of Thorsby Institute will have an open meeting to which the public is invited. The program will consist of Mexican and Indian legends, Mexican and Indian music, a Spanish folk dance and an Indian pantomime. Every one is invited. Admission ten cents.

The Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association held their annual meeting January 9th. The association sold produce in 1931 to the amount of $81,844.14 worth. Officers elected at this meeting were: Carl C. Petersen, president; J. M. Smith, vice president; E. R. Piper, recording secretary, C. R. Foss, manager and treasurer; board of directors, Carl C. Petersen, chairman, J. M. Smith, John Childress, W. A. Hayes, E. E. Porter.

Buy your face powder and other toiletries at Wyatt Drug Co., Thorsby, Ala.

Mrs. Clyde Sims entertained at bridge Monday evening Mrs. Grover Bice, capturing high score, winning a pretty pair of hand-embroidered pillow cases; Mrs. Mack Gray, winning second high, winning an apron daintily embroidered; Miss Edith Johnson getting low score, winning a peanut novelty; Mr. Mack Gray capturing high score, receiving a pair of silk sox; Clyde Sims, low score, receiving a miniature water mellon novelty. Dainty refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bice, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Pate, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Horton, and Mr. Marcelle Wilder, Lloyd Howard, Misses Edith Johnson, Christine Bosworth and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sims.

The following ladies surprised Mrs. Karl Grenn on her birthday on January 8th: Mrs. Amundson, Mrs. Frank Nelson, Mrs. M. J. Soberg, Mrs. E. K. Ekblad, Mrs. Grothe, Mrs. Anna Villadsen, Mrs. Conrad Carlson, Mrs. C. C. Petersen.

Mrs. W. H. Raybon is on the sick list this week with a severe cold.

Thorsby B. Y. P. U. held a social Friday night at the home of Miss Katheryn Lenoir.

Mr. G. F. Harper is exhibiting in his store window a watermelon of Stone Mountain variety, plucked in his garden this week, January 7th.

ALABAMA FARM INCOME IS OFF $100,000,000

However, Farmers Have Sufficient Feed to Make a Crop Next Year

Alabama farmers lost, in falling prices mainly, $100,000,000 in the last two crop years, the loss being about equally divided between the two crop seasons, reports F. W. Gist, state federal agricultural statistician.

The final estimate of 1931 crop production gives the aggregate value of 24 crops in the state at $85,398,000. "Last year these same crops were valued at $135,371,000 and in 1929 at $185,651,000", Gist said.

These figures do not include the value of livestock produced, income from forest products off the farm, nor the value of gardens for home consumption. "If these items should be taken in proportion to former years—the probable cash received in 1931, including all farm commodities, was about $73,000,000 compared with $172,000,000 in 1929 and $118,000,000 in 1930" Gist continued.

"It is obvious, therefore, that the returns in cash from the last two crop seasons have left the Alabama farmer without money to pay his debts, his taxes, to buy clothing and to send his children to school.

"In so far as feed and food supplies are concerned the year just closed has been peculiary favorable—barring slight deficiencies in distribution, farmers will have sufficient food and feed on which to make a crop next year if they do not sacrifice it to obtain cash. They will, however, have to be carried for much of their indebtedness and will have difficulty in paying taxes. They will also have to go in debt again for clothing, supplies, fertilizer and other necessetics which they may be compelled to buy."

PRESIDENT MOSELEY PAYS TRIBUTE TO TEACHERS—

At the meeting of Supervisors of Rural Schools of the Southern States, held in Montgomery in December, President Moseley was invited to extend greetings to the visitors. His response to the invitation was as follows:

Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am happy to bring you greetings tonight from the 14,000 white teachers of Alabama. These greeting come:

1. From teachers who are unselfish because they place "Children First" in their teaching and in their living. Children are first in our hearts, our homes, our schools, and our churches. This State can lift itself higher and make itself nobler only as its children are lifted up.

2. From teachers who are loyal and brave because they have been faithful in their cooperation with those in authority, and because they are on the front line of battle in the great struggle for an educated citizenship.

3. From teachers who are patient and longsuffering because they teach and they live without pay. Teachers are now behind with their pay checks from two to ten months.

4. From teachers who are generous because they give freely to United Charity, to Red Cross, to Child Welfare relief as well as to the religious, civic, and professional life of their communities. The average salary of the white teachers in the elementary and high schools of the State is the handsome sum of $79.00 per month for 12 months.

5. From teachers who despite these conditions are cheerful because they believe they will eventually be paid and oh! what joy in having a big sum at one time! They have heard this statement from the powers that be: "Alabama will not repudiate her debts to her teachers but will pay every dollar she owes to them." They believe this statement and are depending upon it. The teachers of Alabama are cheerful also because genuine happiness comes to the real teacher when she is trying to develop the little child into the finished product—real manhood and real womanhood.

6. Finally, from teachers who are progressive. There is today a larger per cent of teachers who attend summer schools, and take correspondence and extension courses than ever before in the history of our State. And to what is this progressive spirit due? To supervision, which is the salvation for the young and inexperienced teacher as well as for the old "Rip Van Winkle" type teacher.

JUST FROM SHOULTS—

Cap shore is one sight. You ought to hear the tales he tells since he cum back from Florida. He say Remus, I is a fraid you is gwine to find out too much about my trip down there.

Us was settin by the fire tother night an he get to spellin off about what he saw He say I left de Spanish Trail at Live Oak and went right down through the heart of the orange district. It made my mouf water to hear him tell about all de oranges an grape fruit he seed long side of de road.

He say dey is enuf oragnes in Florida to supply de whole United States, an I guess dat is why de is so cheap.

Cap was sorter bum fuzzled bout de cattle he seed. He say when we struck free range we seed lots of cattle runnin at large. No, he said it is not right to say runnin at large cause day wuz so poor dey could hardly walk, let alone run. He say a farmer tole him dey wus canners, and Ole Miss put in and lowed she don't want no more canned beef efen dem is de kind of cattle dey cans up.

Moren ever Cap was flabbergasted when he got to Indian River City and seed all de water of de ocean. He say he thought about what his grandaddy used to tell him dat it is three times more water in de world dan dere is land.

Funniest thing, tho, Cap say when he fust seed de white sand long de ocean shore, he culdn't figger out how cum it snowed in Florida. Cap is shore to git strung out to talkin bout Florida some more.—Uncle Remus.

Anyhow the football season at Sing Sing has closed without any serious casualties.—Lowell Leader.

The Peoples Savings Bank is putting in new fixtures, in line with their prosperous condition.

A good roads meeting is called at Clanton for January 17th.

The colored Masonic Hall in East Clanton was burned down on the night of December 31st.

A pro-dispensary ticket was gotten out Friday night for the city election, as follows: For Mayor, E. A. Matthews; councilmen, W. D. Spigener, J. R. Mullins, B. E. Jones, P. I. Hopkins.

We have not had a cold day this winter. January is like May.

The Legislature meets Tuesday and the dispensary law for Clanton will be passed upon.

Married this week—John Davis and Miss Fannie Bolton, John Mims and Miss Eva Price, Oscar T. Gragg and Mrs. A. S. Barnes, B. M. Deason and Miss Ida Weldon, S. A. Scott and Miss Lula Price.

Joseph E. McKee of Montgomery was married to Miss Nora B. Hollenburg, of Crokett's Depot, Va., at Montgomery Tuesday afternoon.

Prof. B. J. Sessions of Thorsby was in Clanton Tuesday.

SUPPOSE THERE HAD BEEN NO COTTON—

There is no reason for the South to depend so exclusively on cotton, says the last issue of The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist.

"Suppose cotton had never been discovered at all; does anyone imagine that the South would not have been a good farming country anyhow? Would not a land so blessed as ours is with climate, soil, rainfall, and long growing seasons have evolved a farming system about as profitable as that practiced in other sections? Unquestionably it would.

"The trouble is that cotton proved itself so easy to make that we got to depending on it too much; commercial fertilizers proved so easy to buy that we got to depending on them too much; and cotton and tobacco would do tolerably even on poor land, so we got to depending too much on poor land. Now when we find we have just got to change our methods, we shall undoubtedly do so."

THE MOST IMPORTANT SINGLE ISSUE—

Today people are starving in the midst of an over-production of food, shivvering half-naked in a world oppressed by an overproduction of cotton. In this situation, says Dr. Clarence Poe, in the current issue of The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist, the most important single issue confronting Congress is the problem of adjusting our system of exchange so that it will function properly. He writes:

"Among all plans of relief there is now a general growing conviction that nothing is more important than stabilizing the value of the dollar. As National Master Taber told the National Grange meeting in Madison, Wisconsin: 'Monetary stabilization will reach the heart of our rural distress, and after all, is the most important single issue confronting agriculture and the nation.' And as Mr. Taber went on to say:

" 'Gold has proved itself not to be an infallible measure of values. During the war the value of the gold dollar, as measured by commodities, dropped to below 50 cents. Today, the same amount of gold, measured in commodities, has a unit value of $1.41. The farmer who borrowed a cheap dollar has to pay back a very costly dollar. The wheat farmer borrowing a thousand dollars a few years ago, measured in bushels of wheat, is now compelled to pay more than four thousand dollars in principal, with a similar increase in interest charges'."

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

One of the most significant changes in American public opinion during the past decade has been particularly manifest of late, and that is the growing determination of the people of the United States to have as little as possible to do with Europe in the future until Europe sets its own house in order. The era of internationalism in American politics is passing. The era of nationalism is coming. Men of both political parties express the same feeling and the same determination. Returning from visiting their constituents, Congressmen raaified the moratorium with the understanding that there was to be no cancellation and no reduction in the European debt. Representative Republicans like Senator Reed of Pennsylvania and representative Democrats like Bernard Baruch come out against debt cancellation.

And indeed why should not Americans logically take the stand which they are assuming. For ages the fact has been recognized that it is impossible to aid any individual permanently unless he tries to help himself. The same thing is true of nations. Instead of pulling together with some sane and constructive program to eliminate economic barriers and political friction which might lead to war, instead of conceding and concilating in the interests of peace and economic stability, the nations of Europe see figuratively still willing and ready to fly at one another's throats. The only point on which they seem to be agreed is that they would like to get something further out of Uncle Sam if they can wheedle or threaten it out of him in any way. There seems to be no disposition on the part of European statesmen to be willing to sit down together calmly and peacefully and, looking the facts in the face, seeking to secure some fair and equitable economic adjustment of Europe's problems. The old spirit of 1914 still dominates. Each seeks to get the advantage of the other. Why then can they expect Uncle Sam to come to the rescue or to attempt to ease their burdens further? Time and again we have tried it without avail. If Europe will only try to do something for itself and devote some effort to working out a constructive program for its own salvation, then Uncle Sam would be more apt to lend a willing ear. But this seems impossible to accomplish. Europe apparently has learned nothing from the World War or from the hectic dozen years which have followed the armistice.

But the American people have learned something. They have learned the utter hollowness of the cries for help itself. The majority of American opinion was well summed up the other day by Senator Borah, when he said:

"For 12 years we have been told that this plan, or that plan, assured recovery, all based upon some temporary expediency with reference to reparations. But no recovery has come.

"If Europe cannot see her way clear to end reparations and drastically cut armaments, the United States had better come out of Europe financially and stay out.

"It will cost us something to come out, but it will bankrupt us to stay in. Since 1915, in one way and another, we have put close to $45,000,000,000 in Europe. It has not ended the economic crisis in Europe and it has brought an econmic crisis to the United States.

"There is a limit to the help which may be extended to others when they pursue policies and hold programs which make help vain and ineffectual."

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

I See By The Papers—In scanning the papers of late, I see lots of things which point to 1932 as a year of prosperity, compared to the last few years. Yes, I know it wouldn't have to be much to be better, but why think of the past hard times, with better times in sight. I think the only way we should ever think of the late lean years should be to let them serve as a lesson to lay away a little for the next occasion of this kind. Let's get busy now and try to bring about a turn for the better. A relief measure to the tune of some two billion dollars is well on its way through our national legislative machine; cotton, our so-called money crop, keeps creeping up a little at the time; wheat, corn, and money crops of other sections have made upward turns lately; stocks, bonds, and what-not in the money market are looking up; and, from listening to people talk, almost everyone seems to have an idea that we are about to enter into an era of prosperity. All these signs are good, and none of them are better than the last one, that people are getting the idea that we ARE headed for better times. People are taking heart. You can help by talking prosperity. Do it.

The Revival—That the revival that is in progress at the courthouse is doing good, is very evident. One way one may be sure that Clanton and vicinity are waking up, is the fact that the courthouse is packed to overflowing at every service. Another is the all-too-evident fact that his satanic majesty—the devil—is also stirred to the bottom and putting up the fight of his life to at least hold his own against any good that might be done. Day after day, groups of men may be seen on the street, and, if you will take the time and trouble to investigate the subject of their conversation, you will find that most of the time they are talking of the revival. To be sure you will find those who do not like it—it is very probable that there are as many who do NOT like it as there are who DO—but discussion of this kind has every chance of doing good, with no chance for harm. The greatest religious leaders of all time have used one rule by which to measure their success—the extent to which they were able to stir the devil to panic-stricken action in their campaigns. They know that as long as they are not stirring the people everything will sail along smoohly. But once let the people begin to awake and think for themselves along religious lines, and right then the king of horny-heads and forked-tails goes into action in a big way. And, as said before, it is quite plain that old Nick is putting up a scrap, and Dr. E. C. Miller can thus consider his campaign in Clanton a success. In the words of one great evangelist: "If you can get people to listen, and think for themselves, a fair percentage of them will welcome a denounciation of their misdoings, and turn from them. The hardest job is breaking down the feeling that they are all right because they are members of some church, and instilling into them a desire to do something for others rather than wait for someone to do something for them."

Prohibition and Big Business—I like to listen to people talk—in that way I gather the true general trend of opinion. Ask a man a question, and he may or may not answer it to the best of his ability and according to the true dictates of his own conscience, but just let him get to talking of his own free will and accord, and nine times out of ten you'll find out how he REALLY feels. One night last week I had the pleasure of listening to two or three of the big guns talking over a few matters of general interest, when the subject of prohibition came up. One of the men, who, by the way, happened to be a high official in some automobile company, had this to say: "I consider prohibition one of the greatest causes of the rapid strides America has made along all lines in recent years. I, for one, would hate very much to see the open saloon come back, because I can readily see that our sales would decrease to a great extent. Had we never had prohibition, much of the money which has gone to buy automobiles, tires, accessories, and other articles directly and indirectly connected with the auto industry would have been spent for liquor. The same thing may be said for other industries. And I do not believe liquor—free liquor—will EVER come back, because there are too many far-seeing people in this country who realize what a paralyzing effect it would have."

Coming Up—In the distance we can hear a buzzing—Political bees buzzing in the bonnets of the boys. Pretty soon, now, those bonnets will come off and be sailed into the ring. And what a bunch of candidates we can expect—commissioners, members of the board of education, treasurers, etc. Just this week I heard a fellow going to it, hammer and tongs—oh, but that fellow was really giving one of the "dear people" the glad hand. And there'll be more of them soon. Well, the more the merrier.

That Traffic Light—Yes, sir, we're getting more and more like New York every day. If you don't believe it, just stroll down by Upchurch's corner and watch the well-regulated traffic, and then glance up and see the real cause of all the regularity, that traffic light. The only trouble about the traffic light system in Clanton is that we haven't had it long ago. And, even now, we could use several more of them, and ought to have them. How about one at Dief's corner, one at Maddox's corner, one at the courthouse corner, and maybe other places. It is a wonder somebody hasn't been killed already at the Upchurch corner, with the trucks and busses zipping through on the state highway. A little cooperation on the part of the people and the corner will be one of the safest places in town to drive past. And remember that if you are walking across the street at that point, you are supposed to mind that light just the same as the man who is driving. Let's help the police force to keep down accidents by keeping alert and wide awake when in close traffic, walking or driving.

Glimpses—there goes the first bump under the new light—and it had to be two women drivers. Somebody wants The Union-Banner for a dollar a year—can't be done. Some guy poppin' off excess knowledge of the Bible—rave on, big boy, rave on. There they are—two bread trucks, a soft drink truck, and a freight truck all tied up in a traffic jam, and they can't get untangled in time to clear the way for two school trucks and a bus—now, ain't that sump'n? A deputy sheriff walks by—got his eye on something, or somebody. High noon—I eat, too. So long.—Man in the Moon.

THE FALSE GLORIFICATION OF WAR—

It is not surprising that in the old days when kings and emperors ruled the lives of men, they put a halo around all war; their orators and poets and romancers sang of its glories and glossed over all its brutality and stupidity. No scene such as I have just witnessed was used to represent war, but rather young men in colorful uniforms, marching behind gay banners to the music of fife and drum and the accompaniment of cheerig spectators. Each king used his armies as machines for personal and dynastic glory and conquest. It suited a French king for a Frenchman to think it "a glorious thing to die for France" and it suited a Russian czar to have the Russian think it "a glorious thing to die for Russia." And of any famous victory it was only a childlike, ignorant little Peterkin who had the temerity to ask: "But what good came of it at last?"

In democratic countries such as now control the world, however, a different attitude is growing up toward war. Almost suddenly and for the first time in the world's history, it is no longer kings and queens, reigning families and the war lords of the armies and navies, who send their subjects out to wars not of their choosing; it is rather the people themselves who, directly or indirectly, decide whether there shall be a war. It is true that the war lords of army and navy still perpetuate their ancient traditions while militaristic organizations, parrot-like, repeat the outworn shibboleths of militarism. But the voting mothers and fathers who are called upon to furnish the "cannon fodder" are beginning to realize that we have reached a time when it may take as much courage to fight war as to fight in war. To the bullying, braggart, self-styled "he-man" whoopers-up of war and of an ever increasing "preparedness" by force, those quiet but courageous souls are saying: "In spite of all your epithets, I tell you to your teeth, I'm against you! I am for preparedness but for the preparedness of international cooperation rather than international conflict."

The economic miseries growing out of the World War would alone justify such an attitude—crushing war debts and war bred taxes and industrial maladjustments that have ruined millions and all but bankrupted victor and vanquished nations alike.—The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist.

WHAT FARMERS DO ABOUT LABOR?—

This excellent idea for helping prevent overproduction of cotton and tobacco in 1932 is presented by T. B. Hutcheson of Virginia, in the latest issue of The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist:

"In view of the present prices of agricultural products, the question of wages becomes very important to all farmers who hire labor. One of the best suggestions we have heard is that the laborer be paid a larger proportion of his wages in products grown on the farm. At the present farm price, enough wheat to make a barrel of flour is worth about $3.30, corn to make a bushel of meal 50 cents, and dressed pork, beef, onions, molasses, and vegetables are $8 to $10 per 100 pounds. Milk, potatoes, correspondingly low. If these products are bought in small quantities from grocery stores, they cost at least 50 per cent more than they will bring at the farm. Since every laborer must have these things, he would not be hurt by getting them as part of his wages, and at the same time, a good home market would be developed for a considerable quantity of healthful food.

"The production of such products would take considerable time from cash crops, such as cotton and tobacco."

HELP AMERICAN SHIPS—

One resolution which all of us can well make for 1932, is to do whatever is in our power this year to help the merchant marine, either by talking for it or, if possible, by helping in a more material way. Of course most of us will not be taking a trip to Europe or to the Orient. And the big majority of us do not engage in foreign trade. It is of course the duty of Americans traveling abroad and shipping abroad to give preference to American ships. No sort of aid will help like this.

But the rest of us can at least speak a good word for the American merchant marine whenever we get a chance. The depression has struck our shipping just as it has struck everything else, and our merchant marine needs what support we can give it. So if you have any friends who are to travel abroad or who ship abroad, urge them to use American ships wherever possible.

The American merchant marine has grown during the past ten years in a way that should bring pride to every American heart. The government has helped by extending loans at low rates of interest for the building of American ships, and by awarding mail contracts to American shipping lines, in this manner building up American service to distant ports wherever possible. The new building program, aided by the government will, when it is completed, add seventy new and speedy ships to our merchant marine at a total cost of about $300,000,000. As a result of this wise and patriotic program, the shipbuilding industry has fared better than most industries during the depression.

Foreign shipping lines have been hit even harder than our own, and as a result we note that work on many fast European liners is being curtailed and plans changed or abandoned. It is all the more important therefore that we keep ahead with the development of the American merchant marine. European nations had a big start on us but we are beginning to catch up. Let's keep up the good work.

No doubt if we forgive the French and British half of what they owe us the French and British will be willing to throw off the other half.

If silk stockings keep on coming down in price it won't be long until they are so cheap the women won't wear 'em any more.

Speaking of moratoriums, we are in favor of a ten year one on wet and dry arguments.

Some folks argue that campaign year is a bad year for business, which would indicate that we must have had continuous campaigns for the past two years.

Well if George Washington should come back to the United States on his 200th birthday, he would find a lot of people telling him that he made a mistake in founding the darned country.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Thomas Gragg In Liverpool

This week there came to me a Christmas greetings card from Thomas Gragg, mailed December 24 at Liverpool, England. Tom sailed from Mobile over a month ago on a merchant vessel bound for different points in Europe. Adventure must have captured the fancy of "Shorty," as he has spent the most of the last three years going places and seeing things. Before starting on his present jaunt to foreign lands he completed a tour of the whole western portion of the United States and part of Canada.

Post Card From Dr. Johnson

Dr. Samuel E. Johnson has doubtless seen more of this old world's surface than any native citizen of Clanton. He has literally been everywhere in the past ten years while serving in the United States Navy. He and Mrs. Johnson were at home for a while Christmas. On their way back to Washington Dr. Johnson stopped in Natural Bridge, Va., grabbed a picture post card and proceeded in his usual quaint way to scribble a few words across the card ordering the Peoples Savings Bank to pay his subscription to The Union-Banner. Sam travels so much he can't be bothered with such excess baggage as blank checks. When he gets ready to pay off all he needs is a paper sack, a piece of wrapping paper, or anything that he can write a few words on.

Returns To Old Fashioned Way

Joe Franklin, the drayman, has srtuck a blow for economy. He has put his motor truck in the barn and gone back to hauling freight with a horse and a dray . I am inclined to the idea that many of us would be better off if we would go back to the custom of using corn and fodder for fuel instead of gasoline.

The New Traffic Light

So far as I am concerned, the new traffic light at the crossing of Second Avenue and Seventh Street only means that the number of automobile drivers passing that particular point will henceforth be reduced by at least one. I would drive around by Union Point rather than try to figure out whether one of those things means stop or go or sumpin else.

Teachers Get Some Pay

They told me at the County Superintendent's office Tuesday that the teachers of the county have been paid off for the month of October. The total amount released on that payroll was in round figures $14,000. Just a while back the State turned loose $17,000 to the county school fund. It is hoped that another release will be possible to take care of the November payroll right away.

A Million Biscuits

How many sacks of flour will it take to make a million biscuits? I don't know what process of arithmetic, geometry, or algebra you would employ to find the answer to that question. But you need not go to the trouble. Marion Gore prmises to show the answer Friday and Saturday of this week when he cuts loose the biggest flour sale in the history of Chilton County. Buck says he is going to have so much flour it will block traffic between his store and the courthouse, and he wants his friends to come and take it away before the cops get after him about it.

Little Interest In Election

The Mobile Amendment election drew very scant interest in Chilton County last Tuesday. Only 461 voters expressed themselves at the ballot box, and the division of opinion was markedly against the proposition. Only 36 voted for the amendment, while 425 voted against it. The defeat of the measure in the State as a whole was overwhelming.

The popular song of the day which ought to be adopted as the theme song in the European mess just now is "Come On, Let's Get Friendly."

Let's make a resolution for the New Year that we will find at least one thing for which we can give thanks every day in the year. It won't be as hard as you think.

COMMENDING BEAN FOR SCHOOL WORK—

The Union-Banner has received a communication expressing very strong commendation for the work of Prof. W. T. Bean in the recent movement which terminated in successfully providing for the operation of the schools of the county for a full term. The statement is as follows:

"About 145 teachers and about 2,000 to 3,000 patrons, and about 5,000 pupils in Chilton County should feel very grateful to Prof. W. T. Bean for his untiring efforts in working to keep the schools of the county open for a full term. It is conceded by almost everyone who knows anything of the school situation in Chilton County that Mr. Bean deserves the credit for the schools being able to continue. No one in Chilton County enjoys a wider leadership of the teachers than does Mr. Bean."

The communication continues by pointing out that "Mr. Bean was the last County Superintendent of Education of Chilton County to be elected by popular vote, and the first to be appointed by the County Board of Education." The writer asserts "Mr. Bean's one greatest achievement as superintendent was grading the schools of his county and his financial ability to run every white school in Chilton County a full seven months term free with only about $45,000."

It is stated that Mr. Bean is president of the county teachers association, and that he has been given much assistance in his efforts to keep the schools open by Prof. DuBose, vice president, and Mr. Quinn, secretary.

POOR OR

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom Fills His Pintment At Mt. Gilisd Church (Colored)

We's praisin de Lord fur dis secon Sunday mornin in January, 1932. I'se always glad to meet wid dis church; fur one thing in perticuler, an dat is you are not a stingy set ob folks. You seems to relize dat yoah preacher mus live an dat his chiluns mus be edicated an clothed an fed.

I got a great lessun to read to you. But fust I mus tell you about whut hepened in town Saddy mawnin. I wuz passin by dat Mr. A an P Armstrong sto an he hollered at me, an I went in an he sa Blossom, you looks mighty bad. Whut is de matter wid you? An I sa dat palenes you see roun my mouf is caused by not havin no meat to eat. An he sa, why aint you got no meat? An I sa, dat de wedder staid so warm dat my church-folks cudent kill no hogs. An den he sa, preacher, how is dat I heared dat you wuz ded? An I tole him dat Mr. Robersin whut runs dat machine shop started hit. An he sa how cum you cuse him ob startin hit. An I tole him dat I got Mr. Roberson to fix my Foad las fall and promissed to pay him Christmas ef I lived, an I aint paid him yit, An I guess he thinks I'm ded; den da all laffed, an Mr. Cleve sa, why dont you go an pay him? An I axed him how I gwyn pay when de folks wont pay me. An he sa, well I'd go to see him an tell him how it wuz wid me. An I sa, no sur, I aint gwyn bout dat man tell I can take him his money. An he sa ,why? An I sa cause he got too many hammers an chizzels an other things to throw at me.

Den Mr. Cleve tried to sell me a sack ob salt, an I tole him I didn't need nun, an he sa, yes you does, you need hit to salt yoah hogs. An I sa I mought need sum to salt my ole cow, but dat I never did salt my hogs. Den he tuk atter me an rund me outen de sto.

Now wid dis I will read you a lessun from in de third chapter ob Genesis, beginnin wid de fust vurse an redin down to an includin de thirteen vurse. After redin I wants you to stan an sing. Now set down.

I now vite yoah tention to de fust vurse ob de lebenth chaptur ob fust Corinthians, which reads lak dis: "Be ye followers of me even as I also am of Christ."

Now I wants to contras dese two men. De fust one I red about wuz Adam. He never sed a word bout follerin him, yit evy body trys to foller him. De udder one, Paul, sed foller me an bery fiew even trys to foller him. De big reason dat dis is de case is cause we kin always do de things dat we wants to do, but we caint do de things dat we don't want to do.

Now, jes to sho you, take a wile, good-fur-nuthin boy in a naberhood, an he kin lead nearly evy boy to de chain-gang widout even beggin dem to go. But you take a good boy, an he kin beg dem all he wants to an da want do rite. I feels lak Paul wuz de only man whut culd sa foller me.

I'm sho I'm not gwyn tell you to foller me, cause dar am some places dat I goes when I dont want nobody trailin atter me. Dar wuz a time when evun Paul didn't want nobody to foller him, an pattern atter him. Jes think ob him sayin foller me when he wuz standin dar holdin de close ob dem whut wuz stonin Stephen to death, but when he wuz follerin Christ den he could sa foller me, even as I also am ob Christ.

De nex thing I wants to sa is, dar wuz a time when all ob de niggers could foller de white folks. But dat time iss pas by an gon, an I kin see dat de niggers am patternin atter white folks now. Let some ob our wimmen see a white oman wid her dress cut in two in de middle, an da will cut theirs in de same place. An you min, you is jes as bad as de wimmin. All tryin to do jes lak de white mens, shootin, an cuttin, an killin, an sich like.

Jes to sho you, I went in Mr. Rockett's hardware sto to git a jint ob stove pipe, an a yung nigger cum in dar an axed de clerk ef he had sum razors. An de clerk sed, yes, whut kind do you wants, a safety? An dat nigger sa no suh, I wants sumpthin whut'll cut deeperin dat.

Dat nigger wants to cut somebody wid dat razor, an den let de sherif git him.

De white man has sho led de nigger to whur he's at to day. Now, dis man Adam got in to it jes by lissennin to a oman. I thinks sometime dat effen de Lord hadn't made dat oman Brudder Adam wouldn't hab got in to it lak he did. An to make de contrast a little more contrastin, de odder man, Paul, didn't have no oman. Ob course he writ a letter in fust Corinthans, nine, five, sumpthin, bout leadin about a sister or a wife. But dat don't sa dat da led him about. Jes think ob a oman ledin. An sich a man as Paul follerin. No sur, dat man wuz a leader his sef. He dident foller no body but de Lord. I know men whut follers bottleggers round, lettin sich min lead dem.

An I kno jes whur de boot legger an all dat follers him is gwyn. Let me tell you bout whut happened as I cum down here dis mawnin. As I drov long a man wuz setin on de bank ob de road. An whin I driv up he held out his han an I stoped. An he axed me could he ride, an I sed git in. An he started cussin evy thing an evy body. An I sa to my sef, I knos who you is follerin. His ole noze wuz red, an his bref smelled lak you tuck three rotten aigs an a lump ob assafoedita an mixed dem to gedder an pord a pint ob essence ob pole catt ovah it. Dat man wuz follerin somebody in de rong road.

Ise gwyn to close now an I wants you to lissen while I reads dis little poem whut I writ fur dis sermon. It's tooken fum de tex, an also fum Matthew, seben 13-14:

"When you follers a bad man,
Dars one thing certun an sho;
Him an you an dose dat foller you,
Will end in a place ob wo.

De road is broad an nicely paved,
Wid allurment on either side;
Wid grate big sign standin out,
Behind which de debil can hide.

But when you follers a good man,
De road am narrow and steep,
Wid church houses on either side,
Whur God's chilluns pray an weep.

But keep on climin up an up,
Prayin as on you plod;
Atter while de end will come,
When yous at home wid God.

Now let us stan an be dismis.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON'S ANNIVERSARY, JAN. 11

January 11 brings about the 175th return of the birthday of Alexander Hamilton, whom Chief Justice Marshall ranked next to Washington himself in greatness and importance in the critical days of our earlier history.

Certainly Hamilton was one of the most brilliant of all Washington's aides and advisors. His dramatic career has lent itself to fiction and drama, and no critic or historian of our rise as a nation can cover that period without the most elaborate attention to Hamilton.

Alexander Hamilton, we are told by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, was born, a British subject, on the Island of Nevis, in the West Indies, on January 11, 1757. Left poor in his boyhood, like Washington himself, Hamilton was thrown upon the care of relatives who placed him in the employ of one Nicholas Cruger. In this man's business the youngster showed at once the astonishing qualities of his mind, and good friends sent him to New York, where he might acquire an education and find the true field for his abilities. Two years later, Hamilton entered what was then King's College and now is Columbia University, but the Revolution interrupted his studies and opened to him his real career.

As long as he lived, and in spite of his genious in other directions, Hamilton thirsted for military glory, and he lost no time in adopting the patriot cause. A company of artillery having been authorized by the New York convention in 1776, Hamilton applied for the command. Though he was only twenty years old, the examination he passed quickly dispelled any doubts as to his fitness for the post.

His skill and bravery in action during the campaign of that year in New York won him the attention of General Washington. In the actions at Trenton and Princeton the brilliant youth so impressed Washington that he made the boy an aide-de-camp with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Desk duties, though he was eminently fitted for them, soon palled on Hamilton, however, and he sought what has now become the historic occasion of his argument with his chief to resign and seek a command in the field, Washington, hurt as he was by Hamilton's behavior, magnanimously put him back on the firing line and gave him the final honor of leading the closing assault on the British works at Yorktown.

The part Hamilton played in shaping our Constitution and having it adopted, has become one of the important pages in American history. Disapproving of many of the features of the Constitution, he nevertheless threw himself heart and soul into the fight for its adoption, writing brilliant articles which helped considerably in winning over doubtful states.

Yet even this was but the preliminary to his great contribution to the founding of the Government. Remarkable before, Hamilton then became great as statesman, administrator, and financial genius. Made first Secertary of the Treasury by President Washington, Hamilton developed those policies which placed the new and struggling nation on a firm foundation of credit and made its life secure.

It was Hamilton who chiefly established, for one thing, our theory and pactice of the tariff. In response to queries and demands from Congress, Hamilton, as Secretary of the Treasury, wrote a series of reports that are as firmly fixed in our national life as the Constitution itself. Americans who have never read these papers, nevertheless benefit by the principles which they contain and which we have never ceased to maintain in operation.

Yet it was fated that this man who contributed such solid material to our national existance, should put a tragic close to a career as brief as it was brilliant. Born a romantic figure, his death itself is the last chapter in what destiny determined should end like a story. No matter how or when Hamilton died, his loss would have been taken as a calamity by his countrymen. It seemed a double calamity, coming as it did while Hamilton still was young and in the form of the out-model duel; but destiny had so willed. Still, Aaron Burr but snuffed out a life and laid low a body; Hamilton's fame and name he could not remove from America's roll of honor.

MT. PLEASANT WINS GAMES

The Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School boys and girls basket ball teams journeyed down to Thomas Jr. High last Friday afternoon where the two school teams met for the first time this season.

After the smoke of the battles had cleared away both the boys team and the girls team from Mt. Pleasant emerged on the long end of the score. The girls won 10 to 2, while the boys had a stiff struggle in setting back the Thomas team 12 to 8.

The game between the girls was highly interesting, even though the score appears one-sided. Both teams played hard, but the Mt. Pleasant girls held the edge on pass-work. Ethyl Traywick proved a bit too swift for the Thomas guards, in that she netted the ball for 8 points, while her alternate team-mate, Dorothy Jones, rung up the other 2 points with a beautiful spot shot several feet back from the goal. Annie Chambers and Ilar Massey turned in a neat performance at the guard position, not allowing their opponents a single field goal. Ertice Riggins and Myrtice Cost gave a nice exhibition of pass-work, They repeatedly broke up passes by their opponents and smoothly worked the ball back toward their goal.

This was the first match game for the Thomas girls to participate in, but they deserve special commendation for their loyal efforts in trying to win, and in their good sportsmanship. With a little more drilling and experience they will be pleanty hard to win over.

The boys game was a thriller, but entirely too rough from the outset. Both teams were over-anxious to get the lead over the other, which accounted for so much unnecessary roughness and excessive fouling.

For Thomas, Dunlap, with 3 points, and T. Wilson, with 4 points, were the high scorers; while G. Wilson made the other point. The Thomas boys shaded the Mt. Pleasant lads in pass-work, but were unable to retain possession of the ball while in their own territory.

For the visiting team, Littlejohn and Burnett vied for scoring honors; each registering 5 points. The Thomas boys took special care to limit the shooting of Curtis Traywick, due to his being high-point man on the visiting team, however, he dribbled through the defense once and made a nice looping shot from the field, good for the other 2 points.

On Friday afternoon, January 22, both the boys and girls teams from Thomas will meet the Mt. Pleasant teams which should prove two more interesting games.

All interested in seeing the clever players grapple again, remember the date and be present at 2:15 p. m. —R. B. Johnson, Principal.

SINGING AT COLLINS CHAPEL

Mr. Akins I. Collins asks The Union-Banner to remind everybody that next Sunday afternoon is time for the United Singers to meet at Collins Chapel. He has the promise of Prof. W. M. Devaughn, Dr. J. B. Williams and others to be there. All singers will find a welcome at Collins Chapel.

CENTRAL SINGING

On the list of directors at the meeting of the Central Singing Society at Providence last Sunday afternoon were: J. W. Clackler, R. E. Powell, Willie Mims, Will Culp, Jean Wyatt, G. C. Powell, A. O. Boswell, C. H. Robinson, Emmett Wilson and R. M. Robinson. The singing was fairly good, although the attendance was rather small. Prof. O. L. Devaughn had the singing in charge. Mr. A. O. Boswell made a short talk urging better support of the society. He said in part: "We already have a mighty good singing society, but we have the material for a much better one if the singers would only respond every Sunday."

The society meets next Sunday afternoon with Maple Springs. Let everyone remember the place and date and try and attend. The society needs your help. If you have been slacking up on attendance, make a special effort to come out next Sunday afternoon. You will feel better after the evening is over.

BUILD UP HEALTH AND PAINS GO AWAY

WOMEN who find themselves in a painful condition due to a run-down state of health should give Cardui a fair trial, for a reasonable length of time, as did Mrs. E. G. Hodnett, 1101 Hazel St., Texarkana, Texas, who writes: "I was anxious to build myself up so I could enjoy and take interest in my home. I had suffered with soreness and a constant pain in my side. My mother told me she thought I should try Cardui. Soon after I began taking it I noticed an improvement, so I kept on until I had taken three bottles. By this time I was feeling so much better, the pain and soreness were gone."

spoken, and many strong men were moved to tears as he pictured the distructive effects of sin on manhood and the beauty of living a strong manly and chivilrous life through the strength of Christ in the heart. There were a number of decisions for the better life.

On Sunday night a record crowd assembled and all seats were filled before the opening hour had arrived. Mr. Pitts, the genial and capable choir director was on hand and after leading the great congregation in several spirited songs the male quartet, composed of Messrs. W. M. Devaughn, Jesse Jones, Renfroe Jones, and Akins Collins, gave one of their insipring numbers. This quartet is always a special attraction in Chilton County, and Evangelist Miller said they were the best he had heard in a long time. They will sing again on Tuesday and Thursday evening. Dr. Miller used for his subject "Is there a Hell, what is it, and how long?" The great audience was spell bound as he pictured the blighting and distructive effects of sin and its final consequences and the place of eternal punishment. The subject was handled in a logical convincing manner and all doubts removed about the fact of hell. It was a sermon every person in Chilton County should have heard and those who were present will never forget it.

Monday evening was young peoples night with the various young peoples societies of the churches of the county attending in groups. Among those represented were the following: Verbena Epworth League, Verbena B. Y. P. U., Cooper B. Y. P. U., Thorsby Christian Endeavor, Thorsby B. Y. P. U., Jemison B. Y. P. U., Salem B. Y. P. U., Collins Chapel B. Y. P. U., Concord B. Y. P. U., Providence B. Y. P. U., Oak Grove B. Y. P. U., Walnut Creek Christian Endeavor, Sardis B. Y. P. U., Mineral Springs B. Y. P. U., Maplesville B. Y. P. U., Clanton Sunbeams, Clanton B. Y. P. U., R. A.'s, and G. A.', Clanton Intermediate B. Y. P. U., Clanton Senior B. Y. P. U., Y. W. A.'s,' Clanton Epworth League, Junior League, Hi League, and Senior League, Foursquare Gospel Crusaders.

Special musical numbers were delivered to the audience by the Collins Chapel delegation and the Walnut Creek Christian Endeavor and the Foursquare Crusaders, all of which were greatly enjoyed. The evangelist was greatly pleased with this fine representation of young people of the churches and gave great credit to Miss Madge Scorborough, elementary supervisor of the Chilton County schools, who is directing the work of delagations and had much to do with arranging for this special night for the young people. He asked her to stand and she received a thunderous applause. Dr. Miller said in his experience of many years she was the most efficient worker in this line he had met. Mr. Pitts rendered a very attractive solo.

Dr. Miller took for his subject: "Discouraging Men," stating that because of the large number of young Christian people present he wished to make the message especially applicable to them. He took for his text the narative recorded in the life of Christ in Matthew 26:29-39, in which he depicted the separation by Christ of the diciples on the eventful night of His betrayal, based on their fitness and capacity for service. He said in part: "There was a division of these first leaders of the church that is full of the deepest meaning. Jesus asked eight of His diciples to sit just inside the garden gate, because they were the group that had failed to measure up fully to the great opportunity He had given for work in establishing His kingdom, and now that the time of testing was at hand, He selected the diciples who had shown their capacity for responsibility and sympathy.

This same great principal of elimination is in action in all affairs of life and the world will discover your capacity long before you think they will. You young people need not worry about having a chance in life for the world will have your number and be ready to place you in the proper place. Some people fret because they are not honored in the executive or prominent places in the church but your life, brothers, may be such that the pastor is humiliated and embarassed and has to go around apologizing for you.

Those who live nearest to God will always have the most honor. God will only reveal His will and program to those who are of kindred spirit. You all need some close friends in whom you can confide and tell the secrets of your life. To whom do you go? Only to those who have like desires and kindred experiences for they only can sympathize and be helpful. It is that way in Christian work and if you give yourself to Christ for service with but one aim, to honor His name and dignify and exalt and promote his kingdom. He shall reveal such a program of service that will keep you busy the rest of your life.

At the close of this service a very impressive scene took place as the evangelist asked all the young Christian people who were willing to come forward and say, if God wanted them to become Missionaries, or enter the Christian ministery, and would so indicate to them clearly, they were ready to respond. More than thirty fine young men and women walked to the front and took their stand. Many others came to accept Christ as Savicur. The evangelist then asked the parents of these young people who were volunteering for life work if they were aiming to give them to Christ and His work if He calledthem, and bravely a number of fathers and mothers stood on their feet as tears flowed. The evangelist said he had no dubt in future years some of these would be in foreign lands teaching the heathen, but this would be a great honor to the parents and to the community sending them.

On Tuesday p.m. at 2:30 a very beautiful service was held in honor of Mother. It was especially for those who do not ordinarilly get out at night and conveyances were provided for the shut ins and older ones.

Mrs. Upchurch and her committee of ladies decorated the platform with plants and flowers and made it very attractive. There was a reception committee to greet all who came, composed of Mrs. Haskew, Mrs. Ezell and Mrs. Upchurch and a group of lady ushers. Mr. Sartor and Mr. Atkinson had charge of the transportation.

A bouquet of carnations furnished by Mr. Arnold, florist at Thorsby, was given to the oldest mother, Mrs. G. L. Phillips and the youngest mother, Mrs. Jean Wyatt.

Dr. Miller spoke on the subject, "Mother," and there were many features such as singing the old time songs the older mothers sang when they were children. Also testimonies giving tributes to mother.

Mrs. Kicker is doing splendid work as director of prayer meetings, and each morning, six or more meetings are being held with a large group at each one. These prayer meetings are a surce of great power, and Dr. Miller is much interested that they may continue to increase in attendance and also wishes them to continue after the meetings close, at least, once each week indefinitely.

PLAN WORK FOR COUNTY AGENT

Program of Work as Outlined With Suggestions From Committee Is Believed to be Best Planned Since County Agent's Time

A group of citizens of Chilton County met in the office of the Commissioners Court at the courthouse last Friday morning at ten o'clock for the purpose of advising with County Agent C. E. Stapp on his plans for a program of work for this year for himself and the vocational teachers of the county.

County Agent Stapp presented before the meeting, suggestions for a program of work in the county, and this was taken under consideration and discussed by those present. Numerous suggestions were made and accepted by the county agent, who stated that he believed the program, as outlined by the meeting, is the best he has had to work by since his coming to this county, and looks forward eagerly to carrying out the plans in this county, aiding the farmers in their plans for the year's work.

Among those attending this meeting Friday were Judge L. H. Reynolds, A. P. Vinson, J. L. Burnett, J. I. Cobb, J. M. Mims, J. N. Dennis, H. R. Oden, J. D. Sutley, T. F. Patterson, J. L. Smith, Judson Strock, Erle Thomas, J. P. Montgomery, B. Lawrence, Miss Bertha Dennis, and Miss Zora Guy.

Chicken Feeders Free

In order to introduce our new starting feed for chicks we will give, absolutely free, one chick feeder with every 100 pound bag of PURINA CHICK STARTENA.

This feed has always been good, but it is better now than ever before. Our new PURINA CHICK STARTENA contains the new ingredient X, which gives extra life and extra growth.

Ingredient X is the results of six years experience at the Purina Experimental farm where thousands of chicks are raised every year for experimental work only.

Ingredient X is the greatest discovery in the history of chicken feeding. PURINA STARTENA AND PURINA GROWENA are the only feed made which contain this new ingredient.

We have had wonderful results with the use of Purina Chick Startena and Growena in years past, but with the addition of the new ingredient X we are sure of greater results.

We always carry a fresh stock of feed for chickens, cows, rabbits, dogs, etc. We also have the lowest price on flour, shorts, lard, cottonseed meal cottonseed hulls, and wheat bran.

We pay the highest cash price for chickens and eggs

WHO OFFERED THIS PRIZE?

Before the new jail was completed it is said that somebody made the statement that he would give a prize of $2.50 in cash to the first prisoner locked up in the new building.

There are two prisoners now in jail who claim the right to this prize. They say they will split it if they can find out who offered it and manage some way to collect.

MAGICIANS AT THE WADESONIAN TONIGHT

Gilberto and company are appearing at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton this week. Their closing engagement will be tonight (Thursday). Those who have seen these marvelous performers declare their entertainment to be well worth seeing.

One moment you are amazed and bewildered. Then side - splitting laughter shakes you. Gilberto is the Prince of Magic. He makes you forget Old Man Gloom and really enjoy yourself. He amazes you with a wide range of clever tricks and magical illusions. The children will be tickled to see him produce ducks, rabbits, pigeons, pigs, chickens, etc., from most unsuspected places.

Madame Emilie, the Crystal Seeress, is in the Gilberto company. She tells your past, present, and future. Don't worry about something you can't understand. See Madame Emilie.

Don't forget the closing engagement of this company is at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton tonight (Thursday).

$30,000,000 in Special Taxes Unfair to You

EQUALITY of taxation was one of the fundamental principles of the American government. The levying of special taxes is a serious departure from that principle.

Special taxes paid by fire insurance companies amount to more than 5 per cent of the premiums paid by policyholders.

Less than a million dollars of the 30 million dollars in special taxes is used by the states for the supervision of fire insurance.

The Southern Agriculturist

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Its immense popularity is due not only to the fact that every line in it is written for Southern farm families by men and women who know and appreciate Southern conditions, but to the practically unlimited personal service which is given to subscribers without charge.

Every year we answer thousands of questions on hundreds of different subjects—all without charge. When you become a subscriber this invaluable personal service is yours. That is one reason why we have

700,000 CIRCULATION

Special Subscription Offer

FOR A LIMITED TIME WE WILL GIVE A THREE YEAR SUBSCRIPTION TO THE SOUTHERN AGRICULTURIST (REGULAR PRICE $1)

For 20 Cents

This offer is open to any subscriber, new or old, who asks for it when paying a year's subscription to The Union-Banner for 20 cents. The popularity of the Southern Agriculturist is shown by its large circulation, over 700,000.

THE UNION - BANNER

This saving of 80 cents is intended for our farmer friends, who are urged to take advantage of it at once, because we have only a certain number of subscriptions which we can offer in this way. When they are used, this offer will be withdrawn. First come, first served.

POWER CO. TAX VALUE UPHELD

Ruling Of Judge Jones Gives Victory For State Against Coosa and Chilton

S. R. Butler, as State Tax Commissioner of Alabama, will not be required by mandamus to set aside the assessments heretofore made by him against the properties of the Alabama Power Company in Chilton and Coosa Counties, but these assessments will stand as final. This was the effect of a ruling made in the Circuit Court Friday afternoon by Judge Walter B. Jones of the 15th Judicial Circuit in deciding upon the demurrers filed by the State of Alabama to the petitions filed against Mr. Butler by the counties of Chilton and Coosa and a taxpayer from each county.

Announcement was made Saturday that an appeal from Judge Jones' decision in his circuit court Friday afternoon is to be made by counsel representing the taxpayers in Coosa and Chilton.

The original petitions for mandamus filed September 30, 1931, in the Circuit Court of Montgomery County prayed that the State Tax Commission be required to assess the properties of the Alabama Power Company in Coosa and Chilton Counties at certain definite figures; in Coosa County at 60 per cent of $7,-602,100, and Chilton County at 60 per cent of $10,355,084, which it was alleged was the reasonable market value as fixed and found by the State Tax Commission.

At the hearing of the matter on December 17, last, the petitions for mandamus were amended so as to ask the court to require the State Tax Commission to make "a proper assessment" of the Power Company properties in Chilton and Coosa Counties.

In ruling on the demurrers yesterday Judge Jones held that the counties could file a writ of mandamus, and that the amendments of the petitions on December 17, 1931 should be allowed.

He held, however, that the laws of Alabama creating the State Tax Commission and prescribing the duties of the State Tax Commission confer upon him a judicial discretion which is not subject to be controlled by the courts except in plain cases of abuse.

The court also held that under the law, the tax year having ended with September 30, 1931, and the assessment against the Power Company having then become final, the State Tax Commissioner was without power to set aside the former assessments, reopen the cases, and make new assesments on the value of the properties of the company.

Attorneys appearing in the case were, for the State, Judge A. A. Evans, assistant attorney general; for Coosa and Chilton Counties, Reynolds and Reynolds of Clanton, and the law firm of Martin, Thompson and McWhorter, of Birmingham, appeared as amicus curiae.

PREACHING AND SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP NEXT SUNDAY

Next Sunday is regular preaching time at Friendship church. Rev. J. Robert Bean will preach Saturday night and Sunday night. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Rev. Zac Y. Appleton of Collins Chapel will fill the pulpit for the pastor. The night services will begin at 6:30, and the Sunday morning service will be at 11 o'clock, immediately following Sunday School.

The Central Singing Society will meet with the Friendship class at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. All singers have a cordial invitation to attend. It is hoped that the people of the community will attend all three of the preaching services as well as the singing.

FROM COUNTY TEACHERS

Editor Union-Banner:

We request that you express to your readers the opinion of the teachers as expressed to us as officers of the Chilton County Teachers Association.

If any one of the 145 teachers of Chilton County is to receive more credit than another for the carrying on of the schools, it should be those teachers whose salary is their only means of support. The teachers have also asked us to express to the public our candid opinion that neither the state officials, County Board of Education, trustees, nor teachers desired the schools closed.

We wish to further state that we will not participate in a newspaper controversy of any kind.—W. E. DuBose, vice-president; I. J. Quinn, secretary.

CAUGHT FORTY TROUT IN FORTY MINUTES

Ruben E. Wyatt called a Banner reporter by the Woco Station Tuesday morning and told us that he had something for the believe-it-or-not column. Well, we haven't got such a column, but we are giving space to his story just the same—it is a fish story.

On Monday afternoon Rube and Tom Mims went out to Clay Creek below Lay Dam. At 2:20 Rube put on his fly and Tom got in the rear of the batto. Trout began to strike coming and going, sometimes there being three and four following the fly. This lasted until 3:00 o'clock and the striking stopped off short; not another one could be induced to chase the lure. So they landed and returned to Clanton. They had exactly 30 pounds of trout, the largest one being two and one-half pounds. The catch would average some less than one pound each and there were about forty in all.

This is not to be passed up as a fish story; Ruben proved his report by his brother, Mon, and there were several others who saw the fish.

REYNOLDS URGES POLL TAX PAYING

Voters Are Warned To Get Ready For Elections This Year

Editor Union-Banner:

I ask permission to call attention to the voters of Chilton County through your paper as very few have paid poll tax up to this date. It looks like from the records now that there will be over a thousand men and women that cannot vote this year on account of not paying their poll tax.

Voters, I appeal to you to make every effort possible to pay your poll tax on or before February 1st, and if you are due a poll tax and do not pay it by this time remember that you cannot vote this year.

I would call your attention to the fact that you will have federal, state and county officers to elect this year. You will have two primary elections, one in May and one in June, and the general election in November. Then I am sure we will have another election trying to put more burdens and taxes on the people of this state and many of you who do not pay your poll tax will be very much disappointed before this year closes. I believe it is one of the most important political years in our history, and voters will get more for the poll tax they pay this year than they have in any years past.

I want to urge people who have work to do to give a job to those who have no money to pay their poll tax so they can pay the same.

Just a word to the women voters of our county. Hundreds of them left their poll tax off last year, and unless they pay their poll tax better in the future than they have in the past it won't be long until we will have only a few women voers in our county.

In closing I appeal to all who are due a poll tax in our county to make the effort of their life to pay the same on or before February 1st.

The people of this State are burdened with taxes as they have never been before and the law makes it possible for the poor man's tax to be raised by several parties after he assesses it, but it gives one man the power to assess over 242 millions of property and makes no provision for any court or any other official to review his acts.

I have said to you people of this county for over twenty-five years that we were gradually drifting away from local self-government and that every time the legislature adjourns we can truhfully say that we have lost more of our liberties and centralized government is made stronger.

Remember what I say, many of you who do not pay your poll tax will regret it before this year is over and if you do not prepare yourself to vote you cannot complain at additional burdens that will be placed upon you.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

WENT TO SEE "OLD IRONSIDES"

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson went down to Mobile Sunday and took a look at the famous old battle ship "Old Ironsides." They were accompanied by Joe Hall, and all three say that it was a great treat to them to see the famous old frigate. The Constitution is on a tour of all the leading ports of the Western Hemisphere.

DANIEL SAYS ALL THE CREDIT DOES NOT BELONG TO PROF. W. T. BEAN

He Says Sacrifice Was Universal Among All Teachers Of the County

Editor The Union-Banner:

I read the communication published in your paper last week commending Mr. W. T. Bean for providing conditions, such that the schools of Chilton county could remain open for the full length of term. Will you allow me space to make a few comments concerning this communication?

In the first place, I would like to know who the communicator was. Will you please publish the name of the person who submitted this communication to you for publication?

I personally commend Mr. Bean for casting his vote in favor of schools operating the full term, but Mr. Bean is not the only one who should be commended. In fact, Mr. Bean is only one of about 145 teachers in Chilton County, and of course he should not and does not deserve all the credit.

It would be the beautiful thing to do, and it would be in keeping with our great principles of American democracy to give every person who sacrificed in order that the schools might remain open, his share of the credit. The credit for keeping the schools open in order that they may perform that most important function of helping youthful citizens of today to become honorable and helpful citizens of tomorrow, belongs to the following persons or group of persons, namely;

1. Supt. B. Lawrence, executive officer of the Board of Education.
2. The Board of Education.
3. The 145 teachers of Chilton County.
4. The patrons of the schools, who are so willingly furnishing comfortable rooms and wholesome food for the teachers in advance of payment for same.

The communication is misleading. It would have people believe that very few teachers, with exception of Mr. Bean, really had the welfare of the schools at heart. It does not recognize the sacrifices the patrons are making, neither does it recognize the struggle our Superintendent and the Board of Education has confronted in trying to finance the schools. The communication errs in this count.

Possibly there are those who do not understand the situation. Here are the facts in this matter: Supt. B. Lawrence and the Board of Education were confronted with the most perplexing situation, that of operating the schools with no assurance that the state of Alabama would make its payment to the county. Heretofore, the first term of school had been financed with state money, and the second term with County funds. The order had to be reversed this year, because the state failed to pay. Mr. Lawrence made it clear to the teachers at the Teacher's Institute that the Board could finance the schools for one term only, unless the state made its appropriations. He also made it clear that county taxes would have to be collected before the teachers could be paid for the first term. No one misunderstood that.

Time passed, and teachers, patrons, and busdrivers began to think in terms of the second term of school. Still the state had not paid its money to the county. What was Mr. Lawrence and the Board to do? What could they do? They did not want to order the teachers to continue with no assurance that they would get their money. That would have been acting the part of a czar here in democratic America. There was only one thing left for them to do, and they did that one thing. They called the teachers together for the purpose of letting the teachers decide for themselves, by casting their vote, for or against continuing and receiving warrants in payment of services rendered. The teachers met and voted to continue. In calling this meeting and in letting the teachers decide the question for tnemselves, Supt. Lawrence and the Board put into operation the principles of American democracy

Mr Bean, as president of the County Teachers Association, sent out letters or cards to the principals requesting them to state the matter of continuing the schools to their faculties, and make reply as to what they were willing to do. Then Mr. Bean called a meeting of the principals for the purpose of discussing the question further. In doing this Mr. Bean was only doing his duty. Just how much good these activities on the part of Mr. Bean did, I am unable to say. If they did do good, I personally wish to thank Mr. Bean, and I am sure everyone concerned would do the same thing. There is no doubt in my mind, however, that the teachers would have voted as they did even though these activities had not been brought into play.

Now, in conclusion, I wish to say that we must all work cooperatively together, place credit where credit belongs, press onward and upward toward those Alpine heights in education, and keep politics out of our schools.

Respectfully submitted,
J. E. DANIEL,
Maplesville, Alabama.

REGISTER AND PAY POLL TAX NOW

The people of Chilton County are reminded that now is the time to pay poll taxes. February the first is the last day on which this duty can be discharged.

This year is election year. You will want to be able to vote in the Primaries and General Election. If you are subject to poll tax, be sure it is paid by February the first.

Those who may be entitled to register may do so at the courthouse between January 25th and February 4th.

Farmers Meeting At Prattville January 29

Chilton Farmers Invited To Attend Gathering In Autauga County

A mass meeting of farmers will be held at Prattville on Friday, January 29th, begining at 9:30 a. m. The outlook for 1932 will be the main topic of consideration, and there will be various demonstrations of great value and interest to farmers generally.

There will be interesting speakers with charts illustrating something of the world production and carry-over of crops, and the things to do during low price periods.

Dinner will be served to all white farmes and their families. This is a favor that will be extended to all visitors by the merchants of Prattville.

After diner there will be a spectacular demonstration showing how forty stumps can be removed from a field at one lick. It will be accomplished by blasting. Other demonstrations will include terracing, spraying fruit trees, and other processes in strawberry culture.

Prattville invites everybody to come. A special invitation is extended to the farmers in the southern part of Chilton ounty, with the assurance that every farmer who attends will receive a cordial welcome from the people of Prattville, and some instructions that will be beneficial.

QUESTIONS FROM MR. H. B. OLIVER

Concerning Teachers, Schools Bus Drivers and County Politicians

The teachers and bus drivers of the county were called to Clanton some time ago and were asked to say whether or not they were willing to teach the remainder of the school year without a definite pay day. The vote was practically unanimous to continue. That was fine; showed that our teachers—the majority needing the pay for the work—were willing to make the sacrifice.

But, Mr. Editor, has any one heard of a call by Dr. Harmon to all officials and employees in the Educational Department to meet in his office in the city of Montgomery and decide as to whether this meeting would be as loyal and self-sacrificing as those attending the first meeting, and leave their pay in the treasury until such time as all could share in the pay roll?

Another thing, why don't the factions of a political party in this county settle their differences so that the common people may have what they are justly entitled to?—H. B. Oliver, Verbena, Ala.

MINISTERS OF THE GOSPEL MAY GET UNION-BANNER FREE

Any minister of the gospel, who is active in the ministry, may get The Union-Banner sent to him free of cost, by sending in or bringing in his name and address. This applies only to preachers who are now actively engaged in preaching and to all who have retired from the ministry on account of old age or ill health.

It is the desire of the management of this paper to enlist all such ministers on our subscription list. Of course, most of the preachers over the county are already getting the paper, some as paid subscribers and some complimentary. If you are on as a paid subscriber, see the management some time before your time expires, and we will be glad to put you on this complimentary list.

PREACHING AT COUNTY POOR-HOUSE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Rev. Aaron Parker will preach at the county poor house next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Everybody invited. Singers are especially urged to come and help out in the services.

CHURCH SERVICE EVERY SUNDAY

Preaching and Bible Study At Church Of Christ In Clanton

It has been several months since anything has appeared through the columns of your paper about the Church of Christ at Clanton. It might appear as a result of such that some might think the church is not alive. Not so. We wish to say that there are services every Lord's Day, and that the number attending from time to time is steadily increasing.

Each Sunday at 10:00 o'clock Bible study begins, and it is with much interest it it noted that the study is growing more interesting each successive Sunday. Following the study each Sunday we are now permitted to hear some very forceful and instructive Bible sermons.

Attending the regular services each Sunday are two brethren who preach for the congregation. First of these who does service preaching is the elder brother, Tom Daniel. This man is very generally known in Chilton County, but no one knows him in his best light unless you have been permitted to hear him in his simple, clear, and appealing way speak out of his life long study of the scriptures. This man has already preached his greatest sermon, namely, his long and devoted life of real Christian living. Having his sermons prefaced with the life that he has makes his sermons very inspiring.

Next to do service is a younger man who has had Bible training in one of the best Bible schools of the South. This young man, whose name is Bratten comes to us two Lord's days in each month with some of as good lessons as the congregation has been permitted to hear. His work as a preacher of real gospel truths is unsurpassed by any man of his age, anywhere.

Now, it is not the intention of these remarks to try to impress upon any one that the services at the Church of Christ at Clanton are intended to be anything akin to show. It is not. We only try to teach and study the scriptures and understand them as they are.

It is the intention primarily of this article to invite anyone not attending services elsewhere to come and worship with us. Those attending services will find a hearty welcome at any and all times.

Our creed: Speak where the Bible speaks; be silent where the Bible is silent.—The Church of Christ at Clanton; by the Elders.

AUXILIARY TO PUT ON GEO. WASHINGTON PROGRAM

The American Legion Auxiliary will put on a George Washington program at their regular meeting time on the first Monday night in February. It will begin at 7 o'clock. All members are urged to come, and especially the committee chairmen.

The meeting the first Monday night in January was fine and well attended. It is hoped that the February meeting will be better still.—Mrs. Percy M. Pitts, President.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE

Business has not been so rushing at the Sheriff's office the past week. Only five arrests have been made: Two for violating the prohibition law; two for desertion and non-support; one for vagrancy.

PITTS ADVISES EX-SERVICE MEN

Warning Made Against New Organization Of Veterans Voters Union

To the ex-service men of Chilton County:

Much has been said in the daily papers of late regarding the punishment given an ex-service man by the name of Kirby, who had violated the rules and regulations of the convict department, while a prisoner serving a sentence for larceny. Also much discussion has been had relative to the proposed World War Veterans Voters Union, that is being organized over the country, and which is seeking membership by letters sent out to all ex-service men which most of us have been receiving of late.

In my judgment these two propersitions deserve serious consideration by all ex-service men, and I am delighted to find from those of the county, including members of the American Legion local post, whom I have discussed the matter with that the great majority of them are not in sympathy with either of the two propesitions.

Kirby's criminal record demonstrates the fact that, not only has he violated the criminal statutes in this state, but show that he has served a previous senence or two in the state penetentiary in the state of New Jersey.

My American Legion official membership card, as all others I have seen has the Preamble to the Constitution printed on the back of same, which in part is as follows; "We associate ourselves together for the following purposes; To uphold the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order etc."

Judging from the criminal record of Kirby, he certainly has not been living up to that part of the Constitution, and I personally can not see any reason why, with his criminal record, should be placed upon a pedestal merely by reason of the fact that he happened to be an ex-service man, who served his country during the World War, which was only his duty. Should the ex-service men and the Legionares be reasonable in their future requests and endaver to keep out of petty politics in the state and nation, our people will have the same degree of respect for us as they have had in the past. Just such publicity as a chosen few have caused in recent weeks will cause the State and nation in a large measure to lose a large part of the respect and admiration that has been accorded the World War veteran.

Let each one of us inculcate a sense of individual obligation to our community, state and nation; maintain law and order, concentrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Let each one of us refrain from forming or joining the World War Veterans Voters League, or any other political organization of similar character. Also let us refrain from making any unjust or unusual demands upon our state or national government, by reason of any little service we may have rendered during the World War, which was our duty to render.

As long as we do this, I feel that we will be accorded the same respect and esteem by our people that was accorded us when the Armistice was signed on November 11th, 1918.

Respectfully yours,
PERCY M. PITTS.

FREE TELEPHONE SERVICE ENDS AFTER FEBRUARY 1ST

The Board of Directors of the Peoples Telephone Company has set Monday, February 1st as the last day on which telephone service will be given those who have not paid their fees. After that day, do not call central for admission through if you have not paid your fee.

The Board realizes that cash is short this year, but the central office cannot be run without some money. Many people have waited as long as possible about paying, which has made it hard to get along. So, everybody strain an extra point and pay your central fee. The office is going to operate regardless, but the more who pay, the better service can be given to everybody.—Jesse Baker, President; T. E. Wyatt, Secretary; E. H. Mims, J. P. Jackson and Jas. M. Robinson, Board of Directors.

CONCORD P.-T. A. ORGANIZED

In response to a call of our principal, Mr. Bratton, the parents of Concord School met Wednesday afternoon, January 13, to organize a Parent-Teachers Association.

Miss Scarborough, our elementary supervisor, and Mrs. Stapp, the attendance officer, were present. They each gave us a very good talk on the functions and workings of the organization.

A motion was made and carried to go into the organization, and election of officers for such an organization.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. L. Baker; vice president, Mr. Murphy Bratton; secretary-treasurer, Irving P. Kennedy; program committee, Mrs. Clara Tippett, Miss Frances Moore, Mrs. O. H. McDowell; membership, Mrs. Sanford Devaughn, Mrs. S. V. Miller, Mrs. I. P. Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Mims.

Others present were Mrs. Everee Tippett, B. G. Johnson, Elijah Easterling, Lester Powell, J. M. Johnson, S. V. Miller, J. J. Johnson, G. N. Easterling, Bill Easterling, Mrs. Royal Collins, Mr. Berry Bice, Mr. Vannis Mims, Mr. Arthur Maddox, Leonard Mims, Mrs. J. E. Easterling, Monroe Mims, Mrs. Virgil Mims, Mrs. O. H. McDowell, who constitute the charter membership, with Miss Scarborough and Mrs. Stapp as honorary members.

The interest shown was good. So every one come again January 27, at 2:30, p. m., and bring some one with you.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, ONE OF AMERICA'S GREATEST SONS

On January 17th occurred the anniversary of a great American, who should not be forgotten amid the nation's tribute to George Washington this year; for this noted American was not only a glory to our history but without him Washington might not have been able to achieve our independence.

This great American was Benjamin Franklin, who became, next to Geo. Washington, the best known American of the 18th century. Wherever enlightened men gathered during Franklin's life time, they accounted him foremost in philosophy, politics, and diplomacy, and to this day his name is secure in history as that of a pioneer in science.

Franklin was one of the most versatile men of our history. His clear thinking and good common sense won him fame everywhere. As for his winning personality, it proved a tremendous asset to the American cause. The final victories of Washington on the battlefield would never have been possible but for Franklin's skill in the field of diplomacy and his ultimate winning of the French nation to America's side.

Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston on January 17, 1706, the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission reminds us. His father wanted him to learn the trade of candle-making, an occupation that he disliked so much that he threatened to revolt. To forestall his running away to sea, the boy Franklin was apprenticed to his half-brother, James, a printer; and here Franklin's rapid self-education got its start. In his brother's shop he met intelligent people, he eagerly read the best books, and he soon tried his hand at writing for his brother's newspaper, called the "first sensational sheet in America."

Quarreling with his brother, Franklin set out for Philadelphia at the age of 17, to make his own way. There he soon caught the attention of Governor Keith at whose suggestion he went to London. There, in spite of many hardships, he soon obtained employment and his agreeable personality brought him many influential friends. One of them, a Quaker merchant named Denham, offered Franklin a job in a store that he planned to open in Philadelphia. Within a short time Denham died and Franklin again was without a job, but his next step was important.

With Hugh Meredith he established a printing shop in Philadelphia and in ten years he had made it the most important business of its kind in the country. Next he bought the Pennsylvania Gazette, which soon gained a circulation of 10,000 and became one of the outstanding papers of the time. In this paper he began those pithy maxims to be gathered under the title of "Poor Richard's Almanac," which lives today in lasting fame.

Meanwhile Franklin's interest and activity had broadened in every direction. He founded the American Philosophical Society, organized the first fire company in Philadelphia, and became the city's postmaster and clerk of the Pensylvania Assembly. His interest in science also developed, and he invented a stove and began those experiments in electricity which have made his name a household word in the scientific world.

Every schoolboy knows the story of Franklin's suspicion that the lightningbolt was simply a larger specimen of the spark he drew from a Leyden jar. He proved the likeness with his historic experiment of the kite and the key during a thunderstorm. The invention of the lightning-rod followed.

Franklin's diplomatic feats make too long a list for a newspaper column, but it was he who first sought to bind the colonies together in union. He performed many saving services for the colonies before the Revolution, and during that struggle his influence in France provided the factor that turned the Revolution to victory for America.

Even at 81, Franklin's deeds for his country were not yet ended, for in 1787 he performed the culminating service of his long and great career with the fighting act of becoming a member of the Convention that wrote the Constitution.

Throughout his life he was a devoted admirer of George Washington, and the friendship of these two men is one of the fairest pages in early American history. On his death, on April 17, 1790, Franklin willed his cane to Washington, with the famous words: "My fine crab-tree walking stick, with a gold head curiously wrought in the form of a cap of liberty, I give to my friend and the friend of mankind, General George Washington. If it were a sceptre, he has merited it and would become it."

Locals

Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Ezell and Mrs. Scottie Moore visited Birmingham Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Thornhill of Decatur, Alabama, was the week end guest of Mrs. Sallie Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Farley of the Magic City, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Willis.

Grover Harris, Sr., visited his son in Tuscaloosa Sunday.

Misses Fay and Louise Bailey, Anita Cranford and Harold Cranford of Birmingham were the guests of Miss Helen Diefenderfer Sunday.

C. E. Stapp made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

H. G. Boyd of Selma was in Clanton Tuesday going to his camp on Lake Mitchell for a few days outing.

Chas. Cooper of Mt. Creek was in Clanton Tuesday.

T. Frank Patterson of Verbena was in Clanton Tuesday. From the looks of things he was buying in a store, one would surmise that Mr. Patterson is getting ready to start things to work on his farm pretty soon.

Evan Calloway, of Nauvoo, Walker County, was in Clanton this week to see his brother, L. A. Calloway, who is seriously sick.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Page spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Trotter, at Mitchell Dam.

Dr. L. E. Barton, Secretary of the Baptist State Executive Board, was in Clanton Sunday. He preached at the Baptist church at the eleven o'clock hour of worship.

TWO WAYS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

He came into the office without announcement or ceremony, like a mad bull raging, and threw upon the desk before me an official looking letter which seemed to have my signature on it. He was angry, there was every evidence to indicate, and I was the apparent cause of his perturbed state of mind.

"Why do I get a letter like this?' he asked.

It was a notice that under our regulations, because of low grades, he had been placed on probation, and that unless his work in the future improved, he would be automatically dropped from college.

"I'm not on probation," he went on. "You got me in bad with the folks at home, and the whole thing makes me sore. What sort of an outfit do you have in your office anyway? I should think you would know your alphabet at least."

"Did you carry all of your work?" I inquired.

"No, I didn't," he explained, "but I got a 'B' in two hours, and that keeps me off probation."

"It isn't my mistake," I explained, "if it is a mistake. We send out the notices as the record comes from the college office. If an error has been made it will be corrected, and it will be made right just as quickly if you are polite, and if you were, you'd feel a lot better than you do now."

He went out not completely mollified, but calmer than when he entered. I looked into the error. There were two Campbells with the same initials and the grades had become confused.

The next man came in quietly and seated himself in front of me.

"I got the loan you recommended me for," he said, "and I want to thank you for it. You don't know how much it means to me to get a little help just now. The folks at home have had a hard time lately and they can't help me any more this year. I'm pretty nearly through, you know and I'd hate to give up and not finish when I have only a half year to go."

It is rather uncommon to have people thank me these days for any routine service which I perform and recommending the boy for a loan was rather a routine job for me.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION

There will be a fiddlers convention at County Line School Friday night, January 22nd. Everybody is invited.

HIGH PYTHIAN OFFICIALS TO VISIT MONTGOMERY

Mongomery, Ala., Jan. 18.—Announcement is made here that Hon. Leslie E. Crouch of Portland, Oregon, Supreme Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, will make an official visit to Alabama where he will be the guest of the Montgomery lodges on January 23rd. The Central Alabama Pythian Association will have charge of the program on this date and every officer of Pythian subordinate lodges in the state is urged to be present.

Mr. Crouch announces that he is anxious to meet with those who have the official responsibility of the order's operation throughout the State. He has a special message for all Pythians and is anxious that every leader in the order attend this meeting. He especially urges all Chancellor Commanders, Vice-Chancellors, Keepers of records and seal, and District Deputies to attend this meeting.

Grand Chancellor, M. J. Wood of Mobile and many other Grand Lodge Officers will meet the Supreme Chancellor here. Local Pythians are working on a program, which will include more of an instruction course than entertainment. Central Lodge No. 9 will be host on this occasion, and will be assisted in the program by the members of Jewell Lodge No. 75.

Earl P. Andrews, President of the Central Alabama Pythian Association, is sending out hundreds of special invitations to the membership throughout the state, and expects an attendance almost equal to a Grand Lodge Session.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

Dr. John R. McLure, director of the University of Alabama summer school, will deliver the mid-term commencement address at the University Saturday evening, January 23. Approximately 100 students are candidates for degrees.

Dr. Walter B. Jones, state geologist, is rapidly recovering from an operation for appendicitis. Dr. Jones was followed to the hospital by his wife who presented him with a fine young son. The Joneses occupied adjoining suites in the infirmary.

Alabama and Southern students planning to enter the University medical school should file applications for admission before the end of this month, said Dean Stuart Graves. Preference will be given early applicants.

Mid term dances will take place Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, January 25, 26, and 27. The cotillion club is bringing a large and well-known New York orchestra to the University, and expert assistance will be employed in decorating the gymnasium. Numerous out of town visitors are expected to attend.

DAIRYING

GRIND FEEDS TO SUIT THE ANIMAL

(By Prof. W. B. Krueck)

With an abundance of grains in most communities, many farmers are having their grain ground locally. Farmers having their feed ground and men operating grinders should give careful consideration to the kind of livestock for which the feed is being prepared.

In general, if a grinder cannot be regulated for each separate run, a medium ground feed will answer the demads of most animals more efficiently than a finely ground feed. Dairy cattle and beef cattle, especially do better on a feed that is ground to a medium texture. Finely ground feeds have a tendency to become pasty and unpalatable and, therefore, are not utilized as efficiently as feeds that are medium or coarsely ground.

Hogs may utilize a finely ground feed more efficiently than cattle. Here again, however, if the feed can be ground in such a way that the digestive juices can readily attack the ingredients of the feed, the animal will use them in most cases more efficiently. The capacity of grinders can also be increased and consequently the cost of grinding reduced, if feed is not ground too finely.

All farm grains, whether ground or whole, will, however, make the feeder more profit if they are properly supplemented with good proteins to give them a proper balance in the ration.

G. G. REPORT

Monday afternoon at four o'clock the Junior G. A's. met. We had an election of new officers as follows; Helen Eubanks, President; Thelma White, Vice-President; Marzelle Taylor, Secretary; Hariette Esco, Treasurer; Vivian Lowery, Clara Mae Rogers, Agnes Powell, and Margaret McNair, Social Committee.

We have sides, red and blue, to see which one can get the most on each side. The side that wins is given a party by the losing side. All girls from nine to twelve please come.

The next meeting will be held at Marzelle Taylor's, at four o'clock Monday afternoon.

Have you [illegible] commonly called that "tired Feeling?"

"I just can't go on"—how often you hear this.

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living * * * pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count * * * the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning * * * so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

For generations S.S.S. has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

UNION GROVE

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely; also the B. Y. P. U.

We are all enjoying this pretty weather around this place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dorminey had as their guests Sunday Mrs. O. E. Merchant and two children from Monroe, Louisiana; Mr. and Mrs. Harbor and two daughters of Birmingham; Mr. Greene Dorminey and wife.

Everybody is planning a fox chase. Bring on your dogs.

Several from this place attended the singing at Collins Chapel Sunday.

Miss Estelle Gore is visiting Mrs. J. E. Dorminey.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Robinson are the proud parents of a baby boy.

Health of our community is very good at this time.

Mr. Bernie Chandler is still improving. We hope he will soon be out again.

Our Sunday School is still growing. We had some more new members Sunday which we are always glad to have.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Robinson announce the birth of a fine baby boy, January 14. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Several from this place attended singing at Collins Chapel Sunday aftenoon.

Miss Pearl Chandler spent Saturday night with Miss Jessie Dorminey.

Misses Delene Collum, Dortha Littlefield, and Bonnie Hilson spent Sunday with Miss Nellie Barnett.

Mrs. William Dorminey and daughter, Miss Jessie Dorminey, attended the revival services at Clanton Sunday night.

Miss Amy Robinson spent Saturday night with Misses Artell and Onzell Thrash.

Mrs. J. E. Dorminey's grandaughters, the Misses Cliftons, are visiting her.

Mr. Grady Bates and Miss Iris Robinson visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Robinson, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ferman Gore and children are visiting her parents in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hall have moved back to our community. We are very glad to have them back with us.

Misses Thomasine Dorminey, Artel and Onzell Thrash spent Sunday with Misses Amy and Winnie Kate Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrell of Birmingham visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gore Friday.

Mrs. Audice Littleton spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loss Robinson, last week.

Miss Edna Robinson dined with Miss Alma Glass Sunday.

JOSEPH LITTLETON DIED

Mr. Joseph Littleton, age 72, died at his home near Union Grove January 14th. Burial was at Union Grove cemetery January 16th, with Spigener in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Davis.

Mr. Littleton is survived by his wife, Mrs. Missouri Littleton, and several sons and daughters. He was one of the pioneer citizens of Chilton County.

POOR O

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom At Shiloh Church (Colored)

Dis third Sunday mawnin in January, 1932, is a day dat you shood be prowd ob, cause so many hab cum out to church. I'se glad to be here dis mawnin.

I wants to read a lessun frum de foth chapter ob Exodus. An I wants you to read it when you go home. Now, I wants you to sing dat song: "Lord I care not fur riches." Let evy body stan, (they sing) now set down.

De tex dis mawnin is de 27 virse ob de 17 chaptur ob Matthew. An it reads dis way: Go thou to the sea and cast an hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up, and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a piece of money, that take and give unto them for me and thee.

De fust thing dat I wants to sa bout dis tex, is dis: De Romans guverned dat country at dat time, an da laid heavy taxes on de Jews, an our Lord didn't wish to incur de displeasure ob dose in power jest den cause His time hadent cum. Hus wurk wuz not finished, and dese taxes wuz let out to de highest bidder, and de Publicans or perfessional politicians, when da got de job ob collectin de taxes da taxed evy thing da culd to make as much outen de job as da cud.

Now, less look at de tex. De fust thing we see in is it dat Peter wuz not disobedient. Supose he had dun lak Moses in de lesson, an sed to de Lord. "I know dat I is a fisherman, but I cant understan how you kin kno dat I wuld ketch a fish, or dat effen I did, it wuld hab some money in his mouf." But he dident say dat.

He went rite on an done whut de Lord tole him to do. Dars one thing dat we no bout it, an yit it aint in de tex, an dat is Peter want no nigger, cause effen he had a ben he wuld hab staid rite dar till de Lord got tired waitin, cos effen a nigger wuz to ketch a fish an find money in his mouf, he wuld set rite dar till dark rund him in.

An speakin bout money, let me tell you sumptin, effen we culd git rid ob de money kings and de perfessional politicians, and de boot-leggers, we wood cum outen dis depression in a short time. An speakin ob boot-leggers. Let me tell you dis: Wun day las week I wuz cumin outen de cort house and met dat Mr. James Galispy, an he sa helo Preacher, is de boot-leggers bodderin you down roun your churches any? An I sa, yes da is. An he sa who is it? An I sa I dont no, cause I cant tell a boot-legger frum no body elce, cause evy body nearly has two cars now, a rattle-trap and a big fine car. An I sa when I am goin down to my pintment an meets a well-dressed man drivin a rattle trap, I sa dats a boot-legger, an when I'm goin back to town an meets ur man wid ole ragged overhalls on an drivin a big fine car, I sa dats a boot-legger. Den I sa Mr. James, you all dont go at dis thing lak I wuld effen I wuz de Sheriff. I wuld make hit easy on evy body. An he sa how wuld you do it Preacher? An I sa da tells me dat you alls bout got dat new jail full now. An de county has to feed all ob dem besides all ob de other costs. I would des git out an ketch dem fiew whut aint bootleggers, an lock dem up in de jail, an let de res got to it. An he laffed an went on in de cort house.

An de nex thing we see in dis tex is dat by Peter's obedience de law wuz satisfied. An den de others ob de decyples wuz blessed by havin da taxes paid. Speakin bout politicians an taxes, let me tell you dis.

I went in de cort house to ax de jedge whut da culd do to me fur not payin my taxes, and atter he tole me how it wuz he sa, Blossom, hows politics down roun your churches? An I sa I dont no Jedge. I dont pay much tention to politics, cause de white folks is gwyn to run hit to suit dem selves any how. An he sa, well, Preacher, you are interested in good county govurment, aint you? An I sa yasser. Now, bout de lesson.

When de Lord made it up in His mind dat his chillun wuz bein mistreated, and dat it wuz time fur it to stop, he picked on Moses to lead dem outen Egypt, an to de promis lan. But Moses begin to argufy bout it, jes lak de Lord dident no whut wuz bes. Moses comenced to make excuses an sayin whut he cudent do.

Dats de way wid folks dese days. Da wants things done, but da dont want to do it da selves. I likes any body lak Peter, whut is ready to jump at it jes when de Lord says so. Ob course money has a heep to do wid de way folks goes at any thing. It mought be dat Moses cudent see no money in dat job fur him. An Peter cud see some money in de job whut de Lord gib him.

But de Lord knowd both ob dese men. He knowd dat Moses wuz a natural-bornd leader, and dat Peter Wuz a natural bornd fisherman, an cause de Lord knowd dat Peter wuz a fisherman, he tole him dat he wood make him a fisher ob men. Oh dat we wuz all fishers ob men, an not fishers only, but dat we wood go fishin more dan we do.

Soles are perishin out yonder in de deep sea ob sin, and we preachers are de fishermen. Effen we dont go an fish fur dem da will sho be lost.

I guess I better close now. I wants you to sing dat good ole song "Thro out de life line." (dey sing). Now lissen while I reads dis piece ob poetry:

De Lord sont Peter to ketch a fish,
An Peter went an caught it;
But lots ob people would haf laid aroun,
An took some money an bought it.

Wid all de things de matter wid de church,
Dis one thing am true;
Too many ob us wont lissen to de Lord,
We say, any ole thing will do.

Dat piece ob money wuz in dat fishes mouf,
An not in anudder;
So less do whut de Lord sa do,
An wel git de rite fish my brudder.

So less not look fur pay while here,
But thank de Lord fur whut is giben;
Den when all de fushin is done,
Wel all go home to Heben.
Ess stan an be dismiss.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

In a few minutes after taking Thoxine, a doctor's famous prescription, your cough stops. It acts on a new principle—relieves throat irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by ordinary cough remedies.

Most coughs are caused by an irritated throat. Thoxine stops these at once. Safe for the whole family—guaranteed no dope. Money back if not satisfied. 35c.—Upchurch Drug Company, and all other good drug stores.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Last Wednesday night the regular monthly meeting of the Union midweek services of the churches of Thorsby were held at the Congregational Church, with Rev. J. W. Jones as leader. Next month it will be held at the Baptist Church, with Rev. J. E. Each as leader.

This arrangement and the size of the audiences indicates the spirit of fellowship prevailing in Thorsby between these two churches. The program as outlined for last meeting was based on the command of God, to Moses when the Israelites were in panic on the banks of the Red Sea with the hosts of Pharaoh closing in on them from the rear.

"Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." Through obedience to this command provision was made for successful accomplishment of the seemingly impossible and thir enemies were destroyed in attampted pursuit.

The leader then called for suggestions as to what the Cristian people of Thorsby might do in the way of going forward in this year, 1932, and about a dozen suggestions were offered, most of them very practical.

There has long been manifest between these two churches respect for and confidence in one another. It has long been the custom at the Congregational church for the pastor to announce from the pulpit on the second and fourth Sunday morning service, among the notices given out, after mentioning the Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 p. m.: "There will be no preaching service here tonight. There will be preaching at the Baptist Church, which we hope as many of our people as can do so will attend." In a spirit of reciprocity Rev. Jones announced Wednesday night that he has or will urge his people to attend services at the Congregational Church, whenever there is no services at the Baptist Church.

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

Another feature of the cultivation of this spirit is the weekly socials conducted by the ladies organizations, one each Thursday afternoon, which are attended by the ladies of all denominations.

Mr. C. M. Williams, who is principal of the public school at Boaz, Ala., was a surprise visitor for the week end at his home in Thorsby. Having learned that his wife was ill he came to see about her. He returned Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Villadsen of Aldrich were callers at the home of Mr. Villadsen's mother in Thorsby Saturday. Mr. Villadsen was enroute to Clanton to look up some records in connection with his business.

Mrs. C. S. Howard, with Lloyd and Ella, spent Saturday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Alfred Collins of Strasburg, who has been ill for several months, died Sunday morning.

The pupils of Miss Jennye Robinson's room in Thorsby Public School, were the most perfect in attendance for one month, therefore were given a half holiday Monday and enjoyed a picnic.

Mr. A. A. Amundsen, who is spending the winter in Thorsby with his wife, had his 88th birthday anniversary last Sunday. Their home is in Evanston (near Chicago), Ill.

Mr. Olaf Schevie has received announcement of the death of his only sister, in Sweden, at the age of 85 years.

Billy Lodge, 10 years old, who was a grandson of the late "Uncle Doc Wells" died at the home of his parents in Thorsby, and was buried at Cedar Grove.

Mrs. N. Laurell had as guests Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore and children, Mrs. Horn, and Mrs. Percy Grover and children, all of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pate, Mrs. H. L. Walker and H. L. Collins spent Saturday in Montgomery shopping.

Mrs. H. V. Thompson of Birmingham spent the week end with home folks in Thorsby. Mr. Harry Thompson made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

The people of Thorsby were very much surprised last week to learn of the sale of Thorsby Hardware Company to Mr. Sam Pate of Thorsby and Mr. Tom Rockett of Clanton. Terms of sale were not given. Both these men are well known in Chilton County, and while we shall miss the faces so long familiar to us at that store, we wish success to their successors.

Friday morning at chapel Miss Klingelhoefer's Bible class gave a most interesting program, two playlets, scenes from the life of Saul entitled "The Awakening of Saul," and "The Witch of Endor." The parts were given in costume and some of it was very dramatic. It was very much enjoyed.

A Mexican and Indian program was given at Thorsby Institute last Saturday night by the Helen Keller Literary Society. Part of the program was a contest between the two clubs, the Pushmataha and Philomatahas, represented by Jane Billingsley, who gave a reading in costume as Pocahontas, and Phares Raybon, who told an Indian legend, "Origin of the Pine Tree. Nelle Tracy, who gave a reading on "The Mexican National Anthem," and Helen Albert, whose essay was entitled "Indians, Past and Present," won the contested points on the program. The Philomathics won the point for attendance. Only one member of the entire society was absent and he is a Pushmataha.

The glee club sang the Mexican national anthem after Nelle Tracy's reading, which told of its origin. The glee club also sang the Indian song "By the waters of Minnetonka." The glee club, under the direction of Miss Thoroman, is quite an addition to the musical life of Thorsby Institute.

Lois Thompson in a Mexican costume sang a Mexican folk song, "O Ask of the Stars." The Spanish folk dances were given by a few of the girls of the Health Class.

The closing number was a pantomime depicting the life of an Indian boy named Redhill's Son. Pauline Poole was the reader. At the close the doxology was sung in the Dakota Indian language. Miss Leech, who was at one time connected with an Indian school in Santee, Nebraska, was very helpful in drilling for the pantomime. Mrs. Maddox kindly helped with it too.

Next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the auditorium of Thorsby Institute, Miss Jennie May Thoroman will present her music pupils in a recital. Every one is invited. No admission is chcarged.

Tuesday morning in chapel the girls' choruses sang two numbers, "Hedge Roses," and "Hark, Hark, the Lark," by Schubert. The trio sang "Elfin Dance," by Grieg. Miss Thoroman was in charge. The Tuesday morning chapel brings us many good musical numbers which we always enjoy.

A basket ball game between Thorsby Institute and Clanton High School was played on the Institute Court last Friday afternoon. The game resulted in a score of 12-7 in favor of the Clanton team. Mr. Arnold Littleton of Thorsby refereed the game.

Recent books in Thorsby Institute library—Tolstoy's "Master and Man," Galsworthy's "The Little Man," Well's "Men Like Gods," Lyall's "We Two," Eliot's "Middlemarch," Montgomery's "Ann of Avonlea," Lincoln's "Captain Dan's Daughter," Poe's "Barriers Burned Away," Watt's "Fabric of the Loom," Masefield's "The Dauber," Kildare's "My Mamie Rose," Farnol's "The Broad Highway." The books were in a box which came from the First Congregational Church of Ann Arbor, Michigan. Mrs. A. K. Horn has also donated three sets of books, among which are two books of Indian games, one of recitations and one of short stories.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid held their annual business meeting at the home of Mrs. Konrad Carlson last Friday, with election of officers and other important business, and all members present but one, which broke the records for attendance. Delicious refreshments as usual put the finishing touch to our meeting.

Mr. Peyton Keaton of Damascus, Georgia, Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Pickson and baby of Colquitt, La., spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive. They were en route to South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moody of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive and mother. Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald and Miss Mary EElla accompanied them to Birmingham for a visit of a few days.

Rev. C. W. Smith of Phoenix City was in Thorsby on Tuesday of this week.

Miss Mable Johnson was the dinner guest of Miss Edna Raybon Sunday.

Mr. Ed Lowery of Selma was a guest of his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Primm, Saturday.

Earlene Middlesbrook was a dinner guest of Ruby Raybon Sunday.

Mr. H. R. Maddox and Miss Marion Fairbank spent Saturday in Birmingham.

The Baptist Sunday school teachers are having a study course now and many are taking an interest in it. After the manual is completed the teachers will meet weekly to study the Sunday school lesson for the following Sunday. Others who are interested are welcome to enjoy these meetings.

A grapefruit social given by the Intermediate Sunday school class of the Baptist Church at the home of the class teacher, Mr. V. H. Sutlive, on last Friday night to raise money for a curtain for the class room, was an enjoyable affair, and netted a nice little sum toward the curtain. Each one carried a grapefruit and paid a penny for each seed it contained. The price range was 10 to 25 cents.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We were pleased over the attendance at Sunday School and church last Sunday. If the people of Clanton will catch the spirit of church loyalty, what a joy it will be.

Sunday School meets at 9:45, Preaching next Sunday by the pastor at 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m. At the conclusion of the morning service we are going to open our missionary barrels. Let each one bring the barrel that you have and give your savings to the Kingdom.

We have added the name of Miss Edna Bryan to our church list. If there are others who wish to join our church you will have this opportunity next Sunday.

We have an interesting church program for the year, and we urge all to drop into line and keep step. We urge each member to keep number one in line and in step.

BURIED AT UNION GROVE LAST SATURDAY, JAN. 16

Last Thursday night, January 14, the death angel visited our home and carried away our loving grandfather, Mr. Joe Littleton.

H lived here with us 72 years, and no one knows how we miss him in our home. His chair is vacant in the corner, where he used to sit.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and 9 children, 40 grand children, 10 great grand children, and many, many friends. He was a friend to all he met, and always ready to lend a helping hand to help his neighbors and friends; but now he is to his trouble's end.

He had suffered a long time with cancer of the stomach. He was laid to rest in Union Grove cemetery Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock, with Spigener Funeral Home of Clanton in charge.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank all the kind and loving hands that helped us during the long illness of our dear husband and father, Joe Littleton. We especially want to thank the Spigener Funeral Home for putting him away so nice. We hope God's richest blessings will rest on you all.—Mrs.

BILIOUSNESS CLEARED UP

BILIOUSNESS may show itself by a coated tongue, bad breath, headache, spots before the eyes, dizziness, poor appetite, "dopiness," but prompt relief may be expected from taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

"When I got bilious, I had a bad taste in my mouth, and then severe headaches that put me to bed," writes Mrs. Anna Copeland, Anderson, S. C. "I found Black-Draught relieved this. I felt better after taking it. Black-Draught certainly is a good medicine."

It would not have been used so long, or by so many, if it wasn't really good. Get a 25¢ package at the drug store.

CONCORD P.-T. A. ORGANIZED

In response to a call of our principal, Mr. Bratton, the parents of Concord School met Wednesday afternoon, January 13, to organize a Parent-Teachers Association.

Miss Scarborough, our elementary supervisor, and Mrs. Stapp, the attendance officer, were present. They each gave us a very good talk on the functions and workings of the organization.

A motion was made and carried to go into the organization, and election of officers for such an organization.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. L. Baker; vice president, Mr. Murphy Bratton; secretary-treasurer, Irving P. Kennedy; program committee, Mrs. Clara Tippett, Miss Frances Moore, Mrs. O. H. McDowell; membership, Mrs. Sanford Devaughn, Mrs. S. V. Miller, Mrs. I. P. Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Mims.

Others present were Mrs. Everee Tippett, B. G. Johnson, Elijah Easterling, Lester Powell, J. M. Johnson, S. V. Miller, J. J. Johnson, G. N. Easterling, Bill Easterling, Mrs. Royal Collins, Mr. Berry Bice, Mr. Vannis Mims, Mr. Arthur Maddox, Leonard Mims, Mrs. J. E. Easterling, Monroe Mims, Mrs. Virgil Mims, Mrs. O. H. McDowell, who constitute the charter membership, with Miss Scarborough and Mrs. Stapp as honorary members.

The interest shown was good. So every one come again January 27, at 2:30, p. m., and bring some one with you.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, ONE OF AMERICA'S GREATEST SONS

On January 17th occurred the anniversary of a great American, who should not be forgotten amid the nation's tribute to George Washington this year; for this noted American was not only a glory to our history but without him Washington might not have been able to achieve our independence.

This great American was Benjamin Franklin, who became, next to Geo. Washington, the best known American of the 18th century. Wherever enlightened men gathered during Franklin's life time, they accounted him foremost in philosophy, politics, and diplomacy, and to this day his name is secure in history as that of a pioneer in science.

Franklin was one of the most versatle men of our history. His clear thinking and good common sense won him fame everywhere. As for his winning personality, it proved a tremendous asset to the American cause. The final victories of Washington on the battlefield would never have been possible but for Franklin's skill in the field of diplomacy and his ultimate winning of the French nation to America's side.

Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston on January 17, 1706, the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission reminds us. His father wanted him to learn the trade of candle-making, an occupation that he disliked so much that he threatened to revolt. To forestall his running away to sea, the boy Franklin was apprenticed to his half-brother, James, a printer; and here Franklin's rapid self-education got its start. In his brother's shop he met intelligent people, he eagerly read the best books, and he soon tried his hand at writing for his brother's newspaper, called the "first sensational sheet in America."

Quarreling with his brother, Franklin set out for Philadelphia at the age of 17, to make his own way. There he soon caught the attention of Governor Keith at whose suggestion he went to London. There, in spite of many hardships, he soon obtained employment and his agreeable personality brought him many influential friends. One of them, a Quaker merchant named Denham, offered Franklin a job in a store that he planned to open in Philadelphia. Within a short time Denham died and Franklin again was without a job, but his next step was important.

With Hugh Meredith he established a printing shop in Philadelphia and in ten years he had made it the most important business of its kind in the country. Next he bought the Pennsylvania Gazette, which soon gained a circulation of 10,000 and became one of the outstanding papers of the time. In this paper he began those pithy maxims to be gathered under the title of "Poor Richard's Almanac," which lives today in lasting fame.

Meanwhile Franklin's interest and activity had broadened in every direction. He founded the American Philosophical Society, organized the first fire company in Philadelphia, and became the city's postmaster and clerk of the Pensylvania Assembly. His interest in science also developed, and he invented a stove and began those experiments in electricity which have made his name a household word in the scientific world.

Every schoolboy knows the story of Franklin's suspicion that the lightningbolt was simply a larger specimen of the spark he drew from a Leyden jar. He proved the likeness with his historic experiment of the kite and the key during a thunderstorm. The invention of the lightning-rod followed.

Franklin's diplomatic feats make too long a list for a newspaper column, but it was he who first sought to bind the colonies together in union. He performed many saving services for the colonies before the Revolution, and during that struggle his influence in France provided the factor that turned the Revolution to victory for America.

Even at 81, Franklin's deeds for his country were not yet ended, for in 1787 he performed the culminating service of his long and great career with the fighting act of becoming a member of the Convention that wrote the Constitution.

Throughout his life he was a devoted admirer of George Washington, and the friendship of these two men is one of the fairest pages in early American history. On his death, on April 17, 1790, Franklin willed his cane to Washington, with the famous words: "My fine crab-tree walking stick, with a gold head curiously wrought in the form of a cap of liberty, I give to my friend and the friend of mankind, General George Washington. If it were a sceptre, he has merited it and would become it."

Locals

Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Ezell and Mrs. Scottie Moore visited Birmingham Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Thornhill of Decatur, Alabama, was the week end guest of Mrs. Sallie Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Farley of the Magic City, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Willis.

Grover Harris, Sr., visited his son in Tuscaloosa Sunday.

Misses Fay and Louise Bailey, Anita Cranford and Harold Cranford of Birmingham were the guests of Miss Helen Diefenderfer Sunday.

C. E. Stapp made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

H. G. Boyd of Selma was in Clanton Tuesday going to his camp on Lake Mitchell for a few days outing.

Chas. Cooper of Mt. Creek was in Clanton Tuesday.

T. Frank Patterson of Verbena was in Clanton Tuesday. From the looks of things he was buying in a store, one would surmise that Mr. Patterson is getting ready to start things to work on his farm pretty soon.

Evan Calloway, of Nauvoo, Walker County, was in Clanton this week to see his brother, L. A. Calloway, who is seriously sick.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Page spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Trotter, at Mitchell Dam.

Dr. L. E. Barton, Secretary of the Baptist State Executive Board, was in Clanton Sunday. He preached at the Baptist church at the eleven o'clock hour of worship.

TWO WAYS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

He came into the office without announcement or ceremony, like a mad bull raging, and threw upon the desk before me an official looking letter which seemed to have my signature on it. He was angry, there was every evidence to indicate, and I was the apparent cause of his perturbed state of mind.

"Why do I get a letter like this?' he asked.

It was a notice that under our regulations, because of low grades, he had been placed on probation, and that unless his work in the future improved, he would be automatically dropped from college.

"I'm not on probation," he went on. "You got me in bad with the folks at home, and the whole thing makes me sore. What sort of an outfit do you have in your office anyway? I should think you would know your alphabet at least."

"Did you carry all of your work?" I inquired.

"No, I didn't," he explained, "but I got a 'B' in two hours, and that keeps me off probation."

"It isn't my mistake," I explained. "If it is a mistake. We send out the notices as the record comes from the college office. If an error has been made it will be corrected, and it will be made right just as quickly if you are polite, and if you were, you'd feel a lot better than you do now."

He went out not completely mollified, but calmer than when he entered. I looked into the error. There were two Campbells with the same initials and the grades had become confused.

The next man came in quietly and seated himself in front of me.

"I got the loan you recommended me for," he said, "and I want to thank you for it. You don't know how much it means to me to get a little help just now. The folks at home have had a hard time lately and they can't help me any more this year I'm pretty nearly through, you know and I'd hate to give up and not finish when I have only a half year to go."

It is rather uncommon to have people thank me these days for any routine service which I perform and recommending the boy for a loan was rather a routine job for me.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION

There will be a fiddlers convention at County Line School Friday night, January 22nd. Everybody is invited.

HIGH PYTHIAN OFFICIALS TO VISIT MONTGOMERY

Mongomery, Ala., Jan. 18. — Announcement is made here that Hon. Leslie E. Crouch of Portland, Oregon, Supreme Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, will make an official visit to Alabama where he will be the guest of the Montgomery lodges on January 23rd. The Central Alabama Pythian Association will have charge of the program on this date and every officer of Pythian subordinate lodges in the state is urged to be present.

Mr. Crouch announces that he is anxious to meet with those who have the official responsibility of the order's operation throughout the State. He has a special message for all Pythians and is anxious that every leader in the order attend this meeting. He especially urges all Chancellor Commanders, Vice-Chancellors, Keepers of records and seal, and District Deputies to attend this meeting.

Grand Chancellor, M. J. Wood of Mobile and many other Grand Lodge Officers will meet the Supreme Chancellor here. Local Pythians are working on a program, which will include more of an instruction course than entertainment. Central Lodge No. 9 will be host on this occasion, and will be assisted in the program by the members of Jewell Lodge No. 75.

Earl P. Andrews, President of the Central Alabama Pythian Association, is sending out hundreds of special invitations to the membership throughout the state, and expects an attendance almost equal to a Grand Lodge Session.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

Dr. John R. McLure, director of the University of Alabama summer school, will deliver the mid-term commencement address at the University Saturday evening, January 23. Approximately 100 students are candidates for degrees.

Dr. Walter B. Jones, state geologist, is rapidly recovering from an operation for appendicitis. Dr. Jones was followed to the hospital by his wife who presented him with a fine young son. The Joneses occupied adjoining suites in the infirmary.

Alabama and Southern students planning to enter the University medical school should file applications for admission before the end of this month, said Dean Stuart Graves. Preference will be given early applicants.

Mid term dances will take place Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, January 25, 26, and 27. The cotillion club is bringing a large and well-known New York orchestra to the University, and expert assistance will be employed in decorating the gymnasium. Numerous out of town visitors are expected to attend.

DAIRYING

GRIND FEEDS TO SUIT THE ANIMAL

(By Prof. W. B. Krueck)

With an abundance of grains in most communities, many farmers are having their grain ground locally. Farmers having their feed ground and men operating grinders should give careful consideration to the kind of livestock for which the feed is being prepared.

In general, if a grinder cannot be regulated for each separate run, a medium ground feed will answer the demads of most animals more efficiently than a finely ground feed. Dairy cattle and beef cattle, especially do better on a feed that is ground to a medium texture. Finely ground feeds have a tendency to become pasty and unpalatable and, therefore, are not utilized as efficiently as feeds that are medium or coarsely ground.

Hogs may utilize a finely ground feed more efficiently than cattle. Here again, however, if the feed can be ground in such a way that the digestive juices can readily attack the ingredients of the feed, the animal will use them in most cases more efficiently. The capacity of grinders can also be increased and consequently the cost of grinding reduced, if feed is not ground too finely.

All farm grains, whether ground or whole, will, however, make the feeder more profit if they are properly supplemented with good proteins to give them a proper balance in the ration.

G. G. REPORT

Monday afternoon at four o'clock the Junior G. A's. met. We had an election of new officers as follows; Helen Eubanks, President; Thelma White, Vice-President; Marzelle Taylor, Secretary; Hariette Esco, Treasurer; Vivian Lowery, Clara Mae Rogers, Agnes Powell, and Margaret McNair, Social Committee.

We have sides, red and blue, to see which one can get the most on each side. The side that wins is given a party by the losing side. All girls from nine to twelve please come.

The next meeting will be held at Marzelle Taylor's, at four o'clock Monday afternoon.

Have you ... monly called that tired Feeling?

"I just can't go on"—how often you hear this.

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living * * * pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count * * * the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning * * * so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

For generations S.S.S. has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

ADDITIONAL EXPOSURE NEEDED

POOR O

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom At Shiloh Church (Colored)

Dis third Sunday mawnin in January, 1932, is a day dat you shood be prowd ob, cause so many hab cum out to church. I'se glad to be here dis mawnin.

I wants to read a lessun frum de foth chapter ob Exodus. An I wants you to read it when you go home. Now, I wants you to sing dat song: "Lord I care not fur riches." Let evy body stan, (they sing) now set down.

De tex dis mawnin is de 27 virse ob de 17 chaptur ob Matthew. An it reads dis way: Go thou to the sea and cast an hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up, and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a piece of money, that take and give unto them for me and thee.

De fust thing dat I wants to sa bout dis tex, is dis: De Romans guverned dat country at dat time, an da laid heavy taxes on de Jews, an our Lord didn't wish to incur de displeasure ob dose in power jest den cause His time hadent cum. Hus wurk wuz not finished, and dese taxes wuz let out to de highest bidder, and de Publicans or perfessional politicians, when da got de job ob collectin de taxes da taxed evy thing da culd to make as much outen de job as da cud.

Now, less look at de tex. De fust thing we see in is it dat Peter wuz not disobedient. Supose he had dun lak Moses in de lesson, an sed to de Lord. "I know dat I is a fisherman, but I cant understan how you kin kno dat I wuld ketch a fish, or dat effen I did, it wuld hab some money in his mouf." But he dident say dat.

He went rite on an done whut de Lord tole him to do. Dars one thing dat we no bout it, an yit it aint in de tex, an dat is Peter want no nigger, cause effen he had a ben he wuld hab staid rite dar till de Lord got tired waitin, cos effen a nigger wuz to ketch a fish an find money in his mouf, he wuld set rite dar till dark rund him in.

An speakin bout money, let me tell you sumptin, effen we culd git rid ob de money kings and de perfessional politicians, and de boot-leggers, we wood cum outen dis depression in a short time. An speakin ob boot-leggers. Let me tell you dis: Wun day las week I wuz cumin outen de cort house and met dat Mr. James Galispy, an he sa helo Preacher, is de boot-leggers bodderin you down roun your churches any? An I sa, yes da is. An he sa who is it? An I sa I dont no, cause I cant tell a boot-legger frum no body elce, cause evy body nearly has two cars now, a rattle-trap and a big fine car. An I sa when I am goin down to my pintment an meets a well-dressed man drivin a rattle trap, I sa dats a boot-legger, an when I'm goin back to town an meets ur man wid ole ragged overhalls on an drivin a big fine car, I sa dats a boot-legger. Den I sa Mr. James, you all dont go at dis thing lak I wuld effen I wuz de Sheriff. I wuld make hit easy on evy body. An he sa how wuld you do it Preacher? An I sa da tells me dat you alls bout got dat new jail full now. An de county has to feed all ob dem besides all ob de other costs. I would des git out an ketch dem fiew whut aint bootleggers, an lock dem up in de jail, an let de res got to it. An he laffed an went on in de cort house.

An de nex thing we see in dis tex is dat by Peter's obedience de law wuz satisfied. An den de others ob de decyples wuz blessed by havin da taxes paid. Speakin bout politicians an taxes, let me tell you dis.

I went in de cort house to ax de jedge whut da culd do to me fur not payin my taxes, and atter he tole me how it wuz he sa, Blossom, hows politics down roun your churches? An I sa I dont no Jedge. I dont pay much tention to politics, cause de white folks is gwyn to run hit to suit dem selves any how. An he sa, well, Preacher, you are interested in good county govurment, aint you? An I sa yasser. Now, bout de lesson.

When de Lord made it up in His mind dat his chillun wuz bein mistreated, and dat it wuz time fur it to stop, he picked on Moses to lead dem outen Egypt, an to de promis lan. But Moses begin to argufy bout it, jes lak de Lord dident no whut wuz bes. Moses comenced to make excuses an sayin whut he cudent do.

Dats de way wid folks dese days. Da wants things done, but da dont want to do it da selves. I likes any body lak Peter, whut is ready to jump at it jes when de Lord says so. Ob course money has a heep to do wid de way folks goes at any thing. It mought be dat Moses cudent see no money in dat job fur him. An Peter cud see some money in de job whut de Lord gib him.

But de Lord knowd both ob dese men. He knowd dat Moses wuz a natural-bornd leader, and dat Peter Wuz a natural bornd fisherman, an cause de Lord knowd dat Peter wuz a fisherman, he tole him dat he wood make him a fisher ob men. Oh dat we wüz all fishers ob men, an not fishers only, but dat we wood go fishin more dan we do.

Soles are perishin out yonder in de deep sea ob sin, and we preachers are de fishermen. Effen we dont go an fish fur dem da will sho be lost.

I guess I better close now. I wants you to sing dat good ole song "Thro out de life line." (dey sing). Now lissen while I reads dis piece ob poetry:

De Lord sont Peter to ketch a fish,
An Peter went an caught it;
But lots ob people would haf laid aroun,
An took some money an bought it.

Wid all de things de matter wid de church,
Dis one thing am true;
Too many ob us wont lissen to de Lord,
We say, any ole thing will do.

Dat piece ob money wuz in dat fishes mouf,
An not in anudder;
So less do whut de Lord sa do,
An wel git de rite fish my brudder.

So less not look fur pay while here,
But thank de Lord fur whut is giben;
Den when all de fushin is done,
Wel all go home to Heben.
Ess stan an be dismiss.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

In a few minutes after taking Thoxine, a doctor's famous prescription, your cough stops. It acts on a new principle—relieves throat irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by ordinary cough remedies.

Most coughs are caused by an irritated throat. Thoxine stops these at once. Safe for the whole family—guaranteed no dope. Money back if not satisfied. 35c.—Upchurch Drug Company, and all other good drug stores.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Last Wednesday night the regular monthly meeting of the Union midweek services of the churches of Thorsby were held at the Congregational Church, with Rev. J. W. Jones as leader. Next month it will be held at the Baptist Church, with Rev. J. E. Each as leader.

This arrangement and the size of the audiences indicates the spirit of fellowship prevailing in Thorsby between these two churches. The program as outlined for last meeting was based on the command of God, to Moses when the Israelites were in panic on the banks of the Red Sea with the hosts of Pharaoh closing in on them from the rear.

"Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." Through obedience to this command provision was made for successful accomplishment of the seemingly impossible and thir enemies were destroyed in attampted pursuit.

The leader then called for suggestions as to what the Cristian people of Thorsby might do in the way of going forward in this year, 1932, and about a dozen suggestions were offered, most of them very practical.

There has long been manifest between these two churches respect for and confidence in one another. It has long been the custom at the Congregational church for the pastor to announce from the pulpit on the second and fourth Sunday morning service, among the notices given out, after mentioning the Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 p. m.: "There will be no preaching service here tonight. There will be preaching at the Baptist Church, which we hope as many of our people as can do so will attend." In a spirit of reciprocity Rev. Jones announced Wednesday night that he has or will urge his people to attend services at the Congregational Church, whenever there is no services at the Baptist Church.

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

Another feature of the cultivation of this spirit is the weekly socials conducted by the ladies organizations, one each Thursday afternoon, which are attended by the ladies of all denominations.

Mr. C. M. Williams, who is principal of the public school at Boaz, Ala., was a surprise visitor for the week end at his home in Thorsby. Having learned that his wife was ill he came to see about her. He returned Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Villadsen of Aldrich were callers at the home of Mr. Villadsen's mother in Thorsby Saturday. Mr. Villadsen was enroute to Clanton to look up some records in connection with his business.

Mrs. C. S. Howard, with Lloyd and Ella, spent Saturday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Alfred Collins of Strasburg, who has been ill for several months, died Sunday morning.

The pupils of Miss Jennye Robinson's room in Thorsby Public School, were the most perfect in attendance for one month, therefore were given a half holiday Monday and enjoyed a picnic.

Mr. A. A. Amundsen, who is spending the winter in Thorsby with his wife, had his 88th birthday anniversary last Sunday. Their home is in Evanston (near Chicago), Ill.

Mr. Olaf Schevie has received announcement of the death of his only sister, in Sweden, at the age of 85 years.

Billy Lodge, 10 years old, who was a grandson of the late "Uncle Doc Wells" died at the home of his parents in Thorsby, and was buried at Cedar Grove.

Mrs. N. Laurell had as guests Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore and children, Mrs. Horn, and Mrs. Percy Grover and children, all of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pate, Mrs. H. L. Walker and H. L. Collins spent Saturday in Montgomery shopping.

Mrs. H. V. Thompson of Birmingham spent the week end with home folks in Thorsby. Mr. Harry Thompson made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

The people of Thorsby were very much surprised last week to learn of the sale of Thorsby Hardware Company to Mr. Sam Pate of Thorsby and Mr. Tom Rockett of Clanton. Terms of sale were not given. Both these men are well known in Chilton County, and while we shall miss the faces so long familiar to us at that store, we wish success to their successors.

Friday morning at chapel Miss Klingelhoefer's Bible class gave a most interesting program, two playlets, scenes from the life of Saul entitled "The Awakening of Saul," and "The Witch of Endor." The parts were given in costume and some of it was very dramatic. It was very much enjoyed.

A Mexican and Indian program was given at Thorsby Institute last Saturday night by the Helen Keller Literary Society. Part of the program was a contest between the two clubs, the Pushmataha and Philomatahas, represented by Jane Billingsley, who gave a reading in costume as Pocahontas, and Phares Raybon, who told an Indian legend, "Origin of the Pine Tree. Nelle Tracy, who gave a reading on "The Mexican National Anthem," and Helen Albert, whose essay was entitled "Indians, Past and Present," won the contested points on the program. The Philomathics won the point for attendance. Only one member of the entire society was absent and he is a Pushmataha.

The glee club sang the Mexican national anthem after Nelle Tracy's reading, which told of its origin. The glee club also sang the Indian song "By the waters of Minnetonka." The glee club, under the direction of Miss Thoroman, is quite an addition to the musical life of Thorsby Institute.

Lois Thompson in a Mexican costume sang a Mexican folk song, "O Ask of the Stars." The Spanish folk dances were given by a few of the girls of the Health Class.

The closing number was a pantomime depicting the life of an Indian boy named Redhill's Son. Pauline Poole was the reader. At the close the doxology was sung in the Dakota Indian language. Miss Leech, who was at one time connected with an Indian school in Santee, Nebraska, was very helpful in drilling for the pantomime. Mrs. Maddox kindly helped with it too.

Next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the auditorium of Thorsby Institute, Miss Jennie May Thoroman will present her music pupils in a recital. Every one is invited. No admission is chcarged.

Tuesday morning in chapel the girls' choruses sang two numbers, "Hedge Roses," and "Hark, Hark, the Lark," by Schubert. The trio sang "Elfin Dance," by Grieg. Miss Thoroman was in charge. The Tuesday morning chapel brings us many good musical numbers which we always enjoy.

A basket ball game between Thorsby Institute and Clanton High School was played on the Institute Court last Friday afternoon. The game resulted in a score of 12-7 in favor of the Clanton team. Mr. Arnold Littleton of Thorsby refereed the game.

Recent books in Thorsby Institute library—Tolstoy's "Master and Man," Galsworthy's "The Little Man," Well's "Men Like Gods," Lyall's "We Two," Eliot's "Middlemarch," Montgomery's "Ann of Avonlea," Lincoln's "Captain Dan's Daughter," Poe's "Barriers Burned Away," Watt's "Fabric of the Loom," Masefield's "The Dauber," Kildare's "My Mamie Rose," Farnol's "The Broad Highway." The books were in a box which came from the First Congregational Church of Ann Arbor, Michigan. Mrs. A. K. Horn has also donated three sets of books, among which are two books of Indian games, one of recitations and one of short stories.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid held their annual business meeting at the home of Mrs. Konrad Carlson last Friday, with election of officers and other important business, and all members present but one, which broke the records for attendance. Delicious refreshments as usual put the finishing touch to our meeting.

Mr. Peyton Keaton of Damascus, Georgia, Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Pickson and baby of Colquitt, La., spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive. They were en route to South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moody of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive and mother. Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald and Miss Mary EElla accompanied them to Birmingham for a visit of a few days.

Rev. C. W. Smith of Phoenix City was in Thorsby on Tuesday of this week.

Miss Mable Johnson was the dinner guest of Miss Edna Raybon Sunday.

Mr. Ed Lowery of Selma was a guest of his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Primm, Saturday.

The Baptist Sunday school teachers are having a study course now and many are taking an interest in it. After the manual is completed the teachers will meet weekly to study the Sunday school lesson for the following Sunday. Others who are interested are welcome to enjoy these meetings.

A grapefruit social given by the Intermediate Sunday school class of the Baptist Church at the home of the class teacher, Mr. V. H. Sutlive, on last Friday night to raise money for a curtain for the class room, was an enjoyable affair, and netted a nice little sum toward the curtain. Each one carried a grapefruit and paid a penny for each seed it contained. The price range was 10 to 25 cents.

NOW is the time to get your flock on a paying basis. Now is the time to expect . . . and get . . . MAXIMUM production from every hen. Every EXTRA egg now means real money for eggs are scarce and high. Get 'em with JAZZ! This appetizing mash is not only high in protein and low in fibre but it contains the right kind of proteins—derived from clean meat scrap and dried buttermilk. Not an ounce of linseed oil meal or gluten feed in the bag. You know why. You know that proteins from a vegetable or plant source do not produce either the number or quality of eggs that do mashes that derive their proteins from an animal source.

• Animal Proteins

• Liquid Sunshine

And what a fine feeling to know that each day your birds are getting plenty of liquid sunshine from pure, refined Norwegian Cod Liver Oil . . rich in Vitamin A which is so essential to vigor and successful reproduction. CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We were pleased over the attendance at Sunday School and church last Sunday. If the people of Clanton will catch the spirit of church loyalty, what a joy it will be.

Sunday School meets at 9:45, Preaching next Sunday by the pastor at 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m. At the conclusion of the morning service we are going to open our missionary barrels. Let each one bring the barrel that you have and give your savings to the Kingdom.

We have added the name of Miss Edna Bryan to our church list. If there are others who wish to join our church you will have this opportunity next Sunday.

We have an interesting church program for the year, and we urge all to drop into line and keep step. We urge each member to keep number one in line and in step.

BURIED AT UNION GROVE LAST SATURDAY, JAN. 16

Last Thursday night, January 14, the death angel visited our home and carried away our loving grandfather, Mr. Joe Littleton.

H lived here with us 72 years, and no one knows how we miss him in our home. His chair is vacant in the corner, where he used to sit.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and 9 children, 40 grand children, 10 great grand children, and many, many friends. He was a friend to all he met, and always ready to lend a helping hand to help his neighbors and friends; but now he is to his trouble's end.

He had suffered a long time with cancer of the stomach. He was laid to rest in Union Grove cemetery Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock, with Spigener Funeral Home of Clanton in charge.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank all the kind and loving hands that helped us during the long illness of our dear husband and father, Joe Littleton. We especially want to thank the Spigener Funeral Home for putting him away so nice. We hope God's richest blessings will rest on you all.—Mrs.

BILIOUSNESS CLEARED UP

BILIOUSNESS may show itself by a coated tongue, bad breath, headache, spots before the eyes, dizziness, poor appetite, "dopiness," but prompt relief may be expected from taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

"When I got bilious, I had a bad taste in my mouth, and then severe headaches that put me to bed," writes Mrs. Anna Copeland, Anderson, S. C. "I found Black-Draught relieved this. I felt better after taking it. Black-Draught certainly is a good medicine."

F. LOYD TATE FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE—

Readers of The Union-Banner will notice this week the announcement of Hon. F. Loyd Tate, of Wetumpka, as a candidate for Circuit Judge of our district in the forthcoming Democratic Primary this spring. Upon the recent death of Judge Smoot, appointment of Judge Tate was made by Governor Miller to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Smoot.

This spring was the time for Judge Smoot to be re-elected, or a successor to him elected. His untimely death left only a short piece of his term to be filled out by his successor.

Judge Tate is well-known in Chilton County. He can go up and down our streets and call folks by their names with almost as much alacrity as he can in his home county of Elmore. He has served here many years in the past as Circuit Solicitor. He has sat on the bench as supernumerary judge. He has occupied the place of Attorney General of the State of Alabama.

He will have opposition in the Democratic Primary. There are others who will seek to occupy the judgeship of this circuit. Since Judge Tate is a Democrat, and since the political ways of the Democrats are past finding out (for a Republican) we perhaps are not at all in position to prophesy about Democratic futures.

But there is one thing we can do; we can guess. And our guess is that Judge Tate will be elected to serve as judge of this circuit in the elections this year. And we occupy the same position with reference to the matter as many other Republicans in Chilton County: We don't care if he is elected. In fact we rather hope he will be. He is a good fellow, able, and well grounded in experiences at the law and the bar.

Judge Tate will be a Democrat so long as he is in the race for election. After he is elected he will be Judge Tate to everybody, and it will make no difference whether it be Democrat or Republican.

MORE ABOUT COMMENDING PROFESSOR BEAN—

This week comes the request from Mr. J. E. Daniel, of Maplesville, asking that the editor of The Union-Banner reveal the name of the person who sent in the communication last week commending the work of Prof. W. T. Bean in keeping the schools of the county open for a full term.

In response to the request of Mr. Daniel, the editor is glad to state the facts of the matter as follows:

The communication which we had reference to last week, and from which we quoted certain statements was handed to the editor by Judge L. H. Reynolds. It did not have any name signed to it. It was written in pencil.

When he handed it to the editor, Judge Reynolds stated he would vouch for the authenticity of the statements. He did not state who the author was, and the editor of The Union-Banner does not now know who the author was.

For the information of Mr. Daniel, or anyone else who may be interested, we will say if he will call upon Judge Reynolds, he will doubtless be able to find out more about it.

DON'T BURN LEAVES—

It is dangerous, wasteful, and unwise to burn leaves, The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist reminds us. A correspondent writes:

"Many dollars' worth of valuable plant food is being raked into piles and burned, while lean spots in gardens and fields are simply crying out for humus. Let's stop this dangerous, wasteful, and unwise practice.

"In one corner of my garden I make a compost heap, putting down a layer of leaves, then a thin layer of soil, alternating leaves and soil until all accessible leaves are used, putting soil on top to prevent leaves from blowing about. This compost is fine for the garden."

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

In view of the approach of the general disarmament conference in Geneva there has been a quickening of interest in the subject of armaments in the United States. It is the general opinion here, as well as in Europe that little will be accomplished in the meeting in the way of effective disarmament. Instead of becoming internationalistic nations are becoming more and more nationalist. While a few months ago a great many people were inclined to believe that the nations of the world could disarm and put their faith in the League of Nations, the League Court the Kellogg pact, the Lausanne agreement, and so on, the recent experiences of Europe and America with Japan, have sadly disillusioned most of us.

The Japanese are going ahead despite the League, the Court, and various pacts and agreements. The Japanese soldiers have been bandit hunting, until there seems to be danger now that all of the available parts of China will be occupied in this game of "chasing the outlaws." The Japanese have paid no attention whatever to the League, and it is now evident that the only thing which would stop them would be a display of armed force on the part of the European powers combined with America. Since none of the nations now seem inclined to such a display, and since some of the European nations, especially France, seem to be somewhat in sympathy with what the Japanese are doing, it becomes evident that little forceful action, if any, will be taken. In the meantime China suffers the fate which comes to all people who are unable to help themselves.

This Sino-Japanese experience is not adding anything to the prospects of the disarmament conference, for the simple reason that it is convincing most people that the best way for a nation to get along is to look out for its own interests first. The United States is willing to meet the other powers of the world in an open and above board attempt to secure equitable disarmament, but Uncle Sam is not going to Chinafy himself, in an effort to furnish a glittering and foolish example to the rest of the world,

In the meantime, interest in the United States has recently been aroused by a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia, providing for a ten-year program of warship replacement for the construction of 120 vessels at a total cost of $616,000,000 or a little more than $61,000,000 a year. Out of the 120 vessels only two would be additions to the navy, Mr. Vinson points out, the rest being replacements, which would bring our navy up to treaty strength and make it thoroughly efficient.

Authorized in the bill is 303,190 in new tonnage, divided as follows: Three aircraft carriers, two of about 20,000 tons, one of about 15,200 tons. Nine six-inch gun cruisers, at least one of which is a flying deck cruiser of about 10,000 tons. Thirteen destroyer leaders of about 1,500 tons. Twenty-three submarines.

The hearings on the Vinson bill which has been endorsed by the Secretary of the Navy Adams, will undoubtedly start in a big way the battle between the friends of the navy and the pacifists in Congress. Just what the outcome will be nobody knows, but it is a fact that the navy supporters have been strengthened in their stand by recent events all over the world. A break down of the disarmament conference soon to go into session, would greatly strengthen their hands, too.

In the meantime a gloomy tinge is added to the picture by Major General James E. Fechet, who declared, as he was retiring as chief of the Air Corps after thirty-three years army service, that Uncle Sam is the most hated and envied nation in the world and is living "unprotected in a fool's paradise." He added:

"I go in sorrow at the state of our armed forces, in sadness at the attitude of my country toward its defenders, and because of the false sense of security my people seem to feel.

"We house more than our share of the world's treasure. That treasure is now practically unprotected. Unless we do a hasty about face, our fool's paradise will soon be lost."

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

While we were eating breakfast at a cafe in Lake Wales, Florida, the waitress related this interesting thing concerning the Bok Tower, located five miles away. She said: "When the tower was first completed and the bells would ring out their sweet music, they could be heard in the city. The elements seemed to go into one echo of worship and music, and men who were driving nails would stop to listen. Clerks in the stores would rush to the door to hear the music. Servants in the home would stand still while the bells were ringing. Business lost its attraction while the bells of the tower told of the fineness and glory of a better world. The business men went before the management and requested that the bells be toned down so that they could not be heard in Lake Wales. This was done and now we cannot hear the music of the tower." When that young lady told me of this I said in my heart: "What a pity." Sad as that is, it is true to American life. It is our disposition to put business ahead of everything. If the fine voices and the echoing music of the heavens interfere with our working program, we tone those things down so that work can be done unhindered. We had better allow all the voices that are above us to speak in their full volume, and we had better listen and worship when these voices echo through the land.

I was passing a home in the country and on seeing a dozen men at a cow lot near the house, I ventured to turn by and see what they were doing. On inquiry I found that they had a dangerous bull in the pen, and they had met to dehorn him. I intimated that it looked rather cruel to animals to catch them and saw off their horns. The men replied: "Yes, that is so, but this bull is not careful how he uses his horns. He not only is hooking up other cattle, but for the last few days he has decided to hook folks, and there is nothing left for us to do, but to take off his horns." The fun started when the rope was thrown over the head of the bull, and it never stopped until that bull was "dehorned." When a bull has horns and he does not know how to use them, it is best that he be dehorned. Since that time I have seen lots of two legged animals with power, with position, with money, and they were not careful how they used these things. They were used to hook up the cattle, and they were certainly dangerous to society at large. When you have an officer in a position of power, and he is using his position as a standing ground to "hook up the cattle," when the election day comes on, it is a mighty good time to "dehorn" that gentleman.

Before the days of the automobile a man rode up in front of the gate of a neighbor, and getting down off of his horse, he threw the reins of the bridle horse on the ground and walked into the building. At once the horse discovered that he was not hitched, and that he could do as he pleased. The lady of the house looked out later and saw this horse standing in the middle of her flower yard, crushing down her valuable plants and cropping the tender buds from her shrubbery. All of this damage because a bridle horse was given the reins. Why is it that you find young people trampling down the flower beds of a mother's heart? Why is it that they are destroying all the tender buds of hope that are to be found in the hearts of those who love them? The answer comes back: "Because they have been given the reins of life." Parents know what is right and what is wrong, but they fail to tie their children to these principles. Young life would be many times better today if fathers and mothers would drive down some strong posts of principle, and then hitch their children to them. Every home should have plenty hitching posts, and the reins of family life should never be left loose. Tie the children to principle and they will stand hitched.

A Clanton man went to the office of the City Clerk to pay his bill. It was double what he thought it should be. He admitted to the clerk that two of the faucets in his home were leaking, but he claimed that they leaked only a small stream. The truth of the matter was that the faucets leaked day and night for a whole month, and two little leaks wasted hundreds of gallons of water. The two little leaks doubled the bill of the home. Why are we crying over the depression? Why is it that we have a depression? It is because we have had, and because we still have little leaks. We have leaks where money is constantly flowing. We spend it for a hundred things that we do not really need. Tobacco, chewing gum, ice cold drinks, joy gas, bridge parties, picture shows, fads and fashions. Not a large leak, but it is a leak. When your purse has several little leaks, your money will be gone before you know it. When a man's money leaks out for things that he does not need, he is not going to have money with which to pay for the necessities of living. Leaking purses are more to blame for the depression than any other thing that you can mention. American people are more wasteful than any other race on earth. Stop the little leaks and you will not be howling about the bigness of your living bills.

It's Simple—It is a bit complicated, but we gather that Europe will be unable to pay what she owes us unless we cancel the debt.—Life.

There is no use in our taking any interest in the coming disarmament conference as we don't even own a shot gun any more. Traded it last fall for a second hand radio.

The old fashioned boy who was tickled to death with a second hand bicycle now has a son who isn't satisfied unless there are at least two cars in the family.

FARMERS SHOULD USE MORE DAIRY PRODUCTS—

One way in which farmers can help themselves is to use more dairy products in their own homes. Says The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist:

"The last issue of The Virginia Dairyman emphasizes an idea that farmers everywhere should preach and practice—namely, that farmers should themselves use more dairy products. We should drink more milk, eat more butter, use more cream, eat more cheese. When one needs dessert, why not ice cream? When one orders a drink at a drug store, why not a milk-shake?

"When we use these dairy products on our own tables, we are keeping our own money at home. When we buy such products in town, we are making a market for dairy farmers and helping build up a dairy industry and so make Southern farming more profitable."

TROUBLE ABOUT TRUCK LICENSE—

Some truck drivers are reported to be having trouble about their license tag business. Many have been to the Probate Judge with their cases in the last few days.

The drivers of trucks who bought tags for their machines according to the rated tonnage and have been hauling loads greater than their tag is supposed to cover, have been intercepted by the State Highway authorities. Several have been arrested and cited to come to the Probate office and take out tags to cover the amount of tonnage which they haul.

In such cases, it is stated that the truck drivers will lose all they have paid on tags already purchased—that they can not get credit for this amount on the new tags they are required to buy.

An illustration is presented by one case that was up before the Probate Judge Monday. A man with a two-ton truck bought a two-ton truck tag for $23. The State Highway men found him on the highway with nine thousand pounds on his truck. He was arrested and cited to come to the Probate office and take out a tag for a five-ton truck, which will cost him $200; and he gets no allowance for the $23 he paid for the first tag.

More Unemployed—Critics of politics, however, never tell us what we could do with politicians if there were no politics.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

Who remembers the good old days when we bathed once a week by the kitchen stove in a galvanized tub and having ten bushels of potatoes, a barrel of flour and a couple of home-cured hams in the cellar, thought we were prosperous?

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Where's That Woodpecker?—I want to know what has become of that woodpecker that The Man on the Corner spied working so diligently on the post near Marion Gore's corner last year. One day last week I passed the corner and happened to notice he wasn't there any more. One fellow allowed as how he might be in one of the holes in the post, but I don't believe he's in there; if he was he'd be out knocking away some of these warm sunshiny mornings. I guess he'll be reporting soon, though. But that bird has set a bad example. When he's here he just sits up there and knocks; he has knocked so much until he has taught a lot of his watchers to knock. But if his watchers would only notice the fact, he has shown them one big lesson—all his knocking has never built anything, and all he has to show for his work is a lot of empty holes—their knocking will have the same result.

We Deny The Charge—Alabama has become very well and widely advertised by various and sundry events during the past few years. Some of the persons and things which have served to advertise this state so lately were Oscar Underwood, "Cotton Tawm" Heflin, the wholesale conviction of criminals, good football teams, and negro stories by Alabama authors with plots centered in Alabama towns. As a result, anything pertaining to Alabama is news to the rest of the country, and from time to time the leading magazines of the country ring in special Alagama editions. Also special articles on Alabama are being published by some of the larger publications from time to time. But they have lots to learn about us, yet. Only this week, a big magazine came through with a big article about the State of Alabama; in setting forth a few of the principal points to remember about Alabama the author got all off his "ka-zip." Among other things, he noted that the greater portion of the "dirt" farmers of the State were negroes; and that the State was divided into 67 counties, ALL DEMOCRATS. How I'd like to enlighten that gentleman! It all goes to show you can never let up on your advertising if you expect to keep step.

One More Warning—One day this week I heard the fire siren sound, and stepped out on the sidewalk to see which way the fire engine would leave out. About that time I heard a car coming up Second Avenue, or Main Street, whichever you care to call it, and that little old gas buggy was certainly going some. When it got to the courthouse corner I found out why it was going "lickity-split" like that; it was one of the fire-fighting force on his way to answer the call. And what a scare I got; just as he was nearing the street intersection, a car pulled directly across his path, and as he missed him by an inch, two or three other foolish drivers backed out ahead of him. No aviator ever had to put his sky buggy through half the gyrations that boy had to make that Chevrolet do in order to avoid a collision. Why do they do it? After all the warnings that have been given, people still get in the way when the siren sounds. What will it take to stop it? Some people act like they might be fire chiefs—or sump'n. Such people are just plain DUMB—that's all you can say for them.

Good Times Are Coming—Yes, sir, they're on hand—good times—either that or the millenium, I'm not sure just which. Don't ask me how I know, because I will not tell you—even if I knew I wouldn't tell you. But it's the truth, sure as Dick's a Dutchman.

Glimpses—Mr. Burdette and his gas wagon—more joy juice. Uncle Charlie Foshee—happy as ever. "Boss" Miller, the cow juice dispenser—in a big hurry, as usual. Claud Calloway back from Miami—ready to give Beau Brummel a few lessons. Lights out—the Alabama Power Company must think this is an army camp. Here comes a guy back from the revival meeting at the courthouse—not even standing room, he says—a poor excuse is better than none at all. Sam Powers zips by—believe he's contracted electrolysis. Some lad dressed ready for a basket ball game—nice weather for it. I hear a red bird—sounds like corn planting time. Julian Evans passing—where's little Lord Fauntleroy? Somebody buying a pair of plow-lines—makes me think of my dream. Rev. W. W. Robinson drops in—now for the latest fish tale. I smell the peanuts parching'—be with you next week— urgent business on hand.—Man in the Moon.

Another thing the depression has brought us is the fish-net stocking which is nothing but holes.

Wonder what the ex-Kaiser thinks when he reads of all the argument about war debts?

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Another One of Clanto 's Needs

An observer of the overflowing attendance at the Miller revival at the courthouse last Sunday night suggests to me that somebody ought to sound a note expressing Clanton's need of a community auditorium that will accommodate at least five thousand people. I don't mind making such expression. Perhaps others have had thoughts of that kind, not only about an auditorium, but also about many other civic advantages that would be quite as good and useful. Perhaps some day Clanton will happily find a way to realize the acquisition of those various community needs. Then all of us who have been dreamplanning about them will have one grand and glorious time of incorporating our air castles into actual buildings of brick and stone.

Why He Subscribed

It is always an interesting thing to me to guess what is the reason a person has for subscribing for The Union-Banner. Usually it is a matter of simple business transaction whereby a subscriber's name is entered on the list and he goes away and we do not see him again for a year. This week, however, one man broke loose and actually told why he was subscribing for the paper. He said, "The reason I am subscribing for the paper is in order that I may keep up with the grocery store advertisements. I am interested in saving all I can on my living expenses, and I think it will enable me to save more if I keep in touch with the bargains that are advertised in the paper." As he departed he added, "Of course, I will be interested in reading all the news of the county, too."

Advantages of Being Poor

To be poor is not always pleasant, but worse things than that happen at sea. Small shoes are apt to pinch, but not if you have a small foot; if we have little means it will be well to have little desires. Poverty is no shame, but being discontented with it is. In some things the poor are better off than the rich; for if a poor man has to seek meat for his stomach, he is more likely to get what he is after than the rich man who seeks a stomach for his meat. A poor man's table is soon spread, and his labor spares his buying sauce. The best doctors are Dr. Diet, Dr. Quiet and Dr. Merryman, and many a Godly ploughman has all these gentlemen to wait upon him. Plenty makes dainty, but hunger finds no fault with the cook. Hard work brings health, and an ounce of health is worth a sack of diamonds. — Chas. H. Spurgeon.

Prattville's Invitation

Editor Doster of The Prattville Progress, sends to The Banner an invitation to the farmers of Chilton County to attend the farmers outlook meeting at Prattville on Friday, January 29th. From what Mr. Dostre says, they are planning to make this a great day for the farmers of Autauga. They want to include in it several farmers of Chilton County, particularly those in the southern part of our county. The merchants and business men of Prattville are going to give free dinner to every white farmer and his family who attends.

Fish Tales Are Coming In

Already the anglers of Clanton are beginning to come in with tales of how vociferously they are biting out on Lake Mitchell. That gets me all het up. Makes me wish there was no newspaper to print, and nothing to do but minister to the wants of those poor hungry little fishes. But then I think of the poor hungry little chilluns whose mouths I must feed; and I know that they must have something besides fish. Maybe I will have a chance to go before the other boys catch all of them.

This Is Political Year

Budding candidates are in evidence here and there. Every now and then you see one on the street. It is easy to identify them. They wear that peculiar smile that just simply can't help but fit awkwardly on the face at first. But it don't take long for a political smile to fit just plum natural. And I have never seen anything that will last and keep on lasting like a political smile. The only thing that can knock it off is a defeat.

Looking At The Traffic Light

A man was walking across Seventh Street careless and unmindful of the warnings of the light. Chief Hardy said, "Don't you see that green light?" The man looked at the thing for an instant and said: "They all look red to me."

Another man came rushing across the street in a hurry. He seemed not to realize that there was a traffic light in the world. "Didn't you see that light?" asked Chief Hardy. The fellow replied, "Why the dickens do you think I should be looking for a light? I don't need a light to get about in day time."

"HIS SATANIC MAJESTY, THE DEVIL"—

Rev. D. W. Haskew, pastor of Clanton Methodist Church, is the author of a little book entitled "His Satanic Majesty, The Devil." Copies of the book are on sale at Evan Parrish's Store in Clanton, price 10 cents a copy.

It is not the purpose of the author to present a new theory concerning the devil. Rather he chooses to make his presentation of "an old truth, with the light and emphasis of this new age."

The little book of only 27 pages essays to go further than ministers usually venture on this subject, and expose the devil in his true light.

"Where did the devil come from?" This question is answered in the first chapter.

Chapter 2 deals with "The Devil's Federation." The statement is made that there seems to be a devil for every living man, and then many more for pocket change.

Succeeding chapters are "What is the purpose of this Federation?" and "Shall the Devil's Federation Triumph?"

In its conclusion the author of the book turns the picture from the darkness, shame, misery and horror of the devil's plans and purposes, and for one victorious moment lets the reader gaze upon the matchless man of Galilee. He who fought the battle in heaven for God and the throne, the one who fought the battle on earth for man and his salvation, the One who put to rout all the legions of "His Satanic Majesty, The Devil."

It seems that nowadays every time a Texas pony sticks his foot in a mud hole he brings up oil.

POOR O

SHELBY MURDER CASE AFFIRMED

James Turner Loses Plea For New Hearing In Henderson Case

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 19.—The Court of Appeals Tuesday affirmed a 15-year sentence for second degree murder handed down in Shelby Circuit Court against James Turner for he slaying of S. H. (Boss) Henderson on November 4, 1928.

The decision, handed down on a per curiam ruling, reversed the appellate court's original judgment granting Turner a new trial. On appeal to the Supreme Court, the Shelby Circuit Court's judgment was affirmed and the case remanded to the Court of Appeals for final action.

Henderson was shot in the back, state's testimony showed as he stood around a fire at his Shelby County plantation. F. S. White, state's witness, testified he saw Turner shoot Henderson.

The judgment was originally reversed in the Court of Appeals on the gorunds that the trial judge erred in allowing testimony showing that the late Dr. A. W. Bell, Birmingham banker, held insurance policies on Henderson's life.

The evidence was brought into the trial to show a conspiracy between Turner, Cecil Bell, a nephew of Dr. Bell, and Clarence Turner, to kill Henderson for the insurance policies.

The appellate court, speaking through Justice James Rice, held that the presence of the life insurance policies had no place in the evidence since there had been no connection, except blood, established between Dr. Bell and Cecil Bell.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for the kindness shown during the illness and death of our beloved baby and brother. — Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Lodge and Family.

WILLIAM A. LODGE

William A. Lodge, age 10 years, died at the hospital in Clanton last Friday. Burial was at Cedar Grove Saturday with Martin in chage. The funeral was conducted by Rev. A. C. Nelson and Rev. J. E. Each. The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Lodge, of Clanton.

CARDINAL QUIETS TEACHERS' FEARS

Reports that there was a probability of the county again defaulting in the payment of its teachers after the present month, were discounted last night by L. C. Cardinal, chairman of the Montgomery Board of Education.

The report spread following the announcement by Prof. J. S. McCants to the teachers of Lanier High to the effect that, insofar as was known at present, the Board would be unable to meet its teacher payrolls its appropriations to the counties.

Mr. Cardinal last night elaborated on the statement. "The Board of Education has met all obligations to the present time and with the funds on hand and reasonable anticipation for January tax receipts it expects to meet its next payroll about February 1st," he said.

"The Board is hopeful of being able to carry on currently but its ability to meet its obligations promptly will depend on local tax receipts and the State's ability to pay what is due from that source."

Mr. Cardinal said the Board was hopeful as to the future of the schools this term and was not apprehensive.

FRANK SIMMONS DEAD; ACTIVE IN G. O. P. RANK

News of the death of Frank Simmons, chairman of the Republican executive committee for the second district and former United States Marshall under President McKinley's administration, at his home in Evergreen, was received by friends in Montgomery yesterday.

Mr. Simmons died Monday night after he had passed the 80-year mark. He was prominent in Republican politics in Alabama for the last 30 years. His term as U. S. Marshall, was at Mobile. His death followed an illness of about two weeks.

Mr. Simmons had been a resident of Evergreen all of his life. Surviving him is his widow.

Mr. Bill Walker of Mulberry was in Clanton Wednesday.

Premier of China

In the new government of the Chinese republic the chairman of the executive council, or premier, is Sun Fo son of the late Dr. Sun Yet-sen, famous revolutionary leader.

When army worms threatened the crops of Marshall County, Tennessee, information concerning the pests was made available by the College of Agriculture, and bankers immediately took steps to organize a war against the common enemy, calling mass meetings in their communities where complete facts and helpful recommendations for eradication could be put before the greatest number of people possible. This timely action saved the destruction of many fields of crops.

WILLIAMS CASHIER OF MORGAN BANK

The election of Mr. Ernest Williams as Cashier of the Morgan County National Bank is gratifying news to his many friends in Clanton and Chilon County. Mr. Williams has been with the Morgan County Bank since he got out of the army service during the World War.

He is a native son of Chilton County and has always acquitted himself with honor and credit in every situation. His first banking experience was with the Peoples Savings Bank of Clanton. Later he was cashier of the First State Bank of Clanton. Then his period of service in the United States army, from which he went to the Morgan County National Bank.

We are gratified to note his elevation to the responsible position of cashier of this great banking institution.

FATHER KILLS SON FOR "MERCY;" GRAND JURY WON'T INDICT

Millersburg, Ohio, Jan. 15. — A Grand Jury refused to indict a father who killed his baby because it was incurably ill.

Fifteen men and women who have pondered the case since Monday, recommended that James Stenhouse, stonecutter of Killbuck, near here, be given a sanity test and if found insane be committed to an asylum He confessed to slaying his 2-year-old son, David Oscar.

Stenhouse maintained that "I know I did right." He said the baby was suffering from a brain disease which the doctor said was incurable.

He chloroformed the child two years ago to spare his wife the agony of her grief, he said in a confession as related by Sheriff John A. Stevens.

SLAYING OF PAIR IN COOSA COUNTY IS TOLD IN PRELIM

Wife of Accused Man, Relative of Victims, Gives Testimony.

Rockford, Ala., Jan. 15.—The story of the slaying of her father and brother allegedly by her husband was related by Mrs. Barney Wood in a preliminary hearing of Wood, charged with slaying the two as the climax of a family quarrel last week.

Wood was bound over to the grand jury on $5,000 bond, at the close of the hearing, during which no testimony was offered by the defense.

Wife Of Man Testifies

Mrs. Wood said her father, Will Murchison, 77-year-old Elmore County planter, accompanied by her brother, Will, 34, came to the Wood home the night of Jan. 6, about a family quarrel. An argument developed and "one word brought on another," Mrs. Wood said, and then something was said about dying.

"Now is as good a time as any," she testified her father remarked, and a moment later the shooting began.

The younger Murchison was shot first, and then the elder. Both were shot through the head, the young man three times and the elder once.

Will Murchison died the following morning at his home near here, but the elder man lingered several days and died in a hospital at Montgomery.

Sheriff Tells Of Pistol

Sheriff R. O. Neighbors made public Friday the fact that he had taken a pistol from the elder Murchison's person before he was taken to a hospital in Montgomery.

In addition to Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Benton Murchison was a witness for the state. The hearing, which was before a packed courtroom, lasted several hours.

SPLENDID SINGING HELD AT MAPLE SPRINGS SUNDAY P.M.

One of the best singings of the season was held at Maple Springs last Sunday afternoon. Prof. L. T. Grant presided, and the program was arranged by the only committeeman present, J. R. Robinson. A long list of directors were placed on the program, and each of them directed a good lesson. The service was opened with prayer by the chaplain, Mr. R. M. Robinson, and closed with prayer by Rev. Lockhart, the pastor at Maple Springs.

Rev. Lockhart, when he got up to direct his lesson, stated that the singing was about the best he had ever heard. This idea was concurred in by a number of others who participated and heard the singing.

The society will meet with Friendship next Sunday afternoon, and it is hoped that as many members of the society as can will attend. A great difference in the singing can be seen when a representative crowd is present.

COSTS OF HIGHWAYS IN U. S. ESTIMATED

$2,250,000,000 Spent On Roads In 1931, Spain Reports

Approximately $2,250,000,000 was expended for the construction and maintenance of streets and highways during 1931 and this program furnished direct or indirect employment to more than 1,000,000 persons.

This statement was made Wednesday by Frank E. Spain, president of the Alabama Motorists Association, on the basis of a survey made by the AAA national headquarters.

Spain estimated that approximately 60,000 miles of highways were surfaced and resurfaced during the year.

Spain said that while figures for the year were not final, the total spent on roads in 1931 can be estimated at $1,700,000,000 for building and maintenance of rural roads and $500,000,000 for city streets.

SENATE CONFIRMS FORT PAYNE MAN AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Confirmation by the United States Senate of John B. Stafford to be United States marshall for the Southern Alabama District of Federal Court.

Dawes Named Head Credit Corporation

Noted Statesman Heads Reconstruction Agency To Help U. S. Business

Washington, Jan. 19.—The firm hand and genial forcefulness of Charles Gates Dawes will guide the gigantic Reconstruction Corporation through its task of economic healing.

President Hoover announced today that the brusque and distinguished soldier - statesman - financier would head the agency. Meanwhile indications came from Capitol Hill that in a few days it would begin its work of applying two billion dollars worth of soothing credit to the nation's business wounds.

The corporation all but had the full approval of Congress. Conference committees have the task of harmonizing the few divergent views of the two houses on how the organization should function. Full agreement is not expected to be delayed.

While President Hoover was telling correspondents of these developments today, other features of his program for lifting the nation to its normal economic plane were progressing.

The bill o increase the capitalization of Federal land banks awaited only the formality of approval by a conference committee and then by the House and Senate before receiving his signature.

The measure would bolster land bank funds by $125,000,000, with $25,000,000 of that amount earmarked for postponement of mortgage installment payments of needy farmers.

BARNEY WOOD HELD FOR GRAND JURY

The preliminary trial of Barney Wood, charged with killing his brother-in-law, Benton Murchison, and his father-in-law, Will Murchison, was held at Rockford last Friday afternoon.

The defendant was bound over to await action of the grand jury under bond of $5,000.

Father No Longer Takes All the Night Life for Himself

MIKE LANDAU

America Becoming a Family Nation, Mike Landau, Famous Musician Declares

New York City.—Night clubs are family affairs these days, or rather, nights. In the nineties, only the four hundred and bachelors frequented de luxe restaurants. Now, ma and pa and the whole family celebrate their birthdays and wedding anniversaries and do all their entertaining at the better class restaurants. So says Mike Landau, orchestra leader who knows his Broadway.

"This, of course, has taken away a great deal of the hilarity and instead of getting wild, as daily papers would lead us to believe, we are actually becoming very conservative," says Mr. Landau. "There is a certain freedom and openness which is refreshing to one who saw the goings-on of Maxim's and Churchill's, at their height.

"The lack of formality has taken the starch out of our manners but the freedom of informality has made things much more charming.

"The daily press to the contrary, we are really becoming more and more of a family nation. We are getting to take all of our enjoyments en famille. Father no longer has all the good times to himself. The motor car, the dance craze, and golf links have done the most to bring this about.

"The requests for music differ, too, from those of the old days. Risque songs are hardly ever asked for any more. Good dance music with a catchy lyric is the most popular. The Hawaiian fox trot song, 'Why Have You Forgotten Waikiki' with its mid-Pacific lilt gets the most requests right now. It is a number the whole family likes to strum, to hum and to dance to."

Mike Landau was musical director for Maxim's, Churchill's and many other famous former night life resorts. He is now directing the music at Will Oakland's Terrace.

Wallace Cook preached a fine sermon here Sunday which was enjoyed by all present.

H. C. Woolley, of Camden, visited his mother, Mrs. M. A. Woolley, Monday and Tuesday.

Mid-term tests seem to be holding sway at the school at this writing. Several cases of lapse of memory and writer's cramp have already developed.

Flowers are blooming as of spring, not having to build and keep many fires, gardens full of makings of the choicest garden sauce.

Soon, C. E. Cagle and Clint Gandy will be trying for the honors of being Stanton's champion fisherman.

Surely the Lord tempers the wind to the shorn lamb.

CONCORD WINS FROM COLLINS CHAPEL

The Collins Chapel Jr. High school boys and the community boys came down last Friday afternoon and played a double header, with Concord Jr. School boys, and the community boys. The Junior High School boys ended the game with a score of 12 to 4 in favor of Concord. The community boys game ended with a score of 26 to 5 in favor of Concord.

Even though the scores appear one-sided, both games were carried on with great enthusiam. The defeated teams showed a fine losing spirit.

On Friday afternoon, January 22, we have a game scheduled with Union Point on our court.

We were well pleased with the number of parents who came out last Wednesday afternoon to organize a P.-T. A. Even with a late start in this organization we hope to accimplish some worthwhile tasks in the future. Our next meeting will be held Wednesday, January 27, at two-thirty o'clock. We are urging all who are interested in this work to meet with us.

We will give away the Pony next Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.—Upchurch Drug Co.

CONCORD NEWS

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. members are showing greater interest this quarter. Every one come back next Sunday and bring someone with you. We had a few visitors Sunday. We are always glad to have visitors. Come again.

The first Sunday is our preaching day. We extend an invitation to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Devaughn visited Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Mims Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McDowell visited Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Mims Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Easterling visited Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mims.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Taylor and Mrs. Leonard Mims spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wyatt.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Taylor motored to Montgomery Sunday.

Miss Annie Pearl Mims visited Miss Ola Mims.

GOVERNOR ONE YEAR IN OFFICE LAST TUESDAY

Gov. Miller Inaugerated on January 19, 1931

Gov. B. M. Miller reached the quarter post in his admisistration Tuesday, January 19.

Just one year ago at high noon after one of the simplest inaugural ceremonies in the history of Alabama, he took oath of office at the capitol before 10,000 persons representing every section of the state.

The governor smiled Monday when newspapermen reminded him that it was the last day of his first year as chief executive, but made no comment.

SOUTH HONORS LEE ON 125TH BIRTHDAY

Alabama's capitol closed Tuesday to honor the 125th anniversary of Robert E. Lee, the Confederacy's great leader and the holiday, legal in this state was generally observed by closed banks, and exercises under auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

SOUTH UNITED

Richmond, Va., Jan. 19.—The new south and the old south were one today as Robert Edward Lee, the great chieftain of the Confederacy, was honored throughout the vast territory once under the Stars and Bars.

Virginia, on whose battlefields Lee waged campaigns which stands as monuments of military strategy, and for whom he labored in peace as in war, took the lead in observance of the 125th anniversary of her famous son. But from the plains of Texas to the capitol at Washington the day was observed by descendants of those who followed Lee in the epochal campaigns from Bull Run to Appomattox.

CHESTNUT CREEK CHURCH

Our Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. are improving nicely. Last Sunday we had 89 at Sunday School, the Sunday before there were 92. We are inviting our members who live farther away from church than some of us to come back and see what we are doing, we miss you so much and would be more than glad to see you coming back. Some of us stay away on account of not having classey clothes to wear. Listen folks, God is putting the test to us; He is seeing if we are willing to go to church and wear common clothes like our mothers and fathers and grandparents use to wear. We have got it to do, if we go to church with a friendly smile, clean hands and a pure heart, carry Jesus within our hearts, then it does not matter what we wear when it comes to classy clothes.

Our B. Y. P. U. is doing fine. We had an extra large crowd Sunday night and good services. We had at least 85 at B. Y. P. U. meeting.

Wednesday night, January 20, we are holding a business meeting for the Sunday School officers at 6:30. At 7 o'clock we have choir practice. We have been holding this for some time the conditions of the weather have permitted good attendance.

BAKER SCHOOL NEWS

The regular monthly service will be held at Highland Church next Sunday, at eleven o'clock. We invite every one to attend.

A large crowd attended church at Mt. Nebo last Sunday. Rev. J. M. Metcalf delivered an interesting sermon. The Epworth League met Sunday night at six-thirty. We invite every one who will to take part with us.

The Parent-Teachers Association met Friday afternoon. Very few attended. We wish to have a larger crowd next meeting. Hard times are knocking at all our doors, but we must be faithful to our school.

The Baker boys played Mt. Pleasant on their court last Friday afternoon. Baker was defeated by a score of 42 to 6. Although the Baker boys are small, they play well. The boys will go to Enterprise next Friday.

Our Junior English Class clubs are planning to beautify our campus with flowers and shrubbery.

The many friends of Uncle Jeff Baker will be glad to know that he is feeling some better. We wish him a speedy recovery.

A large crowd attended the party at the home of Misses Pauline and Bernice Cox Saturday night. Games and contests were enjoyed until a late hour.—Annie Mae Bice and Myrtice Carroll.

MRS. MALISHA COLLINS BURIED AT NEW SALEM

Mrs. Malisha Collins, age 63, wife of A. L. Collins, died at the family home near Thorsby last Sunday morning. Burial was at New Salem Monday afternoon, with Spigener in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt.

Mrs. Collins is survived by her husband; three sons, Tom, Simpson and Herbert; four daughters, Mrs. Luther Teel of Clanton, Mrs. Mamie Sundberg, Mrs. Meadie Shaw, Mrs. Martha Lee Robinson.

BIG RATTLE SNAKE

Simpson Kilgore brought to Clanton one day last week a huge rattle snake, five feet long. The snake was killed on the Atlanta highway beyond Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Bates of North Georgia spent last week end with relatives of Providence.

Lesson for January 24

JESUS AND THE SAMARITAN WOMAN

LESSON TEXT—John 4:1-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Helps a Stranger.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Befriends a Foreigner.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Talking with a Samaritan Woman.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Jesus Deals with Sinners.

I. Jesus at Jacob's Well (vv. 1-6).

The growing popularity of Jesus aroused the envious opposition of the Pharisees which obliged him to leave Judea and go into Samaria. There was another way to reach Galilee, on the eastern side of the Jordan, the one used by many Jews to avoid contact with the despised Samaritans. He "must needs go through Samaria" in order to find this poor sinful woman and the needy citizens of Sychar. The great necessity which was upon him was to seek and to save that which was lost (Luke 19:10).

II. Jesus' Testimony to the Samaritan Woman (vv. 7-26).

1. A favor asked (vv. 7-9). Jesus tactfully made a request which appealed to the woman's sympathy. Not only did the thirst of the weary traveler appeal to her, but the fact that he, being a Jew, asked a favor of her, showed his sympathy for her. In introducing the conversation, he referred to that which was uppermost in her mind; namely, water. This was the divine Teacher's point of contact. He soon passed from earthly water to the water of everlasting life which was in himself.

2. Jesus' tender dealing with this woman (vv. 10-15). He first appealed to her curiosity by declaring, "If thou knewest the gift of God" (v. 10). He knew the deep unrest of the soul of this sinful woman as she went on her way. He knew that if she really knew him, she would believe in him and be saved from her sins. Therefore, he first sought to get her attention. This appeal to her curiosity was followed by a promise which directed her attention to her deepest needs. There is a consciousness of deep need in every soul. In her efforts to satisfy her nature, this poor woman respected neither the law of God nor the rights of men. The deepest need of the soul can only be satisfied by Jesus Christ. The woman's reply, "Sir, give me this water that I thirst not," is the inarticulate cry of every human heart.

3. The woman convicted of her sins (vv. 15-19). Jesus succeeded in arousing her interest, but she did not really understand him. Before she could understand what the water of life is, she must be convicted of her sins. He skillfully gave the command which brought her face to face with the facts of her life that she was unwilling to confess. She did not argue with him, but became a humble inquirer. The soul must be convicted of its sin before there can be conversion.

4. The problem of worship submitted to Christ (vv. 20-24). This she did as soon as she perceived him to be a prophet. This indicates that he was succeeding in bringing her mind to spiritual things. Jesus, knowing the inner life of this woman, told her of the glad time, even then present, when true worshipers could hold intercourse with God anywhere. He showed her that the place of worship is unimportant, that the all-important thing is to have the true conception of God as brought through the Jews. He exposed the folly of a religion of form only, and showed that acceptable worship depends upon the condition of the heart.

5. The woman of Samaria witnessing for Christ (vv. 27-39). When the disciples perceived that Jesus talked with the woman, they marveled, yet they hesitated to ask him for an explanation. The woman left her water pot and went into the city and said, "Come, see a man, which told me all things that ever I did: is not this the Christ?" As soon as she was converted she became an enthusiastic missionary.

III. Jesus Testifying to the Citizens of Sychar (vv. 40, 41).

The woman's testimony brought the request from the Samaritans that Jesus tarry with them. He abode with them two days. Though they heard the woman's testimony, their belief was due to Christ's own word (v. 41).

IV. The Samaritans Witnessing for Christ (v. 42).

They declared, "We know that this is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world." They confessed to the woman that their belief was not then due to her testimony, but to having heard him.

Two Bible Keys

Unless a man believe the Bible to be the word of God, containing the truth and nothing but the truth, he cannot understand it in its parts. Unless he believe that Jesus Christ not only has come, but also will yet come again, he cannot understand the Bible as a whole.—Panin.

The Christian's Business

"As the business of the soldier is to fight, so the business of the Christian is to be like Christ."

Mr. Bill Minor of Montgomery was in Clanton Sunday.

Mt. Pleasant School News

A lovely time was had by all members of the Junior II and Junior III Classes last Saturday night, when the faculty and Junior II Class honored the Junior III Class with a reception given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mastin.

The winners of the contests were: No. 1, Curtis Traywick and Miss Lera Bean; No. 2, Leonard Burnett and Miss Annie Chambers; No. 3, John Wm. Jones and Kathleen Smith. Refreshments were fruit salad and cake.

We are proud to receive back in our midst again Miss Merlene Powell. She re-entered school last Monday. She is one of the popular members of the girl's basket ball team, playing the guard position.

This week finds all the students of Mt. Pleasant School engaged in taking mid-term examinations.

The Liberty Hill singers met for practice last Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams.

Misses Ola Mae and Margy Robinson were the guests of Miss Rosemary Bruce last Sunday.

We are glad to have back in school Miss Gertie Lee Lowery, who was detained from her school work several days, due to the illness of her mother. We are also glad to know of her mother's improvement.

John Wm. Jones made a trip to Birmingham last week to see his sistre. Upon his arrival he found her ill with typhoid fever. The school sends out best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson entertained a number of the Mt. Pleasant pupils last Saturday night.

Our principal, Mr. R. B. Johnson, spent a pleasant day at Mitchell Dam last Sunday as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parrish.

Miss Myrtice Cost and Ertice Riggins spent Sunday with Misses Louise and Lucille Jones.

We regret the death of Mrs. Alfred Collins, who has been very ill for several weeks.

Misses Gertice Riggins and Gladys Turner were pleasant callers on Miss Jewell Cost last Sunday.

The Mt. Pleasant boys ball team won over the Baker Jr. High team last Friday by the one-sided score of 42 to 6. Curtis Traywick, again led his mates in shooting, looping the ball for 26 points. The substitute players, Culp, Jones, Collins, and Childress, all gave a nice performance of play together during the last half. Their pass work was a bit difficult for the Baker boys to match skill with. The Baker players are far better than the score indicates. Their coach, Vernon Baker, is certainly producing a clever little team, from a lot of raw and inexperienced material.

Mr. Johnson has the boys and girls busy practicing for the double-header game with Thomas Junior High next Friday afternoon on the Mt. Pleasant court.

The teams thank the many visitors who attend the games and extend to them a cordial invitation to see all future games. We want you all to be present next Friday, for this is the girl's first game on their home court.

Mr. Ellie and Miss Flore Shirley have gone on a visit to Georgia.

Mr. Willie Snyder of Jacksons Chapel was a visitor at Mt. Pleasant last Friday afternoon.

Miss Lucile Price spent last Saturday night with her class-mate, Miss Mabel Gillespie. They attended the class party together.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Billingsley and family were the week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Melton.

Another interesting debate was staged by four members of the Jr. III Class last Wednesday. The subject was, "Resolved that no native born American should be allowed to vote who cannot read intelligently." The affirmation side, supported by Annie Chambers and Lucile Price, presented the best arguments and made the best delivery, winning over Mazie Logan and Ilar Massey, who upheld the negative side of the question.

Don't forget the double-header ball game next Friday afternoon at Mt. Pleasant. The Thomas school presents two fairly strong teams, and these games should be interesting to all who attend. The girl's game will be called at 2:15; the boy's at 3:00.

JEMISON FARM MEETINGS

Three meetings were held at the evening school, Providence, last week on the outlook work. The outlook on cotton, strawberries, hogs, poultry, and dairy cattle was analyzed in detail. The farmers are planning for a real live at home program first.

The Jemison F. F. A. had at its last meeting the following program: Leo Cobb, care of shop tools; Jesse Splawn, the cotton outlook; Alton Cobb, the outlook on strawberries; Osteen Lenoir, the outlook on poultry.

Morris Hodgens became president of the F. F. A. Urmi Lee Anderson, who was president, graduated this past semester.

The Jemison Strawberry Association at their annual meeting elected the following officers: J. D. Suttley, president; W. I. Leslie, vice-president; C. C. Cofer, L. G. Posey, J. T. Childress, directors; S. P. Shaw, manager; J. P. Montgomery, recording secretary.

The association showed an increase of 49 members in the past twelve months, and is looking forward to a continued growth and development.

BAPTIST "CATCH UP" DAY

Dr. L. E. Barton, secretary of the Executive Board of the Baptist State Convention, has announced, on authority of the Board, Sunday, February 7, as Baptist Catch Up Day. It is the plan to have 100,000 Baptists in the State to contribute fifty cents apiece on that day, making a total of $50,000.00, for the purpose of paying off certain bonds on their institutions which will soon fall due.

Both Dr. Barton and Dr. F. M. Barnes, president of the State Convention, are visiting certain strategic centers in behalf of the plan and they report much interest is being shown. It is hoped by them that all the Baptist pastors will call attention to the day—Sunday, February 7—and present the matter to their people.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

MORE HOGS NEEDED ON ALABAMA FARMS

Auburn, Jan. 18.—The production outlook of hogs is not as strong as that of other livestock; yet it will be suficient for all needs. The hog situation is similar to what it was a year ago. Pork products in storage are larger than a year ago but slightly under the five-year average. Foreign production has increased and American exports have declined.

The 1931 fall pig survey showed an increase over 1930 in Alabama, and also over the United States.

The favorable relationship between hog and feed prices during the fall and winter months of 1930-31 resulted in finishing of hogs to heavy weights. Due to this fact the normal spread between light and heavy hogs has narrowed considerably which is in favor of the Alabama producer who markets hogs at 165 to 200 pounds. Much of the present large supply of feed probably will be fed to hogs during 1932 and will result in lower prices of hogs.

Expansion in hog production for home requirements is recommended, but as a commercial venture it is recommended only in sections of Alabama where an abundance of cheap corn or peanuts is available. It is known that 200 pounds of peanuts in the ground or 350 pounds of harvested peanuts will produce 100 pounds of pork. Six bushels of corn and 50 pounds of supplement will produce 100 pounds of pork.

In presenting these facts the committee of economists and other agricultural workers at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute said that Alabama farmers should consider them in producing hogs for sale. However, they should not hesitate to increase their production to supply their own meat needs.

County Agent R. M. Reaves expects to have 1,500 farm boys of Cullman County in 4-H club work this year. They will be in 40 organized clubs. Cullman expects to be the leading county in the state in this work, he said.

In two years the number of Henry County farmers producing and selling cream has increased from 15 to 50. More shippers and better shippers are expected because dairy cows are being improved, along with better management and better feeding, according to County Agent C. S. Keller.

FOREST COVER AFFECTS GROUND WATER

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 18.—Of the water falling as rain one part is evaporated and goes back into the air, another passes directly over the surface of the earth and thence to the sea while the remainder sinks into the soil, says Colonel Page S. Bunker, state forester. The rain water percolates downward and fills the fissures in the rocks and the pores between the grains of soil up to a certain level. Above this level the soil may be moist but the pores are not filled; below it the soil is saturated. The surface of the ground water, which is the upper level of saturation, is called the water table. It is the water table that one endeavors to reach and penetrate when a well is dug or drilled.

The maintenance of tree growth and the ground litter on the forest floor greatly increases the amount of water percolating into the soil. This causes the water table to rise or come closer to the surface. During periods of dry weather it gradually falls. When a condition of drought obtains over the country the depth of the water below the surface of the earth is the limiting factor of plant growth. As it sinks below a certain level growth stagnates and then practically ceases as the water level continues to decline. By increasing the amount of ground water, through forest growth on the uplands and about the fields, the water table is brought closer to the surface thereby building up the supply of water available to vegetation. Crops may thus be carried through periods of fairly prolonged drought.

POULTRY

WHEN TO HATCH CHICKS

The commercial poultryman, who must make a profit from his flock, usually tries to plan ahead on the basis of several years of experience. The average poultry raiser, however, who is not so deeply interested in poultry production too often does not plan, or if he does plan his hatching time, he bases the time of hatching on last season's prices and results.

In order to make maximum profit out of raising chicks, it is necessary to remember two years instead of one. During the 1931 brooding season, price of broilers for early chicks was good, and somewhat to a great many people's surprise the price remained on chicks hatched late in April and May.

In 1930, the price of broilers on early hatched chicks was fair, but the price of late hatched broilers was comparatively low. In 1832, it is more likely that we will see a repetition of price conditions in 1930 than in 1931. Speaking strictly from a price standpoint, it would seem to be better business to hatch chicks comparatively early, preferably in February, March and April, in 1932.

A difference of two or three cents per chick in the initial chick cost is not nearly as important as a matter of two to five cents per pound on the poultry sold. Also it takes the early pullets to produce the high priced fall and winter eggs. Poultry profits in the last four months of 1931 have been good. Poultry profits for the good poultrymen are always good for the last four months of every year. All poultry profits are determined by the time the chicks are hatched, care and management, and feeding program during the summer time.

Let's hatch chicks early this year.

ALABAMA FARMERS ARE FINDING USEFUL CLAYS

Farmers in 66 of the 67 Alabama counties have found clays on their farms which they believe will bring them money during future years.

Prof. T. N. McVay, of the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, is testing clays free of charge. Preliminary reports are being mailed to farmers without cost as fast as tests are completed.

Those desiring to have clays tested must submit samples before March 1. Inquiries as to how clay samples should be submitted should be sent to the Alabama Industrial Development Board, Birmingham, Alabama, which reports over 1,000 requests received during the past 30 days for sacks in which to mail the clay sample.

The survey is bein made to determine the commercial clay resources of Alabama.

Lawrence County farmers are improving their livestock feeding practices and increasing their net returns by adding a protein supplement to home-grown feed, according to J. E. Carter, county agent. In this way they are getting better growth of livestock and increasing production of both milk and eggs.

FERTILIZER FACTS GIVEN BY FUNCHESS

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 18.—Director M. J. Funchess of the experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute has received inquiries from farmers who have cottonseed meal as to how to use it for fertilizing cotton. His reply is to make a mixture of 125 pounds of cottonseed meal, 100 pounds of acid phosphate, and 15 pounds of muriate of potash.

This mixture may be used in amounts from 300 pounds up to 600 or 700 pounds per acre. It should be applied a week or ten days before planting. Mix it with the soil by running a scooter or similar plow down the furrow.

Prof. Funchess said that a good many Alabama farmers have traded cotton seed for cottonseed meal with a view to using it as a fertilizer as well as a feed. Hence, they will get their fertilizer this year at a very small expenditure of cash.

In order to make the best of the fertilizer situation, Prof. Funchess suggests that farmers who are not certain as to what to do should consult their county agents. They are closely in touch with experimental evidence at Auburn and also with the fertilizer and business situation in general.

The aim of all the farmers of the state is to reduce their costs to the lowest possible point this year, and use of fertilizer materials which they have will assist them in doing so, he added.

In Fayette County chicks are being raised for the early broiler market, and farmers who feed corn along with other feed expect to get a much better price than they would get by selling it otherwise, according to a report from J. C. Ford, county agent.

Barbour County farmers, upon recommendation of County Agent F. C. Clapp, are increasing livestock production with a view to supplying their own needs. They are also giving more attention to killing and curing of meat, using cold storage boxes. A cold storage plant is needed, Mr. Clapp said.

For studying and for assisting in marketing, four community clubs have been organized in Baldwin County with the assistance of County Agent E. E. Hale. Men, women, boys, and girls belong to these clubs. Farm and home subjects are studied and miscellaneous farm products are assembled for market.

FROM A. A. JACKSON

Editor Union-Banner:

When the righteous are in authority the people rejoice. But when the wicked beareth rule the people mourn.

Dear reader, if we believe the Bivle we must acknowledge that the wicked are ruling. Let us take a glance at what the American Freeman, a weekly newspaper, published at Girard, Kansas, has to say about our President, Mr. Hoover:

"In 1904 Herbert Hoover was a slave dealer. For twenty years he was a thief on the highways of captalist finance. Using mining stocks and bonds as his dishonestly manipulated weapons. Exactly twenty-four years after his big deal in slave trading, Hoover was elected President of the United States. In 1932 this slave trader, financial swindler, and stock juggling racketeer will ask the American people to re-elect him President of the United States.

Now, dear reader, is it not a fact if the above statement was not true the editor who made the statement would be in prison? In this same paper Hoover is accused of being guilty of robbery, robbery by lies, robbery by every trick a scoundrel could invent.

Let me ask, has the common poor people become slaves under his administration as President of the United States? It seems to me that the only difference between us slaves of today and the colored slaves before the Civil War, is that the colored slave had a guardian who was responsible for him, and we slaves of today are slaves on our own responsibility.

I notice some of our politicians are calling for another Hoover administration. My fellow voters, what are you going to do? Are we going to let the little local cotton-tail politician line us up and make us believe that the present administration is good enough for us and have us again elect Mr. Hoover president of the United States? Not me; Hoover will never get another vote of mine.

I believe we have some good, righteous congressmen and senators. But not enough of them to have the millions and millions of bushels of wheat and bales of cotton that are stored away turned loose to feed and clothe the millions that are destitute of bread and clothes.

My fellow voters, can we, as Christians, and lovers of humanity afford to let the little cotton-tail politician influence us to support and continue the present administration? I say if we do, slavery is all we deserve.

When the people demand justice and a righteous rule they will get it and not before.

I would be glad to hear from the person who endorses and wants a continuation of the present administration of affairs. Yours for a change.—A. A. Jackson.

Asked to Aid In Big Consumption Of Fleecy Staple

The women of Clanton have been invited and urged to join in a statewide movement to increase the consumption of cotton and to bring prosperity back to the South.

Under the leadership of Mrs. W. J. Adams, of Birmingham, chairman of the Use-More-Cotton Committee, women in several cities of the state already have banded together and pledged themselves to foster a general movement in their communities to increase the use of cotton in every way possible and thus to help the Southern cotton farmer.

Mrs. Adams has announced that, while she is serving in this capacity without pay and while the Use-More-Cotton movement is a non-profit proposition she will gladly come to any community to organize the women for the purpose.

In Birmingham, the week of January 18, the Use-More-Cotton Committee sponsored a Use-More-Cotton week, in which the leading merchants had special prices on cotton merchandise, trimmed their windows with cotton and otherwise cooperated in the movement.

In other cities Cotton Festivals, parades and social gatherings in which cotton and its various uses are emphasized are being sponsored by the women. The state wide organizations which have been enlisted in the Use-More-Cotton movement include the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs, the Alabama Congress of parents and teachers, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Home Demonstration Agents, the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the League of Women Voters and the Council of Jewish Women.

OH, SUCH FINE WEATHER

How many times lately have you heard remarks like this: "Isn't this the prettiest weather you have ever seen in January? Old folks say that they have never seen the like—roses blooming, green cotton stalks, fresh tomatoes, apple and peach trees blooming, etc.

But read what was printed in The Banner just a quarter of a century ago. The issue of January 17, 1907 says: "If warm weather keeps on much longer, the fruit trees will all be blooming and the birds mating, and the dispensary won't be needed." The issue of March 28th says: "Boss Jones brought in some radishes and English peas yesterday.

But on April 11th the Editor's tune was changed. "March came in calm and pretty but she went out like a roaring lion. April has started out cold and windy." On April 18th he added; "April must have swapped with March this year. March was warm and April has been exceedingly cold. Many vegetables have been killed and fruit trees have been badly injured." The issue of April 25th says that folks are still wearing overcoats, and on May 2nd The Man on The Corner said: "This month has started in unpretentiously."

GREAT GRANDSON OF OFFICER ON FRIGATE SEES CONSTITUTION

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 15.—R. H. Dent of Tuscaloosa arrived in Mobile last Friday to visit the frigate, Constitution, on which has great frandfather, Lieut. John H. Dent, was an officer.

The great grandfather of the visitor was on board the Constitution in 1803 during the battle of Tripoli, according to the Tuscaloosa man.

Thousands of persons continued to visit the historic frigate Friday. Over 4,000 Mississippians have come here to see the old ship, the town of Laurel sending over 1,000. Another 1,000 are coming from the vicinity of New Albany, Miss., Saturday, officials of the G. M. & N. Railroad reported.

"KING OF JAZZ" IS COMING HERE

Universal's All-Talking, All-Singing, All-Dancing Super-Production, Directed by John Murray Anderson, Famous Producer of Revues, Coming to Wadesonian Friday and Saturday—Picture Is In Technicolor Throughout.

"King of Jazz," the Universal super-musical extravaganza starring Paul Whiteman and his internationally famous orchestra will be the extraordinary offering of the Wadesonian Theatre Friday and Saturday, January 22nd and 23rd.

"King of Jazz" brings to the all-talking, all-singing, all-dancing and all-technicolor screen the most scintillant and colorful sound production so far envisioned by any film producer, the management promises.

It is the most costly, the most elbatorate, the most spectacular and the most entertaining revue ever presented on either stage or screen, a veritable "revue of revues" which is loaded with the most celebrated stage and vaudeville headliners and the greatest stars of the studios.

John Murray Anderson, the famous producer of New York's "Greenwich Village Follies" for the past six years, was brought to Universal by Carl Laemmle, Jr., expressly to devise and direct this extravaganza with the most able talent available in the world.

The picture, consisting of eight stupendous musical spectacles between which are interspersed innumerable specialties and comedy acts, dramatic skits and blockouts, is filmed entirely in technicolor. The most beautiful girls, the most gorgeous costumes, and the most lavish sets are presented as tableaux of loveliness never before even conceived.

Besides Paul Whiteman and his band, who appear in person in a variety of numbers as well as providing the music all through the picture, "King of Jazz" presents an array of stars hitherto unapproached in a single picture. Laura La Plante, John Boles, the sensation of the singing screen; Jeanette Loff, Stanley Smith, the famous Russell Markert dancers, Grace Hayes, Billy Kent, Charles Irwin, Paul Howard, Al Norman, Tommy Atkins, Sextet and Nell O'Day, all headliners of the vaudeville stage; the celebrated Sisters "G," the dancing rage of Europe brought especially from Berlin; Rose Statler, Jeanie Lang, and countless others from all spheres of entertainment world appear in their choicest numbers.

Mabel Wayne, who wrote "Spanish Town," "Ramona," and many other song hits; Milton Ager and Jack Yellen, who wrote "I wonder What Became of Sally" and other famous songs, wrote new music especially for the revue.

George Gershwin contributed his immortal "Rhapsody in Blue," conceded to be a classic of modern jazz, for an atmospheric number in which sixteen beautiful girls toe-dance the number on the biggest piano ever built.

Hermann Rosse, the famous New York theatrical designer, who has been responsible for the costumes and scenic effects of many of the metropolis' most celebrated shows, designed all the beautiful costumes and settings for "King of Jazz." Each number, separate in itself, called for a separate setting, more lavish, more gorgeous than the last.

A new innovation which he calls "color-tone," was invented for the picture by Rosse, by means of which he suits the moods of his creations exactly to the Whiteman music throughout the film.

FIGHT FOR PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS LAUNCHED

Roosevelt, Smith, And Hoover Hold Spotlight As Friends Open Drive; New York Governor's Formal Announcement Momentarily Expected

New York, Jan, 15.—The political curtain was up, and events marched briskly Friday across the stage in the prologue to the 1932 presidental campaign.

Twenty-four hours in increased activity that opened almost simultaneously on both sides ended Friday night with three figures in the spotlight—President Herbert Hoover, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

President Hoovers campaign for Republican renomination was under way. Former Gov. Smith was cheered again Friday by crowds in Boston, where at Thursday night's "Victory Dinner" he was adjured not to throw his brown derby away. The Roosevelt boom had been formally launched by the the Democrats of North Dakota, and his formal announcements was momentarily expected.

Smith's Action Awaited

Neither the former nor the present governor of New York has made any statement.

Even the closest friends of Smith say they do not know where he stands but they believe Friday night's developments may have strengthened the efforts of his supporters to have him become a candidate.

Friends of Gov. Roosevelt said Friday he had as yet received no formal notification of his endorsement by North Dakota Democrats. Twenty-five hundred memebers of the party attending the "Victory Dinner" at the Hotel Astor Thursday night gave him an enthusiastic reception as the band played "Anchors Aweigh" and he arose to speak.

EVERGLADES PARK BILL APPROVED BY SENATE

Washington, Jan., 19.—The dream of Florida for a national park showing off the tropical birds and greens of her Everglades neared a reality today with Senate passage of the Fletcher bill providing for establishment of the park when all title to the lands passed to the United States.

The measure which now goes to the House, sets aside, approximately 2,000 square miles in Southern Florida for the Everglades National Park.

The Senate lands committee in its report on the bill, described the area as the "most truly tropical portion of the mainland of the United States."

J. HANCE ALRED NOW SOLE OWNER

Purchased Interest Of Neighbors In Alred Drug Co. In Clanton

It was announced Monday by J. Hance Alred that he has bought out the half interest of Dr. T. H. Neighbors in the Alred Drug Company, and in the future the business will continue to operate under the sole ownership and management of Mr. Alred himself.

"There will be no material changes in the operation policy of the business," said Mr. Alred. "Dr. Neighbors voluntarily retires from the business because of other interests he wishes to give his attention to, and I have bought his interest in the business. As has been our policy for the past 23 years, we shall continue to make our place the Home of Quality in everything that we sell, and our high standards of service will be maintained in every transaction with our friends and customers."

Alred Drug Company began business here on October 15, 1909. Hance Alred was one of the organizers of the business. For nearly 23 years the business has been operated continuously at the same location. It is one of the best known business establishments in this section of Alabama, and is very popular with a wide circle of customers and friends of long standing.

It is understood that Dr. Neighbors is making plans to return to Goodwater, where he will be engaged with his father in looking after a very extensive business of farming operations.

FEBRUARY 7 IS CATCH-UP DAY

Sunday, February 7 has been designated as Baptist Catch-Up Day, when Baptists in Alabama will make an offering to catch up with some denominational obligations. Every Baptist in the State is asked to give a half dollar on that day.

The slogan for the day is "Here's my half with a laugh, in behalf of Christ's cause in Alabama." Hundreds of happy half dollars will dispel denominational distress for the Baptist cause in Alabama.

Mr. W. P. Lakeman of Lay Dam has been in Clanton a couple of days this week to see a doctor.

AUGER BIT NOW 200 YEARS OLD

Relic Of Bygone Days In Possession Of E. B. Wyatt Of Clanton

Just last week Ed Carlton, the blacksmith here, executed the job of sharpening an auger that is said to be 200 years old. It now belongs to Uncle Lige Wyatt of Clanton, and was a treasured possession of his grandfather, Buck Wyatt, 150 years ago. The ownership is traced back to the father of Buck Wyatt, and it is certain that the auger is at least 200 years old. There is a handle on it now that was made forty years ago by Jim Wyatt, the father of Uncle Lige Wyatt.

The auger is 1 1-4 inch size, and Uncle Lige says that everybody in the eastern part of Chilton County used it to bore ox yokes; there were not many augers in those days. We are assured that the ox yokes it has bored would reach the thousands, and if the scouring mops it has bored could be placed together, there would be a box car full. The old tool is made of the very best material, and when Mr. Carleton got through with it, it bored just as good as it did when the demand for its service was so great.

Uncle Lige also has another relic that is interesting. It is a little memorandum book which belonged to James Washington Wyatt, the father of E. B. Wyatt. The little book contains lots of the family records of the Wyatts back in the early eighties.

Buck Wyatt was the father of G. F. M. Wyatt, Thomas J. (Bud) Wyatt, Dock Wyatt, Jim W. Wyatt, and Dan Wyatt, who spent his lifetime in Autauga County. The father of Buck Wyatt, whose name we were unable to ascertain, came to this county from Autauga back in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

POULTRY CAR DID RUSHING BUSINESS

The poultry car which was run through Chilton County last week by the Farm Bureau did a land office business for the three days.

It stopped at Verbena Tuesday, the 19th, where 3,033 pounds of poultry was taken aboard.

The whole day of Wednesday the 20th, the car was at Clanton, and such an ingathering of chickens was never before witnessed. The total loading here on that day was 14,215 pounds.

Thursday, the 21st, at Jemison, 7,961 pounds were loaded.

The total loading on the car for the three days was 25,209 pounds, which brought $3,338.08 in cash into the pockets of the several hundred farmers who brought in surplus poultry.

Officials of the Farm Bureau state that it is their plan to have a car come through the county each month for a while.

AUBURN STUDENT KILLED BY AUTO

Victim Was J. W. Griffin, Son Of Prof. J. D. Griffin, Of Isabella

J. W. Griffin, age 19 years, son of Prof. J. D. Griffin, of Isabella, died late last Saturday night at Opelika, from injuries received when he was struck by an outomobile driven by Watson Salter, of Opelika. Young Griffin was a junior student at Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn.

Griffin was walking on the highway near Opelika with another student, Miller Shepard, of Milstead, who was slightly injured. Both were rushed to an Opelika hospital where Griffin died at 11:30. It was stated that Shepard will recover.

At the Auburn College Griffin was student assistant in the animal nutrition laboratory, and a junior in agriculture.

A call was received by Mell Martin to come to Opelika after the body of the young man, and he was accompanied by Prof. Griffin, father of the dead boy. The remains were brought to Clanton Sunday and prepared for burial by Martin. The body was carried to the Griffin home at Isabella. Monday afternoon it was carried to Marbury for burial. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Buford Lawrencce, assisted by Rev. G. G. Williams, Rev. Goss, and a minister who came from Auburn. Pallbearers were Buster Roebuck, Claud Conway, Buster Sexton, Berney Vance, Allen Mize, and Guin Williams.

The deceased was a brother of Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, teacher in the Chilton County High School. An older brother, Bob, is also a student at Auburn.

Out of sympathy for the Griffin family the schools at Isabella and Clanton were adjourned Monday, and a large number of teachers, students and friends throughout Chilton County went to the funeral.

NOTICE TO PATRONS OF GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The patrons of the Clanton Grammar School are reminded that it is now time to pay incidental fees for the last half of the present school term.

When the school began last fall, it was uncertain as to whether or not we would have a full term. Therefore patrons were asked to pay incidental fees for only the half term.

Now that it has been definitely settled that we shall have a full term, all are asked to make their payments of $2.50 per pupil for incidental expenses for the last half of the term.

This matter is very important, as there are some bills outstanding which ought to be paid, and they can only be paid by money coming in from this source. If there is anybody who is not able to pay the incidental fee, please go to see the principal about the matter and explain your case, so he can report it to the trustees.

CLANTON KIWANIS CLUB INSTALLED NEW OFFICERS

John Hollis Elected President; Other Club Officers Also Named

Officers for 1932 for the Clanton Kiwanis Club were officially installed at a recent meeting. These officers include the president, vice-president, treasurer, secretary, district trustee, board of directors, and the naming of the members of various committees in the service club.

John L. Hollis, of Mitchell Dam, was elected to serve as president of the Kiwanis Club for the year 1932. Mr. Hollis succeeds J. Mell Martin, who has worked untiringly during the years of the life of the club. John Hollis, with his never-say-die spirit has added much to the life and interest of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton, showing that he is one who is a leader in civic activities.

John C. Page, of the First National Bank, was elected to serve as vice-president of the club, succeeding Mack Wyatt. John Page has shown by his steady interest and work in the activities of the club that he is becoming well fitted, if not already so, for the presidency of the club.

Other officers are: treasurer, Earl Upchurch; secretary, Cohen Stapp; district trustee, Sam R. Powers.

Directors elected are Sam Ezell, Raymond Smith, Reedie Taylor, Louis Reynolds, Earle Thomas, Leonard Williams, Lloyd Warr.

The Kiwanis Club meets today at the basement of the Baptist Church, with Cohen Stapp and his committee in charge of the program. At a recent meeting of the board of directors, several changes were made, which are to tend to add to the activities of the club as well as show that Kiwanis really means "We Build."

JOHN L. HOLLIS

The personnel of the various committees appointed following:

Club meetings, house, attendance, reception: J. Mell Martin, chairman, Leonard Williams, Earl Upchurch.

Program, public affairs: Sam Ezell, chairman, Cohen Stapp, John Page, Lloyd Warr.

Publicity: Billy Smith, Raymond Smith, M. Lande.

Membership: John Page, Sam Powers, John Hollis.

J. Z. Mims Insists That Young People Prepare For Obligations of Citizenship

Editor Union-Banner:

Permit me to make this last appeal through your paper to the voters of this county to pay their poll tax for this year and register if they have not already registered.

My friends, I realize money is hard to get hold of at this time and I realize there are probably some who cannot spare the money now with which to pay their poll tax, but let me insist that every one who possibly can pay their poll tax on or before next Monday night for after then you cannot pay them until next October. Permit me to ask all who can to assist his neighbor who needs help in paying his poll tax. A person's franchise or right to cast his or her ballot on a public question that deals directly with his or her home and home life is sacred and the obligation is great whether or not we assume it.

It is alarming to see the great indifference that exists among our young men and women as to their franchise. This should not exist in a free country like this of ours. Our forefathers fought and died for the very thing we, in this respect, are trampling under our feet, so to speak. My young friends permit me to say this to you as a word of warning. Some day, and that is not far distant, I am afraid, we are going to be sorry for this neglect and indifference. This is your home, your country, your state and your county. If you do not take care of your part of it who will?

The right to pay your poll tax, along with other taxes, and to vote is about all we have left out of the great liberty and many rights our fathers died and won for us and even the right to vote is very limited now. In Alabama you have to buy the right to vote by paying your poll tax and then by an act of our recent legislature, as I understand it, you have got to give up this great and sacred freedom in the general election if you vote in the state primary election. Now my friends, this bold encroachment upon your rights by our recent legislature is made for a purpose. This act, this encroachment by our lawmakers is modern. It is up to date. It is a present day act of our own state lawmakers to take our rights away from us and we have a right to presume it is done that they may have their own way. What are we going to do about it? Just not pay your poll tax and give over to it? I hope not, but I do hope that before many more elections our young people will open their eyes politically and come to the front and put down such conditions.

You hear much talk of rottenness in politics these days and we are compelled to admit it is too true but have we stopped to think why it is there and seemingly growing? The facts above mentioned are some of the causes. If you will look into the matter just a little you can readily see that it is the old politicians and their following who are doing the work. Seemingly, they desire the young held in check, discouraged and disgusted politically so that they may continue to rule with an iron hand.

This is against Americanism and freedom and it will not long survive in this great country of ours. It is true, it may bring on situations we, as an enlightened people abhor, but it is inevitable it seems if we do not exercise our rights at the ballot box and stamp it out.

There will be many important elections this year and probably some dealing directly with your interest and home. We have county state and national elections this year. Now is the time to get ready. Do not wait until next Tuesday or a later date. It will be too late then.

Let me insist that every one come and pay your poll tax before next Monday night and thereby equip yourself for the battle for the right.

There are scores of young men and young women in this county who have never registered. Young people you are the future of our county and state, cannot we count on you doing your part? It does not cost anything to register. The Registrars are at the courthouse and will continue there through February the 4, 1932. Will you not make the initial step to come and register so that you may be numbered among the many who are striving to make our country better? If you will just come to the courthouse and register and if you were twenty-one years old before October the 1st, 1931, pay your poll tax and be a full fledged voter.

I am counting on you doing this.

Respectfully yours,

J. Z. MIMS

REGISTER AND PAY POLL TAX NOW

The people of Chilton County are reminded that now is the time to pay poll taxes. February the first is the last day on which this duty can be discharged.

This year is election year. You will want to be able to vote in the Primaries and General Election. If you are subject to poll tax, be sure it is paid by February the first.

Those who may be entitled to register may do so at the courthouse between January 25th and February 4th.

CHANGE IN SINCLAIR STATION MANAGEMENT

A change in the management of the Sinclair Service Station has been made during the past week. Mr. Buck Roberts has served his connection with the business, and his interest has been taken over by Mr. Henry Miller.

W. W. (Preacher) Bishop will continued his connection with the business, operating the same jointly with Mr. Miller.

The Sinclair Station is one of the nicest places of the kind in Clanton. It is located on the south-east corner of the intersection of the Selma and Birmingham Highways.

Mr. Kin Vinson is now the wholesale distributor of Sinclair motor products in this territory.

Henry Miller and "Preacher" Bishop extend an invitation to their friends to do business with them, with the assurance that they will furnish jam-up service from every standpoint.

CONDEMNED MEN WAIT FOR CHAIR

Awaiting Execution Under Sentence At Kilby Prison

More prisoners are at Kilby Prison now awaiting execution than have ever been on hand before at the same time in the history of that institution. The total of the condemned is 14, according to the official records of Warden George P. Walls. Another is soon to be added, increasing the total to 15, as soon as sentence is pronounced on Willie Peterson, negro, convicted last Saturday in Birmingham by a jury which recomended the death penalty, of criminal assault and murder of a young white woman, and the shooting to death of another woman.

Heading the list of condemned now at Kilby, all of whom are negroes, are the eight men convicted at Scottsboro of criminally assaulting two white girls. Others and the crimes for which they are under sentence of death, together with the name of the county where they were convicted follow: Charlie Williams, Mobile, murder; Lee Fergurson, Shelby County, murder; Dave Ballard, Butler County, murder of a deputy sheriff; Isaac Mims, Percy Irvin and Robert Strickland, Lowndes County, robbery. The eight negroes convicted at Scottsboro are Charlie Weems, Clarence Norris, Heywood Patterson, Olen Montgomery, Andy Wright, Eugene Williams, Willie Roberson and Ozie Powell.

All of the 14 men under sentence of death who are now confined at Kilby, have appeals pending in the Alabama Supreme Court except Charlie Williams, alias Frank Nettles, alias "Red" Williams, who was convicted of the murder of Annice Gibson, negro woman, and sentenced to pay the extreme penalty, took an appeal to the Supreme Court, which affirmed judgment of the trial court and set Friday, January 15, as the date of his execution. He was thereafter given a hearing before Gov. Miller and the State Board of Pardons in connection with his application for executive clemency. The Pardon Board unanimously declined to recommend commutation in the case and Gov. Miller declared that the law must take its course.

On application of Sheriff W. H. Holcombe, Jr., of Mobile County, however, who stated he had some additional evidence to present in the condemned man's behalf, the Governor granted a reprieve to Williams until Friday, January 29. Yesterday the Governor set Wednesday at 11 a. m., as the time for the second hearing. Sheriff Holcombe will appear to present the additional evidence before the Governor and the Pardon Board.

COUNTY WILL PUSH SUIT AGAINST BUTLER

The court of comissioners of Chilton County Tuesday passed an order authorizing their attorneys to go ahead with the appeal to the Supreme Court in the matter of suit on the part of the county against State Tax Commissioner, S. R. Butler, regarding the Alabama Power Company tax matter.

Action in the case had been delayed pending the possibility of a projected settlement of the matter. The latest action indicates that the case will be pushed to a final decision by Chilton County attorneys.

REYNOLDS WILL NOT TELL NAMES

Says School Teachers Fear They Will Lose Their Jobs

Editor Union-Banner:

In response to the request of Mr. J. E. Daniel in last week's paper in which he asked the editor to tell where a certain article commending Prof. W. T. Bean came from, I want to say to your readers that I handed the said article to the editor, as was stated by him last week.

I did not tell the editor who gave me the article referred to, because the parties who gave it to me are school teachers. They pledged me not to reveal their names because they said if they became known in the matter the school authorities would likely cause them to lose their jobs as teachers.

The parties who gave the letter to me stated that Mr. Bean had no knowledge of their action, but they thought he ought to have due credit and recognition for his leadership of the teachers in the face of very apparent opposition on the part of the school officials.

Now, I do not want to get mixed up in any controversy about the matter. I believe personally that if Mr. Bean or somebody else had not showed an everlasting and uncompromising determination in the matter our schools would now be closed down.

A great many people have talked to me about it, and most all of them seem to have the idea that the County School Board was determined to close the schools, and that they would not have accepted the proposal of the teachers if Mr. Bean had not pushed the proposition as he did.

Of course, Will Bean did not do all the sacrificing for the schools. But it is clear to anybody that if the School Board was wanting to stop the schools, it was necessary for somebody to take the lead in the movement to save the schools from closing. Mr. Bean, as head of the teachers association, took the lead, and be it said to the honor and glory of the other teachers of the county, they were willing to back him up and all of them sacrificed their own personal interests for the sake of the schools.—L. H. Reynolds.

MISS LAWSON AT PILOT MEETING

Alabama College Professor Is Speaker On Interesting Topic

The members of the Clanton Pilot club enjoyed one of the finest lectures of the season when, at the regular social meeting this week, Miss Oliva Lawson addressed the club on the topic, "Women's Peculiar Place in Society" Miss Lawson is an outstanding woman in the educational realm of the state, a member of the Board of Directors of the state P.-T. A., and she came last night representing the American Association of University Women in which association she is educational chairman in the Alabama College branch at Montevallo. Miss Lawson is quoted as saying; "Women do have a peculiar place in society, a place which can be filled by no one else. It is not our business to try to push men out of their jobs but to work along with them—both will be the stronger by working side by side." A very distict point running through the lecture was this; "Whatever you do, whatever your walk of life, if you are a teacher be the best teacher that you know to be and if you raise strawberries and peaches, do the best job of that. Your job may seem small to some people but it is a big job to you and it will grow in importance as you put more of your own personality into it."

Other numbers on the program were contributed by members of the club. Miss Nell Wells favored the assembly with two popular selections, one of which she gently dedicated to Alma Allen. Short talks were made by Mrs. Mamie Smith, Mrs. Mary Martin, Misses Alma Allen, Deliah Kelley, and Mrs. Agnes McNair. Mrs. Gertrude Calloway presented the attendance prize, a box of chocolates, to Mrs. Mamie Smith who guessed the lucky number. Mrs. Smith, in return, presented the prize to the honor guest Miss Lawson.

Mr. D. L. Ellison made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

BEES BROUGHT ALABAMA $4,000,000 IN DECADE

Honey bees have brought into Alabama some $4,000,000 during the past decade.

This is reported by Thomas Atchison, apiary inspector, department of agriculture, who declares that bees and queens brought into Alabama more than $400,000 annually during the past ten years.

In addition bees of the state have produced a large tonnage of honey, most of which has been consumed at home.

1,641 CARS TRUCK CROPS INSPECTED

During the past year 1,641 cars of Alabama truck crops were inspected and shipped under state and federal certificates, reports B. P. Livingston, chief of the Division of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture.

These cars included 532 of strawberries, 412 Irish potatoes, 403 green corn, 227 cucumbers, 30 sweet potatoes, 36 peaches and one of green beans.

ADVERTISED FARM SEED REQUIRE ANALYSIS TAG

To comply with the Alabama law, seeds advertised for sale or carried by any common carrier in shipping before or after being sold must carry an analysis tag on the bag or other container, says L. N. Allen, seed analyst for the Department of Agriculture.

During the past three months Mr. Allen has tested 221 samples of seed free for farmers and dealers.

THE FINANCIAL GENIUS OF THE REVOLUTION

George Washington would probably rebuke the country if it celebrated the 200th anniversary of his birth without at least some mention of the man who financed the Revolution and upon whom Washington at times, leaned hardest of all. This man was Robert Morris, who was born on January 31, 1734.

At the age of fourteen, we are informed by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, Morris emigrated from Liverpool, his birthplace, to join his father who had settled at Oxford, Maryland, where the elder Morris acted as American agent for a large firm of Liverpool tobacco merchants. The father was killed in an accident when young Morris was seventeen, but before the elder's death, Robert had found a job in the counting room of a mercantile house in Philadelphia. There his business ability soon showed itself to such advantage that he became a member of the firm. From then on he steadily added to his fortune until he became one of the richest men of his time in America.

But money was not the sole interest of Morris. He early joined the movement against England, and was among the first to resist the Stamp Act. Also, he was a signer of the frist non-important agreement and later was made warden of the Fort of Philadelphia.

When the Revolution opened, Morris was forty-one years old, in the prime of his mental and physical vigor, and he threw himself into every important enterprise except the military. In 1775 and 1776 he was vice president of the Pennsylvania Committee of Safety. From 1775 to 1778 he was a member of the Continental Congress, and so was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. In 1778 he retired from Congress, only to devote his tireless energies to the Pennsylvania State Legislature, of which he was a member.

BETHSALEM

(The following communication from the Bethsalem S. S. reporter came in just a little too late for last week's paper, so we are running it this week. This S. S. reporter, as well as some others who are caught out the same way, will please send in their letters a little earlier next time.)

There was a big crowd at Sunday School Sunday, and a very interesting discussion was had. A great many visitors were present, whom we invite back again. Rev. W. P. Lowery delivered a wonderful sermon. Also our B. Y. P. U. Sunday night rendered an interesting program. The special songs were good, sung by Mrs. C. M. Billingsley, C. Yeargan, Miss M. Wilkins and W. Wilkins.

County Commissioner, J. E. Cobb, was in Clanton Monday attending to some business at the courthouse.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. LISHIE COLLINS, DIED JANUARY 17

On January 17, 1932 the death angel visited the home of Bro. A. L. Collins and claimed for its victim his loving wafe, Sister Lishie Collins. She had been sick for several months.

She gave her heart to God at about the age of fifteen, and since that time she has lived a Christian life. She first joined the Baptist church, but later united with the Church of God at Sylacauga, where she was a member until her death. She was saved and sanctified. A smile always greeted those who met her along life's way, making friends with all she met; she was loved by all who knew her.

She leaves to mourn her departure three brothers, three sisters, three half brothers and five half sisters; three sons, four daughters and her husband. There are a host of other relatives and friends, most of whom attended the funeral service. The remains were laid to rest in New Salem cemetery, services conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt. She now sweetly sleeps there to await the soon coming of Jesus.—Her daughter-in-law, Lela Collins, Clanton, Ala.

NOVEL FEATURE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON CELEBRATION

Music of Washington and Lee Fancy Dress Ball to be Broadcast January 28th

One of the first national events connected with the celebration of the two-hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, will be presented over a nation-wide NBC network on Thursday evening, January 28th, at 10 o'clock E. S. T., during the Lucky Strike hour, when the music and a description of the costumes and festivities attending the progress of the annual Washington and Lee University fancy dress ball being held in Lexington, Va., are broadcast.

The music of Bernie Cummins and his orchestra, to which the costumed guests will dance, will be picked up direct from the dance floor of the ballroom and broadcast to listeners throughout the country. Walter R. Winchell, famous newspaper columnist and gossip will open the program and introduce the orchestra from New York.

The University, which has held these fancy dress balls for the past 26 years in celebration of the birth of the country's first president, is exerting every effort to make this year's affair the most elaborate in its history, in keeping with the extensive plans to be put into effect throughout the land in honoring the bicentennial of Washington's birth. Radio listeners in every section of the country will be able to grasp the spirit and feeling that will be apparent at this, the most pretentious college dance in the South, which will be the forerunner of the innumerable local and national celebrations to be held everywhere during the month of February and the remainder of the year.

The "Washington and Lee Swing" the famous university song, will be one of the highlights of the broadcast, and will be played by Bernie Cummins and his universiay band on the sidelines, to inspire the "Generals," as Washington and Lee football players are called.

DOORS ARE CLOSED BY HILL'S INFIRMARY

In accordance with announcement of several weeks ago, the Laura Hill Hospital, 729 South Lawrence Street, officially closed yesterday.

Open day and night, since the fall of 1898 when the first patient was received, following completion and equipment of the hospital, the last patient was discharged from the institution Tuesday evening, and the doors were closed, for the first time in 34 years, to remain closed.

Through all those years, the hospital was conducted, continuously, by Dr. L. L. Hill and Dr. R. S. Hill, who in announcing the prospective closing, stated that after this long period of service, they wished to be relieved of the burdens and duties of operating the institution.

During the third of a century that they labored there early and late, day after day, the Doctors Hill in relieving the sufferings of thousands of men, women and children in Montgomery and throughout the State achieved an eminence that placed them among the foremost surgeons of the country.

In the disposition of matters connected with the closing of the hospital, Dr. L. L. Hill, yesterday transferred his interest in the institution to Dr. R. S. Hill, who in turn transferred his interest in the Nurse's Home conducted in conjunction with the Hospital, to Dr. L. L. Hill.—The Montgomery Advertiser.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Moore went to Tuscaloosa Sunday to visit their son, Charles, who is a medical student at the University of Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Winford Jackson, together with several others, spent last week visiting relatives and friends in South Georgia. They reported a very enjoyable trip.

JESUS FEEDS THE MULTITUDE

LESSON TEXT—John 6:1-14; 32-37; 48-51.

GOLDEN TEXT—And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life; he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Feeds a Hungry Crowd.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Jesus Did With a Boy's Lunch.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Sympathy of Jesus With Human Need.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus the Bread of Life.

I. Jesus' Compassion on the Multitude (vv. 1-5a, cf. Matt. 14:14).

The sight of a crowd always excited the Lord's sympathy. He knew that they were as shepherdless sheep (Mark 6:34). Besides, they were so ignorant that they had no appreciation of him. Added to this was their physical hunger. This condition aroused the Saviour's pity. How true this is of the multitude today! The crowd surges about us as shepherdless sheep, having no one to care for them. Yet down deep in their hearts is a hunger for God and the truth.

II. Jesus' Conference With the Disciples Touching the People's Need (vv. 5b-9).

The inquiry of Philip was not for the Lord's benefit, for he knew what he would do (v. 6). His object was:

1. To teach them their sense of obligation to the multitude. We all need to be taught the wonderful truth that God has made man his partner in the salvation of the world. We are workers together with God (II. Cor. 6:1). It is the very highest privilege as well as a most solemn obligation to cooperate with God in saving the millions who are groping in darkness.

2. To teach them their helplessness in the face of such great need and responsibility. The loaves and fishes which the lad had provided for his lunch were as nothing in the presence of five thousand men besides women and children. Well might Andrew exclaim: "What are these among so many?" It is a good thing to realize our true needs that we may be driven to Christ who is able to supply them.

3. To teach them that their sufficiency is from the Lord. Without him we can do nothing (John 15:5). Christians can no more carry on the Lord's work of themselves than the branch can bear fruit without the vine. The vine supplies the life and strength for the production of fruit. Philip's arithmetic was of no use in the face of such need. He had to fall back upon the Lord Jesus who has all power.

III. Jesus' Method of Feeding the Five Thousand (vv. 10-13).

He paused to give thanks for the scant supply, thus teaching us that we should always bring our abilities and gifts to him that he might bless them to his use.

1. The Lord's part was to bless and break the bread, even to create the needed supply (v. 11). The disciples could not perform this part. The same kind of bread was provided for all, rich and poor, young and old.

2. The disciples' part was to distribute that which he had blessed and consecrated (v. 11). This is true of the Christian worker today. We are not responsible for the supply but are responsible for its distribution to all those who are hungry and perishing for the bread of life.

3. The people's part was to sit down and eat (v. 10). They had no part in the provision, neither in its distribution, but only to take from the hands of the disciples and eat that which the Lord had provided. This is exactly our situation. The people are responsible for taking and eating of the bread of life; that is, faith and obedience are required of them.

4. The superabundance of God's grace (v. 13). When all had eaten to the full, much was left. This shows that the gospel is ample for the salvation of the world.

IV. The Effect of This Miracle (v. 14).

They recognized him at once as the prophet who should come. They believed him for his works' sake.

V. Jesus, the Bread of Life (vv. 32-37, 48-51).

1. Christ is to the soul what bread is to the body.

2. How to obtain this bread. It is by coming to Christ and believing on him.

3. The blessed issue of taking this bread:

a. The one who eats this bread shall never hunger or thirst.

b. He shall never die. The one who eats the bread of heaven, that is, the one who receives Jesus Christ, has eternal life.

SOME THOUGHTS

He who prays, rises from prayer a better man.

Unconfessed sin in the soul is like a bullet in the body.

Wonder why some people insist on spelling Christian with a small "c"?

The more a stone is wounded by the hand of the engraver, the greater beauty is produced.

Mt. Pleasant School News

MOUNT PLEASANT DIVIDES A DOUBLE-HEADER WITH THOMAS

In two well played games last Friday afternoon the Mt. Pleasant boys won over the Thomas team by the large score of 26 to 13; while the Mt. Pleasant girls suffered their first loss of the season by the crafty playing of the Thomas girls, the count being 4 to 3.

The girls game was a hard fought contest, with the home team taking an early lead and retaining it throughout the first half, only to lose it in the closing minutes of the first frame.

Velma Jones scored all 4 points for Thomas, while Annie Chambers with 2 points, and Ethyl Traywick with one, completed the Mt. Pleasant score.

The boys game was far more interesting than one would judge by reading the score. The Thomas boys made a brave stand to ward off the Mt. Pleasant attack, but Curtis Traywick proved their undoings when he swept back and forth across the court making difficult shots seem easy in registering his 22 points of the game.

This little lad made every shot count during the first half, making seven shots from the field good for 14 points and then netting three foul shots, giving him 17 points for the first half. His younger brother, Cecil, with 2, and Burnett with 2, rounded out their tallying for the game.

Wilson was high point man for the visitors, ringing up 6 points. T. C. Wilson, with 3, came next, while Roland and G. Wells got 2 points each.

At the intermission the count stood 21 to 5, which caused the home team to relax in their playing. They only made 5 points the last half. Several substitutes were fun in, each giving a creditable account of themselves.

The outstanding feature of the game was the sportsmanlike manner in which the players on both teams conducted themselves. This drew many favorable remarks from the large crowd witnessing the game.

Over three hundred were present, including a large group who represented the Thomas school. The schools kept up a constant roar, yelling and cheering their teams throughout the entirety of both games.

On next Saturday night, January 30, both teams from Mt. Pleasant will go to Calera to meet the Calera Junior. The Calera boys have sent several senior high schools down to defeat this season, including Coach Pedro Black's crack team from Bibb County High School. This is sufficient evidence that the Mt. Pleasant boys have no easy assignment in winning over the swift Calera team.

A large crowd from several different schools in this county is planning to see this game. Two trucks and several private cars will carry the Mt. Pleasant representatives.

This game should prove a whizzer. Every one interested should see it.

LEADER OF WET ORGANIZATION ASKS DRYS COOPERATION ON REFERENDUM

Washington, Jan. 20.—Henry H. Curran, president of the Association against the prohibition amendment, today made public the following latter to Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, the newly elected president of the Anti-Saloon League:

"Very respectfully I say to you that at last we are getting together, and it is high time.

"Your plea for a referendum by states to decide the question of retention or repeal of the eighteenth amendment is such an honest recognition of our nation's need that I must send you this word of congratulation, just as sincerely and gratefully as I can.

"You have put your finger on the very point. Of course the idea of a single nationwide referendum betrays ignorance of our Constitution. The only constitutional way to do it is by states, just as you say, and the sooner we do it and get this thing settled the better for us all.

"The Beck and Linthicum resolutions provide for just such a constitutional referendum.

"You are the new president of the Anti-Saloon League. Will you join me in marshalling the strength of our two associations in favor of these resolutions?

"Both of our associations are striving for order, temperance and the public peace. If we work together now, we can do a great service to our country.

"When can I come over to Philadelphia and make arrangements with you for the joint campaign which our two associations can now get underway?

"You know the old line in 'Casey At the Bat' about 'somewhere the sun is shining.' The sun is shining now from your home in Philadelphia and I want to come over and see what it feels like. For I suspect, my dear Bishop, that we are all in Mudville until we get a vote on the eighteenth amendment.

"And I mean every single word of this letter. You and I are traveling the same straight road. It was Akbar who said, 'You can not be lost on a straight road.' Let us travel it together."

UNIVERSITY NEWS

Ninety-two students received degrees from the University of Alabama January 23, at mid-term graduation exercises. Dr. John R. McLure, summer school director, delivered the commencement address. Dr. McLure urged a universal education as a sure remedy for recurring economic evils.

Sigma Alpha Epsillon fraternity held its province convention at the University Friday and Saturday. Delegates were present from Georgia, Florida, and Alabama. The mother chapter at Alabama was presented a fine oil portrait of Noble DeVotie, founder of the order.

More than 60 Alabama physicians gathered at the University last Thursday to attend the meeting of the northwestern division Alabama State Medical Association.

The State George Washington Bicentennial oratorical contest will be held here some time in March. Each college of Alabama is expected to send a representative. The state winner will go to the regional contest. The University's representative will be selected March 3.

Uncle Jack Billingsley of Indian Grave was in Clanton last Friday, on business, among which was paying up his subscription to The Union-Banner. Mr. Billingsley was accompanied up here by Mr. Joe Jones, also of near Indian Grave in Autauga County.

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom Fills his Pintment at the Mt. Giliad Baptist Church (Colored)

GIVES LESSON ON DANCING

After singin dis good ole song, Ah wants to read a lessen foun in de 14 chapter ob Matthew, from the fust thru de twelf verse (reads lesson). Brudders an sisters, de tex dat Ise got for today wuz giben to me by dat goon lookin young oman settin dar by de orgin; you all knows her. She is a member ob dis church; and ob corse youse all no what truble youse has had wid her. Me and de deackons and others hab talked to her and tryn to keep her fum gwyn to dese dances.

Now, heres de tex fum in Ecclesiastes 3rd chapter and de fouth verse: A time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance. Now Ah wants you to stan an sing dat good ol song dat our daddys ust ter sing, de frain ob which runs dis way: "Lord, I wants more ligion to help me on to Thee." (They stand and sing.) Now pleas be seeted. Ah wants to thank de good Lawd and you all for dis song. It des made my ole heart leep an jump, cause Ah no Ah wants all de ligion Ah kin git. Dese hear dancin church members ought not sing I wants more ligion; dey oughter sing I wants ligion, caus Ah bin watchin dem kind ob folks a long time an Ah aint neber nowed ob one of dem leadin any body to Christ. And den deys so smaht in da awn estermatin; da kin tell de preacher how he auter preach and tell him what de Bible say bout evything. Talkin bout smaht folks, let me tell you dis. Ah overtuck a white man as Ah went back to town las Mondy an Ah axt him ter ride; an he begin ter tell me how de gobernment an de State and county oughter be run. An den got to de churches and begin to tell me how da shood be run; an Ah ax him if he wuz a member an he sa no, dat he didnt wanter git in no church wid folks whut wont no better dan he wuz. Den he looked down an seed my Bible and den he say youse a preacher. Ah wants to ax you sumpen: Wuz Judus Iscariot saved or no. An I say Ah will ax ye one, and when you answer me Ah will answer you. He say shoot; den Ah say, who run de buty-shop in Jerusamel in de time ob Christ, an he sa Ah cant tell you; an Ah say "well den," an he looked at me an say you dont min gibin me your pinion do you, an Ah say yes Ah does, caus Ah dont spin my pinion on nuthin whut Ah don no nuthin bout. But Ah'll promis you dat when Ah gits up dar I will look roun fur him and effen Ah dont fin him Ih'll call you up on long distance; den you kin look fur him. Den Ah say whars you bin an he say we all cum down hear to a dance Sadday nite an I got drunk an da all drove back ter town an lef me.

Ah wants ter tell you bout cnudder one. Its all rite to sind white boys to high school, but its ruination to a nigger. Ah wuz stanin in de church yard befo preachin an dat boy ob Brudder Sam Pule's wuz showin off an lettin evybody no how smaht he wuz. Atter whil his dady cum up ter me and wuz talkin, an den he tole me he wuz sendin his boy to high school. Ah say Brudder Sam, you des es well sen a cow to a dancin school, an you know you cant learn a cow how to dance. An atter he walked off, de boy cum prancin up to me an ax me to len him 50 cents. An Ah jes thot Ah would see how much he did no, an Ah say son Ah haint got but four bits; you kin hab at effen you wants hit. An he say no I cant git along wid dat little bit.

A speakin bout dancin schools; da say da has started one in Clanton now; an Ah feels sho dat some ob dem church members will go. An effen one ob dem churches wuz to put on a trainin school, and hit free, da wouldnt go to hit. Ise gwinter tell you bout de tex ter reckly, an Ah aint gwinter mince my words nuther. Ah always preaches to please de Lord an not to please de people zackly. Dats one reason Ah dont stay at one church no longer dan Ah duz. Speakin bout pleasin de people, one day Ah wuz walkin up de street in Clanton and I met one ob dem big preachers, an he say, Blossom, where are you preachin now? An Ah tole him, an he say ebry time Ah sees you you is at annuder church. How is it dat you cant hole a church no longer dan you does. Aint you an dese folks gittin along all rite? An Ah say Ise gittin along wid dem all rite but dey ain't wid me. Den he say, you musnt hit em so hard; an den Ah say, when I sees ur preacher stayin at a church a long time, Ah knows dat one ob two things is certain: Either all his folks is mighty good folks, or he jes preaches to please dem, one or de udder.

Now about de tex. Hit says a time to weep. Yes, Brudder and Sister, you did weep ober your sins, didnt you; den when de Lord heard you weepin, an spoke peace to your soul, den cum your time to laugh an shout; den cum your time to mourn over your own lost loved ones an a lost world. On deys gwinter come a time fur you to laugh an sing and praise de Lord: When we all git up dar an see all our frins an de Lord whut bought us wid his own blood.

An my sinner friens, effen you dont make a change, de time fur you to dance will come. You jes let er chicken walk in some hot ashes an his time ter dance is dun cum; or each a mice an drap him down on a red-hot stove, his time to dance is dun cum. An he's gwinter dance whor he wants to or not. Jest keep on lack youse gwin, and when de debble gits dat griddle red-hot an shuves you out on hit, you wont need nobody to teach you how to dance. Bless your heart, your time has dum cum to dance; an you won't want nobody to hug you up; you'll be hot enuf widout hugin.

I mus close now. Lissen to dis poem:

De dancin church member goes to de ball;
An he takes her round de middle.
An dar da goes proncin roun to de music ob de fiddle.

Da dance an dance, til da air all tired out;
An don't go home til seben;
Den she's sound asleep when de church bell rings fur leben.

Effen youse had worked all nite
Saddy nite,
One soul to pull away;
Den you could sleep so sweet all day Sunday.

May each dancin church member ask,
Will my Lord be at de ball tonite.
An effen da deside dat he wont, da will know it isn't rite.

Now, less stan an be dismis.

Isabella F. F. A. History

I shall endeavor to give you a bit of history of our F. F. A. chapter and some of the things it has accomplished since its origin. The many things the chapter has done would be numerous to mention and since I am not capable of getting these facts together, I will attempt to give you only a few of the outstanding accomplishments.

Four years ago the Agriculture boys of Isabella started their struggle for an active F. F. A. chapter. The entire organization was new and only the boys of the advanced class became interested in its purpose and principles. A chapter was begun by electing officers and enrolling charter members, and our present chapter is the result of the work these few boys did. The chapter did not at first thrive in accordance with the spirit of our present work, but it was not capable of advancement under its system of leadership. The state did not hold a charter and nothing was obtained outside the local chapter. Under these handicaps the boys struggled along with their new-born organization, trying to arouse interest among the school boys and carry out the plans they had made. As time passed by the work became almost discouraging, and when school closed the F. F. A. work was forgotten.

Upon the opening of the following school term, F. F. A. work was begun with a bang. The state had obtained a charter and for the first time the local chapters were in a position to succeed. Isabella was represented at the first state meeting and we were fortunate in having one of the state officers here in our chapter. The local boys elected officers and immediately drew up plans for educational programs and school improvement. Several new members were initiated and a charter was obtained for the chapter.

The school improvement program was begun by the installation of an electric water system in the building. Following F. F. A. plans the school obtained necessary material and soon the boys had the system in readiness with an electric pump in a neighboring well to supply water.

Next, the chapter turned its thoughts to the beautification of the school grounds. Level ground was known to be essential to a good campus, and since the building is located on a slope, it was necessary to employ some method of grading down the slope so it would be suitable for a lawn. In order to support the embankment, the lattice in front of the building was replaced by a brick wall, and excavating was done until the ground immediately in front of the building was almost level. The next step was to plant grass and shrubbery on the lawn, and around the building. Bermuda grass was transplanted on the lawn and grounds and with the help of the Farm Bureau, shrubbery was obtained at a reduced price. With the assistance of a landscape specialist from Auburn, shrubbery was set as a border around the main building and radiating out to the Agricultural Building.

During the second year the chapter also sponsored a campaign for new members. Entertainments were given and the Agriculture boys were invited to them. The value of the organization in education and social life was impressed on the boys and good was the results of these efforts.

At the close of the second year it was evident that our F. F. A. chapter was on the road to success. A delegation was sent to the state convention and again we were fortunate in being represented on the executive committee of the state.

The third year was probably the greatest in the chapter's history. The boys had taken a keen interest in the work and everything was in harmony with the F. F. A. spirit. A committee of live wire officers were elected and plans for the year were drawn up. The boys decided that they must cooperate with the home economics department, and immediately entered into this work. One of the first problems solved for the home economic girls was the provision for unit kitchens. These unit kitchens were necessary to carry on the different lines of work. By use of pipe and pipe fittings the boys divided the department into separate units.

The Bermuda grass which had been planted the previous year had been seriously damaged by the drouth and some temporary substitute was needed until the Bermuda could obtain a new growth. It was decided to use Italian rye grass and when these seeds were sown and fertilized, we had a smooth, green lawn throughout the year.

The importance of cooperation between parents and children became evident and plans were discussed to show our parents the details of the work we were carrying on. It was decided to sponsor a father and son banquet. Realizing the equal importance of parental approval to the home ecenomic club girls and since it would help the two organizations to work in harmony, it was decided to sponsod the banquet jointly with the home economics girls. Preparations were made and approximately one hundred and sixty persons attended. The program was outlined to give our parents a better understanding of our work and an evening of enjoyable entertainment.

This year the chapter's work has been centered on school improvement. A number of tables have been constructed for the primary department and the study hall. A considerable sum was saved on this project. In the primary department alone, a total of ten tables were constructed at an approximate cost of two dollars each, whereas, had they have been purchased from a manufacturer, they would have cost ten dollars each.

Our membership has grown until it stands with the state average and we hope to soon have the agriculture department one hundred per cent F. F. A. Most of our boys hold the Future Farmer's Degree. Three are state farmers and one of our associate members holds the degree of National Farmer.

Our work at present is handicapped by the depression, but our hopes are running high and we are determined to make our chapter outstanding in its accomplishments.—S. L. Broadhead, Reporter.

MANY PEOPLE VISIT THE STEAMSHIP, CONSTITUTION

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 25.—The visit of the U. S. S. Constitution to Mobile January 11-18 proved to be remarkable in many respects. Every record heretofore established for attendance was broken at Mobile. The attendance for the first day in port was 19,360 which exceeded the first day's attendance at any port visited since the cruise of the Constitution began in 1931. Attendance for a week day was exceeded on Thursday when 22,109 people visited the ship. The greatest attendance that had been previously recorded on any one day was 23,743 while the Constitution was in Philadelphia. On Saturday 25,397 people visited the ship in Mobile, breaking all previous attendance records. The total attendance for the six days that the Constitution was in port was 119,722.

It was significant that approximately 50,000 more people than the population of Mobile visited the ship. People came to Mobile from as far away as Tennessee. The five railroads entering Mobile brought in approximately 8,000 visitors alone. Many thousands came by automobile, truck and bus.

Restaurants and other firms in Mobile were obliged to put on extra help to handle customers during the week. One business that also profited greatly by the large number of visitors was the banana man. While the people were in line waiting for their turn to visit the ship, many of them amused themselves by eating bananas which were on sale at the dock.

A statement by Dr. Cole, President of the Chamber of Commerce, with reference to the visit of the Constitution to Mobile follows:

"The eventful stay of the Frigate Constitution is ended. Those of you who had the good fortune to board the historic old vessel shared in the making of history. All of us are better citizens because of the patriotic lessons that every gun, every spar, every sail seems to speak as one walks about the decks.

"Every attendance record was broken—a distict honor to Mobile and a fitting tribute to the ship. We can justly take pride in the showing.

"Perhaps even a greater record was established when 120,000 people were handled without a mishap or a disturbance of any kind. Lieutenant LeGear and his policemen, Scout Seeger and his Scouts, and the fire company were always on duty and are in a large measure responsible for this record. The visitors themselves readily cooperated in every respect. It is interesting that officers of the ship report that nothing was removed from the ship and that there was no attempt at vandalism.

"It is estimated that 60,000 people from Mississippi, Tennessee and Alabama came to Mobile during the ship's six day visit. Mobile is pleased indeed that they were among us and joined with us in paying tribute to the world's most famous man-o-war.

"To the Constitution we say farewell—most of us will never see her again. To the thousands of school children who saw the results of their pennies that were contributed, may I invite you to come again. It is now history. 'Old Ironsides,' with her silent guns today teaches reverence and respect for our flag just as she did when she sailed the seas in all her glory."

REYNOLDS URGES POLL TAX PAYING

Voters Are Warned To Get Ready For Election This Year

Editor Union-Banner:

I ask permission to call attention to the voters of Chilton County through your paper as very few have paid poll tax up to this date. It looks like from the records now that there will be over a thousand men and women that cannot vote this year on account of not paying their poll tax.

Voters, I appeal to you to make every effort possible to pay your poll tax on or before February 1st, and if you are due a poll tax and do not pay it by this time remember that you cannot vote this year.

I would call your attention to the fact that you will have federal, state and county officers to elect this year. You will have two primary elections, one in May and one in June, and the general election in November. Then I am sure we will have another election trying to put more burdens and taxes on the people of this state and many of you who do not pay your poll tax will be very much disappointed before this year closes. I believe it is one of the most important political years in our history, and voters will get more for the poll tax they pay this year than they have in any years past.

I want to urge people who have work to do to give a job to those who have no money to pay their poll tax so they can pay the same.

Just a word to the women voters of our county. Hundreds of them left their poll tax off last year, and unless they pay their poll tax better in the future than they have in the past it won't be long until we will have only a few women voers in our county.

In closing I appeal to all who are due a poll tax in our county to make the effort of their life to pay the same on or before February 1st.

The people of this State are burdened with taxes as they have never been before and the law makes it possible for the poor man's tax to be raised by several parties after he assesses it, but it gives one man the power to assess over 242 millions of property and makes no provision for any court or any other official to review his acts.

I have said to you people of this county for over twenty-five years that we were gradually drifting away from local self-government and that every time the legislature adjourns we can truhfully say that we have lost more of our liberties and centralized government is made stronger.

Remember what I say, many of you who do not pay your poll tax will regret it before this year is over and if you do not prepare yourself to vote you cannot complain at additional burdens that will be placed upon you.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Those joining the Methodist church last Sunday on profession are Clinton Arnold, Frances Popwell, James Arnold, Eloise Burdette, Dorothy Arnold and Lamerle Deloach. We were glad to welcome these into the fellowship of our church.

Next Sunday we have a full day and an interesting program. Sunday school at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m., by the pastor. Do not leave your place vacant. No one can fill it but you. At the Sunday school hour Rev. E. C. Evans will give his last address before the Men's Bible Class. He has recently been promoted to the position of State manager of the Woodmen of the World in Kentucky. His going grieves us, but we rejoice in his promotion.

Sunday night at seven o'clock Dr. N. B. McLeod will preach for us, and after the service he will hold our first quarterly conference. We urge that the membership of the church see to it the stewards have a good report.

And when the little boy overheard his teacher say that there had been a collision, he asked her the meaning of "collision."

"A collision," she said, "is when two things come together unexpectedly. Now, can you give me an example of collision?"

"Sure," said the little brat, "twins."—Sylacauga Advance.

Sing At Courthouse Fifth Sunday P. M.

Beginning at 1:00 o'clock, there will be singing next Sunday afternoon at the courthouse. The new books will be used. All the societies of the county are expected to join in this singing, if there are no arrangements to go elsewhere.

The above agreement and announcement was made at the meeting of the Central Society at Friendship last Sunday afternoon. All singers are asked to bear this in mind and bring your 1932 books to the courthouse next Sunday afternon. Singing will begin at 1:00 o'clock and continue for about three hours. Don't be late.

A good singing was held at Friendship last Sunday afternoon, despite the very disagreeable weather. The crowd might have been larger, but the singing could not have been improved on much.

The next regular meeting of the society will be at Coopers the first Sunday in February.

INDIAN GRAVE

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Billingsley gave a surprise party last Thursday night. Everyone reported a nice time.

Mr. Lee Moore's wife is in the Selma Hospital. We are all sorry to hear of her illness, but hope she will soon recover.

Misses Lorreen and Josephine Billingsley spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Velma Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Hulet Lee announce the arrival of an 8-pound baby girl at their home January 20.

Mrs. Offie Wilkins and two daughters spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Velma Lee.

Mr. Horace Lee spent Sunday afternoon with his brother, Mr. H. T. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Green announce the arrival of a baby boy on January 21, whom they call Marion Wendell.

Our Sunday school number was smaller Sunday than usual. Everyone must come next Sunday.

MRS. J. W. KICKER IS IN BIRMINGHAM HOSPITAL

Information received by The Union-Banner from Mr. Croell N. Kicker, of Birmingham, says that his mother, Mrs. J. W. (Luna) Kicker, is in the Baptist Hospital at Birmingham.

It is stated that Mrs. Kicker fell and broke her hip while she was visiting with relatives at Faunsdale, Alabama.

Mrs. Kicker is an old resident of Chilton County. She has many friends around Clanton who will learn of her unfortunate accident with sincere regret. We hope she may soon recover.

If any of the friends of Mrs. Kicker happen to be in Birmingham, we are sure she would appreciate a visit. Or if anyone would send her a letter, she would surely be comforted by that.

Miss Mary Louise Pack, teacher in the Clanton Grammar School, went to Demopolis Wednesday to attend the funeral of her grandmother, who died Tuesday in Birmingham.

BAKER SCHOOL NEWS

A number of our pupils attended Sunday school at different places Sunday.

Quite a number of people from our community attended the funeral of Whittle Griffin Monday at Marbury.

We are very sorry to lose one of our pupils, Willard Whalan, who has moved to Tuscaloosa.

Our principal, Mr. J. M. Parrish, made a trip to Birmingham Sunday on account of the illness of a friend, Mrs. Durbin. We hope her a speedy recovery.

We have started beautifying our campus. We hope to finish it this week if the weather is suitable.

The Baker boys went to Enterprise Friday and played a very interesting game of basket ball. The score was 28 to 6 in favor of Enterprise. There will be a game played with Concord on our court Friday at 3:00 o'clock. We are expecting a very interesting game. Everyone is invited to come.

We are very glad to have some new pupils in school, Margaret Maddox in the Jr. II Class, from Tallassee, and Elsie Maddox in the third grade.

Miss Clara Roper from Florida and Miss Myrtle Ward visited us Monday afternoon. We hope they will come to see us again soon.

The Parent-Teachers Association is making a silk quilt for the school. The chances will be sold for ten cents each.

Our hen drive was very successful. We collected thirty hens and three dolalrs and fifty cents in all. We received twenty-one dollars and ninety-eight cents. We thank every one who gave a hen or money

CECIL KRISTAL IN CLANTON

One of the outstanding events of the past week was the dance given Wednesday night in Clanton, at Maddox Hall. There was much gaiety, and an enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Cecil Kristal and his orchestra of radio and stage popularity furnished the music. Featured with the orchestra was little Mae Parish Singletary, who is only six years old and a very versatile little dancer and singer.

FISHING IS GOOD, SAYS NEWT

Newt Wyatt, of Beat 16, writes a letter to The Union-Banner, in which he says:

"Times are still hard, but us folks down on the river are still getting along the best we can. But times do not get too hard nor the weather too cold for Tom Powell to catch crappies. Tom and his wife went fishing last Saturday afternoon. In a few minutes they caught 21.

"Sunday Tom and his wife carried me and my wife about ten miles the other side of Tallassee to see my daughter. We brought her and her baby back home with us.

"We had some mighty muddy roads to travel, but we made the trip all right. We traveled 152 miles there and back in spite of the mud."

Criminals Fear Him

A steady progress in the battle against crime in Detroit is shown by reports just issued. During six months, the prosecutor's office handled 1,294 major crime cases, obtaining 847 convictions, an average of 73.9 per cent, and the best record in the past five years. The credit for this high percentage of convictions goes largely to Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, (above), whose untiring campaign against crime has made him feared by underworld characters in the Middle West.

TEACHERS GET PAY CHECKS

Checks were sent out to teachers of the county Tuesday by Superintendent Lawrence, in payment for teaching services represented by the payroll for the month of November. The amount of the payments represented by the checks sent out Tuesday was about $14,000.00. This will help the cause considerably. The checks for October payroll went out only a few weeks ago.

The tenderfoot in the Western town asked for coffee and rolls at the lunch counter. He was served by the waitress, and there was no saucer for the cup.

"What about the saucer?" he asked.

The girl explained:

CONCORD SCHOOL NEWS

Last Wednesday afternoon Concord "Independents played Thomas's "Independents" on the latter's court and carried home a victory, 20 to 6.

Chester Wyatt and Bice made highest points for Concord, Baker next highest, followed by Howard Wyatt. Easterling hasn't forgotten how to guard, as was displayed in this game.

George Wilson was the leader of high points for Thomas, followed by Kelly. Lansford, Thornton and Wilson were always on the dot, making the game more interesting.

Last Friday afternoon Union Grove school team and "Independents" came down and played a double-header with Concord school team and "Independents," respectively.

Union Grove school team ended the game with a score of 23 to 3 in their favor. The Concord boys did some splendid playing and we are proud of them.

The Concord Independents stepped in and ended the game with a score of 12 and 5 in their favor Both teams did some fine playing, which made the games more interesting.

On next Friday afternoon, January 29, Concord plays Baker on the latter's court. Let's be loyal to our team and go see the game.

A small boy, leading a donkey, passed by an army camp. A couple of soldiers wanted to have some fun with the lad.

Farmers Meeting At Prattville January 29

Chilton Farmers Invited To Attend Gathering In Autauga County

A mass meeting of farmers will be held at Prattville on Friday, January 29th, begining at 9:30 a. m. The outlook for 1932 will be the main topic of consideration, and there will be various demonstrations of great value and interest to farmers generally.

There will be interesting speakers with charts illustrating something of the world production and carry-over of crops, and the things to do during low price periods.

Dinner will be served to all white farmes and their families. This is a favor that will be extended to all visitors by the merchants of Prattville.

After diner there will be a spectacular demonstration showing how forty stumps can be removed from a field at one lick. It will be accomplished by blasting. Other demonstrations will include terracing, spraying fruit trees, and other processes in strawberry culture.

Prattville invites everybody to come. A special invitation is extended to the farmers in the southern part of Chilton ounty, with the assurance that every farmer who attends will receive a cordial welcome from the people of Prattville, and some instructions that will be beneficial.

Mr. Latham was a well-known and prominent citizen of the Lawley community.

Farmers Attention!

At the beginning of the planting season we wish to impress upon you the Prime Importance of Good Seeds.

If the millions of dollars that are being spent by the government and the different states for the betterment of agriculture are not to be spent in vain, the Farmers of the South must learn the most important lesson that is sought to be taught. Good Seed is the first Requisite to a good crop. The difference in the price of high grade seed and that of poor quality is too small to induce any one to take so great a risk.

We handle nothing but very best grade of Bulk Garden and Field Seeds, and have most any variety used by the practical farmer. We make a close study of the seed business and are prepared to give you the very best of service.

COUCH AND JONES ON CREDIT BOARD

Texas Democratic Chief And Arkansas Power Magnate Chosen; Cash To Flow Soon

Washington, Jan. 25.—Two southerners were named Monday to the board that will direct a two billion dollar injection to quicken the pulse of business.

Harvey C. Couch, of Arkansas, and Jesse H. Jones, of Texas, were appointed by President Hoover as two of the three Democratic directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The third man probably will be named in a very short time.

Quick confirmation of the nominations is expected of the senate, along with that of Charles Gates Dawes—named to be president of the corporation.

The senate later Monday passed the bill appropriating $500,000,000 for the reconstruction corporation, and sent it back to the house for action on a minor amendment.

The other directors are Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board; Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner, and Secretary Mellon.

The law provides that either the secretary or the undersecretary of the treasury will be an ex-officio director. Secretary Mellon may designate Undersecretary Mills to serve in his place, but no decision has been announced.

Couch, a prominent financier residing in Pine Bluff, is well known in the capital through his connectoin with various industrial and other activities.

Very Active At Houston

Jones was especially active in connection with the last Democratic national convention held in his home city—Houston.

The recommendations of Democratic congressional leaders had a large part in guiding the selection. Speaker Garner is a Texan and Senator Robinson, a party floor leader, hails from Arkansas.

FOR SOUND SLEEP

The importance of restful sleep is pointed out by Miss Sally Carter in The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist in a recent issue, with these suggestions:

"Sleep eight or nine hours each night, with windows open. If you don't sleep well find out the reason and remedy it. Maybe it's the mattress—or carrying your troubles to bed instead of hanging them on the bedpost—or eating too heavy a supper. Or maybe it's because you haven't trained your baby in correct sleeping habits. If it's just nervousness, a glass of warm milk before you retire may induce sleep."

FORESTS AID FARMING

The forest resources adjacent to the farm are drawn on more heavily in the winter months than at any other season of the year. At this time fuel wood is the most important time, although other products needed around the farm are cut, such as fence posts and rails, timbers for house or barn, or logs to be carried to the neighborhood sawmill to be converted into lumber for farm buildings and general construction purposes. The cutting of fuel wood can be made of great benefit to the woods by confining it to an improvement cutting.

The usual practice of the landowner is to allow the tenant to cut fuel wood regardless of species or size. As a result, the best and most rapidly growing species six to eight inches in diameter breast high are cut because they are easily handled, and the crooked, deformed, slow growing trees allowed to remain. A policy of this kind reduces the productivity of the wooded area to from one-half to two-thirds of what it should actually grow. In place of this the tenants should be allowed to cut oply the inferior, suppressed and less valuable species for fuel, and the straight rapid growing species should be permitted to grow to merchantable size. In some instances it is advisable to supply the tenants with a crosscut saw, since some defective trees may be too large to fell with an ax. The tenants should be admonished to cut low stumps and be careful of the young timber when felling the large defective trees. Otherwise excessive breakage of the residual timber stand may defeat the object of the cutting.

TREES ALTER LANDSCAPE MAKING STABLE HILLS OF DUNES

Trees make shifting hills of sand stand still. Plants turn likes into solid land.

How these and other works of creation are brought about by the plant life of forests and meadows was told to the radio audience of the Columbia Broadcasting System by Prof. H. C. Cowles, head of the botany department of the University of Chicago, in a brief talk broadcast under the auspices of Science Service.

The work of vegetation in turning wandering sand dunes into anchored hills was outlined in rapid summary by Prof. Cowles:

"The sand dunes of our lake and ocean shores are among the most dynamic of landscapes, even on a single windy day a dune may change its place and form considerably. One of the most interesting cases of the struggle for existence is to be seen in the dunes, where some of our hardiest plants have a bitter fight for life against the sand. Trees like the cottonwood, shrubs like the willow and sand cherry, and grasses like the sand reeds are most successful here, their victory being due to the fact that these plants are able to send out roots from their shoots if buried, or shoots from their roots if unburied.

Eventually these plants may become abundant enough to cover the dune and prevent its further movement, whereupon a host of plant species may start on the stabilized sand, representing a second stage in dune plant succession. In this second stage there may be a juniper, pine, and other plants, varying with the climate and geographic location. These first plants of the stabilized dune are those that require sunlight and can endure dry soil and high evaporation.

"As the pines and other trees of this stage grow in size, they cast more and more shade, which in time tends to cause the soil to become more moist and more suitable for shade plants and more and more unsuitable for pines—so, a situation arises where hardwoods such as oaks germinate in the shade of the light requiring pines. Thus hardwoods follow pines in natural succession.

"Similarly, in many places the oaks may be succeeded by the still more shade tolerant beech and maple. Since beech and maple seedlings are tolerant of the shade cast by the parent trees, they may develop in such shade without difficulty and thus carry on the same type of forest that existed there before. Beech and maple forests, therefore, may perpetuate themselves almost indefinitely. For this reason such a forest is termed a climax forest.—Science News Letter.

MADE FIFTY DOLLARS SINCE CHRISTMAS HAULING WOOD—

Times are hard, it is true, but we have entirely too much griping and complaining, grunting and trying to borrow money. Listen to this story related by a farmer who lives within four miles of Clanton. "How much would you guess I have made hauling wood since Christmas?" Soon he answered his own question by saying "I have made over fifty dollars since Christmas hauling stove wood and fire wood, and I used most of it to pay my debts with."

Now, this is a good example for lots of people we know. Instead of really getting down to work, some people spend all their time trying to borrow money, whenever they are already head over heels in debt. If they would quit playing on the mercies of other people and really get down to honest work like this farmer has since Christmas, everybody would be better off. Even in good times poor people have to work to get by, and when times are tight like they are now, they even have to work the more.

The trouble with lots of people they are just simply lazy. They had rather borrow from a friend and let that friend sweat for his money back than to do a little real hard work. If a person wants to get through bad enough and is willing to put out, there will be some way for him.

PUT TAXATION ON GREAT WEALTH—

Our appalling national deficit will make it imperative for the new Congress to increase national revenues in some way, says Dr. Clarence Poe, in the last issue of The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist, who urges increased inheritance taxes and higher taxes on large incomes.

"The present tariff is not a tariff to raise revenue. On the other hand, it purposely refrains from raising as much revenue as it might—refraining in order to keep foreign-made goods out of America. Yet the appalling national deficit makes it necessary to get greatly increased national revenue from some source. How can it be done? A general sales tax has been suggested but should never be adopted. A tax on luxuries is infinitely preferable and will probably be decided upon. Higher income taxes may be adopted, and higher inheritance taxes certainly should be. No state now can successfully tax the more expensive luxuries, such as Rolls-Royce cars, fur coats, expensive jewelry, etc., because a citizen will go across the state line to buy them. Neither can any state levy inheritance taxes much heavier than those levied by other states. If it does, the very rich man will take out a 'legal residence' in another state. But Congress, through a nation-wide plan can greatly increase taxes on both luxuries and inheritances.

"One of our Southern states was almost startled the other day when one of its most eminent attorneys declared in favor of (1) income taxes that will take up to one-half of incomes amounting to $1,000,000 or more and (2) inheritance taxes that will take up to one-fourth of every inheritance of $1,000,000 or more.

"'You call this radical?' he said. 'My answer is that it is better than revolution.' And those of us who wish to preserve the competitive system instead of having it give way to communism—we might as well realize that a fairer distribution of wealth, including much heavier taxation to reduce 'swollen fortunes' as President Roosevelt called them, is the surest safeguard against revolution."

LET'S NOT BLAME COTTON—

Cotton, rightly handled, is one of the best money crops on earth, says the current issue of The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist; which says:

"It is the South's abuse of cotton and not our proper use of cotton that has brought us where we are. We ought to use cotton by making it play its proper part in a general farming system designed to support us—the sort of farming system set forth in our 'Progressive Farmer-Ruralist Platform,' as follows:

" 'Full gardens, corncribs, smokehouses, and feed barns to insure a good living at home.

" 'Plus at least two money crops, and, an important cash income from cows, hogs, or hens.'

"You can make a useful horse into a useless horse by piling on his back such a tremendous load that he can't stand up under it and so has to lie down and do nothing.

"That's what we have done in the case of the South's great money crop. But let's blame ourselves and not cotton. We can make cotton extremely useful if we change from 'one-armed farming' with its dependence on crops alone to 'two-armed farming' which properly combines animal production and plant production. For cotton can then furnish us both an invaluable money crop from its lint and an invaluable feed crop for livestock from its seed.

"The abuse of cotton has tremendously hurt us. The right use of cotton will tremendously help us."

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

Friends of the administration in congressonial circles at Washington are apparently authority for the report that the administration has put aside international problems for the time being at least, and is to devote its attention exclusively to American problems. With this idea ninety-eight per cent of the people of the United States will be in hearty approval. The statement given out recently that the United States has not been invited to attend the Lausanne meeting on German reparations, and will not send any American observer, also meets with general approval. It is true, of course, that Uncle Sam will participate in the disarmament conference at Geneva, but this is a matter unto itself and one which vitally interests all the nations of the world. Even in respect to this conference, however, there is not much optimism on this side of the Atlantic that tnything can be accomplished, and there is said to be even more pessimism in Europe than in America on the subject.

But that Uncle Sam should tackle his own domestic problems first, is a statement that will meet with little dispute here. There are a great many things to be done. Congress, of course, at this time, is showing surprising efficiency and is confounding the critics who predicted that the opening of Congress would bring on another hopeless muddle. The new finance corporation bill bids fair to become a law within the very near future and there seems to be good grounds for predicting that the entire administration non-political program for alleviating the depression, so far as possible, will be enacted with a minimum of political friction. The question of taxation is as usual a bothersome one, but it is becoming more generally realized that confidence and prosperity cannot return until Uncle Sam balances the budget, and this can only be done through higher taxes and lower public expenditures. When the budget is finally balanced we will be fairly started on the road toward stability again.

In the meantime it is well that Cangress is not being bothered with international questions, such as adherence to the World Court, debt cancellation and so on. So far as the reparations conference is concerned, Uncle Sam has little to do with this and the administration has properly recognized this fact by deciding not to send an American representative to Lausanne.

Uncle Sam demanded no reparations, either in cash or territory from Germany. The Allies have already received billions in the way of cash and real estate. Uncle Sam furthermore agreed to forego an amount equalling the debts contracted by the Allies before the armistice was signed, and sees no reason why he should not be paid for debts contracted after the signing of the armistice. The question of ability to pay might properly come up, but this can be taken into consideration after Europe has put its own house in order. Certainly it cannot be reasonably maintained that France, with its hoard of gold and its great expenditures on war preparations is not able to keep up its payments to the United States, and the claims of other countries which owe us money will be carefully looked into.

An ingenious idea has originated in France. It provides for a moratorium on Germany's conditional payments and a moratorium on the Allies' payments to us. Germany would pay the unconditional payments in railroad bonds and part of these might be turned over to the United States as partial recompense. Tht administration is said to be cool to this proposal and properly so. Uncle Sam already has enough unassimilated European bonds and more might give him an acute attack of indigestion. Besides this scheme would only tie us up with German reparations, something with which we want nothing to do.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

An evangelist came to town for a two weeks meeting. Along with him he brought two hundred new song books. They were just off the press, and were clean and new. When the meeting was over, and the books were gathered for shipment, many of them were literally ruined because of abuse and a free use of pencils. It seems that some people have a mania to handle anything rough that belongs to the public. The books mentioned were private property, and they should have been treated as such. Can you tell me why it is that some folks will abuse things that are handed out for use? Suppose that you make a visit to all the churches in your county and see how the books are kept. They show signs of being rolled, and gnawed, of being torn and scribbled upon, of being used at foot mats and ball material. My heart bleeds when I see the disrespect that some people have for song books and public property in general. No one has any more right to go into a church and "handle rough" the books and property there, than they have to go into my library and destroy my books.

Many years ago a boy of ten years of age was coming from school and he became angry with his older brother, and he took his school books and threw them at his brother with all the force in his body. The report of that fit of anger came to the boy's father. The father was silent for a few moments and then he said: "Henry, I am not going to whip you for getting mad, but I am going to whip you for throwing your school books." I have thought of that occurrance many, many times. Most any boy is likely to get mad. That is a part of a boy's life but that father was wise enough to put the punishment where it belonged. The lad allowed his temper to so master him that he was willing to surrender to damage being done. He damaged his books, he tried to damage his brother, and there was where he should have been punished. That was a great lesson in self control. Just to be honest, the most of us get mad still. Have we mastered ourselves to the point where no damage comes from our fits of anger? Paul said: "Be angry and sin not."

There are only two kinds of people who talk too much. They are not white people, and colored people. They are not rich people and poor people. They are not Christian people and wicked people. They are not educated people and uneducated people. They are not the people who live on First Street and on the back street. They are males and females.

The housewife called the preacher from his study, and presented him to a large collection of flower pots. It was her honest opinion that the flowers needed to be repotted and that the task was big enough for the man of the house. He "shucked" his coat and rolled up his leeves, and went to his task to live and learn. The ferns had turned yellow, and it was not surprising when the pots were emptied. Those ferns were pot bound. The roots were a mass of tangles and matted and crushed fibers. There was no life and could be none. The dead roots were cut away from the plants, and then there was a division of plants. These were placed in larger pots, and soon they were shooting out new sprigs of green. They were pot bound, and there could be no growth. I know a lot of folks who stay at home so close on the Sabbath that they are "pot bound" in their religious life. Their experience has faded, and there is a general state of dry rot in the soul. It is high time that these "stay at home" people be stirred and placed into new soil. Friends, go to your church and feed your soul on new soil and let it grow.

By the roadside I saw a large barrel of tar. The barrel was not to be admired because of its beauty, and there was no charm in the tar that it contained. It was an unsigtly thing sitting there for the eyes of the traveling public. Doubtless some who passed by were amazed at its presence, and thought how worthless it was. But, in that barrel there were five thousand different colors of dyes. In it were all the perfumes that delight our smell. Besides all that, there was aspirin galore in that barrel. There was much quinine in that tar. The man of science knew that the old rugged barrel of tar did not look so well, but it was charged full of things. You may see a host of people along the road of life who are as lacking in attraction as a tar barrel, but do not forget that in them there may be hid a thousand things that will help and bless the world. Some of the most unsightly tar barrels along the way of life, may contain some of the most beautiful things that man ever beheld.

The lady was busy talking to her pastor, and all the time she had her fingers running through the leaves of a new book. Often she would threaten to turn the leaves, but she never did. She had a new book and it was full of new leaves, but she never turned them. Many people do nothing but finger at new resolutions. They have in their minds to turn over a new leaf but they never do it. You said that you were going to turn over a new leaf the first day of this year, but you know that you have not done it. Why delay to turn over the new leaf?

The Japs would a lot rather stay in Manchuria and hunt bandits than to go home and hunt prosperity.

We don't know just what is going to happen at the coming reparations conference in Lausanne but we know one thing, which is that it is going to cost Uncle Sam some money.

UNCLE SAM GETS BREAK

Sometimes Uncle Sam gets a break. He doesn't have to make good to people whose net incomes are minus.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

One example of modern American financial statesmanship is found in the fact that we tax the railroads to build cement highways which the trucks may use free to put the railroads out of business.

It is said that even the hoarders shun the $2 bill as unlucky. But in spite of the superstition we would be willing to take a chance on a million of them.

If Uncle Sam should go off the gold standard, what would become of all the gold niggers?

But after you go to Europe to learn to bow from the waist, what good does it do you unless you can get a job as a movie usher?—Ashton Daily Independent.

Well, here it is 1932, and it seems only a short time since the election year 1928. But we've all got to admit that a lot of things have happened since then—and a lot have failed to happen.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—Overlooks None.

Who Must Pay The Bills?—I think the world must have come to consider the United States as some kind of Santa Claus, or something, the way they talk when money matters are mentioned. Somebody says the world is going broke unless we lend the several countries money enough to put them on their feet so that they may buy our cotton and other products. That seems like a raw deal for American taxpayers. If we must lend the money to these foreign countries with which they buy our products, why not keep the money here, while we have it, and lend it to the producers. That would be a policy of looking out for our own interests first, which, I think, is the best policy after all.

Economy?—I think a lot of those fellows who were so "het up" over Gov. B. M. Miller's "Save millions with Miller" policy during the last Governor's race have just about come to the conclusion that the kerosene lamp economy idea isn't so hot, after all. They can't seem to see the difference in abolishing a lot of offices which were parts of the old system, and setting up a new lot, when it takes more money to run the new lot. In short, I believe Mr. Miller has soured on somebody's stomach.

Traffic Violations—When the traffic light was installed a few weeks ago, an elaborate set of traffic rules and regulations were set forth for general observation. I notice that, for most part, these have been closely observed. But there is one practice which should be stopped, and that is where trucks stop on the street for local deliveries. At first, these trucks—bread trucks, produce trucks, etc., parked against the curb like everybody else was compelled to do—later, they began to just pull in toward the curb—but now, if you will notice any morning, they brazenly stop in the street without making the least pretense at parking. As a result, wherever one of these big trucks stop, the traffic becomes jammed. Why not make these big fellows take the curb like any other car is called on to do. If their trucks are too big to park, we don't need them taking up valuable space, any way. Let everyone be governed by the same set of rules, with special favors to none.

Hands Off—Some time ago, when those negroes were sentenced to sit in the hot chair at Kilby prison, for the attack on the white girls near Scottsboro, a howl went up which reached all the way across the big pond, and letters of condemnation were received from all over the world. All kinds of societies and "cliques" asked for everything from a complete reversal of the court's decision on down to a mere reconsideration of the case. All sorts of big lawyers were hired by many of these societies, unions, "red" clubs, and what not, and elaborate preparations were made to carry the case to the higher courts. But when the big guns of the legal profession got here, right here on the ground, and found out just how the people felt about people butting in on our local affairs, they began hunting loop-holes to back out through. Mr. Darrow, the big shot from "up Nawth," decided he couldn't work with the other lawyers, and pulled out. Lots of other lawyers took Mr. Darrow's lead and did likewise. Chances are that, if the people so interested in these "poor downtrodden men of a downtrodden race" had used less MUST and more PLEASE in their communications they might have come nearer to getting what they wanted. Some of these days folks will learn that "you can lead people into things that you can't drive them into."

What About The Candidates?—I have been expecting to see a committee meeting called for several weeks, but, as yet, nothing of the kind has happened. I wonder what's the matter. In the past, when the primaries were this close by things were always warming up considerably. Of course, we can't look for the candidates to announce before somebody sets out the when and wherefore for such action, but, so far, I've heard only a few rumors from candidates—nothing to be sure of at all. Remember, May is close by. We crave action.

Paid Your Poll Tax?—Have you paid your poll tax yet? If not, it's about time you were calling by Mr. Culp's office and locking after this important matter. Remember, next Monday, February 1, is the last day of grace—and, of course you'll want to pay up, as this is election year. If you are behind with your poll tax, why not let this be the time to pay up all your "left overs" and then keep a clean slate in the future? The schools need the money and you need to take a hand in electing our officers, so let's make this a clean-up year. AND THEN STAY PAID UP!

Glimpses—A marble game—but I've been warned not to mention the players. Two by two—you've heard that old song—Dan Cupid has been busy lately. Somebody with another string of fish—I'd like to know when the fishing season closes. Mr. Peterson, of Jemison, passes—appears to be in a hurry. There's a man who says he wants to pay a bill—will wonders never cease? Jack Hayes flashes by—out for a partridge hunt, I suppose. All the county commissioners getting their heads together over something—hope they succeed in GETTING TOGETHER—that would be REAL NEWS. Watch that guy burning 'em up coming down the highway—too bad, the red light hit him in the eye—he's gotta stop—now that IS bad. Somebody spittin' blood—been to a fight or a dentist, I guess. That red-bird just won't hush—I'm going home and plant my corn, even if it IS too early.—Man in the Moon.

Without Water—For A While

Last Saturday afternoon Clanton was without water for several hours. The little experience, not so pleasant, took us back for a while to the days before our public water system was installed. But it was even worse than it used to be. Now we have to depend altogether upon the municipal water supply, and there is scarcely a well in reach to which we can go and get a bucket full for emergency. Before we put in the water system, there were plenty of wells everywhere. The trouble was caused last Saturday by an automobile knocking down one of the fire hydrants. The whole water system had to be disconnected from the tank while workmen made temporary repairs.

Can Have Hash Now

Dief says he will be able to serve hash to his cafe customers in a few days. His new place has been open about three weeks. He says a cafe has to be open a month in order to accumulate enough of the varied and sundry kinds of ingredients that go to the making of good hash. Of course you will recognize that as one of the funny little jokes which Dief is accustomed to get off now and then. He says really his cafe business is going along fine, and it looks like he will get rich in spite of all he can do, considering his filling station and cafe business together.

Sole Owner of My Name

I asked Hance Alred about the deal in which it was rumored that he had bought out the interest of Dr. Neighbors in the Alred Drug Company. "Yes," he said, "that is true, and I am now sole owner of my name, with apologies to Clarence Saunders." Mr. Alred was in the organization of the Alred Drug Company, which began business on October 15, 1909. He has been connected with it constantly since that time, and "The Home of Quality" has been doing business at the same old stand ever since.

Departure of "Coos" Neighbors

It will take some time for us folks in Clanton to get ourselves adjusted to the departure of "Coos" Neighbors from our active business circle. He has been one of us and one among us for many years. He came here as a young man just launching out in the business world. He married later and brought his wife here. They reared their family here, and there are strong ties that bind their hearts in love and friendship with many of our people. There will be universal and widespread regret that they are to pull up stakes and depart to other scenes.

Mell Martin's Birthday

I had the pleasure last Saturday night of looking in upon the birthday party of Mell Martin, the undertaker. It was a surprise affair which Mrs. Martin had arranged for her husband. A number of intimate friends of Mr. Martin enjoyed the occasion. But strange as it seems, none of us were able to find out the number of this birthday. We didn't worry about that, though. We only hope that Mell may have about a hundred more like it, and that Mrs. Martin will invite us fellows to help celebrate every one of them.

This Looks A Little Better

Talking to Vergil Elmore Tuesday, he said his stores had just completed their annual nine-cent sale, and that the event produced better business returns this year than it did last year. That was encouraging. Perhaps that fact could be used as an indication that old man Prosperity is really just around the corner, as many of our optimistic business geniuses have persistently declared for many months.

The "Best" Subscriber

His name is "Best" and he is really in other ways than mere name among the best subscribers we have. This week he walked into our editorial sanctum and said: "Come here, Mr. Editor, I have got a whole flock of subscribers for you." He produced the goods all right, and we were tickled. His name is J. V. Best, of Clanton Route 7. It is the interest of men like Mr. Best that keeps The Banner going to every nook and corner of Chilton County all the time.

The Bees Is A Buzzin

As I pass up and down the street and around the corner, I keep running into fellows that are dodging and blinking in all sorts of funny commotions. I got one of them cornered the other day and pressed the question to find out what it meant. He had to own up to the corn and tell me it was political bees a buzzin around him that caused him to act funny like. Then I understood, and I gave my friend all the consolation my words could utter. You know, I never saw a fellow in my life who needs soothing syrup more than a poor fellow the political bees have got to buzzin after. Just notice it.

This One Tickled Me

A subscriber eased up to me on the corner the other day and said: "Who is this here Disgustus Jackson that is writing so much in the paper?" Augustus is his name, I said, not Disgustus. And the fellow said "Well, it all depends on the way a fellow feels about it." Then I thought about the old saying that politics makes strange bed-fellows.

Another Business Change

It has come to my notice that Jesse Baker and Obie Deloach have divided up and separated their interests in the Clanton Cash Store. Mr. Baker in the future will have the dry goods department of the business, and Mr. Deloach will have the grocery side. They will occupy the same locations as heretofore; but the two businesses will be run separately and distinctly by the two men.

A lot of fellows who in 1929 were looking forward to a castle in Spain would now be satisfied with a cottage just off Main Street.

SAFE WITHOUT GOVERNMENT

Many will wonder if China without a government, as was the case when the entire national cabinet resigned, would be in any worse condition than ordinarily exists.—Walla Walla Bulletin.

UNION GROVE

Health of our community is very good at this time.

Mrs. Greene Dorminey was on the sick list last week, but is improving. We hope she will be able to be out soon.

Our Sunday school is just fine. We had a good crowd out Sunday, if it was a bad day. Didn't have so many out at B. Y. P. U. Sunday night, but we hope to have more next Sunday night.

On Next Sunday at eleven o'clock Rev. W. P. Lowery will preach at this place. We want to urge everybody to come out and hear him. Bro. Lowery was a pastor of this church for a long time. Let's everybody go and show him we are glad to have him preach again.

Miss Pauline Latimer of Jacksonville, Ala., and Miss Elwyn Robinson of Thorsby spent the week end with Miss Jessie Dorminey.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shaw had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Shaw and son, Preston, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Conway and children, all of Jemison, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Caldwell and little daughter of Cordova.

Misses Thomasine and Lefoyl Dorminey spent Sunday with Miss Bonnie Hilson.

Little Bettie Pink Caldwell, grand daughter of Mrs. T. J. Dorminey, died at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Conway at Jemison, and was buried at Union Grove Tuesday afternoon, January 19. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Caldwell of Cordova. Mrs. Caldwell will be remembered as Miss Myrtle Dorminey.

Prof. Harlem G. Daniel spent the week end with home folks at Lomax.

Mr. A. P. Robinson and father, Doctor Robinson, were called to Fairfield Saturday on account of the death of Mr. Luther Davis. Mrs. Davis was before her marriage Miss Elma Beasley.

Miss Claudia Smith spent the week end with her parents at Thorsby.

Mrs. Ferman Gore returned from a visit with her parents in Birmingham Tuesday.

There will be choir practice at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Dorminey Friday. We especially want all the singers to be there.

Don't forget to come out to church next Sunday. Be there at 10 o'clock for Sunday school.

Mrs. Latham Ellis and Mrs. Jean Savage of Birmingham spent a few days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mell Martin.

EDDIE STINSON IS KILLED IN CRASH

'Dean Of All Fliers' Dies Of Injuries After Fall On Golf Course At Chicago

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Edward A. "Eddie" Stinson, 38, pioneer American airman, died this morning of injuries received when a plane he was demonstrating crashed in Jackson Park early last night.

Stinson, known as the "dean of all fliers" by reason of having more hours to his credit than any other aviator, was returning to the Wayne, Michigan plant of the Detroit-Stinson Corporation, of which he was president, when his ship developed trouble over Lake Michiagan waterfront. In making a forced landing the plane struck a flagpole at the edge of the Jackson Park golf course and crashed to the ground.

Stinson, pinned beneath the wreckage, was extricated and rushed to the Illinois Central Hospital, where he died a few hours later about 1:00 a. m., today. Three companions, Clark Field, of Kalamazoo, Mich., John Tompkins, of East Chicago, and Frederick Gillies, of Chicago, were only slightly injured.

Stinson has the distinction of having spent more than 14,000 hours in the air—more than any other man in the history of aviation, according to records of the "Aeronautique Internationale."

For the 20 years he has been in aviation, he has flown nearly 1,500,000 miles, the equivalent of 60 times around the world and has held numerous endurance records.

Yet in all this flying, the "ace" never used a parachute or suffered injury until last night's crash.

Stinson Born At Fort Payne, Ala.

Down in Alabama and Mississippi the neighbors knew the Stinson children, Eddie, Jack, Katherine and Margaret, as "those crazy kids" because they would risk their lives in wheezing, clanking contrivances which were the precurors of the modern airplane.

Katherine, now Mrs. Katherine Otero, of Sante Fe, N. M., started it when she prevailed upon Lieut. H. E. Honeywell to take her for a flight while she was visiting in St. Louis. She returned to her home in Mississippi, sold her piano and with $450 accumulated by that and other sacrifices, took a three week's course in flying from Max Lily, a Chicago aviator.

Eddie, or Edward A. Stinson as he was known after he became a business man flier and president of the Stinson Aircraft Company, took up flying because he didn't want his sister to "lord it over me." She taught him to fly."

Born July 11, 1894, in Fort Payne, Ala., he first felt the lure of flying by watching the struggles of pioneer aviators to fly with the cumbersome machines which were the predecessors of modern craft.

Ending his schooling in the eighth grade, he went to St. Louis, Mo., and got a job. Nearby, a flying machine was being constructed. When its builders failed to make it fly, Stinson bought it. He made it fly.

Then he attended the Wright Brothers School of Aviation at Dayton, Ohio. From 1912 on he was connected with aviation, every phase of it.

ALABAMA POTATO CROP WORTH OVER $6,000,000

Alabama farmers produced over six million dollars worth of potatoes last year. To be exact, F. W. Gist, agricultural statistican, reports $6,014,000 worth of potatoes produced. Sweet potatoes accounted for $3,448 of this amount, and Irish potatoes for $2,566,000.

Farmers are urged to grow sufficient potatoes for home consumption this year but are warned that potatoes grown for commercial purposes will go on the market next spring in competition with a heavy storage supply from the last year crop, which will have a tendency to hold the prices on a low level.

STRAWBERRY ACREAGE THIS YEAR IS LARGER IN STATE

Strawberry acreage in Alabama is slightly larger this year than last, reports F. W. Gist, statistican for the Department of Agriculture, who released an estimate giving the acreage of the State this year at 4,100 acres against 3,850 of last year.

Mr. Gist also showed an increase in the states which produce the early strawberry crop. "The early acreage is estimated at 45,730 acres against a harvested acreage of 40,500 last year."

DEATH OF DAVID W. BARNES

The death angel visited our home January 16th at 9:30 p. m., and took our loving father home to rest. There is a vacant place in our home that can never be filled. He told us he was going, and it was hard to give him up; but we must say, thy will be done.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, one son, and four daughters; one sister, at Corthorage, Mo., one brother, of Bonnie, Ill., and a host of friends.

The family wishes to thank the many kind friends for their help during our husband and father's illness. —A daughter, Mrs. L. E. Garner.

Pains Stopped When Lady Got Stronger

"About a year ago, my health was not good," writes Mrs. W. F. Siveley, 8800 First Court, N., Birmingham, Ala. "I felt weak, tired. I had pains in my back. I knew by these symptoms I needed something to build me up. My mother advised me to try Cardui, which I did. I found it was what I needed, for it built me up. The pain in my back stopped, and I felt better and stronger than I had in some time. I took about 7 bottles of Cardui in all." FN-1

onds Maturing With No Money In Sinking Fund

ate Has To Retire $1,288,000 Road And Bridge Pledges In 1932; No Way In Sight

With no money in the sinking fund to do it, the State of Alabama will be called upon to retire $1,288,000 in highway and bridge corporation bonds when they mature this year. The fact that there is no money in the highway and bridge corporation sinking funds to retire bonds at maturity, will be no excuse for the bondholders who must be given their money this year.

The audit of the State's affairs by Hopkinson Smith, independent auditor, calls attention to the fact that the State of Alabama has no money in its bond sinking fund. If there was ever any money in this fund, it has been spent. As a matter of fact the fund has been merely a book account and the money that was supposed to be in the fund has been spent for other State purposes than set out in the law establishing the sinking fund. There was no money in these sinking funds when the present administration took office.

Mr. Smith says in his report that the first charge against the automobile tag tax receipts and state two-cent gasoline tax is for interest on highway bonds and for a sinking fund to retire them at maturity. He says the interest on these bonds has always been paid and that so far the bonds that have reached maturity have been retired. "No provision whatever," he says in his report, "has been made as to the sinking fund. We are not setting up the sinking fund requirements as that will be provided in the report of the Brookings Institute."

In addition to being compelled to take care of bond maturities in 1932 amounting to $1,598,000, the present administration will be called upon in 1933 to retire $1,145,000 in bonds, in 1934 to retire $1,935,000 in bonds and in 1935 to retire $1,601,000 in bonds, composed of highway, harbor improvement and bridge corporation bonds. And there has been no sinking fund set up by past administrations to pay off these bonds when they fall due. Their payment must come out of current revenues.

Insofar as the State Docks Commission bonds are concerned, there is no sinking fund for them and the docks are losing money to the extent that they are calling on the general fund of the State each year to help them out. Auditor Smith reported that in 1931 the general fund had to help out the Docks Commission to the extent of $172,312.50. In 1930 the amount was $266,250 and in 1929 it was $269,120.53.

One of the causes of a heavy drain on the general fund in the last administration was the act of the Legislature making additional provisions for Confederate veterans and their widows. To make this provision, the general fund was called on in 1927 for $324,611.88, in 1928 for $1,171,555.95, in 1929 for $827,094.19, in 1930 for $536,820.44 and in 1931 for $334,457.33. In other words, the old soldiers' tax lacked these amounts of meeting the appropriations of the 1927 Legislature. There is a steady fall in the amount the general fund is being called upon to pay the heroes of the 60's and their widows and it is expected that 1932 will show less money going out for this purpose through the general fund. The old soldiers' tax may almost provide enough money in 1932 to meet the purpose for which it was levied.

One of the most interesting features of the report of the independent auditor is a table set-up showing "outstanding warrants." This summary shows that the State of Alabama had warrants outstanding and in the hands of creditors as of September 30, 1931, amounting to $14,383,139.77.

The State Bridge Corporation, according to the report, is not yet making enough money on the 16 toll bridges erected during the previous administration to take care of the fixed charges and the expense of operating. In 1930 the tolls amounted to $86,702.31, while in 1931 the tolls amounted to $264,829.56. In this connection it must be explained that there were few bridges in operation in 1930 and that all of the bridges did not operate for the full year 1931. It is expected that the revenues in 1932 will be in excess of the revenues of 1931. It is expected that eventually the State Bridge Corporation will not be a losing proposition for the State but when times become normal, it is expected that the State's toll bridges will pay their own way and perhaps a little bit more, possibly enough to pay off the bonded debt at maturity.—By Atticus Mullin, in The Montgomery Advertiser.

J. C. Atchison of Maplesville was a visitor here Monday. Mr. Atchison appears to have heard the political bee buzzing around his head, and he may announce for something in the campaign this year.

SHADES OF THE PAST! BUSTLES HEADING BACK?

Whew! Women who believe that moderns of their sex have a corner on flamboyant costumes, shouldn't miss seeing Edna May Oliver in RKO Radio Pictures' comedy-drama, "Fanny Foley Herself," showing at the Wadesonian Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, February 3rd and 4th.

After delving deeply into the style books of decades ago, studio designers bedecked Miss Oliver in the following:

Henna Striped skirt, very, very wide.

High waisted tan coat with leg-o-mutton sleeves.

Tiny green hat with brown flowers, which sets atop her head like Hooligan's tin can.

The skirt has a ruffle around the bottom.

Black high-topped shoes with red lacings.

Around her neck she wears a tan, brown and henna boa.

Oh, yes--and a two bushel bustle —not around her neck.

Believe it or not—costumes once were like that. As the production is technicolor, the sheer brillancy of the creation is shown in all its glory.

The authenticity of its early American and Colonial backgrounds required weeks of research by the art department. This work was doubled because the picture is in color, making accurate data on the hues of those periods as necessary as that on the types of furnishings.

An entire Hollywood theatre was leased for four days.

A replica of a millionaire's mansion in the Adirondacks had to be constructed, both interior and exterior.

Airplane cabins, parachutes, forests, gardens and flower beds were synthetically created in sound-proof stages. Hundreds of potted trees and shrubs were leased.

In all, before the adventures of "Fanny" were completely told, 25 different sets had to be built.

The result makes the picture worth while for its backgrounds alone. Splendid performances are given by Miss Oliver and Hobart Bosworth, Florence Roberts, John Darrow, Rochelle Hudson, Helen Chandler, Robert Emmett O'Connor and Harry O. Stubbs.

BOARD MEETS FRIDAY

The Chilton County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting for January on Friday of this week, at the office of the County Superintendent of Education in Clanton.

WHEN TWO MEN LOVE THE SAME GIRL CAN THEY REMAIN FRIENDS?

When two men who have been buddies all their lives discover that they love the same girl, there is often a break in their friendship if one of them marries her. Occasionally the men are so big mentally that they continue to be pals, providing the girl understands how much they mean to each other and encourages them to keep up their friendship.

There is a situation of this sort in the Columbia picture "The Last Parade," which will be shown at the Wadesonian Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, February 1st and 2nd. Jack Holt, playing the leading role, portrays the kingpin racketeer in a large city. Tom Moore is cast as the lifelong friend and the girl, loved by both men, is played by Constance Cummings. Dramatic conflict is increased further because one of the men becomes involved in rackets, while the other is a policeman. How this affects their attitude toward each other forms another angle of the story, which is said to contain episodes as sensational as front page headlines.

SCHOOL AUTHORITIES HERE

National and State supervisors of vocational education were here Tuesday to confer with local school authorities, and to make visits to vocational high schools in the county.

COUNTY LINE

We, the trustees of County Line School wish to thank each and every one who so willingly helped to make the Fiddlers Convention, that was given last Friday night, one of the most successful affairs in the history of the school.

Mr. N. Burnett won first prize; Mr. J. W. Langston, second; Orville Wright, third. There were ten fiddlers present, each receiving a prize.

Lloyd Watson, from Birmingham, won first prize in the dancing contest; Glen Gentry, second; Ethan Ingram, third.

We especially thank the judges; Mr. W. G. Gibson, Miss Geraldine Ratliff, and Mr. P. L. Williams. All contestants were so good that the judges had quite a hard time deciding which was best.—C. J. Littlejohn.

SOY BEANS WILL HELP CORN BELT FARMERS TO OBTAIN THEIR PROTEIN

Farmers and feeders throughout the corn belt have for a great many years depended largely upon linseed oil meal and cottonseed meal as a source of protein for balancing their farm grains. Neither of these crops has been grown extensively throughout the corn belt — consequently, it was necessary for the protein to be shipped into the general feeding sections.

Most corn belt farmers should welcome the fact that soy bean oil meal in the future will be a very important factor in affecting the cost of properly balancing live stock ratoins throughout the corn belt. Many of the experiment stations have found that soy bean oil meal, when properly supplemented with proper minerals, has given fully as good or better results with dairy cattle than linseed oil meal or cottonseed meal. As a supplement to grain for beef cattle, soy bean oil meal has been doing a splendid job and has produced beef very economically, and at the same time added a beautiful gloss to the coats of the cattle.

As a supplement to grain for hogs, soy bean oil meal, properly mineralized, has produced very economical pork, has produced good quality pork, and has produced rapid gains upon these hogs.

As a feed for poultry, several of the experiment stations have obtained splendid results with soy bean oil meal that has been properly mineralized as a supplement to farm grains.

Feeders in the future consequently will undoubtedly be able to supplement their farm grains more economically, provided the corn belt farmers, who have been the great producers of soy beans, continue to use soy bean in their crop rotation. The oil which is extracted from the bean is also being used in a great many ways and will undoubtedly have an influence upon the cost of many things which they buy, such as paint, and will thereby be a source of economy to farmers in this great corn belt area. Feeders, therefore, will do well to become thoroughly informed upon the desirability of using soy bean products such as soy bean oil meal, properly mineralized, in the building of their ration for farm animals.

County Farm Agent's Notes

NEW HEAD OF FAMOUS FARMERS ORGANIZATION

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 22. — There was a stirring note of optimism for the American farmer in the words of Wm. H. Danforth today as he assumed the chairmanship of the Board of Directors of the Purina Mills, after thirty-eight years of service as its president. He will be succeeded as president by his son, Donald Danforth. Mr. Lewis B. Stuart, formerly manager of the Kansas City plant, was elected treasurer and will be brought into the executive offices at St. Louis. These changes were made because of the enlarged program of activities in the agricultural field which requires more concentrated effort on the part of the executives of the Purina Mills.

"The American farmer is going through lean years," Chairman Danforth said today, "but confidence in the farmer is unshaken. What he produces are the very things that are basic, and on which business and the world's commerce is built. Wheat, cotton, corn, beef, pork, milk, eggs and all those farm products, though at a low price today, are the things that make life and make business. They are now coming back to their true value. In all my years of dealing with farm folks I have yet to see during any depression such splendid faith in the future as the farmers now have. Added to this is my positive conviction that business has not lost faith in them in any sense."

For almost four decades since he founded Purina Mills in 1894, Wm. H. Danforth has been close to the farmer and his problems. He has mixed a lot of living, a lot of hard work and thinking along farmers' lines into those years.

Mr. Danforth will remain active in his company and in those activities which have long been linked with his name such as president of the American Youth Foundation, and the Danforth Foundation, which gives scholarships each year to outstanding junior students in colleges of agriculture in the United States and Canada. He will still retain a keen interest in writing. Among the volumes of his which already have been published are "Power," "Fight," "Action," "Russia Under the Hammer and Sickle," and more recently "I Dare You," being a challenge to young and old alike.

NEW FERTILIZER FOR ALABAMA IS NAMED

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 23.—Prof. M.J. Funchess, director of the Alabama Experiment Station, has announced officially that Alabama farmers can make a good nitrogen of ammonia and limestone ground properly for agricultural purposes. As a general rule the two may be mixed on a 50-50 basis, or at the rate of 100 pounds of each.

The nitrogen content of sulphate of ammonia is 20.5 per cent, which means that if it and agricultural lime are mixed in equal amounts the fertilizer produced will contain slightly more than 10 per cent of nitrogen.

Prof. Funchess presented figures showing that this fertilizer can now be made by Alabama farmers at a big reduction in prices, compared to other fertilizers.

"And it will produce just about as good as either nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime," he added. "When used for cotton it may be applied with the seed and also as a top-dressing. It is also good for corn and other crops. Farmers should not hesitate to use it when and where nitrogen fertilizers are needed, which means practically all crops."

This announcement is made by Director Funchess as an important new development in fertilizer. It is based upon research work done by the Experiment Station during the last several years.

Sulphate is a by-product of the steel industry. A large amount of it is produced each year.

KEEPING BOOKS MAY BOOST NET INCOMES

Auburn, Ala., January 22.—To increase net incomes an individual or a farm family needs to economize on expenditures as well as to produce products for sale and do other things for increasing the gross income. And Miss Nell Pickens, extension economist, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, says that the best way for girls and women to learn how to use their money wisely is to keep an accurate account of all expenditures one whole year.

With this record as a guide, improvement can be made, because the figures obtained will reveal changes needed and other things to do to increase the net income, Miss Pickens added.

"Statistics show that women and girls spend the larger part of the family income. This does not mean that it is spent on them personally but it does mean that they buy the groceries, the clothing, the household equipment, and numerous other supplies.

"A girl needs to know the value of a dollar. She should know the cost of her food, clothes, and education. She should know also her share of the family income in order that she may appreciate the rights of other members of the family.

"Adding to the family income does not necessarily mean dolalrs and cents. Work in the home and the careful use of supplies are contributions which any girl can make.

"The girl who is careful not to waste food, fuel, or lights, who does not destroy property; who is energetic in caring for clothes; and does not waste money she receives is adding to the family income in a most practical way."

FORESTRY WORKERS HAVE LONG HOURS

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 25.—The field employees of the State Forestry Department worked more than nine hours a day during the calendar year 1931, according to the compilations of the Alabama Commission of Forestry. The next length of service each day averaged 9.4 hours, this daily period being necessitated cheifly on account of the exceptional droughts occurring during the year.

The State Forestry Department operates under contract with the United States government in the promotion and advancement of timber growing on the 25,500,000 acres of forest land within the state. In order to do its part with the limited funds provided by the State appropriation, it is necessary for the field force of the department to make extraordinary efforts. In droughty years this responsibility rests quite heavily upon the comparatively small number of men engaged.

In 1924, the first year of the department's work, the average of hours per day worked by the field employees was 8.9; in 1825 the figures rose to 9.1; in 1926 it went to 9.4; in 1927 the average hours per day reached 9.7; in 1928 the figure was 9.6; in 1929 the number of hours worked averaged 9.5, and in 1930 the average of hours worked daily was 9.8.

When governments seek to maintain the high levels of taxation they reach in good times, in these days of seriously impaired income, the impending specter of higher taxes constitutes one of the chief deterrents to business recovery.—St. Louis, Mo. Chamber of Commerce.

FARM AND GARDEN QUERY BOX

(By K. C. Davis, Knapp School of Country Life, Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.)

Q.—Can weeds in lawns be killed by spraying?

Ans.—Make a solution of one lb. of sulphate of iron in one gallon of water. Spray this with a fine mist sprayer, as is used in gardens and orchards. Cover the areas where the weeds are thick and the material will kill the weeds, but not injure the grass unless the application is too heavy. This is a good time to kill winter chickweeds and others.

Q.—Please give directions for planting rather large lawn trees. Can it be done at this time of year?

Ans.—This is a good season for transplanting all kinds of trees in orchards, lawns and along roads. In digging up the trees be sure to get all the fibrous roots possible by digging out some distance from the trunk of the tree, the farther the better. Get up the roots without injuring them with the implements. Prune the top of a tree at transplanting time in proportion to the cutting done on the roots. You can remove every other limb or more than that, but do not cut the top of the tree back very much. Large trees need more trimming than small ones. Reduce the area of wood which will bear leaves as much as you have reduced the root surface. Plant the trees as deep as before and have the roots extend out as far as before. Do not wad them up in a small hole. Put plenty of good manure away from the roots or above them. Pack all the soil in firmly. Water well if the weather is dry the first season.

Q.—Is this month too late for spreading compost or barnyard manure among the shrubs, vines and on the lawn grass?

Ans.—This is a good time to manure everything, in lawns, vegetable gardens, flowers, trees, shrubs, and vines. If the soil is loosened a little first in places which will allow, the manure will penetrate better, and may be worked into the soil somewhat.

The airport located midway between Auburn and Opelika has been leased by the U. S. department of commerce, which has spent $14,500 on grading the ground and installing a lighting system. Beginning on February 1st lights will burn from sundown to sunup each night. A solar automatic system will turn them on and off.

IS YOUR HEALTH POOR?

Shreveport, La. — "Being somewhat in poor health I tried different tonics and found that nothing benefited me to speak of except Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," remarked James W. Duffy of 1315 Jewell St. "I am glad to know that there is such a wonderful medicine, one that benefits a person when other remedies fail. I am glad to recommend this medicine whenever I have an opportunity." Druggists. Fluid or tablets.

Every package of Dr. Pierce's medicines contains a symptom blank. Fill it out and mail it to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire free medical advice.

FARM NEWS WORTHY OF NOTE FROM AUBURN, ALA.

Turkeys have become important cash producers for Wilcox county farmers. County Agent W. A. Cammack said that one farmer produced last year turkeys worth as much as 7 bales of cotton.

In one month Dale county farmers sold at Ozark 2,645 hogs. They made 31 carloads and the farmers were paid $14,987.04, as reported by W. D. Thomason, county agent.

Tallapoosa county farmers are now shipping cream through local cream assembling and shipping stations. They receive payment each week. The cash received is very helpful to them in operating their farms.

The present oat crop in Clarke county is 100 per cent bigger than that of last year this time. The winter legums acreage is 31 per cent larger; and all these crops are very promising, according to O. C. Helms, county agent.

Tuscaloosa county farmers under the direction of County Agent R. C. Lett, demonstrated this winter that apples produced and stored properly in Tuscaloosa county kept well. The demonstration created interest in apple production in that county.

CHEAP ROADS THAT WEAR

There is naturally a certain amount of question as to the durability of the inexpensive roads, of asphaltic type, which have come into favor in many states. Here is a case where practice speaks better than theory. George Clow, engineer of Gratiot county, Michigan, in commenting on road-mix construction, said: "If sufficient motor vehcile traffic is had immediately after construction to give early compaction, it will stand any kind of traffic that complies with the laws of the State of Michigan." In a recent article, A. H. Hinkler, state superintendent of maintenance, Indiana, said: "This type of surface fills a missing link in many road programs and it has come to stay. It can be financed in places where a more expensive pavement could not be built. The bituminous retread pavement type is dustless, will carry an unlimited amount of light, high-speed traffic, and even much heavy traffic when built on a good base."

The most remarkable fact about these new surfaces is that they cost four or five thousand dollars a mile to build, where the highest type surfaces cost up to $40,000 a mile. The maintenance cost is likewise, as a rule, appreciably below that of the latter. It is not an exaggeration to say that these new developments in road building have proven a boon to states which badly need good roads, particularly in farming districts that were in despair as to how to build them without swelling the tax load to the bursting point.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

Rev. Each announces there will be preaching at the Congregational church both morning and evening, January 31st, the fifth Sunday in this month.

Miss Georgia Fairbank, of Jacksonville, Ill., has arrived in Thorsby to visit her sister, Miss Marian Fairbank, at Thorsby Institute; and Mrs. E. W. Butler.

Thorsby Drug Company had a fire in the rear of their store last Saturday evening. It was discovered in time to get control of it before much damage was done. Smoke and water caused most of the damage.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton had as dinner guests last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell, who greatly enjoyed some of the radio programs put on during the afternoon.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will hold their regular monthly social on Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. E. W. Butler. All ladies invited.

A recital by the students of the music department of Thorsby Institute was held last Saturday afternoon at Helen Jenkins Hall. The recital was quite interesting, some of the students showing considerable improvement during the year, one or two giving much promise.

Cabbage Plants at Wyatt Drug Company, Thorsby.

The first semester examinations begin Thursday and Friday of this week. The second semester begins Monday, February first.

A goodly crowd of Institute students and teachers went down to see the basket ball game between Thorsby and Clanton Friday night, January 23. Though always on the short end, the Institute boys gave a good account of themselves and made the game more interesting than the final score of 29-17 would indicate. The Institute team consisted of Carmel Snow, Ralph Pate, Oliver Lyon, Phares Raybon, Charles Cleckler, and Brady Billingsley. Littlejohn and Popwell, Chilton center and guard, were high scorers.

A recent letter from Dean J. C. Rogers of Piedmont College, Demorest, Georgia, where aside from former graduates of T. I., four of last year's graduating class are freshmen, says: "For a number of years Thorsby Institute has been sending some wonderfully fine students and young people to Piedmont College. We hope that several members of the 1932 class will find their way to us. Miss Jenkins and the entire staff are to be congratulated on the excellent work that is being done."

The Christian Endeavor met last Sunday evening. The topic was "What Jesus teaches about Truth." Many good points were brought out on the subject. Any time you find it convenient, drop in to give us a visit. We meet regularly at 6:30 p. m., each Sunday evening at the Congregational church.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Bank of Thorsby was held on Wednesday, January 20th, 1932. The following directors were elected for the year 1932: E. W. Butler, A. M. Grimsley, Chas. Lucas, Carl C. Peterson, E. R. Piper, and A. E. Reagan.

Three bars of Woodbury's soap and a tube of cream for 75c at Wyatt Drug Company, Thorsby, Alabama.

Officers elected for 1932 were: A. M. Grimsley, chairman of the board; Carl C. Petersen, president; E. W. Butler, vice president; J. L. Mixson, cashier, William Each, bookkeeper.

Loan board, A. E. Reagan, chairman, E. W. Butler and E. R. Piper.

A six per cent dividend was declared and officers and directors were highly pleased over the results of 1931, as a very much better showing was made over the preceeding year of 1930.

Miss Ruth Peterson of Birmingham was a week end visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson.

Mr. Claude Davis left Monday to take up work in Detroit, Michigan.

Miss Addie Sarles and Miss Gibbons of Prattville visited Douglas Searles Sunday.

Mrs. Gertie Sundburg Adams and baby have been visiting relatives in Thorsby recently.

Mr. J. C. Fitzpatrick and daughter, Lillian, of Birmingham spent Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson and two children of Birmingham were visitors at the home of C. C. Petersen Sunday.

Miss Helen Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler and Miss Lillian McKee motored to Montevallo Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell.

Miss Mary Ella Gerald left Sunday afternoon for the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, where she will take up work on her masters degree.

Word was received here recently of the death of Mrs. ....., formerly Miss Emma Gronquist. Miss Gronquist was among the early settlers of Thorsby.

Cabbage Plants at Wyatt Drug Company, Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bice entertained a few friends last Friday evening. After a series of bridge games refreshments were served, carrying out the valentine colors and a valentine favor to each guest. Those present were Messrs. Henry Robinson, Varney Wyatt, Lee Pate, Ric Franklin, Mack Gray, Lloyd Howard, Marcelle Wilder; Mesdames R. R. Franklin, Mack Gray, Lee Pate, Misses Jenne Robinson, Edna Lee Wilder and Ella Howard.

Mrs. H. L. Walker and daughter, Mrs. Lee Pate, spent Monday in Montgomery.

Little Peggy Mims Franklin spent the day Monday with little Mary Virginia Bice.

Three bars of Woodbury's soap and a tube of cream for 75c at Wyatt Drug Company, Thorsby, Alabama.

Miss Naemi Turnquist, of Selma, spent the week end at home.

Miss Theresa Bosworth and Mr. Johnson, of Selma, motored to Thorsby Sunday.

Mr. Sidney and Marion Bosworth, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth.

Carl Foss is improving from a case of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin had as their dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mims, of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Robinson, Bob and Florene, of Jemison, and Mrs. C. M. Gray.

Mr. Ed Piper made a business trip to Birmingham last Friday.

Mrs. M. J. Primm, Mrs. W. H. Raybon, Mrs. Clyde Sims, Miss Maybell Johnson, and Miss Edna Raybon made a trip to Prattville last Tuesday and did some shopping.

Misses Olene Hybart, Ruth Pitts, and Helen Albert, of Thorsby Institute, were dinner guests Sunday.

Several ladies from Thorsby attended the annual meeting of the Chilton W. M. U. at Jemison last Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Barrett, of Selma, spent several days last week visiting friends in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth accompanied Mrs. Bosworth, and Mrs. Anna Thorson, to Birmingham last Wednesday. Mrs. Thorson remained in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead and little Helen Louise and Mrs. Mary Barrett had dinner last Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Meade, of Calera.

Mrs. Russian Gibbons, of Mountain Creek, is spending several weeks in Thorsby while Mr. Gibbons is in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Higgins were visitors in Deatsville for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Pate are visiting at the home of Mr. Pate's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pate.

Dewey Robinson has gone to take up work at the Dixie Cafe. Hubert Reinhardt, we understand, will take Dewey's place in Wright's confectionery.

Help to make the rally a success.—Mabel King, sec'y.

GETTING STARTED WITH KUDZU HAY

More farmers than ever before are anxious to start a few acres of kudzu to help supply their hay needs and also to furnish grazing for livestock. Unfortunately, kudzu crowns are very scarce thus seriously limiting not only the acerage that will be set in the spring of 1932 but also the acreage that will be set in the next few years.

To meet the situation it is recommended that small areas of good land or land highly fertilized with phosphate and manure be set with such crowns as may be available so that a dense growth can be secured in a short time. From this area crown can be procured for future plantings. An ideal place for such planting is on low land where soil has been washed in above a terrace or rock dam. A good stand can be secured much more easily if crown are taken immediately after digging, and set in the field.

All available crowns where kudzu is being used as a porch vine should be procured. Crowns can sometimes be found along road banks or at old house sites.

1. When to plant. Planting February 15 to March 15 has been sitisfactory.

2. What to plant. Set well-developed two year old or older crowns which have a bud or growing point. Kudzu seldom produces seed, therefore the crop must be propagated by means of crowns.

3. How to plant. Set crowns in open furrow; carefully pack the dirt around crowns leaving the bud just above the soil surface.

Digging holes about twelve inches deep with post hole digger and setting the crowns in these holes is frequently practiced.

4. What spacing. Crowns are usually set ten feet apart each way, requiring 435 crowns to set an acre. A good start can be made in less time by spacing five feet apart each way. If home-grown crowns are available the thicker spacing is advisable.

Very succesful plantings have been made in furrows six feet apart and applying liberally phosphate and manure. A row of corn is planted between each row of the kudzu. Cultivating the corn thus cultivates the kudzu. In addition the corn will give some returns from the land.

Interplanting with soy beans will help protect the young kudzu plants from rabbits.

6. When to mow. Allow the kudzu to grow two years before mowing. If the soil is very poor allow it to grow three seasons before mowing.

Fuller information can be had by reading circular number 57, Kudzu in Alabama, published by the Alabama Experiment Station. — J. C. Lowery, Extension Agronomist.

PLANTS AND FRUITS

We wish to state to our friends that we have a supply of cabbage and onion plants on hand ready now for your spring planting.

BADLY STAYED WITH

Will Cox says: "If bandits are any worse than kin or church folks, I do not want to come in contact with them, for our brother and sister church folks took the advantage of these depressed times and took a farm away from me that I had paid $2,650 cash down on without giving me a chance. Yet the scripture says thou shalt not covet thy negihbor's house, field or land, and no covetous person nor extortioner shall enter the kingdom of God."

STANTON

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Little spent the week end at Clanton with relatives.

Miss Alma Eaves, of Birmingham, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Eaves, this week end.

Mr. Mims, of Thorsby, Misses Logan, Ida Lou Davis, and Teresa Carter visited in the Rich Lovelady home Sunday.

Cedelle Davis and Anice Huff spent the week end at Plantersville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stuart and Sarah Woolley were visitors in Clanton Monday afternoon.

H. G. Herrod made a business trip to Birmingham this week end.

BILLY MAKES "GOAT" OF SELF BY SWALLOWING LOST $10 BILL

Erin, Tenn., January 25.—There was excitement in the barn lot here today. Billy, the pet goat, and a $10 bill were among the valued possessions of Mr. Henry E. Mathis.

But Billy, apparently mistaking the greenback for grass, or something, swallowed it after the bill had been accidentally dropped by Mathis while feeding the stock. Mr. Mathis saw the financial transaction just as the bill went out of sight—but that was not the end of the deal.

Now, in the sight of the owner of the bill and the Billy, the bill was worth more, so Billy will not swallow any more bills. The owner whicked him over the head, held an autopsy, and recovered the money. All the neighbors had kid for supper.

FREE TELEPHONE SERVICE ENDS AFTER FEBRUARY 1ST

The Board of Directors of the Peoples Telephone Company has set Monday, February 1st as the last day on which telephone service will be given those who have not paid their fees. After that day, do not call central for admission through if you have not paid your fee.

The Board realizes that cash is short this year, but the central office cannot be run without some money. Many people have waited as long as possible about paying, which has made it hard to get along. So, everybody strain an extra point and pay your central fee. The office is going to operate regardless, but the more who pay, the better service can be given to everybody.—Jesse Baker, President; T. E. Wyatt, Secretary; E. H. Mims, J. P. Jackson and Jas. M. Robinson, Board of Directors.

Mrs. Calloway Urges That All Women Pay Up Their Poll Tax Before Feb. 1st.

May I urge every woman who possibly can to pay her poll tax on or before Monday, February 1st, as that is the last day we can pay this year.

Let it not be said of us that we are "lagging" in our duty as citizens. In every time before now we have paid our prorata share and I believe we will this time; however, it can be done only by each person doing her "bit."

Since I have been treasurer, my office has always been open to women and children who came to court or came to town and wanted to rest. I feel like the men will agree with us that out of fourteen officers elected by the people that the women are entitled to one office they can call their own. We can have an office if we pay our poll tax and vote for it.

The poll tax money will be used for school purposes. Surely no asset is greater than your child's education. Realizing this, I again urge you to pay your poll tax on or before next Monday, because after that time it will be too late to pay them and vote this year.—Sincerely—Gertrude P. Calloway.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR FATHER

Ellic Bolton, age 57 years, was taken sick Thursday, January 7th. He was carried to the hospital in Clanton for appendicitis. The following Sunday he underwent an operation, and died the following Thursday night. It is hard for us to give him up, but all was done for him that kind hearts and loving hands could do. It was the will of God to take our father home to live with him on that bright and shining shore. He often said he was ready and willing to go.

He was laid to rest at Pleasant Hill Friday, January 15, at two o'clock, with Martin in charge of the burial. Rev. J. R. Cost conducted the funeral services.

He leaves to mourn his loss, eleven children, six of them married, and five at home; three sisters; two brothers; and a host of other relatives and friends.

We want to thank the good people for their loving kindness shown us during his sickness and death. May God's richest blessings fall plentifully on all of you.—His Children.

MAJOR PARTIES WATCH SOUTH

Will the Southern States Return to Solid Democracy Again this Year?

Atlanta, Jan. 31.—Politicians of the two major parties are watching political straws closely in the hope of answering the question whether Texas, Florida, North Carolina and Virginia will this November repeat their votes of four years ago for the Republican presidential ticket or return to their traditional berths in the Democratic "solid South."

For the first time in many years, the Democrats in 1928 failed to carry all of the states which had become known in political talk as the Democratic "Solid South."

In the State elections held since the last presidential contest the Democratic state tickets have rolled up the usual party majority and in some instances increased the margin.

Not only this, but the majority of the Democratic gubernatorial candidate last Fall in Kentucky has been made the basis for claims by Democratic leaders that they will carry the border states along with the solid South.

There will be 278 Democratic convention votes and 246 Republican convention votes at Chicago from the 12 southern states, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi and Texas.

Georgia, one of the six Southern states which stood by the Democratic party in 1928, has called her Democratic party leaders to meet in Macon February 5, to decide the manner of selecting delegates to the national convention at Chicago. Georgia is entitled to 28 votes in the convention.

The Republicans of Georgia will select their delegates to the national convention through a state convention. They will have 16 votes at Chicago.

Alabama Democrats will elect 48 delegates with half a vote each in a primary May 3, with a run-off June 7 if necessary. The Republicans will have 19 votes at Chicago, an increase of four over 1928. These will be selected in state convention and by district conventions.

South Carolina Democrats hold their convention May 18 to name 18 delegates to the national gathering. The Republicans will select 10 delegates to Chicago, at a date not yet set.

The Republican state convention of North Carolina will be held at Charlotte April 14, to select 28 delegates. North Carolina Democrats will send 26 delegates. Each congressional district selects two delegates and the state convention names four.

Both parties in Virginia elect their delegates through conventions. The Democrats will have 24, four at large and 20 from the districts. The Republicans will have 25, eighteen from the districts and 7 at large. This is an increase of 10 Republican delegates over 1928.

Dates for the party conventions in Tennessee have not been selected, but are usually held in Nashville in May. Each party sends 24 delegates to the national conventions.

Arkansas Democrats will select 18 delegates through the States central committee, probably in March or April. Republicans will send 15 delegates through state and congressional district conventions.

Both Kentucky parties elect national delegates at conventions which have not yet been called. The Democrats will send 26 delegates to Chicago and Republicans 22.

The Louisiana Democratic convention will be held the first week in June to select 20 delegates. Louisiana Republicans will send 12 delegates to Chicago.

Florida Democrats will select their delegates at a primary on June 7. The Republicans will call a convention to nominate theirs. Florida is entitled to 14 votes at the convention.

Texas Democrats will hold their party conventions on May 24. They will have 46 votes at the national convention. Texas Republicans will have 49 votes.

Mississippi Democrats will meet in convention in June and elect 10 delegates to Chicago. The Republicans of Mississippi will gather in April and elect 12 delegates.—By W. F. Caldwell, in the Montgomery Advertiser.

Mr. Jim Burnett is getting along nicely, after having undergone an operation for appendicitis at Central Alabama Hospital a few days ago.

SINGING AT COURTHOUSE WAS ENJOYED BY BIG CROWD

The singing at the courthouse last Sunday afternoon, in which most of the singing societies of the county joined together, was the best that has been held around here lately. The large number of directors were well supported by the large and well arranged class. All the parts balanced up well, which contributed greatly to the success of the afternoon. One quartet was sung which was fine indeed. O. L. Devaughn presided.

The singers are indebted to Mr. Massey and Mr. Holcombe for the use of the organ for the singing. They were very nice in donating the use of this instrument. Also the gathering was very grateful to the probate judge and commissioners for the use of the court room, which was amply heated to make everyone comfortable.

The Central Singing Society will meet next Sunday afternoon at Coopers. Mr. Yates says that they have room down there to accommodate all who might want to come. Visitors are always welcome, and especially singers. Try and be there promptly at 2:00 o'clock.

JEMISON CHURCH SERVICE SUNDAY

Program is Announced by Rev. J. W. Jones, Pastor of That Church

Announcement is made of services at the Jemison Baptist Church next Sunday, as follows: Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Preaching at 11 by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Jones, on the subject, "Then Jesus Came." At 7 p. m., the topic to be discussed by the pastor will be, "Easy Street." Rev. Jones says that he has lots in store for his people in these two sermons.

Reports from the Sunday school at Jemison say that it is decidedly on the incline upward now; the attendance is double what it was a few months ago. The largest class in the school is the Mens Bible Class, there being 25 to 35 in attendance every Sunday. Prof. J. A. Peterson, principal of Jemison High School, is teacher of the class; Mr. S. C. Sloan is president of the class.

It should be an incentive to other churches to read of the progress that this congregation is making. At this time there seems to be a general slackness among church people, which certainly should not be the case. By building up a strong Sunday school, any church will be greatly strengthened; and the church is something that ought at all times to have our best support so that it may function properly and serve its great mission to the world.

Annual Convention Alabama Educators

The golden anniversary of the refounding of the Alabama Education Association will be observed in Birmingham, March 17th to 19th, next, when the educational forces of the State will meet in the fifty-first annual convention. The program is being prepared under the direction of Mr. C. C. Moseley, superintendent of the Dothan schools, who is president of the Association.

The occasion will be featured with addresses from President Moseley, State Superintendent A. F. Harman, and Miss Florence Hale, president of the National Education Association, of Washington. A fourth speaker, a man of national reputation, is yet to be announced.

In addition to the general sessions, twenty-seven departments of the Association are preparing programs that will relate to various phases of classroom teaching and supervision. A number of the speakers for these groups will come from without the State and have been engaged because of their leadership in their respective fields.

On Friday evening, March 18, the visitors to Birmingham will witness a pageant, "The Wonder Gate," to be presented by the Birmingham city schools, emphasizing the development of character through wonder.

Two business sessions of the Association will be held during the convention. Because of the unusual economic conditions now prevailing among Alabama schools, unusual importance is attached to these meetings of the official Assembly of Delegates.

NEXT SUNDAY IS "CATCH-UP-DAY" FOR BAPTIST CHURCHES OF STATE

One Hundred Thousand Church Members Are Asked to Give An Average of Half a Dollar Each to Pay Debts of the Denomination in Alabama.

"My, wouldn't you die of heart failure if you saw a hundred thousand half dollars?"

"Do you know that a hundred thousand half dollars would make a wagon load for a big mule on ordinary roads? They weigh more than a ton. If you put them edge to edge they would make a silver ribbon nearly two miles long."

"Do you know that the Executive Board of the Alabama Baptist State Convention is asking a hundred thousand Baptists to give an average of a half dollar each in what they call 'catch up day' on Sunday, February 7th? And that this is to meet an emergency in the Baptist work in Alabama?"

"What is the money for?"

"It is to pay bank loans borrowed last year to make payments on bonds which the Convention signed years ago for the hospital and the schools, and to pay some hospital accounts incurred before the hospital was leased last February, and to meet other bond payments coming due March, May and June. In other words to meet the whole deficit in Baptist work for the year 1932."

"Why don't they borrow this money at the banks with hope of paying it back in the fall when collections may be better?"

"Because they cannot borrow it from the banks. The banks won't lend them any more money. Religious bodies cannot borrow money now unless they have plenty of good physical collateral to put up for it."

"What will happen if the Baptists don't raise this money Sunday, or some other Sunday in February?"

"Why, the Baptists will default the bond payments March the 1st and will be reported in the financial world as insolvent."

"Can the Baptists of Alabama raise this money?"

"Yes, without a bit of trouble if the pastors and all leaders will just make the people understand the need and the emergency and the danger the Baptist work is in, and get the masses and the multitudes of the people to help."

"Must any body give more than fifty cents?"

"Many ought to give more than fifty cents to make up for those who cannot give at all. The churches ought to average fifty cents a member."

"How can this be done?"

"By distributing the collection envelopes that have already been sent to all the churches and persenting the matter with enthusiasm to the congregation and then sending out enthusiastic committees to see every person who was absent when the collection was taken. If the Baptist people understand that their name and honor are at stake, that the cause of Christ will suffer irreparable harm if they fail to do this thing, then surely they will do it. Sunday, Feb. 7th, is the day set, bue any Sunday in February that suits the church best will do. Take the offering, see every member, and hurry the funds to Montgomery as soon as the offering is completed, and specify in the remittance that it is the money for 'catch up day.'"

We urge our pastors and people to continue to cooperate in the above appeal from our state secretary. It is the only hope of saving our Baptist work.—J. Z. Mims, Moderator Unity Baptist Association.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Where are you going to spend the four Sundays in February? The door of the Methodist Church will be open to you. We have Sunday school at 9:45 a. m., and preaching at eleven. Our night services are held at seven o'clock.

We held our first quarterly conference last Sunday night. Plans were made for the new year. J. B. Atkinson, Judge L. H. Reynolds, and F. J. Callen were added to the official board as stewards of the church.

There are two important messages in store for you next Sunday. These are trying times and it behooves us to get close to God. We need not look for better times until we seek for righteousness. A nation humbled before God will bring relief quicker than any other plan instituted. Stay away from God and His church and you can hold a "depression" forever.

ALDRIDGE CHILD DIED

A two-weeks old child of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Aldridge died at their home near Mt. Pisgah last Saturday, and was buried at Mt. Pisgah.

ALABAMA MILLS PLANTS OPERATING FULL TIME

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 27.—The Alabama Mills Company's ten cotton mills in as many Alabama towns are operating full time, P. A. Redmont, president, announced last night.

Redmont said sales are approximately 350 per cent greater than during the same period in 1930, and full-time employment for all the company's 1,500 employees is assured for the next several months.

The Alabama Mills Company has plants at Aliceville, Fayette, Winfield, Russellville, Haleyville, Jasper-Clanton, Wetumpka, Greenville and Dadeville.

HERBERT COLLINS DIED

Herbert Collins, age 29 years, died last Saturday morning at his home near Thorsby. Burial was at New Salem Sunday, with Martin in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Zac Appleton. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nora Collins, and a baby. His father is A. L. Collins. His mother died about two weeks ago.

S. J. M. Webb of Isabella was in Clanton Monday.

Attention!

Notice To All World War Veterans in Chilton County:

A meeting of very great importance to every ex-service man in Chilton County will be held at the courthouse in Clanton on Thursday night, February 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to give to the Veterans all possible information about present laws and pending legislation in Congress relative to the interests of the Veterans.

A good speaker will be here to discuss these matters and answer any question that any man might wish to ask about his war business.

It is our earnest hope that every ex-service man in the county will attend this meeting. It makes no difference whether you are a member of the Legion or not. This is a meeting in the interest of all ex-soldiers, and we hope that all will be present.

R. D. WOODSON, Commander.
A. L. ROBINSON, Adjutant.

INTERESTING FIGURES ON THE POULTRY CARS

County Agent Stapp announces that he has arranged with the Farm Bureau to run another poultry car through the county. This next car will be over the M. & O. Railroad and will load at Maplesville Wednesday, February 3rd, and at Billingsley Thursday, February 4th.

Another car will be run over the L. & N. Railroad about the middle of February. Some of the observers of the last car over the L. & N. which loaded 25,209 pounds of poultry, state that the prices paid were 5c per pound above local markets. At 5c per pound difference in prices, the car of 25,209 pounds loaded at Verbena, Clanton and Jemison netted the farmers of the county $1,260.45 more more than they could have gotten on the local markets. This is more than the amount our county agent receives from the county in one year.

Mr. Stapp states that he wants to give the best service this year that he has ever given. If we will all give him our support and cooperation we think his services will amount to many thousands of dollars to Chilton County this year.

JESSE BAKER FOR TREASURER'S JOB

Will Seek Republican Nomination in Primary Election of May 3, 1932

Jesse Baker, well known business man of Clanton, announces this week that he is a candidate for the office of Treasurer of Chilton County, subject to the action of the Republican Primary to be held on the third day of May.

Mr. Baker is one of the most widely known men in the county. He served in the office of Treasurer for several years back in the days when the office was filled by appointment of the Commissioners Court.

He is a Republican by inheritance as well as upon the strength of his own personal convictions. His grandfather, John Baker, was the first man ever known to vote the Republican ticket in Chilton County. He voted it when he was the only man in the county who did.

One time away back in those early years Uncle John walked up to the polls and cast the only Republican vote in the county. His friends on the opposite side said "John, it takes a brave horse to do that."

He replied, "Yes, that is what I am, and I will stand without hitching. I will live to see the day when the Republican party will win." And he did.

At another place in this paper you will find the announcement of Mr. Baker, and a letter from him relative to his candidacy.

Elder Blossom Plays Ground Hog Game

Inasmuch as The Union-Banner has not received the sermon from "Dat Bloomin Preacher," Elder Blossom, this week, we have concluded that the noted negro impersonator has been playing ground hog—if you know what that game is. We don't know that there is such a game; but to say the least of it, so far as The Union-Banner knows, Elder Blossom went in his hole as soon as he turned in his copy last week and has not shown himself since. Maybe he got his calendar mixed, saw his shadow a week too early and went back in his hole last Tuesday instead of this Tuesday, February 2nd.

Of maybe the Elder is sick or injured, or is working too hard—or perhaps some of his members at Shiloh or Mt. Giliad dance occasionally and got in after him with a red-hot pitchfork after the sermon he preached there the other day. You know, in his sermon last week he gave a lesson on dancing; well, maybe the way he taught the subject to his flock was not just like they had been accustomed to performing; and they got riled with their parson.

But let it be as it may, we are sure that many of our readers will be disappointed by not finding the sermon in the Banner this week. However, we hope that it may show up next week, and will be good enough to make up for the week lost. Everybody watch out for it next week.

CIRCUIT COURT HERE THIS WEEK

Memorial Services Held For The Late Judge Smoot And Col. A. C. Smith

The Circuit Court of Chilton County was convened Monday morning by Judge F. Loyd Tate. This was the first session of the court since the death of Judge Smoot.

Immediately upon calling the court to order, Judge Tate announced that time would be given for appropriate memorial services in honor of the late lamented Judge Smoot, whereupon a resolution was presented, as follows:

"Whereas, Judge George F. Smoot has departed this life since the last term of this Court; and

"Whereas, for the past twenty years he has resided in the Circuit within which Chilton County is embraced, and has been a member of the bar of said Circuit; and

"Whereas, for the past nine years he has been judge of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit of Alabama, and the Judge of this Court; and as such, he served not only this Circuit, but the State of Alabama with great ability and fidelity, reflecting great credit upon this Court and the administration of justice, not only in this county and Circuit, but in the State at large; and

"Whereas, for his attainments in his profession and the sterling worth and lovable traits of his character, the members of the bar here held him in great respect and now revere his memory; and therefore be it

"Resolved, by the members of the bar of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, that this community, this bar, and the State have suffered great loss in the passing of Judge Smoot, and that his memory will ever be a cherished possession of this bar; and be it further Resolved, that a page in the minutes of this Court be set apart to the memory of this distinguished citizen and jurist; and that these resolutions be transcribed thereon and that a copy be presented to his family and given to the press."

The above resolution concerning Judge Smoot was prepared and presented by a committee of the Clanton Bar, composed of Lawrence F. Gerald, J. B. Atkinson, and Omar L. Reynolds.

The same committee also presented the following resolution in honor of the memory of A. C. Smith, deceased:

"Whereas, A. C. Smith has in the past year departed this life; and

"Whereas, for nearly forty years he has recided in Chilton County and has been a member of the bar; and

"Whereas, for his attainments in his profession and the lovable traits of his character, the members of the bar held him in great respect; therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the members of the bar of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, that this community and this bar have suffered a great loss in the passing of Mr. Smith; and be it further

"Resolved, by the members of the bar of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, that this community and this bar have suffered a great loss in the passing of Mr. Smith; and be it further

"Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this Court, and that a copy be presented to his family and given to the press."

At the conclusion of the memorial services, Judge Tate called the grand jury to assemble. He delivered to them a very able and instructive charge, after which they went into the investigation of alleged violations of the law.

BURGLARS BROKE IN BOWEN JONES STORE

The store of Mr. Bowen L. Jones, just west of the railroad in Clanton, was entered by burglars Tuesday night. A quantity of groceries was taken, most of which was recovered by investigating officers Wednesday morning. Some negroes were being held in connection with the theft, and it was stated at the Sheriff's office Wednesday morning that the case would probably be cleared up and the guilty parties placed in jail during the day.

S.S.S. Builds Sturdy Health

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

LAST YEAR WAS BANNER YEAR FOR HOME CLUBS

The year of 1931 was a banner year for demonstration club women and 4-H girls of Alabama. Enrollment numbered 29,228 in 46 counties having home demonstration agents. Of these 15,746 were girls and 13,482 were women. Increased enrollment over previous year was: girls 19.1 per cent; women 16.7 per cent. Increases over 1919 were 362 per cent for girls and 448 per cent for women.

These club women did big things during 1931. Miss Helen Johnston, state home demonstrttion agent at Auburn, reports that it was their biggest and best year for this work by the county home demonstration agents and the state staff of supervisors and specialists.

And the statistics bear evidence to support Miss Johnston's statement. These 29,228 women and girls produced in 1931 products worth $2,724,662.56 — an average exceeding $50,000 per county. Of this $1,104,646.36 was actually received for products which they produced and sold. Products which were not sold were consumed at home.

"As an emergency measure," said Miss Johnston, "special emphasis was placed upon the conservation of food, and 46 agents reported fruits, vegetables, and meats canned for winter use to hte amount of 1,903,637 qts., an increase of 973,492 quarts over the 1930 report.

"Emphasis was placed also upon an economy program in clothing, and 6,865 farm women and girls reported a saving of $85,117.60 by making garments at home, by dry cleaning at home, by making over garments and by making garments and household articles from food, feed and fertilizer sacks."

MAKING PASTURES ON ALABAMA FARMS

How to make permanent pastures cheap and good in Alabama is now known. The Experiment Station at Auburn says that lowlands (valleys or bottims along streams of water) are best. Such lands retain moisture which is essential to the growth of pasture plants, especially during dry weather in summer and fall. There is in Alabama a great deal of such land not being used for any particular purpose.

All the preparation needed for converting this land into a good permanent pasture is to clear our undergrowth, leaving only enough trees to furnish shade. Put the land in condition for mowing, for occasional weeds and briers which are objecmowing will be necessary to control tionable in a pasture.

Breaking or plowing land before planting seed of permonent pacture plants is undesirable. A firm seedbed is best. The best results are obtained by sowing the seed on unbroken ground without covering them. Early spring is the best season for planting.

The best permanent pasture plants in Alabama are Bermuda grass, carpet grass, Dallas grass, redtop (in some sections), lespedeza, white clover, and other clovers. Plant in February or March.

On the lime lands of the black belt there are numerous pasture plants (especially legumes) which are good. This combination contains grasses and legumes. It furnishes good grazing from early spring until late fall. Occasional mowing to control undesirable plants is necessery. A permanent pasture made this way is the cheapest feed for southern livestock.

Application of fertilizers will increase the growth and also the food value of the plant.

UTILIZATION OF SAWDUST AND WOOD FLOUR

The National Committee on Wood Utilization of the Department of Commerce has made a careful study of the many uses for sawdust and wood flour (ground sawdust), both at home anl abroad, and has issued a report discussing in detail the products made from these materials, ranging from unbreakable dolls to dynamite and linoleum.

More than 6,000 tons of wood flour are imported from Europe annually and the report has been prepared with the idea of making this country independent of import supplies and expanding the uses for sawdust and wood flour.

The bulletin is sold at 10 cents per copy or $5.00 per hundred copies, and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

FARM AND GARDEN QUERY BOX

(By K. C. Davis, Knapp School of Country Life, Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.)

Q.—Can weeds be choked out by the growing of other crops over them?

Ans.—Good farmers often sow oats very thick in a field which is rather weedy and thus find a great improvement, because the oats will smother out many of the weeds. Disk the soil or plow shallow and sow about two bushels of oats per acre for this purpose.

Q.—Would you advise sowing rye grass in a lawn or in a pasture at this time of year?

Ans.—February is a good time for sowing English rye grass and other pasture grasses and lawn grasses. For a lawn the rye grass may be mixed with white clover seed and with blue grass seed or other lawn grasses. The rye grass will come first and serve as a nurse crop for about two years for the other grasses.

Q.—Why does grass grow so well under some trees and not under others? I want to plant shade trees along a highway but do not wish to kill the grass. What would you recommend?

Ans.—Sparcely shaded trees are best for growing grass beneath them. Among these might be mentioned black walnut, pecans, soft maples, catalpa, huckleberry, pine, oak, and red oak.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR ESSAYS ON SOMETHING ABOUT MEAT

Chicago, Ill., January 30. — Announcement of the ninth annual national meat story contest for high school girls, offering university scholarships as major awards, has just been made to teachers of home economics in high schools of Alabama and throughout the country. This event is sponsored by the National Live Stock and Meat Board with the cooperation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and a number of agricultural colleges. It will close on March 15th.

Teachers in 694 schools entered their classes in the contest last year, an increase of more than 200 schools over the previous year, it is said. In Alabama there were entries from York, Opp, Birmingham, Sulligent, Ashland, Boaz, Clio, Vincent, Selma, Lincoln, Columbiana, Union Springs, Jackson, Andalusia, and Gadsden. Virginia Chase of Birmingham was the Alabama winner.

Teachers look upon the contest as a material aid to them in teaching their meats courses, according to its sponsors. Students are required to write essays on some phase of the subject of meat and the research required in order to write these essays tends to broaden their knowledge of the subject. The essays may be on any subject from live-stock production to the cooking and serving of meat.

The committee which will judge the stories will be announced at a later date, it is said. As in the past it is the plan to include on this committee leaders in the field of home economics. Dr. Louise Stanley, at the head of the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, served as chairman of the committee last year and for several previous contests.

BITS OF INTERESTING NEWS TO FARMERS OF ALABAMA

Cost of living in the United States was 3 per cent lower in December, 1931, than in the preceding June, and 9.3 per cent lower than in December of 1930, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Retail food prices in 51 cties of the United States, as reported to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor, showed an average decrease of about 2 per cent on December 15, 1931, when compared with November 15, 1931, and an average decrease of about 16 2-3 per cent since December 15, 1930.

The number of radio receiving sets in Germany increased 500,000 in 1931, bringing the total for that country to 4,000,000. In that country each receiving set is licensed, the subscriber paying 50 cents a month, except about 275,000 subscribers who were relieved of this small fee. Among them were war cripples, the blind, hospitals, and unemployed persons.

In little more than two years the Federal Farm Board at Washington has made advances of $189,000,000 cooperative organizations of farmers out of the revolving fund of $500,000,000 appropriated by Congress. As collections were made other loans were made, thereby increasing the total. These funds of the board have been directly beneficial to farmers, bankers, merchants, and others.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said that life insurance companies have invested three billion dollars in railroad bonds and that the mutual savings banks have invested $1,700,000,000. Life insurance companies owning these railroad bonds have 50 million policy holders, and the savings banks represent 12,500,000 depositors.

BAKER SCHOOL NEWS

The regular monthly services will be held at Pleasant Grove next Saturday, Sunday and Sunday night. Rev. G. W. Stewart will preach. We invite everyone to attend. There is prayer meeting here every Wednesday night.

Several of our pupils attended the singing at the courthouse Sunday afternoon.

The Baker boys played the Concord boys last Friday on the home court. The game was a hard fought one, both teams staying along together up until the last six minutes of play, when the Baker boys got away with three field goals. The final score being 11 to 4 for Baker. The latter part of the game was played in the rain, this held the Concord boys down for a little while. The Baker team did not seem to care but very little. Williams for Baker made 5 points. Wyatt for Concord made 4 points. The two teams will play again next Friday on the Concord court.

We are very glad to have one of our pupils, Miss Delene Culp, back in school with us.

Miss Mary Cox of Collins Chapel community is the guests of Miss Bernice and Pauline Cox this week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

(©, 1932, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for February 7

THE SLAVERY OF SIN (TEMPERANCE LESSON)

LESSON TEXT—John 8:31-36.

GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Tells Us How to Be Free.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Makes Us Free.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Fight for Freedom.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Slavery or Freedom?

We are living in a day of boasted freedom. Revolt from authority is almost universal. Anarchy lifts up its vicious head in the home, society, business, state, nation, and the world. It is this spirit which is revolting against the Eighteenth amendment under the pretext of liberty and freedom. Sin which is fundamentally and essentially lawlessness (I John 3:4) is back of all violations of the Eighteenth amendment. The vital truth of this lesson is the only solution of the prohibition question.

I. Discipleship and Freedom (vv. 31, 32).

Violators of the Eighteenth amendment are not true disciples of Christ. Some church men may be against this law, but not true disciples. In these verses Jesus indicates the following stages of discipleship:

1. Believe on Jesus (v. 31). This means not only assent to Christ's teaching, but acknowledgment of his authority. It means to give Christ the place of lordship over the life. All who allow Christ to rule their lives are in sympathetic obedience to the national constitution.

2. Continue in Christ's words (v. 31). To continue in his Word means:

a. Meditation upon it.
b. Confidence in it.
c. Prayer over it.
d. Obedience to it.

The teachings of Jesus Christ constitute the standard of life for every true disciple. His words are adequate for every decision, habit, or duty. The word of God is the sole and adequate rule of authority to the Christian. Indulgence in intoxicating liquor is prohibited by God's Word, even to the extent that drunkards are debarred from heaven (I Cor. 6:10).

3. Assurance (v. 31). "Ye are my disciples indeed." Continuance in Christ's words demonstrates the fact of discipleship.

4. Knowledge of the truth (v. 32). Those who obey Christ enter upon higher knowledge. They have an experiential knowledge. Demands made by God's Word are not always apprehended at the first, but those who continue in the ways of obedience come to know God and see that what he demanded whs right (John 13:7).

5. Freedom (v. 32). The one who renders implicit obedience to Christ enters upon real freedom (Romans 8:2).

II. Righteousness and Freedom (vv. 33, 34).

Those who practice sin are in slavery. The evil doer is under the mastery of the Devil; "whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin." Doctor Pierson says that the sinner's slavery is threefold:

1. Slavery to guilt.
2. Slavery to penalty or judgment.
3. Slavery to power or habit.

A little thought shows the abjectness of this slavery. Consciousness of guilt is universal. All know that judgment is coming. In the sober moments of life all men acknowledge coming judgment and have "a certain fearful looking for of judgment." All know that they are helpless to break their habits of wrongdoing. Freedom is possible only in conformity with the divine will.

III. Sonship and Freedom (vv. 35, 36).

Regeneration is necessary in order to obtain freedom from sin. Sin's power must be broken through the salvation of the individual. The works of the Devil can only be destroyed through the regeneration of the individual. Happily Christ can destroy the Devil's works through the sonship of those who believe on him (I John 3:7-9). The only way to secure sobriety on the part of man is to get him saved through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. The Eighteenth amendment can no more make a nation sober than the ten commandments can make a man tell the truth and desist from murder. The only way to get the benefit of the Eighteenth amendment is to have a revival. It is in securing the sinner's freedom by bringing him as a child into the family of God. So long as people are ignorant of Christ they will remain in bondage to sin. Sin is a hard taskmaster and has as its end death (Romans 6:23)

MT. PLEASANT JR. HIGH WINS OVER CALERA

The Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School boys basket ball team added another victory to their list when they met the swift and clever-passing team of Calera last Saturday night and subdued them by the count of 16 to 13.

It was a fast and furiously fought game, with Curtis Traywick again flashing his goal shooting prowess, in ringing up 10 points for the visiting team. This clever little forward registered 4 field goals which the referee ruled out. He thrilled the large and vociferous crowd of supporters with a gaudy display of dribbling, passing, and shooting. His team mates, Parker and Cecil Traywick, who handles the guard positions, came through with a nice performance in warding off many dangerous threats of the fast-breaking Calera quintet. They played a good defensive game in repulsing the Calera attack and limiting them to only one crip shot. Six of Calera's points came through three long shots from close to center mark, with the remaining five markers being made by foul shots. Eddins and Pilgreen were their high scorers with five points each.

The Mt. Pleasant boys were off to a good start with Curtis Traywick looping the ball for 13 points; but due to having 4 of his field goals struck out, his team led the Calera players at the end of the first quarter 5 to 0. However, at the beginning of the second quarter the home team began to click and were trailing the Mt. Pleasant team 6 to 5 at the intermission. They succeeded in tying the count during the third quarter, 8 all, and again in the fourth quarter, 11 all; but the visiting team settled down and scored a 5-point lead, which was reduced to a 3-point margin when Eddins flipped a beautiful field goal from the center side line. With three minutes to go the Mt. Pleasant players skilfully held possession of the ball by passing in mid-court. Burnett played a clever defensive game for the victors, and netted the ball for 4 points out of five free shots, but unfortunately, through the commitment of 4 personal fouls he was taken out of the game. Eddins, of Calera, also fouled out, but this clever little player threw many a scare into the Mt. Pleasant boys by his long and deadly shots from mid-court.

It was an up-hill struggle for the Mt. Pleasant boys, with the Shelby champions of last year rushing, driving, and threatening all the way through the game.

The Calera girls team eked out a victory over the Mt. Pleasant girls by the score of 14 to 8. Both teams played hard to win, but the home girls outdistanced the visitors, due to their inexperience in playing on the floor and under lights.

A large number from Clanton, Jemison, Thorsby and Mt. Pleasant witnessed the games.

The Collins Chapel team comes to Mt. Pleasant next Friday.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

There were several visitors and a good roll call at Sunday school Sunday despite the cold weather. That shows a good spirit and a willingness to keep our standard at the top. Each teacher does his best to cooperate with the superintendent. We had a wonderful lesson.

Our B. Y. P. U. is doing good work. It visited Shiloh B. Y. P. U. last Sunday night. The program was very interesting. We thank Shiloh for your welcome and invite you over. Visitors come again.

CHANGES MADE IN BUSINESS LOCATIONS

A number of changes have been made in locations of business houses in Clanton during the past week.

J. R. Broadhead & Son have moved their dry goods store across Main Street into the building formerly occupied by Hugh Jones.

The Carter Electric Shop has moved around on the highway into the building where Nivens Grocery Store and Meat Market used to be; and where more recently a bowling alley was operated.

Robert Popwell has moved his pressing shop into the building where the Powell Pressing Shop has been for the past ten years.

ALABAMA FARMS NOW HAVE MORE CATTLE AND HOGS

Alabama farms had more hogs and cattle but less horses and mules the first of this year than a year ago, reports F. W. Gist, state and federal agricultural statistician.

The number of live animals found on farms of the state January 1st this year follows: horses, 58,000; Mules, 319,000; all cattle, 810,000; milk cows, 390,000; milk heifers, 104,000; hogs, 957,000; and sheep, 50,000.

Mr. Gist gave comparative figures for the past three years and then commented:

"Horses decreased during last year about 7 per cent, which is merely a continuation of the steady decrease in the use of horses for farm purposes in this state.

The number of mules decreased by 1 per cent from a year ago, the actual decrease being only 3,000. It is thought that this number represents a probable contraction of farming operations as well as from death and mortgage foreclosure.

"The number of cattle on farms increased 5 per cent over a year ago, and the number of milk cows increased by the same proportion. Outside of milk cows and milk heifers the increase is probably due to small sales in consequence of lower prices.

"Hogs increased 10 per cent over a year ago, which is due both to restricted sales and slaughters. Small sales were due to lower prices while fewer slaughters resulted from the extremely warm weather prior to the first of January."

BILIOUSNESS CLEARED UP

BILIOUSNESS may show itself by a coated tongue, bad breath, headache, spots before the eyes, dizziness, poor appetite, "dopiness," but prompt relief may be expected from taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

"When I got bilious, I had a bad taste in my mouth, and then severe headaches that put me to bed," writes Mrs. Anna Copeland, Anderson, S. C. "I found Black-Draught relieved this. I felt better after taking it. Black-Draught certainly is a good medicine."

It would not have been used so long, or by so many, if it wasn't really good. Get a 25¢ package at the drug store.

Both Senators Bankhead and Black Staid out of Fight Against Chilton

Notify Senate Committee They Will Not Oppose Hoover's Appointment; Big Surprise Here

Not only have protests of the appointment of Arthur B. Chilton as United States district attorney for the Middle District of Alabama failed to materialize, as was generally predicted when he received a recess appointment last Summer, but both of Alabama's Democratic senators, Hugo Black and John H. Bankhead, have notified the Senate judiciary committee that they will not oppose confirmation of his appointment when it is brought before the Senate this week, according to a dispatch received last week. Confirmation of the appointment, it was indicated, would be only a formality.

The dispatch from Washington, dated January 27, read:

"Confirmation of the appointment of Arthur B. Chilton to be United States attorney for the Middle District of Alabama will be voted by the Senate in the immediate future. It has been pending before the judiciary committee since early December. No protests were filed and Senators Black and Bankhead Wednesday notified the committee they have no objections to confirmation."

Big Surprise Here

The announcement occasioned surprise both in the ranks of the Democrats and Republicans in the State. Mr. Chilton was an aggressive political enemy of Senator Bankhead, both in his campaign for the honor in the primary and election. Mr. Chilton was an active stump speaker in the interest of Senator Heflin's campaign and in the interest of President Hoover.

Leaders of both parties from outset have assumed that Senator Bankhead would oppose Mr. Chilton's confirmation, although neither Senator Bankhead nor Senator Black has publicly indicated his position regarding confirmation of his appointment.

However, Senator Bankhead has repeatedly told his Democratic friends in Alabama he would oppose confirmation.

While Senator Black and Mr. Chilton also were on opposite sides of the political fence in the Democratic campaign of 1930, Senator Black going on the stump for the Democratic party and Mr. Chilton speaking in behalf of the independent nominee, Senator Black, nevertheless was not without obligations to Mr. Chilton, who is understood to have supported him in his race for the Senate in 1926. Senator Black at that time was the Klan candidate and Mr. Chilton was one of the leaders of the Montgomery Klan organization.

Chilton's Record

Mr. Chilton succeeded Grady Reynolds, Republican, who had held the office by recess appointments for about four years. Since taking over the office he has handled matters that came before him with dispatch, one of his first tasks being the preparation and filing of condemnation proceedings to acquire land for additional construction work at Maxwell Field.

With the assistance of J. O. Middleton, assistant United States district attorney, he has also assumed a vigorous role in the prosecution of prohibition offenders, his chief coup in this work being the conviction of a large number of Phenix City residents for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Mr. Chilton was in Dothan last night where he has been for several days assisting the Federal Grand Jury in its investigation of a large number of seed, feed and fertilizer loan fraud cases, in which indictments were returned against several prominent citizens of Houston County.

Senator's Views

A late dispatch from Washington read:

"While a number of messages had been received by the Senate judiciary committee from regular Democrats of Alabama objecting to the appointment of Chilton, who was one of the bolters in the 1928 campaign, none of them contained any charges against him. The committee does not consider political objections in cases of nominating. Protest to be considered must contain specific charges involving the ability or the integrity and character of the nominee.

"Inasmuch as the nomination was submitted the first week in December the committee this week called upon Senators Bankhead and Black to ascertain if they had received or desired to file any charges against Chilton. Neither Senator had received any charges and they so notified the committee.

"Senator Bankhead said tonight that although Chilton had made obnoxious charges against him in his campaign in 1930 he did not feel that, in the absence of charges against Chilton by any of the citizens of Alabama, he should interpose an objection on purely personal grounds. Senator Black took the position that he should not make a personal issue of the appointment particularly in view of the absence of charges against Chilton and also because of the hopelessness of securing appointment of a regular Democrat at the hands of President Hoover.

"As matters now stand the subcommittee will report to the full judiciary committee next Monday and the nomination will be reported to the Senate with a recommendation for confirmation."

SENATE TO DELAY ACTION ON ARTHUR B. CHILTON

Washington, Feb. 1.—Complications have arisen in the nomination of Arthur B. Chilton to be United States attorney for Middle Alabama District and instead of ordering a report favorable to confirmation the Senate judiciary committee Monday deferred action.

The delay was due to receipt of additional protests and the fact that one announced that the protestant would submit affidavits containing charges against the nominee. Senator Ashurst of Arizona as chairman of the subcommittee handling the case decided to wait a reasonable time for the arrival of the promised affidavits. While protests were received when the nomination of Chilton was submitted early in December, none of them contained charges involving the ability or the character of the nominee. The judiciary committee does not consider protests merely upon political grounds and after waiting some weeks the subcommittee called upon Seators Black and Bankhead for their position. Botn senators stated they did not care to raise an issue on purely personal grounds, in the absence of charges against Chilton by citizens of Alabama. Had it not been for the receipt of protests promising affidavits containing charges, the subcommittee would have recommended confirmation Monday.

COATES BEND SEED WORK SUCCESSFUL

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 1.—Farmers of Coates Bend community, Etowah County, are now enjoying success in their efforts to become the first 100 per cent, one-variety cotton community in the Southeast.

Soon the second season since the Coates Bend Cotton Improvement Association was organized last spring will find all of the 57 farmers in the community planting the same, improved variety of cotton, reports on seed improvement work to offices of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation here show.

County Agent L. L. Self, who, along with others interested in producing better cotton, promoted the organization, says that all members of the association are deligted with their efforts.

Last season members of the association planted 1,825 acres in D. & P. L. 4-8 cotton and produced 978 bales, which is an average of 278 pounds of lint per acre or 72 pounds per acre more than the general average for Alabama. There, is only one gin in the community and it gins only cotton of association members. The average gin turnout was 40.8 per cent.

The average staple length, as determined by a reputable licensed classer, was 31-32 inch, the range being from 15-16 to 1 1-16 inch. Reputable cotton men estimate that the average premium received due to staple length has ranged from $2 to $2.50 per bale.

In addition to producing and saving pure enough planting seed for themselves, farmers of the community have either sold or have for sale more than 16,000 bushels of the improved seed. This is expected to add much to their cash return from the effort.

"A CLOSER WALK WITH GOD"

"Are you walking with God?" Come to Poplar Springs to B. Y. P. U. next Sunday night, February 7, and hear this subject discussed. This is a splendid subject for a young band of workers to have the opportunity to speak from. We have some real good speakers on program and we urge that everybody who can be present.

We would be very glad to have a large number of our old people, people who never had the opportunity to attend B. Y. P. U. when they were young. We will assure you that you will not regret your trip.

Also, we would like to have a large crowd at Sunday school. Let us try to bring our attendance to 100 per cent.

Don't forget the subject for Sunday night. Everybody come and bring someone with you.

MT. SPRINGS

We had a good attendance at Sunday school last Sunday with two additions. It seems that there are some who have become disinterested.

Our Christian Endeavor met last Sunday night with good attendance.

Everybody is invited to come to Sunday school next Sunday at 10 a.m. and Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p.m. Visitors are always welcome.

LET THE PUBLIC BE THE JUDGE

The following is the business transaction between parties concerned, Mrs. Lovie Poole and Mr. Will Cox, dated November 19, 1927.

The said Will Cox bought Mrs. Poole's farm and also 20 acres of Reedie Taylor's land, for the sum of $6,992.00, paying $1,000 cash down payment. Mrs. Poole paid Reedie Taylor $750 for his 20 acres, leaving Mrs. Poole $250 as cash down payment, therefore leaving a balance of $5,992 which Will Cox owed Mrs. Poole.

Then in 1929 he paid $592, as another down payment, leaving a balance of $5,400. Then through carelessness and neglect on Mrs. Poole's part she overlooked the balance on property and thinking it was correct at $5,000, instead of $5,400, he then seized the opportunity and asked for a receipt to that effect without rectifying the mistake. As the naked eye can see he therefore got $400 illegally.

Will Cox gave Mrs. Poole a mortgage on 30 acres of land of the Arthur Thompson place. Then in 1930 he sold 25 acres of the Thompson land and 10 acres of Mrs. Poole's farm to George Mims for him to take up $1,750 on Will Cox's note, leaving a balance of $3,250 which Will Cox owed Mrs. Poole.

Interest on the $3,250 for the year of 1931 amounted to $260, which is yet unpaid. In 1931 he deeded back to Mrs. Poole 75 acres for the balance of $3,250. The 20 acres at $750, and the $400 he got illegally and the interest of $260 amounts to $1,410.

The total amount he paid Mrs. Poole was $1,592, and deducting $1,410 from that amount leaves a balance of $182.

Mrs. Poole sold the 75 acres to Frank Mims for the balance of $3,250.

This is a statement of the transaction which is published upon the authority and at the request of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Poole. Mrs. Poole requests that all who read this please read also the 16th chapter of Proverbs.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Mrs. G. C. Harris, a recent bride, Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. M. Moore in South Clanton.

The home was beautifully decorated with pot plants and cut flowers, artistically placed.

The bride was attractively gowned in queen blue flat crepe.

The bride's book was presided over by Elizabeth Harris, becomingly dressed in green.

The many guests were delightfully entertained with interesting contests under the proficient leadership of Mrs. John Moon. All contest prizes were graciously given to the bride. Many lovely gifts were brought by the numerous friends.

Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mesdames R. W. Lowe, T. M. Taylor, G. F. Harris, D. T. Popwell, D. L. Chancellor, J. Q. Wade, S. J. Ezell, L. R. Williams, J. H. Williams, C. D. MARKETS FOR DIVERSIFIED PRODUCTS

The crying need of Southern farmers is for cash markets which will take their surpluses of diversified products. Many farmers' exchanges exist here and there over the South. The time is now ripe, says The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist, to take the foundation which has already been laid and build on it a comprehensive South-wide system which would reflect credit on the Farm Board and all other agencies affiliated with it in so progressive an enterprise.

"Not only would such an effort give power and vitality to the whole program of 'balanced farming' which has been preached in the South for fifty years, not only would it help provide a hope of cash income without which the outlook in every cotton and tobacco county is now serious, but such a program would do another thing: It would help develop in farm localities all over the South both (1) a training in cooperative methods and an appreciation of their importance and also (2) a leadership for cooperative enterprises, developed from the ground up, a local leadership invaluable to the large scale cooperative the Federal Farm Board has sought to set up. The great weakness of such organizations heretofore has been that they are not backed by a trained and understanding rural public opinion back in the farm neighborhoods from which the membership comes. The promotion of local marketing associations or farmers' exchanges would do more than anything else to provide the strong support and the occasional corrective which such a properly developed rural opinion would provide for large scale cooperatives."

Our office pessimist says that the cost of living may be going down but that living isn't worth as much as it was back in 1929.

Some people are already wondering how many comic valentines Uncle Sam will get from debtor nations he has befriended.—Washington Star.

ITS NO PLACE FOR THE UNITED STATES

The decision of the administration in Washington to abstain from all participation in the reparations conference shortly to take place in Europe is consistent with the contentions and attitude of Washington from the beginning. The United States always has held that reparations is strictly a European matter, in which this country is not concerned, and official recognition of the conference, even to the extent of sending an observer, would be an opening wedge to consequent recognition of the legitimany of the French contention that payment of the war debts to this country depends upon payment of German reparations to those that owe us. There is neither reason nor logic to bolster such a contention, nothing but assumption by a nation that wants to dodge its honest obligations.—Detroit Free Press.

OVER $3,500 WORTH OF CHICKENS

The Union-Banner is indebted to J. Dudley Collins for calling our attention to some figures on the poultry car recently gathered and shipped from the county by the county farm bureau. The total weight of the poultry bought was 25,209 pounds; the price paid was 14 cents a pound, which amounted to $3,529.26.

Mr. Collins calls our attention to the fact that the market in Clanton was paying 9 cents a pound for chickens at the time the car was shipped. This made a saving to the poultry raisers of 5 cents a pound, or a total saving of $1,260.45.

These figures are worthy of note. If you care to conjecture a little, you might see how much of Mr. Stapp's salary this saving alone to the farmers would pay. Of course practically all of this money went directly to the dirt farmers of the county; and to carry the figures a little further, the farmers of the county pay only about one-third of the country's part of Mr. Stapp's salary. Figure on the proposition a little and see where you land.

HAVE YOU A SON BORN BETWEEN 1911 AND 1927?—

All boys born between 1911 and 1927 are threateneh by the danger of war, writes Dr. Clarence Poe in The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist. "Other causes may just now loom larger in the headlines of the daily papers, but as we see it there is no news more important in all the world than that of the approaching world disarmament conference to be held in Geneva next February," says Dr. Poe, and quotes the following warning from Dr. Douglas Freeman of the Richmond News-Leader:

"Have you a boy born between 1911 and 1927? Have you lavished love on him and sacrificed for him, seeking to give him a chance in life? Unless America can reverse her history, you are rearing that boy to be a target for machine gun bullets, a prey to poison gas. Not only so, but you contribute to his danger when you lend yourself to international hate; yes, even when you are indifferent to promoting the cause of peace you are adding danger to the life of the boy you love. It will be you, not he, who will say whether he marches away to return no more. Your generation, not his, will neglect the safeguards of peace and promote the rivalries that led to war. Your contemporaries, not his comrades, will pass the conscription laws, on which the ardent spirit of youth will hardly wait. It is absolutely within the power of the parents of young children in the United States to say whether their sons shall inherit war or peace; but American parents must use that power now. They cannot wait until the quarrels are made and blood is hot and the mob mind is past control. If your boy is killed in the next war after you have exerted yourself for peace, other men are his murderers. If he is slain after you have been indifferent about peace, his blood is on your own head."

Dean Inge, declaring that the world can get along without wars, rouge and lipstick, well might have added gloom to the list.—Hamilton (Ont.) Spectator.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

It has been the favorite method of attack by the professional pacifist, who would disarm the United States in what he claims is the interest of world peace, to charge that those sound Americans who do not agree with him are favorable to war and are seeking to make the United States a militaristic nation. Nothing could be further from the truth, and it is coming to be pretty generally recognized that the real sound, constructive pacifist, who would keep Uncle Sam at peace with the world is the man or woman who believes in adequate preparadness for defense. The assertion of George Washington that the best way to assure peace is to be prepared for attack was never truer than today.

An illustration of the soundness of the statement that the real agent of peace is the citizen who believes in adequate defense is found in a recent stirring address delivered before a notable audience under the auspices of the Cameron Club at Alexanderia, Virginia, bl Senator Arthur R. Robinson, of Indiana, one of the statesmen of our upper national legislative body who can always be found on the side of sound, constructive nationalism.

Senator Robinson presented his audience with some striking statistics on the terrible losses which came to America because of the World War. In addition to the loss of life in battle and the expenditure of billions of dollars the senator stated that at this time, thirteen years after the signing of the armistice, we have not yet reached the peak of disability, so terrific as was in the modern sense. Sixty thousand Americans, he declared, lie buried and awaiting the Judgment Day on foreign soil, and there are 63 veterans' hospitals, in nearly every state in the Union, with 150,000 beds all occupied, and with huge waiting lists in addition. This does not begin, he added, to tell the story of human sacrifice and suffering, while on the material side there is depression and a money loss which will finally amount to a hundred billion dollars.

All of which ought to indicate that Senator Robinson, himself an ex-service man, is not a militarist in any sense of the word. Yet, he declared in the same address, while we do not want war, and recognize it as a terrible thing, the way to avoid such suffering in the future is to be prepared to defend our land against it, so that other nations will hesitate to attack us. International agreements, when the crisis comes, are futile things as the recent events in Manchuria well prove to us.

No sane person in the United States wants war or desires that our country engage in war. Yet every sane person who studies the world situation carefully must realize that, as the richest nation in the world, if we destroy our defensive armament and depend on international agreements entirely, we will only invite attack, at the first opportunity, from some nation which does not place its faith in scraps of paper. Equitable reduction of armament by world-wide agreement, is of course much to be desired although not to be confidently expected at any time in the near future. But to advocate that Uncle Sam sink his navy, abandon his army and abolish military training as a pacific example to the rest of the world is, charitably speaking, but to show one's asinity, especially in the present state of world feeling.

We were not prepared to defend ourselves at the beginning of the World War. Had we been adequately prepared it is possible that some of the terrible loss which Senator Robinson so graphically described, might have been avoided. And there is today, as Senator Robinson recognizes, no same argument against adequate preparedness for defense. The men and women who advocate such preparedness are the real constructive pacifists of America.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Ground Hog Day—Well, old ground hog day has come, and gone, and the old pig did not get even a shadow of a chance to see his shadow. In fact, he didn't have a shadow in this neck o' the woods. So, we can all go on about our business of planting all our beans and things without any fear that they'll get all frozen and everything. Lots of folks were out helping the old piggy look. You'd think folks wouldn't pay any attention to such old time sayings as that, but they do. I saw numbers of people out squinting up at the overcast skies, trying to decide if Mr. Ground Pig could find enough sunshine to make a shadow from. For a while it looked like he might get enough shadow to get scared at, but a new scud of clouds sailed over and saved the day.

Who Wants War?—Here of late I can't hear talk of anything but war, and I'm pretty well fed up on it. Everybody and his brother is talking about it. Most of the folks, of course, don't want it, but every once in a while I hear a loose nut in the pile rattle loose. For instance, one day last week, some bird perked up and asked another if he was coward enough to try to slip by some way and let some other fellow lose his life in his place. That isn't bravery. I looked that fellow over and I could pretty near decide what he would do, if Uncle Sammy should decide to dress him up and fatten him—on hot lead. He looked just like a guy who would try to get an easy place if possible. It doesn't take a brave man to want war—it takes a fool. I can't think of a better term for anyone who really and truly wants war. I know I don't want it, and I don't believe I would be called to arms, either. Here's the low down on war. Money is spent—lots of it, lives are sacrificed, and when it is all over we just take up where we left off and go on. If that isn't foolishness, I'd like to know what IS foolishness. A fight never has and never will settle a quarrel. In the long run, it's just a little applied horse sense that is used to settle the argument any way, so why not use the horse sense at first and save all the frightful cost? But that's just another one of those things which can't be explained. If war comes, we'll just have to win if we can, and then try to forget it as soon as possible—that's all we can do. That's that.

A One Horse Town—Once upon a time a town about the size of Clanton or smaller was called a one horse town. But not any more. Nowadays, it's a "one light town." If you don't believe Clanton is a "one light" town, just stroll down the street some night and have a look. The only light we have is the traffic light—just one of them. The lights which are up there to really light up the town fall down miserably in filling their mission. No joking, the city government should feel ashamed of Clanton's lighting system. Of course, the little "winkers" are strung along ever so often on the street, but they don't light the town. Somebody says you'd have to strike a match to see if one of them was burning. I wish—and I believe lots of other folks wish the same—that the powers that be in our town would see fit to light up the old burg so we wouldn't have to wait until the sun comes up to see where we're going—on foot.

Something About Taxes—The tax collector gave out a little information the other afternoon. Upon being asked about the poll taxes, "Bill" Culp—pardon me, Mr. Culp—stated that 1,081 "single barrels" had paid up, besides 430 others who were not "single barrels." Yep—I knew it—now you want to know what a "single barrel" means, just like I did. Bill explained that a "single barrel" is one who pays for only one year, while the others ranged from two to six years. Well, that isn't so bad. Remember, besides these 1,511 paid up voters, there are those who are over 45 years of age, men and women, and, also, there are quite a few World War veterans who have had their papers fixed up, and are qualified voters. We ought to have a big time this year, with this voting business. About May 3rd the primary comes off—then on June 14th the run-off, and then the grand finale in November. So much for that. I started off about Mr. Culp's report. "Bill" reported that about $105,000 had been paid in taxes during the last 15 days of January.

Bully Of The Town—I know you have all heard "The Bully of the Town." I can't think of anything else, as I read, now and then, of the way the Japs are carrying on over in China. It makes me think of the way a bully works, with Japan as the swell-headed bully. You've seen it. A bully begins putting on some little fellow who can't protect himself, or a big fellow who won't protect himself, and keeps on adding insult to injury, just so long as he can do so and get by with it. But just let somebody step up and offer to knock his block off, and Mr. Bully begins to back water at once. I believe as Will Rogers says—if Uncle Sammy, or England, or France had stepped in and told those bullish Japs where to head in at instead of sending so many peaceful notes, they would already have gotten the big war idea out of their heads and been back at home planting their rice. After all, I don't believe there will be any declarations of war, as the big boys seem to have become fed up on Japan's high-handed atrocities, and are beginning to talk straight from the shoulder. If they will back up this stand with a little hot lead, it won't be long before "that bully can't be found."

Glimpses—Music in the air—Farmers Hardware Company is putting on a paint demonstration. John VanDerveer and somebody tied up in a hot checker game—that ought to be interesting. Just dropped in at one of the "big" Clanton stores, and what do I find?—the bull-shooters convention in full sway—some of the fellows are certainly in high, too. I never saw so many cabbage plants in all my life—seems like we'll have plenty to eat, if we can muster a little cornbread and buttermilk to go along. John Armstrong in his hunting togs—more "pattridges." Here's a bunch talking about the war—I'll listen in. One fellow says that when he gets "there," he'll rate three C's on his back—Conscripted, Caught and Carried—I don't believe he means it, though. Another guy says, like the negro in the last war, "I'm not going to 'valentine,' and when they get me they'll have to 'concrete' me and take me." "Red" Wagoner feels philsophical about it—he isn't worrying about having to go—he just KNOWS he'll be called. A bill collector has caught me—just shows you that I ought to move around more—just too bad, but I'll have to pay off.—Man in the Moon.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

When I was a college boy I climbed three flights of steps in rapid strides to attend a Y. M. C. A. meeting. The service had already begun, and knowing this, I did my best to go up the stairway in double quick. Just as I took my place in the room the music ceased, and the leader called on me to lead in the prayer. I was all out of breath. I made an assault at praying, but I had no breath. My sentenceds were too long on account of bad breathing, and I puffed and blowed and hustled and said, "Amen." It is mighty slow going when a man tries to pray when he is all out of breath. If you doubt it, try it. That is one reason why many of our church members do but little praying. They are chasing pleasure, bridge parties, popularity, business and the like with such zeal until they are all out of breath in a religious sense, and they have no spirit for prayer. They bluster out a few stale expressions at night, and call that praying. John Wesley said: "I am all out of breath chasing lost souls." When you chase lost souls all day, you have spiritual lungs that will give you power in prayer, when the night hours come.

Years ago I visited a dog kennel in Bullock County. On the yard were to be seen all kinds of dogs. They were of all colors and sizes and brands. Some very fine dogs, and some that were common curs. I saw a man walking about over the yard with a long whip swinging to his belt, and I ventured to ask him: "What is your job on the yard?" With a smile he replied: "Why sir, my job is to keep the dogs from fighting." About that time two big hounds hitched up for a rough and tumble, and as quick as a flash this fellow was there, swinging his big whip, and dogs scattered like leaves before an autumn wind. That fellow seemed to be worthwhile among that bunch of dogs. His job was to break up the fights. Not many days ago I heard a church member giving a new definition to the word "pastor." The conversation was circling about the preacher of a certain church, and here is the definition that was given: "About all that pastor can do with his flock is to walk about among them and break up the fights." If a preacher can do no more with his people than to merely "break up the fights" that spring up among them, he is worthwhile. His job is not only to keep down bad feeling, but to teach his flock how to love each other; then to feed them with the bread of the gospel. Friends, listen to me, a pastor in a community is worth more to that community than ten policemen.

While riding along the road I saw three men out in a swamp cutting the timber and piling the brush. That swamp land was rich in soil, and yet it was a wilderness of briars, brambles and trees. The three men had gone into that wilderness with their strength and with their working tools, and they were saving it from the mud and the waste in which it had been lost for centuries. They were saving it from being a hiding place of snakes and varments, and a generating place for mosquitoes and miasma. They were going to transform that wilderness into a place where grain would grow, and where cattle could feed. Had it ever occurred to you that saving men and women from the ways of sin, is like saving a swamp from its collection of brambles and briars? The person who is living in sin is not only going to waste himself, but he is sending out an influence that hurts and harms others. The greatest work on earth is to rescue the souls of men from the brambles of sin, and transform them into a field of production and life. O for a thousand willing workers to enter this task.

The gardener dug up a briar root, and carried it to his flower yard. The unsightly root lamented: "What a mistake, I am just a briar, and what a mistake to plant me in this garden." The gardener came again with a keen knife and made a slit in the briar, and grafted a bud into its bleeding body. The briar cried again: "What a mistake to cut me with a knife and to make me bleed." Soon the wounded place healed, and a bud was growing. Summer came on and that briar had lovely roses blooming on its branches, and then it was filled with astonishment and admiration. The gardener came again, and this time he did the talking. Here is what he said to the briar: "Your beauty is not due to that which came out of you, but that which I decided to put into you." When Christ is grafted into us, then it is that we come into the possession of the beautiful elements of life. In the passing of the years, and in the growing of the soul, beautiful things bloom into our conduct. These beautiful things of human life, do not come up from within us, but they come out of what has been grafted into us in Christ Jesus. The human soul can produce beautiful roses only when Jesus has been grafted within. The gardener did wonderful things with the common briar, but Jesus can do still more wonderful things for us when we allow him to be grafted into our being. Surrender your rugged self into the hands of the Master, and let Him grok beautiful roses in your character.

Ed Wagoner Gone To Texas

Ed Wagoner, the barber, received word Monday that his father, William Wagoner, was seriously ill at his home in Mineola, Texas. Ed left here Tuesday morning to go to see him. According to the information received, it was doubtful if Mr. Wagoner would live until his son got there. William Wagoner is a native of Chilton County. He has lived in Texas for several years past.

Martin's Funeral Home

For several weeks the work of remodeling Mell Martin's Funeral Home has been going forward. The progress of the work has been slow because Mr. Martin had to continue to carry on his busines in the building at the same time. It is about completed now, and the place has a very decided improvement in appearance.

Snow Last Saturday

In spite of the fact that this has been the warmest winter within the memory of many of us, it must be recorded that we have had a fall of snow. Last Saturday while the sun was shining very brightly a brisk shower of snow flakes peppered down from a white blanket of cloud that was being whisked over us by a cold and bristling wind. So much for this winter, as much of it as we have seen. With the divergence of opinions about the groundhog prognostications, we will not venture a calculation as to what may come before the real Spring days arrive.

In Memory of Judge Smoot

Very fitting and duly impressive was the occasion on Monday morning when the Circuit Court of Chilton County paused for a few minutes to pay respect to the memory of the late lamented Judge George F. Smoot. Resolutions prepared for the occasion were presented by a committee of the Clanton Bar. While it was the very best outward expression that words and actions could make, yet every heart felt that it was a very feeble expression of the real feelings that are cherished for Judge Smoot. It was simply one of those occasions where words could not express the sentiments of the heart.

Hon. Alley C. Smith

Togther with the memorial to Judge Smoot, the Circuit Court and the Clanton Bar also paid a tribute to the memory of Hon. Alley C. Smith, who was one of the outstanding lawyers of Clanton for many years. Mr. Smith as a man and a citizen and a lawyer, lived and moved in his community with a manner and a sincerity of purpose that will cause his memory to last with us as long as we shall be here to trod the ways of the earth.

Looked Like Old Times

Coming around the corner Tuesday, what do you reckon I saw? J. B. Atkinson walking up the street toting a little gallon can of kerosene with an Irish potato stuck on the snout to keep the oil from sloshing out. I wonder if he too is fixing to use the kerosene lamp as a political argument.

Newspapers Are Popular

The daily newspapers have surely had a spurt in circulation figures during the past week. Everybody grabs them to read about the war in China. With the approach of a possibility that Uncle Sam will get mixed up in the scrap lots of the boys are enjoying the fun of joking each other about getting into the army. It is a lot of fun, boys. But it is a lot of other things besides fun. War is just what Sherman said it was; and I for one hope we never have another war in the world. But the world is not going to let Japan do something now for which billions of dollars was spent and millions of lives were sacrificed to keep Germany from doing.

The Community Bakery

A young man by the name of Crumpton, son-in-law of Mr. Walter Foshee, now has charge of the business of the Community Bakery in Clanton. I hope he gets the patronage that he deserves. If he does, his business will become a permanent thing in Clanton. We need such a business here. The bakery has a place in our business life just as well as the drug store, the laundry, or the grocery store. It is strange that we have never had a bakery in Clanton that lasted very long. Let us help Mr. Crumpton with his business. He is a man of experience in the business, and well trained technically.

THE FARM BOARD'S OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVING THE SOUTH—

Our Southern farmers are perfectly willing to take the unanimous and oft-reiterated advice of agricultural leaders and adopt diversification—provided only markets for diversified products are made available. "This is the form of agricultural marketing which almost the whole South stands desperately in need of," says the current issue of The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist, and adds:

"The whole South needs a permanently reformed agricultural system and this reform must be based and bottomed upon one substantial achievement—the promotion and establishment of cash markets for all the important products of a diversified agriculture.

"Here is the great opportunity for a new member of the Federal Farm Board. We believe that he should be named from the Southeast and while assisting the board with its general policies regarding cotton and tobacco in this territory, we believe he should be especially encouraged (1) to promote the establishment of small local farm marketing associations or farmers' exchanges for handling farm products other than cotton and tobacco, and (2) to promote the wise federation of such local marketing units."

Isn't it too bad that these scientists can't find a serum that will vaccinate us against the depression?

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

Although the management of Thorsby Hardware Company has passed to new owners, they are still good fellows, and provide space on one of their showcases for that box which has so long stood ready to receive your items for The Union-Banner. Notes placed in the box before noon on Tuesdays of each week, except when Thursday of that week is a holiday, will be collected and sent along in time for that week's issue of the paper, for Thursday holiday weeks Mondays will be the latest they can receive attention. Please note this.—S. E. Norton.

Arrangements have been made for Mrs. Each to spend a couple of weeks recuperating from her long illness, at the Each cabin, at Crestview, Florida. She will be accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald.

That P.-T. A. chicken dinner last Friday was what might be called "A Hum-Dinger." Par excellent, such bountiful serving of so many kinds of food and all so skillfully prepared as to tempt one to eat just short of capacity, certainly shows interest, intelligence and enthusiasm on the part of the management and all who had a part in it, and will go far to establish a "Cum Bak" feeling in all who were served.

Wednesday night at 7 o'clock there will be the usual mid-week service, followed by a meeting of the official board of the church.

On Thursday afternoon of this week, the Congregational Ladies Aid Social will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Lucas.

Word comes from Sidney Davenport, who has for several weeks been ill at the apartment of his sister, Miss Hattie Davenport, in Birmingham with his wife to care for him, that he is slowly improving and hopes to be able to return to Thorsby in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson had as guests last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Carl Petersen and Jack.

Mrs. Martin Petersen spent Monday with Mrs. Russell Petersen in Jemison.

There will be communion service in the Congregational Church Sunday morning and stereopticon lecture in the evening, entitled "Touring in Southwest."

Hollis Pate and wife left last Monday for Montgomery where he has obtained work.

Luby Gore and Lois Bean were married Saturday, January 30th, at the Congregational parsonage, Rev. Each officiating.

Mrs. M. J. Primm is spending several days with her cousin, Mrs. Josie Askins, in Clanton.

W. H. Raybon and Hugh Primm visited Clanton Saturday.

Mrs. C. M. Williams and Charlene spent the week end in Birmingham.

Mrs. Theran South of Birmingham spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Roy Raybon.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Laurell, Mrs. W. F. Love and little daughter, Christine, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell, celebrating Mr. A. N. Laurell's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Townsend of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell.

Miss Bertha Littleton of Birmingham spent the week end with relatives in Thorsby.

The Christian Endeavor meeting was led by Janie Kelley. The theme was "The Right Kind of Leadership." The society was divided into sides—one side "blue" and the other side "white." The blues won because more on that side gave parts without reading them. Special music was sung by the dormitory girls.

Mr. I. S. Gerald, L. E. Moody and wife, were visitors at the home of their mother, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, for the week end.

Mrs. W. F. Love of Birmingham visited with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. N. Laurell, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. R. M. Smith and Mrs. J. L. Mixson spent Wednesday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Hall, in Union Grove community.

Messrs. C. A. Mead, Earl Mead, and Elbert Hall went to Montgomery on a business trip last week.

February 20 at 7:30 p. m., the annual declamatory contest of Thorsby Institute will take place. Four boys and four girls will participate. A five-dollar gold piece will go to the girl who wins, and a five-dollar gold piece to the boy who wins. Every one is invited. Admission for students will be ten cents; for all others fifteen cents.

The Queen Esther Sunday School Class of the Congregational Sunday school elected the following officers: President, Camilla MacCullam; vice-president, Elizabeth Wells; secretary, Gladys Smith; assistant secretary, Juanita Each; treasurer, Mavel MacCallum.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Vines and daughter, Eleanor, of Ensley, spent the week end with Mrs. Ernest Porter and Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. H. V. Thompson of Birmingham was a week end visitor with her family in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mead were visitors in Birmingham Saturday.

The J. R. Martin family have rz0(kvnow shmb shrfg hrfg rdwk moved from their home in town out to their farm north of Thorsby.

Mrs. D. H. Gentry will move this week from the Freeman house on Washington Avenue to her own home just vacated by Donald Merchant and family going to the Swedish parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith, and Misses Marian and Georgia Fairbank went to Mount Olive Church near Tallassee last Sunday to attend a fifth Sunday meeting of delegates from all Congregational churches in this district.

EASTERN DISTRICT CLINIC

Probably the most important meeting of the year to all the W. M. U. officers will be held February 9th at Tallassee, Ala., beginning at ten a.m. and lasting until three in the afternoon. Every associational officer should be present. An award will be given to the association having the best delegation of officers present. No matter how insignificant you may feel that your office is, be there.

The day will be spent in group and general conference. Experts assist all leaders of young people in solving their individual and collective problems. Have you been feeling handicapped or uncertain? Have you problems that you cannot solve? Then be certain to come to the clinic.

W. M. S. presidents, do you want your society to take on new life? Do you want this year to be the best your society has ever had? Then bring all your officers to the clinc. It is for every person who would be a better and more missionary minded servant of our Lord.

Each person is asked to bring a pencil and a loose leaf note book 8x10 and to be there at ten o'clock without fail.—Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Vice president of Eastern District.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the good people of this community who were so kind to us during the sickness and operation for appendicitis on February 1. The following names are those who lent a helping hand in getting me enough wood to burn throughout the winter. They are: Mr. J. E. McDowell, W. C. Moore, John Wilson, Jim Miller, Lee Cox, Arthur McDowell, Richard Wilson, Roy Traywick, C. A. Foshee, Audie Blalock, John Hollie, Harran Dennis, Reedie Patterson, Allen Rough, Renzie Blalock, Floyd Patterson, Theo. Wilson, and one colored man. May God's richest blessings abide with you all. —Mr. Latham Wilson and family.

WHAT ABOUT RABBIT HUNT?

The time is approaching when the annual rabbit hunt in Chilton County will be in order. February 22 is the date heretofore set for these occasions.

If anyone is planning a community or county rabbit hunt, it should be advertised next week. Let us hear from you if you are planning one.

JUST LOOK AT THE WANT ADS.

Yes, we might say the above words for two different reasons. We might say it because we as a newspaper are proud of the many want advs. people over the county are running this week; and we might say it in order to get as many of our readers to look over them as possible.

We have called attention to this column in the paper before. We believe that it is a good advertising medium, and the cost is trivial. Everybody in the county nearly reads the want advs. in The Union-Banner—that is the reason this kind of advertising pays so well in comparison with the cost.

If you have anything to sell, or if you need something that somebody possibly has to sell, advertise the fact in the want adv. column of The Union-Banner.

Mr. J. E. Jernigan, printer, of Wetumpka, was in Clanton Tuesday.

KIWANIS CLUB HAS SPEAKER FOR TODAY

Members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club have in store nothing short of a treat today at their luncheon at 12:15, at the Baptist church.

J. E. Lewis, Lientenant-Governor of Kiwanis, of Selma, will be here today as the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon of the Clanton club. Official installation of new officers will also take place today.

On Thursday, February 18th, it is understood that the Kiwanis Club of Montgomery will come to Clanton to meet with the local club and stage their own program.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Baker of Sylacauga visited Clanton last week.

Mrs. Effie Mae Norris, Miss Dera Colley and Mrs. Alphia Wyatt were in Montgomery Wednesday.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Treasurer of Chilton County, subject to the action of the Republican Primary to be held on the third day of May, 1932. Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

A JOYFUL GATHERING

Doubtless the happiest people in Chilton County last Sunday were assembled in the courthouse in Clanton, either singing or lending ears to those who were making melody galore. Little thought of the depression or the war between China and Japan can possibly mingle with melody rendered in the manner that it was on last Sunday.

Chairman O. L. Devaughn knew his task when assigned to start the work going. He equally knew his co-singers, when he detailed Messrs, Devaughn, Robinson and Glasscock to the task of arranging the program for the afternoon. To prove to the occasion the committee doubtless selected the very best of the directors from the multitude present. The old adage which says take the poorest first and then have the best as the last needed no notice in this instance as the program began with Mr. W. G. Culp directing. The following directors were called upon in order listed: A. H. Glasscock, Akins Collins, J. C. Jones, E. L. Glasscock, W. L. Sanders, W. M. Devaughn, Lee Grant, R. L. Martin, Dr. Williams, T. E. Wyatt, G. C. Powell, and Chester Wyatt. Those who performed so faithfully at the instrument were Mr. Lum Robinson, Mr. W. G. Culp, Mr. Lee Grant and Miss Guy Eula Collins.

The climax was realized in the beautifully rendered quartet by Messrs. Devaughn, Devaughn, Collins, and Jones.

If the public doubts the power of good sacred music driving away the gloom and worry, just try attending either the Central Singing Society at Coopers or the United Singing Society at Thorsby next Sunday afternoon.—Luther E. Little, Stanton, Ala.

JESSE BAKER

Republican Candidate for

County Treasurer

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

Having been solicited by a great many of my friends, and because I would like to serve the public in that office, I have made up my mind that I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Treasurer of Chilton County in the Primary which will be held on the third day of May.

I have no long statement to make, as I do not feel that it is necessary for several reasons. I will say, first that I have served as County Treasurer in the past. I am proud to say that my record of service is such that I am proud to point back to it and say that it was the kind of service which I hope to give the people again if the voters see fit to nominate and elect me to the office.

In the second place, I want to say that I am a Republican from away back. My father and forefathers have been among the first people in Chilton County who voted the Republican ticket. So far as my connection with the politics is concerned, I want to say that I lay claim to no affiliation other than as a firm, loyal, honest, and conscientious Republican. I have never countenanced or affiliated with any so-called factions of the Republican party. And if I am nominated and elected as your servant again in the Treasurer's office, I have only one promise to make, and that is this: I will first of all endeavor to serve all the people of the county in the manner they are entitled to; politically, I will continue to be a Republican, and will always endeavor to co-operate with the other Republican officials of the county to the end that our party may be strengthened and perpetuated for service to our people in the years of the future.

Now, that is all at this time. I will be glad for all Republicans to consider my candidacy, and if you can support me at the Primary and lend me your influence among your friends, I tell you now I will appreciate it most sincerely.—Jesse Baker, Clanton, Ala.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES NEW TRUCK MODELS

Featured by new low prices, new chassis and bodies, the most complete commercial line ever built by Chevrolet goes on display this week at Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.

Price reduction averaging $25.00 are included in the 1932 price list, which extends from $355 for the half ton chassis to $1,020 for the 1 1-2 ton van panel.

Twenty eight standard production models, an increase of eight over last year, comprise the 1932 Chevrolet commercial line, which includes three wheelbases—109 inch truck, 131 inch truck and 157 inch truck.

"There are many important improvements in the 1932 line," said Mr. W. M. Polk, of Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc. "Among the most notable are a special heavy duty truck engine with greater power, larger and heavier clutch, more rigid frame, stronger springs, stronger rear axle, new transmission, new wheels, and roomier, neater cab.

"Bodies by Chevrolet, too, have been greatly improved. Appearance has been particularly stressed. A choice of 12 colors is offered at no additional cost. Comfort, also, has been strongly emphasized. Cushions are larger, they are better constructed, and more seating space is provided. In addition excess body weight has been eliminated without sacrificing strength or durability.

"The half-ton truck has a strong channel steel frame braced with five heavy cross members on which large capacity bodies can be mounted. Stronger axles, smooth clutch, easier steering mechanism, and new wire wheels are among the features it offers. The engine is the same as used in the heavier duty trucks. The transmission is the new syncro-mesh type, permitting silent gear shifting. The radiator shell, fenders and related parts have the same sturdy appearance as the truck line.

"The 131 inch wheelbase truck, which has a 1 1-2 ton capacity, is supplied with either single or dual wheel equipment. It has a frame six inches deep, a four speed transmission, ten inch clutch, heavy duty front axle, a new, heavier, more rugged rear axle, and a special truck engine. The truck has an allowable gross weight of 7,400 pounds when equipped with single wheels, and 8,200 pounds when dual wheels are supplied.

"The 157 inch wheelbase, 1 1-2 ten truck, has the same pay load capacity as the shorter truck, uses the same major units except the frame, which is much heavier and stronger, and is supplied with either single or dual equipment. This truck is extended to carry bulky loads which require more body space.

"The half-ton truck is offered in all standard production models, six of these are new. They are open cab pick-up with canopy top, closed cab pick-up with canopy top, special panel, de luxe panel, special canopy express with screen sides. The remaining five models are open cab pick-up, closed cab pick-up, standard panel, standard canopy express with screen sides. In addition, a 'special chassis' has shock absorbers with chrome radiator shell, headlamps and tie bar, and with fender well tire carrier, is offered this year.

"There are ten standard production models available on the 131 inch wheelbase. One of these, the standard stake express, is new. The remainder are panel, canopy express, canopy express with screen sides, open express, high and wide express, standard platform, standard stake, and van panel.

"Seven standard production models are offered on the 157 inch wheelbase. Two of these, the stake express and combination farm body, are new. The remaining five are high and wide express, platform, stake, high rack, and van panel."

MRS. HEFLIN ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Grady Heflin, worthy matron of the local chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, was hostess last Thursday evening when she entertained the officers of the chapter at a six o'clock dinner at her attractive home.

Officers present for this affair were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Smith, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Pipes, M. F. Jones, Mesdames Lois Mims, Hattie Alred, Mary Bess Smith, Alice Hudson, Eula Gragg, Lula Arant, Essie Walker, Ada Atkinson; Misses Ruth Sessions, Dollie Mae Harris and Zora Guy.

AGRICULTURE GETS SOLONS' ATTENTION

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 1.—Farmers of America are getting attention in the efforts being made at Washington to rehabiliatate the nation's economic system, observes E. L. Deal, executive secretary of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, in reviewing the legislative situation in relation to agriculture.

The first relief measure passed by both houses was the so-called Federal land bank bill, appropriating $125,000,000 for capital stock to the Federal land banks. This measure, which had Farm Bureau support, is expected to be of considerable help in a credit way to agriculture. An amendment to the bill sponsored by Senators Black and Bankhead sets aside $25,000,000 of the appropriation to be used at the discretion of the banks, for extension of loans of dilenquent borrowers who because of bank failures and depression are unable to meet their obligations now.

Legislation of this nature was requested by the executive committee of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation in a resolution passed November 28.

Also of special interest to farmers is the fact that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, mightiest of the depression-cure measures, is empowered to make loans to agricultural and livestock credit corporations, and from its $500,000,000 capital there is set aside $50,000,000 to be used for loans to farmers in states where bank failures and depression have made the obtaining of production credit impossible, Deal said.

He added that the national farm organizations are busy at Washington sponsoring legislation on a number of important problems, including amendment to strengthen the Agricultural Marketing Act, stabilization of the unit of value, regulation of commodity exchanges to limit speculation, and fairer taxation.

POULTRY

FEEDING CHICKENS FOR HIGH HATCHABILITY

(By Prof. Paul G. Riley)

When the experiment station, the observing, practical poultrymen, and the highly interested commercial hatcheries agree on certain factors that control hatchability the points on which they agree must be accepted as facts. To date there have been three factors or facts that are agreed on by the three groups mentioned above. These factors are.

1. Sunshine—not filtered through window glass or a heavy coating of dust on some of the commercial products, which lets the ultra violet light into the chicken house, or cod liver oil.

2. A plentiful supply of green leafy material—such as alfalfa, clover, soy bean, or blue grass leaves.

3. A complete protein.

Following a period when we have a lot of natural sunshine, hatches are usually good. Ordinarily during the winter months we strike a period when the amount of sunshine is limited. During this period cod liver oil should be fed to the breeding birds, at the rate of one pint of biologically tested oil per one hundred pounds of mash.

Leafy material is usually contained in the form of alfalfa, in all high quality egg mash, but it is difficult for a sufficient quantity of this material to be put in this egg mash, without having a tendency to lower the possibilities and the consequent egg production. Therefore, it is good business for the poultrymen to supply additional green leaves, either in the form of hay or alfalfa leaves, added to a wet mash, either in the form of meal or coarser leafy material or to feed a commercial product made up of a mixture of alfalfa and molasses.

The complete protein can be supplied to quite an extent through the use of milk, but the safest way is to use a variety of proteins, adding to the ration, such protein carrying products as milk, soy bean oil meal, meat scraps, and other accepted high quality carrying materials. A number of these materials should be included in the mash, in order to assure the third factor, a complete protein.

FOR JUDGE 19TH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

I hereby announce myself as a Candidate for Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, composed of the Counties of Autauga, Chilton, and Elmore, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary of May 3rd, 1932.

Your vote and influence will be appreciated. Thanks!

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robinson of Clanton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Campbell, of Acton, visited relatives in this community Sunday.

Those visiting Misses Thomasine and Lefoyl Dorminey Sunday were Misses Bonnie Hilson, Winnie Kate Robinson, Ruby Williams, Edna Robinson, Amie Porter, Viva Glass, Amy Robinson and Christine Conway; Messrs. Osmond Dorminey, Claude Glass, J. B. Deason, Howard Munday, Luther Jones, Howard Robinson, Harvie Barnett, Ramon Robinson, James King, Clay Hamilton, Erskin Martin, Bill Barnett, Cyrus Thrash and James Dorminey. Everybody enjoyed the afternoon very much.

Mr. J. B. Beason of Thorsby spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. Howard Robinson.

PROGRESS MADE IN IMPROVING COTTON

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 1.—Efforts being made by farm organizations and farm education workers to improve the quality of Alabama's cotton crop are beginning to bear fruit.

The latest government report on the subject shows that 92.1 per cent of the 1931 crop staples 7-8 inch or better, and that 15.5 per cent was better than 7-8 inch in staple.

Last spring, due to promotional work done by the farm bureaus, chambers of commerce, county agents, and others, cotton seed planted on 186,760 acres of land was of recognized improved varieties as recommended by the Auburn experiment station. Most of these, or 119,070 bushels were grown by Alabama farmers and saved at "gin days." On "gin days" only cotton of the improved variety was ginned at the cooperating gins, and every effort made to keep the seed pure. The remainder of the seed were purchased cooperatively from the originators and breeders. In all 140,070 bushels of pedigreed or "gin day" seed were planted.

These seed have now been multiplied, according to J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist of Auburn, and close to 800,000 bushels or nearly enough to plant one-third of the Alabama cotton acreage are now available, having been saved at "gin days" conducted in the fall of 1931.

"It behooves every good citizen to promote good cotton, as many believe this is the only way we will ever regain our former predominant position in foreign markets," said E. L. Deal, executive secretary of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation. "The good planting seed now available should by all means go into the ground."

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

CONCORD NEWS

The game between Concord and Baker Friday, on the Baker court, was the "slickest" game of the season due to rain.

The game was interrupted several times because of rain. At the end of the first half the score was 4 to 5, but in the last half Baker rallied and ended the game with a score of 11 to 4 in her favor.

Baker returns the game next Friday afternoon, February 5th. Remember the date and see the game.

Those going from Concord to Baker last Friday were Flora Mae Mims, Rachel Lynch, Pauline Baker, and Louise Johnson.

Our Sunday School is just fine. We have ninety-six on roll and sixty-eight were present Sunday.

Our B. Y. P. U. is improving. We have fifty-five on roll and forty-one were present Sunday night.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day; every one has an invitation to come.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Taylor had as their guests last Thursday Mr. R. W. Taylor and Dr. Hayes of Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Patterson, Mr. Revis Patterson, Miss Ola Mims and Miss Jewel Marie Patterson spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lumpkin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Maddox spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. John Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Moates spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Noah.

Mr. Rudolph Moates spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lubbie Moates.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Minor, Mr. Mack Bates and Miss Martha Janes Mims spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mims.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Taylor spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Taylor.

Mr. Herman White spent Sunday with Mr. O. H. McDowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Taylor spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McDowell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilson and children spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mims.

Don't forget to come to church next Sunday. Be there for Sunday school at ten o'clock.

We have an enrollment of forty-one in our Parent-Teachers Association. A very delightful program was rendered by several of the members at the last meeting. The next meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, February 24, at 230.

RECENT BRIDE IS HONORED WITH SHOWER

Misses Doris and Irene Dennis were joint hostess Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. F. Merchant in Jemison, when they entertained with a miscellaneous shower, honoring Mrs. Lonnie L. Cobb, formerly Miss Frances Rubye Merchant.

Spring flowers were used in decorating, a color note of green and yellow prevailing in appointments.

The honoree was presented gifts from guests by little Willie Frank Merchant, sister of the bride.

Mrs. N. A. Dennis and Mrs. F. F. Merchant assisted in serving refreshments to the following: Misses Virginia Hubbard, Mary Clements, Vonzell Atkinson, Isabell Messer, Bessie, Jessie, and Grace Meigs, Mirian Harvey, Ruth Reynolds, Lucille Merchant, Ola. Rogers; Mrs. George Nash, Mrs. Rufus Childress, Mrs. T. I. Ward, Miss Mattie Hand, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Bachelor, Mrs. Lottie Adams, Mrs. W. G. Atkinson, Mrs. Dezzie Littlejohn, and Miss Ottis Merchant.

ECONOMIC CLASS ENTERTAINED GUESTS

Last Friday the Home Economics Class of the Chilton County High School, in charge of Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, entertained a group of guests at luncheon at the County High School building.

Preparation and serving the luncheon was entirely in charge of the girls of the class. The table was arranged in a hall back of the stage and provided ample room and a very delightful setting for the occasion.

Prof. L. C. Warr, principal of the school, was toastmaster. About an hour was devoted to the affair, during which time a number of the guests made impromptu speeches.

In addition to the faculty of the school the invited guests were C. C. Conway, chairman of the county board of education; and S. M. Yates, S. J. M. Webb, W. L. Sanders, W. J. Billingsley, members of the board; Buford Lawrence, county superintendent of education; Miss Madge Scarborough, elementary supervisor; Mrs. C. E. Stapp, attendance officer; W. M. Wyatt and V. J. Elmore, members of the board of trustees of the Clanton schools.

Words of the highest praise and appreciation for the cordiality of the faculty and the efficiency of the Home Economics Class were expressed by every person who was the recipient of the favors of this excellent occasion.

The Home Economics class of Isabella high school will give, "What About Betty," a play in three acts, February 13th. This is a very interesting play and one you can't afford to miss. Follow the crowd to Isabella on the above date, and forget the depression.

JEMISON F. F. A. NEWS

The F. F. A. boys believe the best way to learn is by doing. This past week their home project was to feed a milk cow, and keep record of feed and of milk produced by each cow, and they tested milk at school.

They learned that many farmers were feeding an all-grain ration entirely, and no hay. The first thing in winter feeding is to give the cow all the leagume hay she will eat. Many farmers feed cotton seed to cows when they can trade it for cottonseed meal. One hundred pounds of cottonseed meal is equal to one hundred seventy pounds of cotton seed. Therefore, the farmer is getting cheated out of seventy pounds of seed when he feeds cotton seed altogether.

The regular F. F. A. meeting was called to order at 10:30 a. m., by the president, Mr. Maurice Hodgens, and several important points were discussed, among them being the leading qualities of the F. F. A. boys to create a degree of leadership.

Mr. Maurice Hodgens gave us an interesting speech on the duties of the F. F. A., and that we should thank Mr. J. P. Montgomery for his kindness in paying our fees. Plans were made for our next two weeks work.

NEW HOPE NEWS

Mrs. Lawrence Lineberry from Tallassee has been spending this week with home folks, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McKee.

Mr. William Hobson Mills and Miss Glennie Mahan of Montgomery spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mahan.

Mr. John McKee has gone to Texas. He will be gone quite a while.

Miss Maude Mahan spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Ruth Jones.

Miss Evelyn McKee spent last Sunday night with Miss Maude Mahan.

Mrs. Floyd Mahan had a quilting last Tuesday. The following were present: Mrs. Jack Gentry, Mrs. Tom McKee, Mrs. Lawrence Lineberry, Katheryn Baker, Mrs. J. M. Mahan, Mrs. Hermie Smitherman, Miss Maude Mahan, Mrs. Jess Retherford.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of our friends for their help and kindness during the sickness and death of our husband, son and brother, Herbert Collins. We pray God's richest blessings on each one of you all.—Mrs. Herbert Collins, Alfred Collins, Brothers and Sisters.

CONCORD P.-T. A.

Do you know your teacher? Does your teacher know you? Is your child doing what you think he should? Are you interested in making conditions better for your school? When you made the assertion about the attitude, method of instruction, or methods of discipline, did you do so with a knowledge of the functions of your school?

These and numerous other problems and questions can be solved and answered by joining and attending the meetings of our Parent-Teachers Association.

We met for our second time January 27. This was a very spirited meeting.

Some organizations have committees who will not commit, but the reverse condition was witnessed in our program and membership committees. The program was very interestingly rendered by the school and Mr. O. H. McDowell, who gave us a very sound talk on P.-T. A. work. Mrs. Stapp was again with us. She taught us a song and gave us good advice. Come again Mrs. Stapp. Our membership has swelled to 41.

Judging from the spirit exemplified by all present at our last meeting we are in for making real things happen in a real way at Concord.

Be with us at the next meeting, February 24, at 2:30 o'clock. Watch for further anonuncement.—Sec'y.

SHILOH NEWS

We are proud to say our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are progressing nicely. Group One just lacked one reaching the record of an A-1 in daily Bible reading. We sure are proud of the work the young people are doing and we hope Group Two will keep climbing until we have a perfect B. Y. P. U. We want to express our thanks to the Bethsalem B. Y. P. U. for giving us such wonderful program Sunday night. They surely gave some nice talks; and every one, I think, could say they did enjoy the program. They did wonderfully. The judges gave the average per cent after they finished and the per cent was 85.

Next Sunday and Sunday night is our regular preaching day, and we want to ask everyone who can and will to come and give a good audience. We will have B. Y. P. U. before service, and our subject will be "A Closer Walk With God." Everyone who can come and hear it.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Guy Nelson is still on the sick list. We hope she will soon recover.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Bice, Mr. and Mrs. Julius B. Mullins went to Pilgrim Rest to see their son and brother, Mr. Vester Bice, and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keen were the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Keen, of Pilgrim Rest community.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal Baker spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims.

Miss Agnes Mullins spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. Harrison Owens, of Crossroads community.

The party at Misses Agnes and Verlon Mullins's last Wednesday night was enjoyed by a number of young people. The guests were Misses Ethel, Elta, Truitt, Aileen and Hyrtice Mullins, Misses Thetma, Maggie and Jewell Pierce, Messrs. Dawson Tucker, Howard Boockholdt, Jesse Pierce, of Enterprise, and Mr. L. C. Cagle of Bethsalem, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius B. Mullins.

Mrs. J. F. Pool and Mrs. Jessie Lee Watts spent a little while with Mrs. J. D. Mullins Monday.

Miss Myrtle Pierce will return home from Selma this week if nothing happens, where she has been visiting.

Mrs. Arthur Hicks of Billingsley is visiting in this community.

Mrs. T. W. Billingsley and sons, Client and Billy, of Baker community were visiting Mr. J. D. Bice and family last Friday.

Don't forget services next Sunday and Sunday night. Everybody is invited.

DISGUSTUS JACKSON

Editor Union-Banner:

Just a word to that subscriber who eased up to you on the corner; and asked: "Who is this here Disgustus Jackson who is writing so much in the papers?"

Mr. Subscriber, did you get Disgustus at what I said about Mr. Hoover in a recent date of our county papers?

It might be good that you and I could be like the good natured fellow was one time when he and two companions were taking a stroll. They came upon a dead dog; they stopped, and his two companions began burlesquing the poor old dead dog, and saying isn't he ugly; my, doesn't he stink. The good natured fellow broke his silence by saying, hasn't he got pretty teeth?

When Mr. Hoover comes to his political death next fall we might say hasn't he been a great financier for himself?

And again Mr. Subscriber, let us remember the negro church house that had only one door; and at a funeral at this church, after the parson delivered one of his best funeral sermons, and announced that the lid would be removed so that friends and loved ones might file by for a last look. Just as soon as the lid was lifted the corpse sat upright in the casket and a great excitement followed. It took only a few seconds for the frantic congregation to disperse through a single door.

Following the calm after the storm, one good sister said to another: "You know, Sister Liza, I didn't know our parson cussed so?" The other looked puzzled. Do he cuss sho nuff? She asked. Do he, you should a heered him after dat cawpse riz up an he was tryin to git in de open. I heered him plainly as he was tryin to get out. He say: "Whut de hell did they mean by ever buildin a church wid jus one door in it?"

Mr. Subscriber, I am of the opinion that you believe in a political house that has only one door; and one door keeper. You will hear a lot of people say during this year: "I do not like a political house with just one door and one door keeper." Because it has become Disgustus.—Respectfully—(Disgustus) A. A. Jackson.

UTOPIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

On Thursday morning, January 21, the literary societies of Isabella High school met in the home economics room. After the meeting was called to order by the president of the Epicurian society, Luther Mims, it was decided that the election of officers for the last term of the school year should take place, instead of presenting the regular program.

The members of the Utopion society assembled in the history room for the election of their officers. The following officers were elected: president, Marvin Durbin, vice-president, R. C. Veazy, secretary-treasurer, Elizabeth Mims, Sergeant at arms, J. P. Poole. The program committee consists of R. C. Veazy, chairman, Miss Williams, Myrtle Durbin, S. L. Broadhead and Odell Higgins.

It was decided by a majority vote that the name of the society would be changed. A committee was appointed by the president consisting of Pauline Durbin, Lorene Lecroy and F. D. Headley. At the next meeting this committee will present a number of names and the members of the society will choose one of the names presented.

This is the beginning of a new year for the society, and by the cooperation of the members with the executive officers, this will be the best year ever for the society.

In a meeting of the program committee with the officers Friday, January 22nd, many difficulties were discussed and resolutions made to make the programs better. The purpose of the society is to develop leadership. By putting different students on program each time, and by the annual debate, we hope to develop leadership in younger students as well as in the advanced ones.

Myrtle Durbin, Reporter.

ADVERTISES DANCE HALL

Mr. Edison R. Thompson of Clanton, well known throughout by his many friends throughout Clanton and Chilton County, who has had several years service with the U. S. Army and Navy, and also the U. S. Coast Guard, has just opened up a dance hall in the building formerly occupied by Broadhead Dry Goods Store on Main Street, near Farmers Hardware Company.

The building has just been painted, inside, white, and Mr. Thompson wishes to invite all the people of Clanton and Chilton County to come in and look this new hall over. He wishes to send his invitations out to every friend. Mr. Thompson will have the hall ready for dancing on Saturday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock, until 5:00 o'clcok, square and round dancing combined; and dancing every Saturday night from 8:00 until 12, midnight, round dancing; and on every Tuesday nights from 8:00 till late.

Mr. Thompson has had many years experience in dancing and dance halls, and he wishes to tell his many friends of Clanton and throughout Chilton County, don't fail to bring your partner to the next dance, on Tuesday night, February 10th, at 8:00 p. m., for he wants to put on the grand march parade. Admission will be fifty cents a couple. (adv.)

THE ELECTRIC REVENUE FROM 56,000 HOMES

Is Required to PAY OUR TAXES

THIS Company's taxes for 1930 amounted to more than $1,900,000, equivalent to more than 11 cents of each dollar of gross revenue.

The revenue received for electric service to the average home was approximately $35.00 for the year.

This means that to pay the steadily growing taxes assessed against this Company takes the entire electric revenue received from a full years service to 56,000 homes. Few people realize what a large part taxes are in the cost of electric service.

Yet—this fact stands out: Despite increases in taxes and other costs, the average kilowatt hour cost of electricity in the home using this company's service has steadily declined in the past five (5) years. In 1926 the average home electric rates were 37.1 per cent higher than for year ending October, 1931.

The decline in average rates paid by the users of domestic electricity when compared with the rise in this Company's tax payments per dollar of gross revenue affords a striking contrast, as this chart clearly shows.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETINGS

The Alabama Department of the American Legion is planning to hold simultaneous meetings of all posts in the state on February 18, at 8:00 p. m., according to D. Trotter Jones, Adjutant. "These meetings are called for the purpose of discussing pending legislation or any kind of legislatoin that might affect the ex-service men," remarks Adjutant Jones. The plan is to have a visiting legionnaire at each meeting to address the veterans. "Plan to make these meetings county-wide if there is more than one post in your county. See if you can arrange to have a joint meeting on this night and have every ex-service man in the county attend, and learn just what legislation has been secured for them, and the additional legislation the legion is striving for this year," Adjutant Jones writes the post commander.

DORSEY DANIEL DIED

Mr. H. M. Burnett received a message Monday stating that Dorsey Daniel died Sunday night.

The deceased formerly lived at Clanton. He was about 21 years old; a brother of Misses Mary and Fanny Daniel. He has two brothers, Tom and Sam.

The mother of the Daniel children is a sister of Mrs. Mandy Burnett, first wife of Mr. Henry Burnett.

PREACHERS BY THE SCORE

Chilton County certainly ought to be a good place to live in, if plenty of preachers will make it so. We did not know that there were half so many preachers until a week or so ago. You can guess how we found it out.

One day last week a young preacher by the name of Headley away up in Cullman county availed himself of our offer. He is formerly from Chilton county. We have not kept count of them, but we are sure that twenty-five or thirty have already been in or written in since our offer was published. Lots of them we did not even know were preachers. The only one we can think of right now who has not had his name put on the list is Elder Blossom of Shilo and Mount Giliad. Guess he is so far back in the wilds that he hasn't heard of our offer yet.

Some time later, we are going to publish the entire list and let the rest of our readers know how many preachers we have got. But we are proud of them. May the Lord bless each and every one of them and help them to do great things for the cause of religion. Religion rightly observed and reverenced is one of the greatest needs of the world today. If everybody had a genuine dose of religion in their souls, there would be no war, no depression, no prohibition, and no anything except peace and love and happiness among and between everybody.

So, may all these preachers go on with their work of admonishing their fellow men of the dangers ahead and try and save them from the pitfalls that line the wrong road.

A WELCOME LETTER FROM AN OLD FRIEND OF OURS

A few days ago The Union-Banner received the following letter from Mr. J. A. Langston:

Littleton, Ala., January 28. Editor Union-Banner:—Please extend my subscription to The Union-Banner for another year. Also send the paper to Otis Robinson, Littleton, Ala., for a year, and to A. L. Bearden, Billingsley Route 1 for a year. Enclosed find money order for three dollars for same. Yours very truly J. A. Langston, Littleton, Ala. The Banner is just like a letter from home.—J. A. Langston.

"THE FLOOD" AT WADE'S THEATRE

Absorbing Human Interest Drama with Mississippi River Locale

"The Flood," Columbia Pictures' spectacular feature which comes to the Wadsonian Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, February 8th and 9th, is a thrilling and absorbing human interest story laid in the locale of a small town on the banks of the great Mississippi River.

It is crammed with excitement, romance and drama and has stirring scenes which vividly depict the confusion and terror that result when the Mississippi wipes out levees and overflows the surrounding country. The plot is splendidly motivated and the characterizations are true to life.

The story tells of the adventures of pretty Joan Marshall who innocently becomes involved in an episode and is forced to leave home because of small town gossip. She goes to a nearby city and there marries an engineer. To her dismay, her husband is ordered to her home town to steam a threatened break in the Mississippi levee. Malicious tongues again wag and many highly dramatic complications arise. The stirring story mounts to a startling climax when the waters of the Mississippi break through the levees and inundate the country.

Eleanor Boardman has the role of Joan Marshall, the heroine. She unquestionably displays the best acting of her career. Monte Blue, as an upstanding young hero, gives a splendid performance. David Newell gives an excellent performance as Randolph Bannister, a philanderer.

Other members of a particularly fine supporting cast are Frank Sheridan, William V. Mong, Ethel Wales, Arthur Hoyt, and Violet Barlowe. James Tinling's direction was well handled throughout.

SAM CAPITANA IS HURT IN WRECK

Sam Capitana was hurt last Saturday morning at Lomax when a tire blew out on his motorcycle. The injured man was brought to Central Alabama Hospital by Joe Duncan. He was suffering with concussion of the brain.

Capitana is a machinist who works at Ensley. His home is at Maplesville.

JUDGE F. LOYD TATE OPENED COURT HERE

Hon. F. Loyd Tate, of Wetumpka, recently appointed judge of this circuit, to succeed Judge George F. Smoot, deceased, was here Monday morning to open the session of circuit court, in which the grand jury was empaneled and started out on its investigations.

This was the first appearance of Judge Tate on the bench of Chilton County since his recent appointment.

Besides the work of the grand jury, the court was engaged in the hearing of some pleadings in a few minor cases on the civil docket.

Solicitor Winston Huddleston was in charge of the grand jury, and Hosea Downs was foreman.

John L. Gore, former Sheriff of Chilton County, was a visitor to Clanton Monday. Mr. Gore is now enjoying the peacefulness of life on his farm near Union Grove in Beat 12.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Home Economics Luncheon

The advanced class in home economics under the supervision of Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin entertained the county board of education, the city board of trustees and the high school faculty at a luncheon Friday, January 29th.

The high school colors, blue and gold, formed the color scheme. The delightful centerpiece for the table was composed of jonquils and iris. The same color scheme was further carried out in the attractive place cards designed by the home economics girls.

A well appointed and well planned four-course luncheon was served. Between courses appropriate speeches were made by each member of the Board and by the trustees.

Much credit must be given to these girls who so efficiently prepared and served the luncheon and to Miss Griffin, whose interest fostered the plan.

There have been many improvements in the home economics department this year, and we feel some real constructive work is being done in this department.

High School Buys Radio

Chilton County High School feels itself very fortunate in being the owner of a radio. The machine is a Majestic and a 1932 model. It has the very latest additions that can be put on any machine.

The purpose of the radio is to give all the school children an opportunity to listen to and appreciate good and wholesome music, and to enjoy other educational advantages that it affords.

The assembly program on Friday is given to music appreciation conducted by Walter Damrosch over the N. B. C. network. Plans are being worked out to enable the pupils to receive the daily news review.

PROGRAM AT POOR HOUSE

The B. Y. P. U. of Poplar Springs beginning at 1 o'clock. The subject will put on a program at the county alms house next Sunday afternoon, to be discussed will be: "A Closer walk with God." Also there will be singing, and preaching by Rev. W. H. Wilson. The public has a cordial invitation to attend and help in the singing and listen to the other parts of the service.—B.Y.P.U. Members.

ITEMS FROM STANTON

W. H. Stuart resigned his place in the school at Stanton here Saturday to take effect immediately. Monday he left for Montgomery for a few days. From there he will go to Houston, Texas where he will take up his duties with the government as an enforcement officer.

He asks the writer to say that he enjoyed his work with the pupils and teachers, also the contact made with the parents and that he regrets very much to sever his connection here as a teacher, but under the circumstances he deemed it proper to do so. He desires to be kindly remembered by all, especially his pupils, who are his friends. May success crown their efforts ,is his sincere wish.

Grady Houston is in Clanton this week serving on the jury.

Miss Sarah Woolley was in Clanton Saturday visiting friends.

There was a large crowd at the picture show last Wednesday night at the school house. The very low price, the quality of the show and the ticket selling campaign put on by the pupils of Mr. Little's room combined with the fact that the school gets a percentage of the receipts, are responsible for such a large crowd.

Miss Lonnie Mae Burnett, also Vernie and Douglas Burnett were shopping n Selma Saturday.

Shelton Cook left Sunday on a busi-trip to Columbus, Ga.

Mrs. Flukner of Selma visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell, Monday.

Mrs.Sarah Coker of Gadsden visited friends and relatives here last week.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Sunday, January 31, was an enjoyable day for Uncle John Campbell, who, with his children, grand children, great grand children and many friends, celebrated his eighty second birthday anniversary.

In spite of feeble health and declining years, Uncle John was able to walk around and talk with his loved ones and friends who had come from far and near to show their love and respect for him.

Those of his children present were Mr. (Bee) John A. Campbell and wife of Calera, Mr. George Campbell and wife of Silura, Mrs. W. H. Thrash of Sylacauga, Mr. Tom Campbell and wife of Mt. Pleasant, Jemison, Mrs. Mack Martin of Route 2, Jemison, and Miss Lula Campbell of Mt. Pleasant. Only one of the family circle was absent, James A. Campbell; however, his family was all present.

Those present of the grand children were Mr. Norman Campbell and family, of Acton, Mr. Grady Thrash, Sylacauga; Mr. Leonard Martin and family, Jemison, Route 2; Mr. Bernie Martin and wife, Jemison, Route 2; Mr. Reuben White and wife, nee Miss Nellie Martin, Jemison; Mr. Z. Merrell and wife, nee Marjorie Campbell, Silura; Mr. Ike Jefferson and wife, nee Dullie Campbell, and son, Silura; Mr. Charles Foshee and wife, nee Bertha Campbell; Mr. Ermon Seals and wife, nee Gladys Campbell, and children, Calera; Mr. Jean Barefield and wife, nee Pearl Campbell, and little son, Calera; Mr. Homer Martin and wife, nee Audie Broadhead, and family, Calera; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Campbell and family, Birmingham; Miss Emma Campbell, Mr. Marian B. Campbell, Stanley and Jimmie Campbell, Route 2; Miss Deamie Campbell, Luther, Clinton, Katie and Aubrey, Miss Ina Campbell, Calera. There were ten of the great grand children present.

There were also present, Mr. and Mrs. Pomp Robinson and family, Mrs. Obe Robinson and daughter, Lucille, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Roper and daughter, and a host of others too numerous to mention. We were very glad to have with us, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell from Siluria, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Martin from Calera, and Mr. Elzey from Birmingham. All the daughters and daughters-in-law and the younger married ladies all brought baskets just laden with the most delicious things to eat. Aunt Lucy always has a dinner that would do justice to a king. Two large tables was spred, but there was such a bounteous feast the tables would not accommodate all the food, or all the folks at one time. Uncle John graced the table. His prayers are always a divine inspiration to those who hear him.

Uncle John received some very useful and attractive gifts from various relatives and friends, which were highly appreciated by him, especially a dainty hand painted cup and saucer, presented by Emma Campbell, who is a junior artist, and aspiring artist in the future. About three p.m. after everyone had enjoyed the day, the folks began to leave for their various homes with the hope in their heart that they would be permitted to attend another birthday celebration with Uncle John next year and many years to come.—A Friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis and the latter's sister, Miss Reese, all of Lowndes county, visited Mrs. C. B. Curry in Clanton Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Edgar of Birmingham visited their parents here during the past week.

OUSTER AGAINST JIM MIMS FILED

Charges Say That He Does Not Live In District Which He Serves

It became known in Clanton this week that quo warranto proceedings have been filed in the Circuit Court of Chilton County to oust J. M. Mims from the office of County Commissioner of the Second Disrict of Chilton County, on the grounds that he does not live in the district which he was elected to serve as commissioner.

The case against Mr. Mims was filed by J. D. Bean, a citizen of the Second District, through his attorney, Percy M. Pitts. The case will come up for hearing in the Circuit Court before Judge Tate at some time in the near future.

The charges against Mr. Mims are understood to allege that he lives in Clanton, which is in the fourth Commissioner's District, while he was elected two years ago to serve as Commissioner of the Second District.

The petition requests the Court to declare the office vacant for the reasons set out. If the Court should hold the charge valid and declare the office vacant, an appointment would be made by the governor of Alabama to fill out the unexpired term.

A statement from Mr. Mims relative to the matter asserts that he is a citizen of Beat 9, where he has resided for many years; that while he has stayed in Clanton quite a bit in the last two years, he maintains his permanent address at Thorsby.

FORD PICTURES NOW HERE

Pictures of the reception of the twenty-millionth Ford car in Clanton are now available at the office of Clanton Motors. The scenes are shown of the crowd who greeted the Ford party upon its arrival at Clanton Motors Building; also the presentation of the flowers by Miss Ruth Sessions, and the presentation of the watermelon by Judge Reynolds.

If you desire one of these pictures to keep, apply at the office of Clanton Motors, local Ford Dealers in Clanton.

WOODMEN CELEBRATION ON MONDAY NIGHT FEBRUARY 22

A big celebration is being planned by the Clanton Camp of W. O. W., for Monday night, February 22, in honor of Washington's Birthday.

The occasion will be the initiation of a large class of new members into the mysteries of Woodcraft.

Two local Woodmen will be specially honored on this occasion for the faithful service they have rendered the order. They are Grover Harris and E. C. Evans.

The meeting will be held at Maddox Hall. Col. L. A. Ellington, of Birmingham, will be Consul Commander and have charge of the program.

Refreshments will be served. All Woodmen in the county are urged to be present. It is sure to be the best occasion of the kind ever held here.

LOCAL STORE GIVES AWAY CHINA, SILVERWARE, LINEN

A big special sale is being featuered this week at the store of Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Co. Mr. Tiffin tells us that this is an idea of his which should delight many local ladies.

During this week he is giving free of charge, a 32-piece set of China, a 26-piece set of guaranteed silverware and a 7-piece luncheon set with each Sellers Kitchen Cabinet he sells.

As Mr. Tiffin says, a new kitchen cabinet deserves new things to go into it, so he's supplying the dishes and silver as a gift. It seems to us that this offer of his is worth looking into.

The diaplay of new Sellers cabinets in his store is worth going in to see, even if you aren't planning to buy right now. A number of new coveniences are being shown which look mighty interesting. Shelves that slide out automatically when the door is opened, bring their contents within easy reach. Ant-proof casters keep these pests out of the cabinet. A big porceliron working top provides a convenient place to prepare meals.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement at the death of Tipton Popwell. — Walter Popwell and Family.

PERRY'S BODY SHOP DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire of unknown origin almost completely destroyed the building and equipment of the Perry Body Shop in Clanton about seven o'clock last Thursday night. Owing to the condition inside the building, with a plenty of wood shavings, saw dust, and dry pieces of lumber, the fire got under good headway in a short time.

The city firefighters answered the call with their usual promptness, and it was not long until the blaze was subdued. In order to get to a place of vantage, the firemen had to wade a small lake and drag the fire hose to where they could squirt water straight into the door.

The contents and equipment of the shop was almost completely destroyed. The equipment was a number of different kinds of wood-working machines. A large motor boat which was under construction in the shop was badly damaged.

The business was owned by Perry Littlejohn. The principal product of the shop has been school busses. It was located at the rear of Clanton Motors and Robinson Machine Shop.

JEMISON BANK IS LIQUIDATED

According to a statement of Reuben Foss, former cashier of the Peoples Bank at Jemison, that institution has been liquidated and the business of the bank discontinued. Mr. Foss stated that everybody got their money out of the bonk through liquidation, dollar for dollar; and that the other business is being disposed of in prompt order.

It is with regret that the bank at Jemison is given up. It was a great convenience to the people of the entire community, whose business transactions were made much easier for them by having the bank.

But it is understood that the decision of the directors to close the bank was reached because it was not making sufficient profit to warrant its continuance.

Mr. Foss, cashier of the bank, has come back to Thorsby, where he will be business manager of the Thorsby Fruit & Truck Growers Association this year.

THREE IN RACE FOR JUDGE'S JOB

Tate, Glover, Bateman, all of Wetumpka, Running for Circuit Judge

The contest for the Democratic nomination for judge of the 19th judiciary became a three-cornered affair last week, when John W. Bateman of Wetumka announced his candidacy with Secretary of State, Pete B. Jarman, Jr., of Montgomery.

Judge F. Loyd Tate, present incumbrent of the office through the appointment of Gov. Miller to succeed the late Judge George F. Smoot, announced some time ago as a candidate to succeed himself. Soon after, Representative Arthur Glover, also of Wetumpka, became a contender in the same race.

The Secretary of State received last week the announcement of U. S. Senator Hugo L. Black to succeed himself. Other candidates filing annoucements yesterday for partition in the coming Democratic primary election are: Charles S. McDowell of Eufaula, for Democratic National Committeeman. Eugene H. Hawkins of Birmingham to succeed himself as probate judge of Jefferson County. Congressman George Huddleston, Birmingham, to succeed himself as Representative in Congress from the Ninth District.

Col. James B. Stanley, Greenville, confederate veteran, former State Senator, and editor of the Greenville Advocate, for presidental elector from the state at large. Dr. R. A. Smith of Brewton for delegate to the Democratic National Convention from the Second Congressional District. Ray Marshall, Haleyville, for delegate from the Tenth Congressional District.

WILL DRIVE FOR BOOKS

The Clanton Grammar School is planning to have a drive for books for the library from February 15th to February 19th. The room getting the most books will be given a suitable prize. The room will be given credit for one book for every fifty cents given. If you have any books you would like to give, please turn them over to some child or teacher of the school. The drive for books is being made to help raise the standard of the school.

C. E. Cagle and Luther E. Little of Stanton were in Clanton Sunday afternoon.

Much Good Seen In Government's Move To End Hoarding of Money

Washington, Feb. 6.—The anti-hoarding campaign begun by President Hoover with the cooperation of fifty civic and fraternal organizations is the result of many months of discussion here as to the best means of bringing back into circulation a billion or more dollars hidden away in safety deposit vaults and in lock-boxes at home.

The fear from the start has been that a move giving widespread publicity to the existence of hoarding might by suggestion accelerate the very thing it had been hoped to prevent.

Another suggestion made was that the people be asked to buy government bonds, which are now selling at a discount. This was opposed on the ground that it would appeal to sensible investors who would promptly draw down their bank balances to buy bonds and this in turn would diminish bank deposits and result in the very contraction of credit which it has been hoped to avoid.

So it has been a vicious circle for some time, with one element here argueing that something ought to be done about hoarding and the other urging that the whole matter be soft-pedalled. Finally the President acceded to those who insisted that individual bankers were helpless if a depositor asked for his funds and that if the banks were possessed of an argument based on presidental presige and patriotic service they could talk some of the would-be hoarders out of their fear.

Anyway the movement has been started and it is a victory for the element which has held that publicity for any ill does more good than harm and that hoarding has been possible largely in the past because no public sentiment has been created to stop it.

The administration's drive against hoarding is timed to coincide with the establishment of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and an apparently expanding credit policy on the part of the Federal Reserve System. Both these latter pieces of machinery can be clogged if the volume of credit generally available is cut down by hoarding. Hence, the vital importance of keeping money on deposit or using it for sound investments.

In the case of hoarded money used to puchase government bonds, the money goes back into circulation. In fact the circulation process starts no matter to what use the money is put, provided it is used. Thus, a person who fears the worst and converts his bank deposits into currency, taken home, is dependent after all on the stability of the government which issues that currency. In the case of bonds payable in gold, the investor has the added protection of certificates that are numbered and can be traced in case of theft. The presence of large quantities of currency in homes is deplored by police authorities, who feel it is a temptation to the lawless element to begin housebreaking in a community known to have much hoarded money.

The problem is a perplexing one but, now that it is out in the open, it is believed that with gradual return of confidence hoarding will cure itself.

American Legion Will Seek To Bring Jobs and Jobless Together

Commander R. D. Woodson, of Chilton Cuonty Post, American Legion, announces that he has appointed A. L. Robinson, of Clanton, as employment officer for the Post. This is the first step of the local Post in cooperation with the nation-wide effort of the Legion to help out the citizenship of the country at large in the matter of the unemployment situation.

The plan to be followed by the Legion may be roughly outlined as follows:

A committee of the local Post will take up the matter of seeing the people of the county and listing any work of any class that they may need to have done. It will not be a move to secure permanent jobs for anybody; only emergency employment will be contemplated. Such work as cleaning yards, cutting wood setting out shrubbery, plowing gardens, etc., is what will be wanted.

People who have such jobs as this to be done will be listed with the employment officer, A. L. Robinson. If the committee fails to see some person who has work to be done, a call over the phone by such person to Mr. Robinson will be sufficient.

Then any person who may be desirous of securing an odd day's work of such kind as is listed may apply to Mr. Robinson, who will go over his list and refer the applicant to such person as has the kind of work he is able to do.

This is merely an effort of the Legion to bring employer and employee together to the mutual benefit of all. It will not apply to ex-soldiers alone. All persons who are concerned may come in under the plan.

Methodist Pastor Says Take Up Habit

We wonder why every one living in Clanton could not live like many people did live last Sunday—go to church. Take up the habit, it is much better than some habits you have.

We are going to have a special subject for 11 a.m. next Sunday, "Mental Attitudes," and we urge that you come. Come and gain an insight into your own life. You have many things embedded in your brain that you do not know that you have. Your mental attitude determines to a large extent what you are.

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. There were 125 present last Sunday. We can make it 150 next Sunday. Pull a smile into your countenance and come on.

Preaching Sunday night by the pastor at 7 o'clock. You should never allow Sunday to pass without attending one service at least. Attend both if possible. You need it. We have a warm church and a warm welcome for you.

Attention!

Notice To All World War Veterans in Chilton County:

A meeting of very great importance to every ex-service man in Chilton County will be held at the courthouse in Clanton on Thursday night, February 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to give to the Veterans all possible information about present laws and pending legislation in Congress relative to the interests of the Veterans.

A good speaker will be here to discuss these matters and answer any question that any man might wish to ask about his war business.

It is our earnest hope that every ex-service man in the county will attend this meeting. It makes no difference whether you are a member of the Legion or not. This is a meeting in the interest of all ex-soldiers, and we hope that all will be present.

R. D. WOODSON, Commander.
A. L. ROBINSON, Adjutant.

NEW FORD MODELS MAY BE DISPLAYED IN NEXT 10 DAYS

Detroit, Feb. 9.—The first public showing of the new Ford cars may be confidently expected within the next ten days.

Having aligned himself with the efforts of the Hoover administration to smash business depression, Henry Ford will rush production of his new models as speedily as possible. This is believed to have been the promise given to President Hoover last week when Ford was a guest at the White House.

Reports in Detroit Monday said that the Ford Motor Company had rented convention hall for several days beginning next Monday, February 15, for a display of the cars. It was in Convention Hall, annual scene of the Detroit automobile show, that Ford in December, 1927, unveiled his Model A.

REYNOLDS GOING TO MONTGOMERY FRIDAY

Judge Reynolds states that he will go to Montgomery Friday of this week to attend an important meeting sponsored by the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce. There will be gathered together industrial, agricultural, livestock, and financial leaders from all over the state. The Alabama Industrial Development Board will take a prominent part in the meeting.

THANKS FROM M. J. PARRISH

Rev. M. J. Parrish, of Providence Beat 16 desires to publicly acknowledge through the Union-Banner, his thanks and appreciation for the good things that have been done for him by the people of Bethsalem and New Cedron communities.

Brother Parrish says the people of these communities have sent him a lot of corn, which will supply the shortage which he sustained as a result of the extreme drougth in his community last season.

"I want everybody in the county to know how good the folks of Bethsalem and New Cedron have been to me," said Mr. Parrish, "and I want the people to know also that I most heartily and sincerely appreciate their goodness to me."

TIPTON POPWELL KILLED IN WRECK

Accident On Highway Near Mt. Creek On Last Wednesday Night

Tipton LaFayette Popwell, age 22 years, was instantly killed in a wreck on the Montgomery Highway near Mt. Creek last Wednesday night about eleven o'clock. Popwell and David Arant were on a truck returning to Montgomery where they were at work. Arant was driving. When the truck rounded the curve after crosing the bridge over the railroad tracks this side of Mt. Creek, it left the highway and struck a pine tree.

Popwell's body was evidently crushed betweent the tree and the front part of the steel body on the truck. Death was instant. Arant was not hurt. Martin's ambulance went to the scene and brought the dead man to Clanton.

Burial was at Pleasant Grove cemetery, west of Clanton Friday afternoon, in charge of Martin. The funeral was conducted by Rev. F. A. Gibson. Pallbearers were Worth Foshee, Tom Johnson, Durward and J. L. Teel, David Arant and Arthur Burnett.

Tipton was the oldest son of Mr. Walter Popwell, of Clanton. His death is the first break in the family circle.

Attendance at the funeral was exceptionally large, owing to the prominence of the Popwell family. A great display of flowers bore testimony of the sympathy of many friends of the deceased.

E. H. LITTLEJOHN OF LAWLEY HERE TUESDAY

Rev. E. H. Littlejohn, who lives in the extreme western part of Chilton County, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. Mr. Littlejohn stated that he expected to be a candidate for County Commissioner from his district in the Republican primary this year; and that he will make his official announcement in a few days.

Mr. Littlejohn is well and favorably known throughout the western part of the county. He is an active Baptist preacher, and one of the leading farmers or his section. He has many friends who will doubtless pull hard for him to be their County Commissioner. He lives in Beat 7, west of Maplesville, in what is known as Oakmulgee Valley.

GRAND JURY OF CHILTON COUNTY

Report of Investigations Made To Judge Tate Here Last Week

To Hon F. Loyd Tate, as Judge of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama:

We the grand jury empanelled for the January term of the Circut Court after receiving your honor's most able charge, entered upon our investigations of the matters that came before us the grand jurors and herewith submit the following report.

During our investigations we have considered 41 cases and have examined 53 witnesses and are returning herewith 32 true bills.

We have investigated the offense enumerated in your Honor's special charge and set out in section 8,668 of the Code of 1923 in accordance with your Honor's instructions in so far as we have had witnesses to give evidence concerning such offense and have no special report to make as to this type of offense.

We have examined the fee book of the probate judge and find it neatly kept and correct in so far as we are able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various county officials and on our examination of the sheriff's account with the state for feeding prisioners, we find it being kept in accordance with the law. On our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education, we find that his books, records and papers are being kept neatly and fully in accordance with the law in so far as we were able to ascertain.

We were furnished a statement by Mrs. Gertrude P. Calloway, Treasurer of Chilton County, showing the amount of money on hand as of February 1, 1932, to be $65,176.39 and we found that this money was in the two banks of Clanton on February 1, 1932 of which $25,000 was on deposit at 4 per cent interest in the Peoples Savings Bank of Clanton, Alabama, as provided by order of the Commissioner's Court of said County. The remaining amount of said sum as of February 1, 1932, being in the First National Bank of Clanton, Alabama.

The Grand Jury inspected the jail which has recently been remodeled and believe it to be sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisioners and we find that the prisioners confined therein are being well fed and cared for with reasonable comfort; we found that the remodeling of the jail has made it very modern with all facilities to handle prisioners without any danger to those in charge; the jail was clean and is being kept in a highly satisfactory manner and we feel the sheriff should be commended for the general appearance of the jail and the way it is being kept.

The Grand Jury inspected the alms house and find that it is being well handled by those in charge and that the occupants get meals and attention in so far as the arrangements for taking care of the inmates will reasonably permit.

We wish to thank the Sheriff and his deputies for the prompt manner in which they secured witnesses that we needed to complete our labors and for the conveniences given us during our stay as Grand Jurors.

The Grand Jury wishes to especially thank your Honor for the very able charge given us when we were first empanelled. It has been most helpful to us throughout all our investigations.

The Grand Jury wishes to thank the bailiff, Mr. M. F. Lett, for the efficient and valuable service rendered us during the week.

Now having complied to the best of our ability with your Honor's charge we respectfully ask that we be dismissed until such a time as your Honor may see fit and think proper to have us again convene.

This February 5th, 1932.

H. F. DOWNS,
Foreman.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

There has appeared in Clanton from the vague unknown regions of somewhere, a negro, giving his name as Henry Smith, of Chicago. He says he is a contractor, and that his business is to build nine stucco bungalows six miles northwest of Clanton, for a man in Pittsburg.

Smith has advertised for laborers to work on the construction of the houses. Efforts have been made to find out whether the proposition of Henry Smith is valid or not.

If it is a bonafide proposition, it is good news. But all we can say about it at this time is: "Believe it or not."

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

CANNING MEAT AT HOME IS PAYING FOLKS WELL

Brunswick stew, steak, chicken, hash, broth and soup now rest safely in cans stored in pantries of Macon county farm women after demonstrations conducted by Mrs. Lida Jones, home agent.

"Two distinct advantages were obtained," said Mrs. Jones. "First, they have a supply of delicious food ready to serve when needed; and, second, they discontinued costs of feeding the animals when the market prices were too low to warrant selling."

Miss Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent, commended the idea and said that other home demonstration agents in the state are giving assistance in canning meat at home for home use and also for sale on curb markets and otherwise.

MILLS ARE TURNING TO AMERICAN COTTON

"Prices of Indian and Chinese cottons have risen in comparison with prices of American cotton and mills are turning more to American cotton in place of these foreign growths, says the Department of Agriculture.

Consumption of American cotton has apparently been larger so far this season than in the corresponding months of last year.

FARM CREDIT NEEDS HAVE BEEN REDUCED

Production economics on the farm and a live-at-home program have reduced farm credit needs for 1932, reports F. W. Gist, statistician for the Department of Agriculture.

"Contraction of farm credit is reported but credit needs have been reduced by the production economics and a live-at-home program," he declared.

MORE INCOME CROPS IS EXTENSION GOAL

To increase cash products in Alabama, thereby serving producers as well as consumers, the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute is giving special attention to this line of work in 1932. Director L. N. Duncan said that the goal is to popularize, standardize and to market succesfully miscellaneous agricultural products.

County agents home demonstration agents, extension specialists and supervisors are giving special attention to it with a view to selling such products on the curb markets, direct to consumers in their homes, by parcel post and by other means.

The problem will be attacked from an individual standpoint and also collectively through county farm bureaus and other organizations. The state farm bureau will assist on a larger scale in finding markets and in grading and packing to meet requirements of consumers.

STATE STARTS WAR ON OUTLAW BOTTLES

The weights and measures division of the Department of Agriculture has declared war on one-third quart milk bottles which are being sold for pint bottles, reports H. S. Holloway, chief.

"Many unbranded and incorrectly branded bottles are also being sold. We shall make a special drive against this practice," Mr. Holloway said. "We not only have the cooperation of the Jefferson County Health Department in this work, but the dairymen and shippers are cooperating."

STATE FARMERS CAN SAVE $5,000,000.00

By growing more better staple cotton Alabama can sove $5,000,000 annually, according to Benjamin Russell, Alexander City, member of the Alabama Industrial Development Board, Birmingham.

"In 1930 Alabama cotton mills consumed 587,000 bales of cotton. Of this approximately 140,000 bales were one inch or better, but that year Alabama grew only 12,400 bales of this character cotton," he said.

"Supplying the mills with this better cotton would result in a gain in price received by Alabama farmers and in savings of transportation charges to Alabama cotton mills of around $5,000,000 yearly."

LOW-COST COTTON VITAL IF 1932 IS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

With prices of cotton very low, the grower who makes a profit on it must make it very cheap this year. And the department of agricultural engineering of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, has found that a small expenditure for implements should cause a reduction in production costs.

On sandy lands a weeder (costing about $10) and a two-horse walking cultivator (costing $40 to $55) are money savers and cost reducers. On heavy soils the same is true for a section harrow (costing $20 to $25) and a two-horse cultivator, as on sandy lands.

Cost of the sandy land combination is about $50 to $65; the heavy-soil combination, $60 to $80. With two mules, or horses, instead of one, the one-mule farmer becomes a two-mule farmer, thereby reducing costs.

Section harrows and two-horse cultivators are efficient and effective weed killers. They may be used either across the rows or parallel with the rows of corn, cotton, and other crops from the beginning of germination of weeds and grass until the plants are several inches tall. Of course, they must be adjusted in order to do minimum damage to the crops. However, the damage done is much smaller than it appears to be immediately after cultivation.

In addition to reducing the cost of making cotton, Prof. M. L. Nichols and J. B. Wilson of this department reported that the Alabama investigators have revealed also that these implements enable a cotton grower to produce other crops along with cotton, whereas the one-mule cotton grower cannot produce other crops profitably. He must be a slave to cotton, and—after doing his best with his equipment—his cotton costs are entirely too high.

COTTON SEED IMPROVED IN 37 ALABAMA COUNTIES

Thirty-seven counties conducted a definite cotton improvement program the past year and saved 706,762 bushels of seed of better staple varities for planting in 1932, J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, advises the Department of Agriculture.

"This is nearly enough to plant one-third of Alabama's cotton acreage," Mr. Lowery said. "Seven counties report sufficient pure seed of the better staple varities to plant the entire county in 1932."

P.-T. A. MEETING

The P.-T. A. of Clanton Grammar school will hold its regular monthly meeting on Friday, February 12 at 2:30 p.m. At this meeting Friday four delegates will be chosen to attend the district convention of P.-T. A., to be held in Wetumpka on Saturday, February 13.

The following program will be rendered Friday afternoon:

Welcome, by Billy Callen.
America, by Third grade.
Like Washington, by Irvin Lande, Joe Esco, and Billy Stanley.
A Name to Remember, by Frances Smith.
Reading on Washington, by Lomer Giles.
Lest we Forget, by Janet Smith, and Norma J. Gillespie.
An Immortal Name, by Annie Cordelia Smith.
Song, Washington, Fifth grade boys.
Cumulative Story, by Fifth and Sixth grades.
Song Lincoln, by Fifth grade girls.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETINGS

The Alabama Department of the American Legion is planning to hold simultaneous meetings of all posts in the state on February 18, at 8:00 p. m., according to D. Trotter Jones, Adjutant. "These meetings are called for the purpose of discussing pending legislation or any kind of legislatoin that might affect the ex-service men," remarks Adjutant Jones. The plan is to have a visiting legionnaire at each meeting to address the veterans. "Plan to make these meetings county-wide if there is more than one post in your county. See if you can arrange to have a joint meeting on this night and have every ex-service man in the county attend, and learn just what legislation has been secured for them, and the additional legislation the legion is striving for this year," Adjutant Jones writes the post commander.

SHORT ITEMS OF INTEREST TO FARMERS OF ALABAMA

In 1931 the number of horses in Alabama decreased 7 per cent, mules decreased 1 per cent, cattle increased 5 per cent, milch cows increased 5 per cent, and hogs increased 10 per ceept, according to F. W. Gist, agricultural statistican, Montgomery.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, says that all other agencies have failed to cope with the unemployment situation. Consequently, he appealed to the federal government to come to the relief of the unemployed who, he said, numbered about 8,300 on January 1, 1932.

New England farm papers say that fruit growers in that portion of the United States are improving the quality of their products and packing more attractively in order to compete more successfully with growers in the South and West.

Newspapers instead of magazines will be used hereafter as a medium for the advertising campaign of the National Canners' Association, according to recent decision. The president of the association said that the change was authorized in an effort to increase sales of canned goods.

Just before leaving the office of governor as Louisiana to take his seat in the U. S. senate, Huey P. Long issued a proclamation annulling the Louisiana law outlawing the production of cotton this year. His reason was that other states had declined to take similar action as required in the Louisiana law.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas says that farmers, who represent more than one-fourth of the population of the United States, received only one-thirteenth of the national income last year. In 1920 agriculture's share was almost twice as big. In 1931 producers received but nine billion dollars for the products of the farm and consumers paid for these products of the farm and consumers paid for these products approximately thirty billion dollars.

UNION GROVE

Miss Vera Glass has been very sick but is improving.

Our Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. are just fine. Although we don't have as many in B. Y. P. U. as we should. We want to urge every member to be present next Sunday night.

Mrs. Carrie Shaw ententained her Sunday school class at her home last Saturday night. Music and games were enjoyed until a late hour. Refreshments were served to the following: Misses Thomasine Dorminey, Ruby Williams, Winnie Kate Robinson, Amy Porter, Jessie Dorminey, and Edna Robinson, Messrs. Luther Jones, William Williams, Howard Munday, James King, Leonard Chandler, Harlem S. Daniel, Harvie Langston, Bill Barnett, Howard Robinson, and Arthur Chandler. Mrs. Shaw was asisted by Mrs. Dock Porter and Mrs. Las Robinson.

Misses Artell and Onzell Thrash returned home Saturday night from a visit with relatives at Dadeville.

Miss Amy Sue Robinson spent the latter part of the week in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shaw were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Robinson Sunday.

Rev. R. S. Chandler filled his regular appointment at Mt. Calvary in Shelby County Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oslin visited their mother, Mrs. William Dorminey, Sunday. They are from Birmingham.

Misses Thomasine Dorminey, Artell and Onzell Thrash, and Viva Glass visited Misses Edna and Winnie Kate Robinson Sunday afternoon.

Miss Pearl Chandler is visiting relatives at Jemison this week.

Miss Nellie Barnett spent Sunday with Bonnie Hilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Collum spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Julius Simmons, of Jemison.

Next Saturday night and Sunday night are our regular preaching times. Rev. J. Robert Bean will preach. Lets every body be there on time.

Be sure to be at B. Y. P. U. at 6 o'clock Sunday night, visitors are always welcome.

Prof. Harlem G. Daniel made a business trip to Clanton Saturday.

EDDIE DUCHIN TO BROADCAST

Eddie Duchin and his orchestra, playing from the exclusive Central park Casino in New York City, will be featured with Walter Winchell, famous newspaper columnist, on the Lucky Strike Dance Hour to be broadcast Thursday, February 4th, at 10 o'clock E. S. T., from station WEAF over a nationwide NBC network.

Duchin, who has achieved phenomenal success as an orchestra leader during the last few months, nightly attracts many of the outstanding personaliites of the day to this famous rendezvous of New York's elite. Introduced to patrons by Leo Reisman as his protege, Duchin blossomed forth and shortly afterward gained a tremendous following in his right.

Walter Winchell, the wold's most widely quoted gossip, will introduce the orchestra and intersperse the selections with his characteristic comment on the news and topics of the day.

Lesson for February 14

JESUS AND THE MAN BORN BLIND

LESSON TEXT—John 9:1-41.
GOLDEN TEXT—Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Makes a Blind Man See.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Gives Sight to a Blind Beggar.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Jesus Did for a Blind Man.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus the Light of the World.

I. Working the Works of God While It Is Day (vv. 1-5).

1. The disciples' problem (vv. 1, 2). In their minds all affliction, negative and positive, was God's retribution for sin. Therefore, they argued that this man's blindness proved his sin. They recognized also that the effect of sin is sometimes hereditary. The common philosophy of men about us today is that sickness, disease, and all sorts of calamities, is God's judgment for sin.

2. The Lord's answer (vv. 3-5). Jesus affirmed that in this case there was neither sin on the man's part nor that of his parents, but that it was an occasion for the display of the works of God and that he had come to execute this task while it was day because the night would come when no man could work. Since Christ is the light of the world, the task which challenged his attention was the opening of this man's eyes. The purpose of Jesus in working miracles was not a mere exhibition of miraculous power, but "to illustrate in the physical sphere his power in the spiritual sphere." It was illustrative of man's utter helplessness in his own salvation. The natural man is blind and dead (II Cor. 4:4; Eph. 2:1). God, by his Spirit, must quicken the soul dead in trespasses and sin before he can see to take hold on Christ, the remedy for sin.

II. The Man's Eyes Opened (vv. 6, 7).

1. The means used (v. 6.) Jesus spat on the ground and made clay of the spittle and anointed his eyes. Observe that the means used in this miracle were a little less than foolish in themselves. The object must have been to show the man the utter inadequacy of the means to the accomplishment of the end, that he might be convinced that the power was of God.

2. His obedience (v. 7.) He immediately obeyed. He did not stop to question the reasonableness of the command. Obedience only to that which seems reasonable is not obedience at all. He did not inquire as to what would be the result.

III. The Man's Testimony (vv. 8-36).

In his testimony we have a fine example of the development of faith.

1. He testified to his personal identity (v. 9). This was very easy. His self-consciousness enabled him to know that he was the same man who was born blind.

2. He testified as to how it was done (vv. 11-15). So definite was his experience that he was able to tell just how it was done.

3. He testified that the one who opened his eyes was a prophet (v. 17).

4. He testified that this healer no doubt was sent of God (vv. 30-33).

5. He worshiped him as the Son of God (v. 38).

IV. The Results of His Confession.

1. As to the people, they were divided in their sentiment (v. 16). Some believed Jesus was from God because of his works. Others believed that he was a sinner because he did his work on the Sabbath day.

2. As to the man, they cast him out (v. 34). Faithful testimony will often result in ostracism from religious people, but there must be faithfulness.

3. As to Jesus, he found the man (v. 35). Being cast out by men, he found himself in the arms of Jesus. He was led on to a deeper faith. He first saw Christ as a miracle worker, then as a prophet, and finally as the Son of God.

This whole lesson may be viewed from three angles:

1. As an acted parable of a life that issues from faith in Christ. It is an illustration of the spiritual sphere in terms of the physical.

2. The testimony of the deity of our Lord. This testimony is fourfold:

a. The miracle itself an unheard-of work, that a man born blind should receive his sight.

b. The unwilling admission of the enemies themselves who made a public and official investigation.

c. The testimony of the man himself.

d. That of his parents.

3. An illuminating example of the development of faith.

GRAND OPENING OF THE BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM

President Hoover will officially open the nine-months nation-wide George Washington Bicentennial celebration at noon, Eastern standard time, February 22nd, when he will deliver his George Washington address before a joint committee of Congress, assembled in the House of Representatives in the Capitol, the judges of the Supreme Court, members of the Capinet. The address will be carried to every corner of America over a nation-wide radio hook-up.

Following his address, President Hoover will be escorted to the East steps of the Capitol, and will give the signal for the singing of "America," by a chorus of ten thousand voices. It is expected that millions of people will join in this "sing" as it comes over the air.

The great chorus gathered at the Capitol will be conducted by Walter Damrosch and will be accompanied by the United States army, navy and marine bands which will play as a unit under the direction of John P. Sousa. An "inaugural" crowd is expected to be on hand for these ceremonies.

After luncheon, President Hoover, accompanied by the members of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission and the District of Columbia George Washington Bicentennial Commission will go to Mount Vernon to lay a wreath on the tomb of the Father of His Country in the name of the united nation.

At 2 p.m., there will be exercises at the Washington Monument under the auspices of the various patriotic societies in the District of Columbia.

While the celebration officially opens on February 22nd, Sunday, the day before will be an active day in the District of Columbia as well as in every city in America. The commission has suggested special religious services for George Washington to be held wherever people gather to worship. Response from the various church organizations to this project has been remarkable. It is probable that practically all of the 232,000 churches will hold special services honoring the first president on this day.

During the week beginning on the 22nd, motion pictures depicting principal events in the life of Washington entitled, "Washington, the Man and the Capitol," and produced by Warner Brothers, will be shown in the theatres of America as a feature of the Bicentennial Celebration. Already hundreds of theatres have arranged for such a showing, and, undoubtedly, practically every motion picture theatre in America will be booked to show the life of George Washington on the screen.

WINDSTORMS BLOW DOWN LOTS OF GOOD TIMBER

The heavy windstorms which recently hit Alabama have blown down considerable amounts of timber in various sections of the state, says Colonel Page S. Bunker, State Forester. In one comparatively small area as much as 100,000 board feet of timber has been reported as being on the ground.

Landowners should take immediate steps to dispose of their down timber so that its full value and utility may be realized. Storm damaged timber, if cut immediately and hauled to the sawmill loses very little from the lowering scale or grade. However, if the timber is permitted to stay on the ground until the bark loosens up, sap stains will render valueless practically the entire sapwood. In timber that has grown very rapidly this may mean two-thirds of the total volume of the tree.

Another serious consequence of permitting the down timber to remain in the woods through spring and summer is the possibility of fostering the attacks of insects which might seriously affect the residual stand of the timebr.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., Feb. 9.—Dr. A. C. Ivy, professor of physiology and pharmacology, Northwestern University Medical School, Evanton, Ill., will deliver the Gorgas Medical Society lecture May 7. His subject will be "Physiological Aspects of the Etiology, Symptoms, and treatment of Peptic Ulcer."

Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary scholastic sorority for Freshman women, held its annual tapping on Monday afternoon. Twenty-four girls, having a 2.5 average which is equivalent to that required by Phi Beta Kappa for four years work, were tapped.

Approximatley 350 pledges from 25 fraternity chapters attended the first pledge banquet of Pan-Hellenic fraternity chapters held at the University of Alabama on Friday evening. The principal speakers for the occasion included Dr. Walter B. Jones, Montgomery, an officer of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Dean Gilbert Meade of Birmingham-Southern College; and J. M. Berry, vice-president of Alabama Power Company.

The following have been elected active Fellows of the Gorgas Medical Society of the University of Alabama; William K. Hare, Brown; Louis Posey, Adamsville; Stewart Auerbach, Montgomery; Luther Davis, Jr., Tuscaloosa; Edgar M. Scott, Birmingham; Marvin Speer, Birmingham; Thomas Floyd, Abbeville; Joseph D. Farrington, Birmingham; Emma Moss, Hattesburg, Miss.; Montague S. Adams, Birmingham; and Katherine O. Shirley, Tuscaloosa. Dr. A. C. Ivy, and Ralph McBurney, professor of bacteriology, University of Alabama were elected honorary Fellows of the Society.

POOR C

Once Chilton County Preacher Writes From Wolfeboro, New H.

NEW ENGLAND LETTER

(By Orman T. Headley)

These winter days in New England, one can only read, eat, build fires, and peacefully smoke a pipe, to while away the time, and in addition, read the old home paper, which in this case is the Union-Banner, and it never comes but that I think of Frank Crichton, the first editor of it. In my boyhood days I can see him walking down by Bill Mullin's store with sleeves rolled up and smoking a stub of a cigar, seeing nobody, intent on getting his mail and back to work. Speaking of smoking: in New England, it is about as much sin for a minister to smoke as for a minister to "cuss" in Clanton. How I have gotten away with it I can hardly explain, as my parishioners often find me smoking, and most of them seem to take it as a matter of course, considering my southern descent. An old maid over in New York, among my parishioners, did take much offense when she learned her pastor used the "filthy weed," but it didn't make much headway against me (an old maid's religion is always different you know) and she later became as firm a friend as I had.

The oldest person in my pastorate is 96, and she never saw a winter like this. Usually we see no land from December to April, while this winter we may see the terrain any time we wish. There has been several snows, but they immediately melted. Only the bays and the lake froze over, and once during a thaw seven fish houses fell over into the lake. Although deer inhabit the environs of Wolfeboro, all around there were few killed during the season in December, due to lack of snow. The deer come up to the farmers' fields and broose around but one rarely ever hears of a deer being killed out of season, as the farmers and countrymen obey the law as carefully as if a game warden was standing by. Obeying the law is the first principle of a New Englander's religion, even where he has no other. For that reason game is multiplying fast and now deer are becoming so plentiful, they eat up gardens, and we hear of them in Pemia, trying to spend winter in the barns of farmers. Two of my families had their gardens eaten partly up by the deer, but they would not shoot one of them, for it was out of season. The State paid the damage.

Except in the larger cities, New England people are not suffering from the depression, though all are scared, reading so much about it. The wealthy who have invested in stocks and bonds are the loudest complainers here. They say there are no coupons to cut these days. Besides this and a few out of work, we have little experience of the depression here. This is a summer resort town and more people came last summer than was ever here before. All people who come here leave money, and this means prosperity to the town. Most money in New England comes from manufacturing, and while not as much as usual is being manufactured now, yet the country demands as much as usual, even during depression times, and that is why New England is not suffering like the South and West. Our government, since the Civil War, has favored the manufacturer, still does so, and a manufacturing section is the favored section now. Many a time when I took the northern manufacturer's dollar, I looked at it and wondered how much of it really belonged to our Southern producer. The farmer is the most loyal class the country has, and yet the government has done less for the farmer than any class. No class under the sun can "cuss" the government with as much reason as the farmer, and perhaps they do it less.

Reading about the big revival at the courthouse, leads one to contrast religious doings North and South. If that revivalist came here or for that matter any New England town or city, the first night he would have a corporal's guard mostly out of curiosity, and after the second night the revivalist would leave the town in disgust, never to come again Here the revivalists have had their day and are done. Yet about the same proportion of the population here are really as religious, attend church as regularly as does in Clanton, which goes to show that revivals really accomplish nothing. They are strictly a modern institution,—about 150 years old—a pioneer type of emotional religion, but in Bible times they were not known, and one cannot find justification for a revival in the Bible. As schools advance, special revivals play out, and though not a prophet, yet I would venture that within fifty years, revivals in Alabama and Tennessee will be a thing of the past. Several professional evangelists down South have already told me that every year it becomes more and more difficult to have a revival. It calls for an emotional strain which is not real, not normal, and does as much harm as good. But when the revival dies, people will find the church just as substantial as now, and maybe more so.

Here, a church is either a dead church or there is preaching service every Sunday. Churches here can't be run on a "once a month" system. Young people here don't know what a mourner's bench is, hand-shake propositions are entirely unknown, man doesn't confess his sins in public (nobody wants to hear of them) yet when the bell rings of a Sunday morning, the people trek over the ice and snow to church, in the country or in town. There is good music and worship in which the people take a part, and the preacher has to have something to say and must know how to say it, or else get out of the business. If a preacher has no real sermon, he can't yell to the top of his voice and get by with it. The old yelling oratory is as dead as the revival. Oratory is the same as conversation. If a man has something to say he can say it mildly and it carries force, and most of us have found that the man who has little or nothing to say usually yells it just to hide his lack of thought.

Too, I see one of your correspondents to the Union-Banner defends the old Russelite superstition, latterly known, I believe, since the death of Russell as the Rutherfordites. I sometimes see their magazine and one runs across their fanatic following, north and south, occasionally. Their magazines prate about the mysteries of the pyramids, about the beast and other inane sujbects of like nature; while the followers prate about Daniel, and Revelation. They figure up days and years when some great earthquake or other event is going to take place. Always something wonderful is right at hand; the churches are all going to the devil, for not believing their doctrine, and other such ridiculous things. The best commentators are agreed they don't know what the prophecies of Daniel and Revelation mean and if they don't, surely the Russelite wags do not know, and the New Testament says "no man knoweth the day nor the hour when these things shall come to pass," When you come upon a Russelite up North, they have a saying that he is not all there; which is identical in meaning to the saying down South "he has a screw loose somewhere," a term I have often heard my mother use there in Chilton County, and which I am sure all understand. To any intelligent man who has studied the Bible, that figuring up of days and years is nonsense. In the Bible futurity, so far as identical time is concerned, is nonexistent. And a day is as a thousand years and visa-versa. When a man asks when will the millennium arrive, the best answer is: "When the cranks and fanatics are all dead, the millennium will be here the next day."

Central Singing Society

Central Singing Society met at Coopers last Sunday afternoon. There were lots of directors present, and there were several in the class; but as is usually the case at Coopers, there were so many folks in the class not singing and so many good singers back in the audience not singing that a damper was thrown on the whole thing. We hope that this condition may be remedied by the next time we meet at Coopers.

The question of whether or not the society call in its meeting at Walnut Creek next Sunday and meet with Liberty Hill, as we have been urgently requested to, was taken up and put before the class; but no one voted either way, so it was announced that the class would meet at Walnut Creek as usual.

Uncle Bob Grant made a short talk stating that he thought it would not be right to call in the singing at Walnut Creek unless some of the folks from that church were there to concur in such action, which looks reasonable and right; and we presume that this is the way the singers all felt about it.

However, this does not make it mandatory that no one from our society go to Liberty Hill. But Inasmuch as we were kindly asked to meet with them, not just once but several times, I for one, feel that at least a part of our class should accept the invitation. I do not believe that we should make a practice of calling in our regular meetings and going other places, because this would certainly cripple the interest in our own society; but on the other hand, it looks like selfishness in us never to visit other places and help them in their singing. Doesn't it look like that to you?

So, as it now stands, there will be singing at both places, and the singers of the Central Singing Society can choose among themselves which one to attend.—T. E. Wyatt, Secretary.

CHILTON BRANDS CHARGES 'LIES'

Confirmation of District Attorney Expected

Washington, Feb. 10.—Belated efforts to block confirmation of the appointment of District Attorney, A. B. Chilton, of Montgomery, "blew up" Monday afternoon, when Chilton appeared in person before the subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee and branded as a lie, the charges that he had been dismissed from the tax board in 1927 for misfeasance.

Neither Senator Black or Senator Bankhead appeared at the senate investigation, at which Chilton denounced A. B. Tucker, Montgomery ex-newspaperman, who wired a protest to Alabama senators last week, asserting affidavits would be forthcoming.

Confirmation Planned

No affidavits have been received, however, it was stated by chairman Ashurst, of the sub-committee, and unless something substantial is lodged with the committee before next Monday, he announced Chilton's confirmation would be approved by the sub-committee. Such action already has been taken once, but further action was held up by Tucker's protest.

Chilton said the charges were utterly false and had already been found so by the justice department. A letter from Ex-Gov. Graves also branded them as unfounded. Chilton read letters of endorsement from Chief Justice Anderson and others.

Praised By Heflin

Ex-Senator Heflin, who endorsed Chilton for the job, spoke in his behalf and praised his record in prohibition cases and indictments in seed, feed and fertilizer alleged frauds in Dothan, which he said, would shock the nation when full facts were divulged.

When questioned by Ashurst, Chilton said he was a Democrat, but supported Hoover in 1928 and the Independent ticket in 1930. Asked if he belonged to the Ku Klux Klan, Chilton said he was no longer a member, having paid no dues nor attended any meeting in 18 months.

Honored for Valor

The Cheney award, consisting of a plaque, a certificate of award and a substantial cash contribution, was awarded to Private John B. Smith of the United States army air corps. The award, made annually to the officer or enlisted man of this branch of service performing the outstanding act of valor during the year, was made to Private Smith who, when a plane crashed into the building in which he was working, dived head first into the blazing cockpit and liberated the pilot's foot which was firmly wedged in the rudder bar. Smith, though injured by the crash, then removed the unconscious pilot to a place of safety.

THE DUTY OF TODAY

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

It is far easier for a great many of us to plan something great for the future than it is to do the simple tasks of today.

George sits with his book in his hand dreaming. There is a problem in trigonometry before him to be solved which, if he would give his attention to it for a few minutes, he could easily manage, but that is not what he is doing. Instead his mind is wandering far into the future when he shall have finished his course in college, and the period of probation which every great man, engineer or otherwise, must go through, and shall have become a great engineer. He has not realized that meeting simple and possible situations of today will help him to the realization of the dream tomorrow.

Mr. T. E. Lawrence in his "Revolt of the Desert," is riding with Zeki, an enthusiastic Syrian, over the hot sands of the Syrian desert. It is a trying journey for man and beast, and the weary camels are worn out from overwork and underfeeding. Zeki's beast is full of mange, and his attention is called to the fact.

"Alas and alack," he says in a sad tone of voice, "in the evening, very quickly, when the sun is low, we shall dress her skin with ointment."

It would have been a very simple thing to do, and quite within the range of possibilities, but instead Zeki's brain takes fire and his imagination runs riot. He conceives a great organization through which not only camels but all other suffering animals shall be taken care of by the state. Hospitals he will have and skilled surgeons and medicaments of all sorts and a great library of medical books in which can be found remedies for all suffering animals, and traveling inspectors to look out for and bring in the ailing animals, and under these subinspectors. It was a wonderful scheme pregnant with possibilities, but while his imagination was working and the details of his great organization were being worked out, his poor camel, nothing having been done to relieve its distress, died of its mange.

AL SMITH UPSETS PARTY LEADERS

Tossed Bomb Into Ranks of Democrats With Presidential Attitude

(The Birmingham Post)

If Alfred E. Smith wins the Democratic nomination again this year, it probably will split the party in Alabama, just as it did four years ago.

A canvass sentiment among the political leaders in Alabama and the South Monday showed that Smith's gesture toward the nomination is disapproved not only by those who bolted the party to keep from voting for him in 1928, but also by a majority of regular Democratic leaders.

"I am going back into the Democratic primary in May and shall support the nominees of that primary," Horace C. Wilkinson, leader of the Independent Democrats said, "But I shall not support Smith, if he is nominated. His nomination would split the party in Alabama just as it did in 1928."

"Won't Be Smith"

"We gave Smith a fair chance in 1928, and he ccundn't carry his home state," said Charles D. Comstock, chairman of the Jefferson county Democratic Executive committee, and "I'm not for him now. I'm for the man who at the Chicago convention seems to have the best chance of leading the party successfully. That won't be Smith."

"Smith's announcement as a candidate for the nomination is very unfortunate," said Hugh A. Locke, Independent Democratic nominee for governor in 1930.

"Smith's nomination this year would be a great mistake and would rekindle the religious controversies of 1928," Senator Hugo L. Black is quoted as saying in a Washington dispatch."

Republicans Cheered

Leaders of the Republican party in Alabama were more cheerful on Monday morning than on any other morning in recent months.

"If Smith is nominated the Republicans and Independent Democrats will use their strength again to carry the state for the G. O. P. nominee," said Dr. J. C. Swann of Mobile, chairman of the state Republican executive committee.

"We carried the state for Hoover in 1928, it is said, but were counted out of about 10,000 votes."

The Republican state convention will meet in Birmingham May 18. The Independent Democrats will meet in Montgomery for a parley next Friday. Wilkinson's statement that he will vote in the Democratic primary is taken as evidence that the Independents are ready to come back into the party fold if the Smith issue does not come to a head.

Smith's announcement has aroused fear of a Smith-Roosevelt feud like the Smith-McAdoo feud which wrecked the party's chance in 1928. chance in 1928.

Many Democrats, foreseeing a catastrophe if such a situation develops, are coming to favor elimination of both principals.

This development has already privately given tremendous encouragement to friends of speaker John N. Garner of Texas and Newton D. Baker of Ohio.

The first state primary in which the Roosevelt and Smith forces meet, for it is generally assumed friends of Smith will intensify their campaign on his behalf, will be in New Hampshire March 8.

The New Hampshire primary will be followed by state primaries in Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania, all of which deliver large blocks of convention delegates, and all highly important to any candidate in a Democratic convention in which two-thirds rule prevails.

Tammany is Silent

Silent on the statement were leaders of Tammany Hall. Smith has battled Tammany from within. Roosevelt has not helped Tammany much from Albany with its repeated approval of the Seabury city-wide graft investigation.

Tammany's decision is due by April 12, date of the New York state primary.

In 1928 Roosevelt carried the state as a gubernatorial candidate while Smith lost it. Roosevelt won an upstate plurality and in 1930 repeated with an unprecedented state vote, winning Republican farm districts upstate, which went Democratic for the first time.

Rivalry of the two New York Democrats, some leaders hold, started with those incidents.

"Political Suicide"

Mrs. Hattie Caraway, Democratic senator from Arkansas, said, "I admire Governor Smith and do not want to belittle his achievements, but I think it would be political suicide for the Democrats to nominate him again."

James B. Cox, former Ohio governor and Democratic nominee in 1920, said "It is natural for Governor Smith to want another chance."

Senators who supported Smith against Hoover—Gore of Oklahoma, Wheeler of Montana, Sheppard and Connally of Texas, McKellar of Tennessee — say Smith's nomination would be a great mistake.

Senator Walter F. George (D), Georgia, said:

"It is no longer possible to escape the conclusion that his stated willingness to lead the party in 1932 is part of a definite progrom to block the nomination of other candidates, especially Governor Roosevelt."

Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy: "Alfred E. Smith's statement, equivalent to the announcement that he is candidate for the Democratic presidental nomination, is a sad discharge of any obligation the former candidate may feel toward the party and is distinctly unfortunate. The disastrous effect of his candidacy is too well known to admit of argument."

Comment Favorable

The tenor of editorial opinion in southern newspapers was almost universaly unfavorable to the Smith announcement.

The Macon, Ga., Telegraph says: "Smith is throwing the Democrats the bone over which they will snarl and fight from now until after the November election. If the Democrats lose the presidency this year, they may date the beginning of the end of hopes from today."

The Baltimore Sun: "What is revealed is longing and the sense of the impending frustration. And yet, despite feud and frustration, this statement from Alfed E. Smith is a thing of health for the Democratic party and for the nation, because it promises clash of opinion and the purification of fire."

The Louisville Courier-Journal; "Mr. Smith's announcement is unfortunate for the Democratic party and for the nation, for it certainly means a struggle between Smith forces and Roosevelt forces, which, if it does not result in such a deadlock as in 1924, may result in leaving the party so mactionally embittered as to conduce more to the election of Herbert Hoover."

Clarifying Statement

The Memphis Tenn. Commercial Appeal: "Smith makes his position clear, but he might have made it clearer with the frank statement that he is a candidate."

Atlanta Journal: "For long years he and Franklin Roosevelt have fought their battles side by side,—Thus every natural prompting of loyalty, to say nothing of consistency (and certainly Al Smith has been distinguished for both) would cry out against his repudiation of so generous and helpful a friendship as ranking as Roosevelt's."

The New York World-Telegram, Independent says: "The effect of the Smith move will be to make the preconvention campaign a real contest. Only on such a contest issue can the issue be brought out. That is the particularly true regarding Roosevelt who to date has been more specific on issues than forced to be. But it is also true of other candidates,—The nomination should no go to any man by default."

ELDER BLOSSOM SAYS HE DIDN'T PLAY GROUND HOG

Dear Editor:

Ah wuz sprized when Ah got de Banner las week and didn't see my piece. It wuz a fit Sunday, an ob corse Ah didn't hab no pintment on dat day, but Ah made a talk at my home Sunday School and writ it up and thought Ah sent it in. But Ah found dat Ah didn't eber mail it.

But what Ah wants to say is dat Ah don't lak fur no body to class me up wid no ground hog lak you did when you said dat Ah plaid de ground hog game on you. Now, Mr. Editer, Ah don't mind you classin me up wid a elefunt or a dunky, and then a common hog, but when it cums to classin me wid ur ground hog, den is when Ah grunts. So right now Ah wants to register de biggest grunt dat you heard since dis ground hog day a year ago.

Ah nows dat Ahm a nigger, but dar am a heap ob difference twixt me an a ground hog. In de fust place he's got four legs and I ain't got but two and one ob dem is cripple wid rumatiz. But de biggest difference is dat he stays in a hole jes part ob de time an Ah stays in a hole all de time.

So please take dis grunt as final. Yours for a better classification next time.—Elder Blossom.

Father critized the sermon, mother disliked the blunders of the organist, and the eldest daughter thought that the choir's song was atrocious.

The subject had to be dropped when the small boy of the family with the schoolboy's love of fair play chipped in with the remark:

"Dad, I think it was a jolly good show for a penny."

Mr. Dick Hobbie of Montgomery was in Clanton Wednesday.

JESSE BAKER

Republican Candidate for

County Treasurer

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

Having been solicited by a great many of my friends, and because I would like to serve the public in that office, I have made up my mind that I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Treasurer of Chilton County in the Primary which will be held on the third day of May.

I have no long statement to make, as I do not feel that it is necessary for several reasons. I will say, first that I have served as County Treasurer in the past. I am proud to say that my record of service is such that I am proud to point back to it and say that it was the kind of service which I hope to give the people again if the voters see fit to nominate and elect me to the office.

In the second place, I want to say that I am a Republican from away back. My father and forefathers have been among the first people in Chilton County who voted the Republican ticket. So far as my connection with the politics is concerned, I want to say that I lay claim to no affiliation other than as a firm, loyal, honest, and conscientious Republican. I have never countenanced or affiliated with any so-called factions of the Republican party. And if I am nominated and elected as your servant again in the Treasurer's office, I have only one promise to make, and that is this: I will first of all endeavor to serve all the people of the county in the manner they are entitled to; politically, I will continue to be a Republican, and will always endeavor to co-operate with the other Republican officials of the county to the end that our party may be strengthened and perpetuated for service to our people in the years of the future.

Now, that is all at this time. I will be glad for all Republicans to consider my candidacy, and if you can support me at the Primary and lend me your influence among your friends, I tell you now I will appreciate it most sincerely.—Jesse Baker, Clanton, Ala.

PLAY TO BE GIVEN AT OAK GROVE SCHOOL

A charming three-act play, "The Path Across the Hill," will be given at Oak Grove school on Friday evening, February 12th at 7:30.

Mr. Grady Sutley, as Grandpa Crawford, strikes a keynote of tragedy, while Mrs. Sutley, as Grandma, is full of good cheer and well worn proverbs. Miss Thelma Pierce has the leading role of Ruth, while Misses Roberta Satterwhite, Pauline Leslie and Jane Billingsley all have interesting parts. Marvin Sutley, as the negro chauffeur, is the hit of the play. There are several other male parts all played in a splendid manner.

A small admission will be charged and the public is invited.

POULTRY

MINERALIZED SOY-BEAN OIL MEAL

(By Dr. John M. Evvard)

Soybean oil meal, rightly manufactured in modern up-to-date mills, provides for poultry feeding, under current price conditions, an outstanding economic source of very superior grain-balancing proteins, some vitamins, minerals and other nutrients. Soybean Oil Meal runs well over 40 per cent protein, sometimes as high as 45 per cent, depending upon the beans from which it is processed. These proteins are efficiently unique in their chemical constitution as compared with other plant source supplements.

Dr. Scott-Robertson over in the Emerald Isle found in his reserch work that soybean oil meal, when adequately fortified with essential minerals and fed along with the basal ration used, largely cereals, gave a higher egg production per bird over nine months' period than when, for instance, fish meal was used. When Dr. Scott-Robertson fed cereals only to hens, the yield for the above mentioned period was 129 eggs per bird; when he added blood meal and certain minerals he got only 119 eggs per hen when fish meal was used to build up the protein of his ration, the egg-layers shelled out an average of 158 eggs; and when the same basal ration was supplemented with soybean oil meal, fortified with the minerals he used, the yield jumped to 162 eggs per hen. This is a rather remarkable showing for soybean oil meal when fortified with minerals in the balancing of the cereal ration experimented with.

Dr. Bethke and associates of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station did considerable work with soybean oil meal in the raising of chicks, their prime object being to find out if soybean oil meal would adequately replace a major portion of the dried buttermilk. In the basal ration which they used, twenty-five pounds of dried buttermilk was included in the the dried buttermilk was replaced by results which Dr. Bethke secured, figures of which he gave us recently, we note that where sixty per cent of the Dried Buttermilk was replaced by soybean oil meal, the ration being kept efficient from a mineral fortification standpoint, the chicks made a better showing than where straight buttermilk was used.

It is well to emphasize that when soybean oil meal is used, it should be fortified with certain essential minerals, which are incorporated in the right proportions.

Seven mineral elements essential to properly fortify soybean oil meal are: calcium, phosphorus, sodium, chlorine, iron, copper, and iodine.

ANOTHER STATEMENT FROM MR. WILL COX

Mr. Will Cox requests us to publish for him a statement of his side of the land deal with Mrs. Poole, in which he says:

"Here is the transaction, if it were my last words as I leave this world.

"I really bought $7,650 worth of land, $5,000 of it from Mrs. Pool, $1,600 of it from Mrs. Pool and Reedie Taylor, her son, and $1,050 from Steve Baber. I paid Baker the $1,050 cash, and I also paid Mrs. Pool and Reedie Taylor $1,000, which left a remainder of $5,600.

"I gave Mrs. Pool a mortgage on the entire tract I bought from her, which was 60 acres, and 40 acres that I bought from her and Reedie; and also gave her a mortgage on the 30 acres I bought from Baker; made a total of 130 acres I had bought from the three parties. The interest was to be 7 per cent, which I paid the fall of 1928 which was $392, the transaction being in 1927.

"Then in the fall of 1929 I paid $1,052.69, which amount covered the interest at 8 per cent, which was $448.00, and a payment of $604.69 on the principal. This left a balance of $4,996.69, or approximately $5,000.

"Then in the fall of 1930 I paid 8 per cent on the $5,000, which was $400; then I sold a neighbor 25 acres of the Baker land and 10 acres of the Mrs. Pool land for $1,750, and he gave her a mortgage for the $1,750 and I had a credit for it. This left me owing Mrs. Pool $3,250 balance for the 95 acres of land that cost me $6,000 and they offered me 20 acres of the 95, which was the cheapest land of the outfit which was sold to me by Mr. Reedie Taylor for $750, leaving a balance of 75 acres that cost me, as you see, $5,250, and a martgage aganist it for $3,250.

"In this period of three years I paid out $2,000 interest and taxes on this $7,650 and received $1,000 rents; and you see I have been out $3,650 in all, and I am still paying interest on the last two years of interest, as I had to borrow it at the bank, as the rents would not meet the expenses.

"Now if any man doubts this statement, if he will come to me, I will show him the cancelled checks and receipts to this effect. Nevertheless, I regret very much that I have to come to public with this. However, I had to come this time in self defense.

"Some say that the land has decreased in value. This land was worth more to me at the present time than it was when I bought it, for I had to rent it then. Now my children have grown up and we need it. Since I lost it two of my boys have had to leave home to get work because I did not have land for them. So the land is worth more to me than it ever was.—Respectfully, W. B. Cox.

CHESTNUT CREEK CHURCH

Here we come again folks, boasting about old Chestnut Creek Church, but we have something to boast about.

The spirit of God is at work in our community. We can prove that by the way our church service is growing, both in number and spirit. Our cottage prayer meeting is a wonderful success. Wednesday afternoon we had 19 women present here in Coopers. Wednesday night at 6:30 Sunday school officers and teachers meeting at 7 o'clock. Choir practice had a large crowd.

Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days; wonderful sermones were delivered at both services, but Sunday morning, Bro. Hand delivered one of the most wonderful sermons I have ever heard. His subject was, "Is there any Room for Jesus?"

This is a question every christian should ask themselves.

We had a large crowd at the singing society Sunday p.m. We had 98 present at B. Y. P. U. After all the wonderful preaching, teaching and singing, folks did not forget their place in B. Y. P. U. Senior union subject was, "A Closer Walk with God." Out of a class of about 32 seniors we had 21 Bible readers Sunday night. We invite everybody to come back any time you wish.—Louanna Calloway.

COMING! "WHAT ABOUT BETTY"

Coming to Isabella High School Saturday night, February 13th. You cannot afford to miss this comedy drama in three acts. You will weep over Betty's misfortune and laugh over Johua's blunt remarks and awkward manner. You will be interested to know what is in the mysterious pocket-book and who stole the pearl necklace. Curtain will rise at 7:30. Popular prices.—Elizabeth Mims, Reporter.

BAKER SCHOOL NEWS

Many of our pupils attended Sunday School at different places Sunday.

Next Saturday and Sunday will be our regular preaching days at Liberty Hill. Rev. J. S. Holland will preach. We hope to have a large crowd.

The singing society will meet Sunday afternoon at Liberty Hill. We are expecting the Thorsby Singers to be with us; every one is invited to come and take part.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Tip Popwell. We extend to his parents our deepest sympathy.

Last Friday afternoon the Baker boys went to Concord to play their fourth game. The Concord boys got away with the game in the first few minutes of play and the Baker bays were unable to catch up with them. The final score was 7 to 12 for Concord. Baker won both games played on their court, and Concord won both games played on their court. Both teams are very evenly matched.

Our attendance is very good although several are out on account of the mumps.

We are planning a program for chapel Friday morning in honor of Lincoln's birthday.

Miss Delene Culp went to Billingsley visiting Sunday.

Mr. Parrish made a trip to Birmingham Saturday.

Misses Pauline and Bernice Cox entertained in honor of their guest, Miss Mary Cox, at their home last Saturday evening. A large number enjoyed the occasion.

The army airplane which fell near the home of Mr. Sam Headley Monday afternoon has produced quite a bit of excitement among our pupils.

Miss Bessie Bishop of Atlanta, Ga. spent the week end here as the guest of Mr. Julian Evans.

MOUNTAIN SPRINGS

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely at present. But we still have room for improvement. We had a few more to enroll last Sunday, so come on, all of you who are not enrolled in some other Sunday school. We will be more than glad to have you enroll with us. The Sunday school needs you and you need the Sunday school. So come on next Sunday and help to make Sunday school worth while. We still have Christian Endeaver every Sunday night, so come one and all and let us make our community better by spending a few hours in Christian Endeavor.

Miss Ruby Stearns of near Eclectic is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gentry.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Retherford and Mrs. Lula Gentry Spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Giles and Mrs. Lula Littleton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Giles.

Mrs. Purmie Lily is a visitor in this community at present.

Sunday school next Sunday a.m. at 10 o'clock and Christian Endeaver Sunday p.m. at 6:30. Everybody come with a well studied lesson and a mind to learn.

Visitors are always welcome at Mt. Springs.

BE SURE TO SEE THIS

What? "A Poor Marired Man," at Concord Jr. High School, on Saturday night, February 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Don't miss this play. There are loads of fun. You will miss half of your life, if you are not there to see this "Poor Married Man," whose marriage starts out as a failure, and ends up a success.

Characters: Professor John B. Wise, a poor married man, Clarence Baker; Dr John Graham, a country physician, Cleveland Driver; Billy Blake, a popular college boy, Judson Easterling; Jupiter Jackson, a black trump, Frank Clackler; Mrs. Iona Ford, some mother-in-law, Delia Bice; Zoie, her charming daughter, Clara Mae Mims; June Graham, a little freshman, Lucille Johnson; Rosiland Wilson, a college reporter, Ghuruis Easterling; college students, a group of boys and girls.

Be sure to come. The admission is only 10 and 15 cents.

CONCORD B. Y. P. U.

Just a few words to let the people know what we are doing and to urge others to join us.

Our program was really enjoyed Sunday night, the subject being, "A Closer Walk with God." Everyone rendered their part well. I believe if the members who do not attend regular could have heard our program Sunday night, they would be more thoughtful of what the B. Y. P. U. really means and attend regularly.

We regret very much that our president and group captain, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Taylor, were absent Sunday night, on account of the illness of the latter's mother. We hope she will soon be well again.

We had several visitors Sunday night of which we are proud. Everyone seemed to enjoy the program very much. Come again. We are glad to have you at any time. B. Y. P. U. meets at 6:30.

WATERMELON ON FEBRUARY 9

Last Tuesday, February 9th, Sam Nations of Providence in Beat 16, came into The Banner office with a little watermelon in his hands. It was sent to us by Sidney Mims also of that community, and was gathered the day before in Mr. Mims's corn field. The melon was a little larger than a quart bucket and had the actual color of a good watermelon. We haven't cut it yet, but we believe it is fit to eat.

We cut one last Christmas Eve day which was sent to us from Will Moates's farm out form Coopers, and it tasted fairly well.

MT. CALVERY—SHELBY COUNTY

Editor Union-Banner:

Please permit me space in your columns for a few words with the good readers of the dear old Union-Banner.

Our Sunday school is progressing very nicely and our attendance is wonderful, when we consider our poplation.

Rev. R. S. Chandler filled his regular appointment here at Mt. Calvery on the first Sunday and Saturday night before.

We really heard two wonderful sermons delivered from the stand by Rev. Chandler. Brethern, we ought to thank God for a young minister like Rev. Chandler, who so ably holds up the Lord Jesus Christ to a lost world.

Dear readers, it seems to me that in a time of great and world wide depression that we are having some of the most wonderful services that we have ever had at old Mt. Calvery. The writer really and truly gives God the praise for these wonderful blessings and the demonstration of his love to his children.

Mt. Calvery Church is located 8 miles east of Pelham Alabama, over in the valley beyond Double Oak Mt.

Rev. H. C. Conway was with us Sunday and made us a wonderful talk in regard to God's work. — W. J. Vinzant.

PROHIBITION DID NOT BRING BOOTLEGGERS—

A writer to the Birmingham News called attention recently to an item in the "25 Years Ago Today" column, which said: "In charging the grand jury at Selma Judge Mabry said, 'blind tigers and pistol toting are to blame for most of the crimes in Dallas county'."

That charge, made 25 years ago, was givtn before the prohibition amendment to the constitution was adopted. But there are some people so unscrupulous as to pretend that there were no blind tigers, neither bootleggers until after the 18th amendment.

The plain truth is that there never was a law that people who dealt in liquor would respect and obey. In the towns that had legalized saloons there were blind tigers and boot leggers and there were moonshiners in the hills.

Whatever is to be done about prohibition, we need not try to make anybody believe that if prohibition is given up and some form of legalized liquor traffic established, we shall be free of blind tigers and boot leggers. We shall have blind tigers and boot leggers here and elsewhere until the people who believe in law and righteousness make up their minds that laws must be obeyed.—Shelby County Reporter.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

There has been a great deal of comment in the newspapers concerning the recent statement of Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Wilson, to the effect that he did not believe that the time was ripe for the United States to enter the League of Nations. Mr. Baker has been one the most consistent supporters of the theory of Uncle Sam's adherance to the League. Several years ago, at a Democratic banquet at Winchester, Ind., he reaffirmed his faith in the League and it was widely stated at the time that this reaffirmation eliminated him as a presidential possibility in the campaign of 1932. Now many of the political dopesters are declaring that his latest statement to the effect that the League is not now an issue in American politics, puts him back in the race for the Democratis presidental nomination.

Mr. Baker in his statement says among other things, that he thinks it would be a mistake to make the League issue a partisan matter. There is not much chance unless Mr. Baker is nominated for president, that it will be a partisan matter again in the near future for the reason that the Democratic leaders are generally as much opposed to the entrance of the United States into the League as are Republican leaders and the rank and file of the Democratic party is as much opposed as is the rank and file of the Republican party. At the time the League fight was hot in the Senate many pro-Leaguers made the charge that Republican leaders were opposing Uncle Sam's joining the League because it was a Wilson measure. This was not true, and it must not be forgotten that several Democratic leaders, whose partisanship has never been questioned, were opposed to the League of Nations too.

As a matter of fact,when President Wilson first brought the League idea back from Europe the general unorganized setiment of the country was favorable to the idea. We had heard so much during the war about universal brotherly love, and making the world safe for democracy, that it seemed only logical to the unthinking that, with the war over and everybody loving everybody else, some sort of organization to prevent war was the next step.

The easiest thing for the leaders of the Senate to have done would have been to recognize this sentiment, put the League over and look somewhere else for an issue. But fortunately for the country, there were in the United States Senate many students of international politics who were not looking for the easiest way. They recognized the fact that the world had not been changed by the war and there was just as much factionalism, as much selfishness and as much crooked international politics in Europe as there had been before 1914. They foresaw the dangers that would come before a political League of Nations, especially to a country like the United States which had always been isolated and which had economic standards different from those in Europe. As a result there came the historic Senate fight against the League of Nations which was eminently and convincingly successful.

Since that time sentiment against Uncle Sam's joining the League of Nations has been growing steadily in the United States, and it has been growing in spite of the tremendous propaganda for internationalism, which has been unloosed in successive floods in the United States. The reason why this internationalist propaganda has failed is that the people of the country have been studying international politics and are better informed on European affairs than they were when the League idea was first brought to our shores. And again, this propaganda has failed because happenings in the world have steadily tended to refute the claims of the internationalists. The last refutation has been the League fizzle in Manchuria.

The League will not be a political issue again soon unless the Democrats nominate Newton D. Baker for president. If they do, no power on earth can keep the League from becoming an issue, not even a declaration against it in both party platforms. From a political standpoint the Democrats could not do the Republicans a greater favor than to nominate Mr. Baker for president. They would at once present the Republicons with an issue on which they have won two sweeping national victories, and on which the chances are better at this time than ever before.

HOPE FOR THE FARMER

In a recent radio address, David Lawrence the well known political journalist and editor of the United States daily, said that the present transition of agriculture from an unorganized to an organized basis, constitutes the most hopeful feature of the present agricultural situation.

The cooperative movement is growing into strength. There are now about 12,000 cooperative associations in the country with a total membership of about 2,000,000 farmers. They did a business totalling $2,400,000,000 last year—an increase of $100,000,000 over 1930.

Thus, in spite of present depressed conditions, agriculture should be optimistic for the future. The day the first cooperative started was a red letter day in the history of farming. And the day the last group of unorganized farmers join together for mutual benefit, the farmer will have reached the goal for which the more progressive members of his industry are working. The time when a man could stand alone in his business dealings is past. He must join with his fellows in the same endeavor, so that all may prosper and find a sound market for what they have to sell.

If one is born every minute, there will always be a group that thinks Europe will certainly pay up.—Los Angeles Times.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

I was sitting in a gathering of Christian people, and reports were being made of what had been done during the year. One minister said, "I held a great meeting at blank town. The power of the spirit came down upon the people and seventy-three were received into the church." The presiding officer looked upon a record that was before him to see how the finances of that church came up, and seeing there was a deficit, he charged that the conversion of that number amounted to nothing. He made the impression that nothing counts, but money. We do not want to be hard on leaders in the church of today, but there is more stress being put on the finances of church life, than there is being placed on the salvation of lost sinners. I contend that if the people are being saved in a church, there will be no trouble about church finances. When churches are set on fire with the power of the Spirit and sinners crowd the altars of the church, saved men and women will bring their offerings to Zion. If we would hear more about saving sinners, and less about shearing the sheep, we would face more liberality.

I have an old hen in my back yard that is a spoiled bunch of feathers. When she came to the parsonage for the first night, she did not know where to roost. She bruised about for a few moments, then perched herself on a box. I took her up and gently placed her on the roost. The next night she bruised around and waited for me to lift her to her roost. Now, that old hen makes no effort to climb up to her roost, but quietly waits for me to come and lift her to her place and put her to bed. She likes to roost high, but she is too lazy to climb into her place. There are many "birds" without feathers, who want to roost high in this world, but they want some kind hand to come along and lift them into a good place. It is not an unusual sight to see men and women wanting the highest place in the community, in the club and in the church, but they are not willing to climb into that position. If the strength must be used, if the ladder must be climbed, they prefer to roost low. Certainly, you would be pleased to roost high if some kind spirit will come along and lift you up to the high places, but if you must fight your way up, you leave the elevations for others. Use your wings and reach the heights under your own power.

While attending a religious gathering in Montgomery on January 19th, I listened to a layman as he was advising with the laymen of his church. He had this to say to them: "Fellows, we are not giving to our pastors the support they should have. We are leaving the church to be run by the pastor and the good women. This should not be and I have resolved that in 1932, I am going to give of my best to the church. I am a Sunday school superintendent, and I have a neighbor living next door, that man never goes to church, and I have never asked him to go with me. He has asked me to go fishing with him on Sunday, but I have never asked him to go to the Sunday school with me. I am going right home and walk over to that man's house and invite him to my church. I am going to see to it that the devil can not be more active than I am." If the churches in our county had more men like that there would be a different day for the kingdom in our midst. It is nothing short of deplorable to see the actual amount of indifference on the part of our men for the church and for the welfare of the kingdom. Men, awake, awake, and from this good hour make first things first.

While riding the highway between Prattville and the Alabama river, you will notice at the top of a hill a big sign. In box car letters this is what you will read, "Dancing here every Saturday night." This sign has brought back to the mind of travelers vulgar pictures and scenes of depravity. Many a man as he has read these words has thought of a revelry elsewhere in which he went the whole length of the rope of sin. Many a young lady has read these words and called to mind the place where she lost all that was worth living for in this world. On seeing this sign men and women go on their way with their minds filled with the base things of human conduct. I thank God that there are some travelers who pass that way, who, when they read, breathe a prayer for those who are caught in the devil's trap. Mothers have shed tears as they read those signs, knowing that is was at such a place that her son and daughter, first learned the ways of the world. I see that sign, "Dancing here," in other places besides the one on the way to Montgomery. I never see a sign like that, when I do not feel a chill of horror going over my soul, and I never fail to pray an earnest prayer that God will use his power in breaking that place of unholy influence. In our nation there were one hundred thousand young women who found their way into the primrose path last year by the door of the dance hall, and that does not number the thousands of young men who went the same road. It is dangerous to carry a bucket of gasoline into a room where there is a fire burning in an open grate, but no more dangerous than it is for people to carry their souls into a dance hall.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

A Peep Into the Future.—Have you ever had a hankering to look into the future? If you have, now is your chance. You can pick up this morning's paper and read all about what happened in the Chinese war zone today. That is just a little bit curious, but its true; and here's how it is. The time zone in China is 14 hours ahead of our time. When it's 12 o'clock noon here it's 2 o'clock in the morning of the next day over there, and about the time we are having our supper and getting ready to hit the hay, the Chinks have already had their rice the next morning and are getting ready to dodge the day's allotment of bullets and shells. So, there you are. If you're a little bit curious that way, and want to know what's going to happen in China and thereabout for the next half day, just grab off a paper and read all about it. You can read all about it before it happens, so far as the calendar is concerned.

Presidential Timber.—"Disgustus"—what a name! However, it is a bit disgusting to always hear someone ranting about how Mr. So-and-So runs his business. For the last several months we have all been swallowed up in the midst of a depression, as you know only too well. But the surprising part of it all is that some people try to blame it all on Mr. Hoover. Yet, every once in a while some disgruntled wise-acre figures it all out and lays the whole mess at the president's door. Men high up in the business world, who really KNOW things don't make such charges; but now and then some two-by-four just lets his littleness get too hot and boil over and show him up. For my part, I only regret that "Disgustus," whomever he is, can't get on as one of Mr. Hoover's personal advisers, and then I know we'd have better times. How do I know it? Because he is so good at picking out the president's short-comings, he must SURELY have some ideas of his own which would help matters a lot if they could be used. Better still, would it not be great to have "Disgustus" for the next president, and then that high and mighty office would be occupied by an all-wise one who couldn't make a mistake even if he tried. I believe I'll just nominate "Disgustus" for president right now. Come on, all you folks, and help me put him over—honest—I know this poor old trouble-ridden country would be in for an era of great prosperity if we could only land him there; and we never needed such a genius worse than at this time. I'm mighty sure he has these big ideas of how things should be run, or he would not have so much to say about how things are being managed. Don't you think so? People don't run down other methods unless they have something better to offer. It just isn't done. So, I'm listening for a second to my nomination of—"DISGUSTUS" FOR PRESIDENT!

Stapp and Farm Bureau Good for County.—Figures given out on the amount of poultry shipped last week when the poultry car was run on the L. & N. road through Chilton County showed that the shippers received more than enough EXTRA above the amount they usually would have received for the same number of pounds of poultry to pay what Mr. Stapp receives from Chilton County for a whole year's service. That should prove that Mr. Stapp and the Farm Bureau are great assets to Chilton county farmers. Here a while back, when we were voting on whether we would keep the Farm Bureau and Mr. Stapp, I heard a few fellows state that Mr. Stapp had never benefitted them in any way. To those who feel that way, and to all others, let me ask that you give Mr. Stapp a chance to help you. If he won't — or can't, then you'll have a chance to kick. But if Mr. Stapp should sit down and not do another thing for the rest of the year, he has already saved the farmers more than they will pay him this year. I think that's good business.

Are You Hungry?—Is your craw getting empty? If so, all you have to do it join Uncle Sam's army, navy, or marine corps and get them to send you to China. Boy, how they must feed those fighting men. It has been said that an army fights on its stomach—if so, our scrappers in the far East should certainly cleam 'em up. Just listen to this—the following is a list of "emergency" rations sent over; in other words the government figured that perhaps this would feed 'em until the main supply boats could be loaded and sent over. Here is the "emergency" supply: 100 tons of fresh meats, 100 tons of potatoes, 10 tons of onions, 45 tons of oranges, 10 tons of apples, and enough butter, eggs, canned goods and dried fruits to total 600 tons. I just wonder what the main supply would amount to, if this is an "emergency" supply. Any way you take it, you won't have to worry about any of the fellows going hungry.

Muddying the Pond—It's a little early to be taking plunges, but for the next few days you must not be too surprised if you see or hear of several of the fellows taking a big high dive into the old pool—the political pond. In fact, one has already hopped off. I know you noticed "Jess" Baker's annoucement in last week's Union-Banner. Since he has broken the ice, I have been hearing of several who have begun running around in circles, just like something might be buzzing in their immediate vicinity. I suppose that must certainly be the well known "bee" Pretty soon, now, I expect to see a bunch of 'em puddling around up to their necks in the icy waters, and they'll be calling on their "dear friends" to lend 'em a helping hand to get back on the slippery bank.

Spuds from Maine—In moseying around town the other day, I noticed one of those big box car trucks stop on the street and the attendant began unloading a bunch of barrells and sacks. I kept wondering what those containers had in them, so I stuck around pretty close until they were opened. Apples—from Virginia, and spuds—from Maine. Imagine folks in Alabama having their apples and Irish potatoes shipped from such far-off points, when they can be raised right here at home, at much less cost than they can be bought. Irish potatoes might be one of our best crops, if farmers could only get the wild and woolly cotton idea out of their "noggins." And apples—several farmers took the trouble to spray their trees a little last year, and we were rewarded with some of the finest specimens of this fruit. Let's use the old think-tank a little this year let's try a few crops besides cotton, and just see how we come out. If the venture is a failure we can always go back to where we started, but if we never start we'll never get anywhere. We have all to gain and nothing to lose.

OUR GOLDEN GOOSE

Inasmuch as our main source of income is our agricultural interests, in this particular part of the country, we should look forward a bit in our treatment of the railroads. In fact, we should look both forward and backward. In years gone by, the railroads have been one of the greatest helps in development of the country, in several ways. In building the roads, millions of dollars were paid out for labor and materials. Without our railroads we could not have had much of our labor saving machinery shipped in. Since completion of the railroad systems through the country much has been paid in the way of taxes, wages, etc. They have had a great part in the building of our good roads, and will continue to have such a part, if they are given the support they merit. At present, however, a "smothering" movement is afoot, which, if allowed to grow at the alarming rate at which it has grown during the few years since its beginning, will soon force the railroads to break down, and the people, as a whole, will be the greatest losers when and if this happens. This "smothering" or killing of the goose which lays the golden eggs, consists of more than one way in which we, unconsciously, are allowing our best interests to suffer. Our railroads are overtaxed, over legislated, and are helpless victims of unfair competition and non-support. Think it over—put yourself in the railroad's place, and see if you still thnik the railroads are getting a square deal. In this week's issue our railroad, the L. & N., carries on advertisement which gives some enlightening facts on the subject. Turn to it and read it. And remember, "the railroads must earn to spend."

A GOOD PROGRAM FOR 1932

Here's a good program for the United States for 1932.

Keep the nation at a time when there are more war dogs growling than at any time since the World war, in what Washinton called "a respectable posture of defense."

Put the unemployed to work in erecting such economic defenses as to assure the American market for American competitive products as against foreign products made cheap by cheapening workers, and increase our foreign trade by the greater purchasing power for noncompetive imports that thus be created.

Drop the job of saving Europe from itself and tackle the task of saving America for ourselves.

Keep our nose out of foreign quarrels, thus keeping out of wars with the causes and purposes of which we have nothing to do.

Stick to a sound currency, even if the rest of the world goes to using wampum money.

Let our foreign debtors pay or repudiate just as they wish, and take the consequences since we cannot do anything about it anyway.

Take a breathing spell in paying off the national debt until we get the money with which to do it.

Use the ax on public expenditures until we are able to pay the bills past extravagance has created.

Stir up a revival of old fashioned patriotism and religion and get away from some fads and follies that have mussed up our national thinking.

Impress our statesmen and financiers that looking after the United States is a bigger job than they have ever been able to handle and that hereafter they will be expected to look after the people from whom they get their money.

Get back to common honesty and common sense in private and public affairs.

HANDS FULL

The main reason Great Britain didn't join the United States in writing a note of protest to Japan over the Chinese fuss was that she was using both hands to hold down the lid on India.—Ohio State Journal.

CONTINENTAL CARES

If it isn't one thing it's another, and our next big worry will be as to whether or not the groundhog will see his shadow.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Our old friend Andy, of the company of Amos 'n' Andy would doubtless refer to the present European situation as "that's a mess."

Hitler disapproves of the Bruening plan to extend President Hindenburg's term. But that doesn't mean necessarily that he is not a friend of Hindenburg. He may be just trying to do him a favor.

In a Tough Place—While listening, by radio to an authority on the subject of the Chino-Jap controversy one night this week, I became very much interested in the comparisons that speaker made in the international situation. He said that Japan is in a tough place, all of their own making. They have carried themselves into an adventure from which they cannot withdraw graciously, for the folks "back home" have been promised much by the militarists who are in power. They have been promised, in return for their support, that they will bring home the bacon—that is, they will manage some way to get more territory, where the dense population may spread out. Now, if they withdraw, the militaristic party in Japan will be forced to bear the stigma of defeat in its policies. And, in Japan, that just means this party must expect a demand that they give their power over to some other party, and let them try their hand at running the government. On the other hand, if their present aggressive militant policy in China is followed, it is bound, sooner or later, to plunge Japan into an international conflict which the wildest dream of an optimist can see no hope of winning, judging from the manner in which the world powers are aligning themselves. It is defeat any way they go at it—defeat for the party if the war policy is not followed up, and defeat for all Japan if that policy is followed through. In other words, they are between the devil and the deep blue sea; between a rock and a hard spot; or like the baseball player who slid into what he thought was third base.

Glimpses—Here's a marble game—an all day affair—makes me think of my younger days. "Shorty" Miner, on his way back to Montgomery, seems curious that "Shorty" isn't "at home" in Clanton any more. Some fellow selling eggs at 10 cents a dozen—that's worse than cotton at 5 cents a pound. A farmer with an arm full of plow lines—I guess he reads the ads. A bunch of fellows practicing riding a motorcycle—I suppose they're getting ready to enlist as dispatch riders in the army. A roadster flashes by—it is really moving, too—the back wash almost made me think a brisk breeze was blowing in. Well I've already run over my allotted space, so, good day, boys, I'll see you in Shanghai—maybe—Man in the Moon.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Little Men Raise Big Hogs

It may not always be true that little men raise big hogs; but it is true in the case of Dudley Collins, former sheriff and Tax Collector, but now an active farmer. Mr. Collins reports that he killed a hog last week that weighed 808 pounds on foot, and 704 pounds after it was dressed. He says that he will give a mess of sausage made from this big hog to the school boy under 12 years old, who can figure out what percentage of weight the hog lost in dressing. The Man on the Corner would have been glad to figure that out for the chitlings.

Rev. Gibson Gets Paper

We give special mention this week to a name that has been added to The Union-Banner's honor roll of preachers, Rev. F. A. Gibson. He came in Monday to put in his application, and stated that he is sort of a has-been preacher, but he still wants to be listed among the soldiers of the Cross. "I don't do much preaching these days," he said, "only funerals, marrying folks, and special occasion now and then; but I have put in many years in the service of the Lord as best I could, and every time anybody passes anything around for the preachers, I take some of it, if it is nothing but fried chicken." We are glad to have the name of Brother Gibson on our preacher list.

Not Much Town News

Rev. Haskew asked me Monday morning why it is the papers in Clanton do not have very much local Town News of folks and things in Clanton. I told him the papers are too poor to hire a town correspondent; and the people in Clanton do not take the time and trouble to call us up and tell us the news. They wait till the paper comes out and they fail to find a certain item in it, and then they call up and want to know why in the world this and that was not in the paper.

That's The Way Of The World

Mr. Haskew laughed when I told him that and said, "That's the way of people all over the world, I reckon. I find the same proposition in many instances of my pastoral work. A man may get sick and stay in the bed for several days, and never let his pastor know anything about it. Then when he gets out on the street, the first time he meets the preacher, he gives me a raking-over for not coming to see him; and I did not know anything about him being sick."

What are the "Ridges" For?

The airplane pilot made an emergency landing Monday in a soft field near Sam Headley's. A few spectators who saw the "stunt" rushed to the landing place, and were there when he climbed out of the ship. Looking up and down the field and seeing the high terraces, the pilot asked: "What are these big high ridges in the field for?" I guess he thought they were put there to stop airplanes, as his own machine had landed with its nose stuck deep into one of them.

Old Pumphouse Joe

Joe Retherford, who used to run the railroad pumphouse in Clanton, was a visitor at the Banner office Saturday. I wished that Clyde Davis had been here to extend to Joe the greeting he used to give him when he made his almost daily call at the old Banner office behind the courthouse. Mr. Retherford now lives in Birmingham, where he works for the Alabama Power Company. About 25 years ago when he was running the railroad pump in Clanton he fell into the big tank and had to be fished out. When reminded of that incident last Saturday Joe said: "Just think of it. If somebody had not come to my rescue and got me out of that tank, folks would now be saying Old Pumphouse Joe was drowned in the railroad tank 25 years ago, and I sure would have missed a lot of life in that 25 years."

Big Day for Plow Lines

Dewey Rockett reports that his plow line day last Saturday was a big success. He sold over nine hundred pairs of lines at the Clanton Building Supply Co., and Sam Pate sold over two hundred pairs at Thorsby Hardware Co. A traveling saleman and his wife, from Louisville, were in the store when Dewey gave out this report. The lady looked a bit puzzled and said: "My, goodness I didn't think there was that many mules in Alabama."

It is estimated that the expense of the American delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference will be $450,000. We hope that the delegation will be able to get European arms reduction in that amount, but we are still from Missouri.

MAPLESVILLE DEFEATS SELMA

Maplesville High School Girls basket ball team won another victory here Friday when they defeated Selma high school by 12 points. The game was one of the most interesting of the season. It was witnessed by a full house of more than 300 people. This was one of the four games to be played that night. Ratliff again accounted for the majority of points. Kaper was high on the visiting team.

The summary—Ratcliff (18), Atchison (10), Wallace forwards; Arnold, McCary, Centers; Jones, Eaves guards.

Selma—Wilson, Adler, Huffman, guards; Kaper (10), Kendrick (6), forwards; Strickland, Wilson, centters.

Refree, Miss Dorothy Reynolds, Umpire, Mr. Williams. Coaches for Maplesville, Miss Lettie Snider; Selma; Miss Rogers.

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom fills his Pintment at Shiloh Church (Colored)

Well, since Ah was here las thurd Sunday, some funny things hab happened, and Ah mus tell you bout sum ob dem. Ah went to dat Mr. Calloway's drug sto to git sum aspin tablets fur my ole oman, and ob cose Ah pulled off my hat as Ah always do when Ah goes in de presence ob white folks. And my ole ball-hed wuz shinin, an atter he gib me de tablets he retched up in de shelf an got a bottle an sot it down and said, Preacher, let me sell you dis hair tonic, an Ah say, no suh boss, Ah quit drinkin when Ah jined de church. An he say dsi aint to drink, it is garanteed to make hair grow on anybody's hed. Den Ah say efen it will make hair grow on my hed I'm gwin ter take a bottle; an Ah will go to de barber shop and hab de res ob dis wool shaved off an start to using it. He say whut you want to hab dat shaved of fur; an Ah say cause you say it will make hair grow on my hed an Ah would look funny wid hair on top ob my hed an wool all round de edge.

Now, atter Ah reads a lessin foun in dee fouth chapter ob Genesis startin wid de 8th verse and closin wid de fifteenth verse, Ah wants you all to stan an sing dat good song, "I Would not be Denied (After lesson they sing.) My tex dis mawnin is Mark 7 and 29; it reads dis way: "I will ask you one question, and answer me." Fust Ah wants to say des a word on de lesson. Effen you will notice dar is two questions asked. De Lord ask one an Cain ask one. Now, de Lord nowed dat Cain could answer his question, but Cain didn't know dat de Lord could answer his. De Lord nowed dat Cain was lyin when he sed he didn't no whur his brudder wuz. An do you know dat lots ob folks is lyin to de Lord evy day, an try to make da selves believe dat de Lord dont no it. An as fur Cain's question, Ah wants all ob you church members to no dat you is youh brudder's keeper.

One thing dats de matter wid de churches today is all ob de intrest dat most ob dem takes in each other is to tell all ob de bad things dat da hears bout dem. Now, let's git to de tex. Dem chief prieses an scribe wuz so smart an wuz in sich a high position dat da wanted de Lord to tell dem by what authority he dun dese things. An de Lord nowin all bout dem and wantin to show dem one queston, and he nowed he had dem cornered, cause it didn't make no difference which way da answered it. When folks goes to playin smart somebody is sho to ketch up wid dem. Let me tell you dis one on myself. Ah went in to de laundry in Clanton to take some collers, and dat young Mr. Thampsan say, what is it preacher, an Ah say Ah got sum collers dat Ah wants stiffened up, an he say how many, an Ah say leben. Ah axed him how much he charged and he say four cents a piece; an Ah picked up one an say dat will leave ten and will be jes forty cents. An when Ah started out he say bein as you is a preacher Ah will do dat one free. Ah laid it down by itself an tuck anudder one and started out. He say Ah tole you dat one wuz free an Ah say alrite, an I laid it down by de udder and got anudder one an started out; an he say didn't you understan me; Ah will do dat one free, an Ah put it wid de udder two and tuck up one more and started out; an he say, ain't you got no sense. Ah tole you dat Ah would do dat one free. Ah took up de fif one an started out an he yelled at me, bring dat collar back here; an Ah laid it wid de udder four. Den Ah say, you's a man ob your word aint you an he say Ah tries to be. An Ah say da six in dis pile will cost 24 cents won't it. An he say yes. An Ah say dese five you said you would do free, an grabbed all ob dem up an throwed dem in a tub ob soap suds an say, you git outer here. As smart a nigger as you is outer be drivin de Clanton garbage truck. An to show you how smart folks gits caught up wid Ah went back Saddy evenin to get dem an he had dem dun up in two bundles. On de bigges one he had a six on a straight line under it an 24 cents under de line; an on de udder one he had a five an a strait line an under it he had de word "gratis" writ. Well Ah didn't no what dat word ment. Ah had played so smart Ah didn't want him to ketch me so Ah handed him two bits an he gib me a penny an Ah drapped it in my pocket book an tuck de bigges bundle an started out; an he say aint you grinter take de udder bundle an Ah say Ah can't take it right now, an he say why an Ah say cause Ah's got to go an git me gratis befoah Ah kin take hit. An when Ah went back Ah got my dictionary an looked up dat word an found dat it meant free gift.

Now my friens you may go on an make youself blieve dat youse got de Lord fooled, but Ah wants to tell you dat he has jest one question to ax you. An you will hab to answer it whedder you wants to or not; an dat question is rite in de Bible. Here is de question: "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" Matt. 27:22. You had better answer dat question now by takin Him as your saviour. Now atter Ah reads dis little poem Ah will close.

Let me tell you my sinner frin
You ought to be libin rite.
Cause you mought hab to answer dis question
Befo you sleeps tonight.

Effen you puts off de answer until its too late
An your body is beneath the sod.
Your soul unprepared will fly away
To de presence of its Lord.

So answer de question right now
An wid your Lord git right;
Den you'll be prepared for whats to come
Effen you wuz called tonight.

Now less stan an be dismis.

VISITED POOR HOUSE SUNDAY

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish you would please put in the paper that I visited the poor house last Sunday, and really did enjoy the day. The keepers, Mr. and Mrs. Bean, were awful nice to me as well as the other visitors. When dinner had been spread in the dinning room we were invited in there to see what had been prepared for the inmates, and I will say that it was just as nice and just as much grub as anyone could wish for.

In the afternoon I witnessed the program which was brought there and put on by the Baptist Young Peoples Union of Poplar Springs church, which was really good and was certainly enjoyed by the old inmates. Following the program Rev. W. H. Wilson preached to them, and his sermon was good and greatly enjoyed by those there.

Rev. Wilson and the young people of Poplar Springs are certainly to be commended for bringing this splendid program and sermon to the people at the poor house. They do not often get to hear preaching and singing and such like, and it makes the old folks feel good to know that somebody cares for them. Will close by saying again that I really did enjoy the day.—Vatchel Lindsey, Clanton, Ala.

SEEDS

This is to notify farmers who have seed for sale that it is necessary to draw samples of their seed and send same to the State Seed Laboratory in Montgomery, for purity and germination test.

I am trying to arrange a market for peas and velvet beans. Farmers having peas and velvet beans that they want help in selling are asked to bring in samples and let me know the number of bushels they have.—C. E. Stapp, County Agent.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE BY LEGION AUXILIARY

Officials of the Chilton County Post of the American Legion Auxiliary announces that a drive is being made for increasing membership of the local Post. It is hoped that every woman in the county who is eligible for membership will sign up during this month.

Any who may be interested may write to Mrs. R. D. Woodson, at Lay Dam, Clanton Route 5, and she will be glad to furnish you with application blanks.

The Auxiliary meets every first Monday night at the courthouse. All wives of ex-service men are inivted to attend.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Dr. J. B. Williams will deliver a lecture on "Christian Physhology" to the young people at the B. Y. P. U. meeting at this place next Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. Everybody is invited.—Louella McDowell.

PASTURES

Now is the time to see about getting your pastures improved and seeded. Seed are much cheaper this year. There are thousands of acres of good pasture land in Chilton County if they were improved. Pasture grass seed should be sown the last of this month.—C. E. Stapp.

C. C. H. S. NEWS

The Latin Club, Inter Se, was organized by the second year Latin students, January 29. The following officers were elected:

President, Joe VanDerveer, vice-president, Rosemary Pickens; Secretary Treasurer, Grady Reynolds, reporter, Sallye Mahan.

The first meeting of the club was held on the 5th. A very interesting and instructive program was carried out as follows:

Current Events from the Latin Magazine.

Hodierna Aula Latina—Dan Smith Carl Jones, Elizabeth Harris, Frances Rasberry, Louise Marcus and Maralyn Hardy.

Robinso Cruseus—Rosemary Pickens and Sallye Mahan.

Lupus Et Ciconie—Helen Moore.

Homines Et Ascellus—Nell Neighbors.

Jokes in Latin—Dan Smith, Pauline Plyler, Ophelia Hayes, Grady Reynolds, Weston Littlefield, May Charles Cox, Estelle Giles.

Dialogues, Inter Quoslibet Homines—Joe Moore and John Ezell.

The Latin Language—Pauline Plyler.

Three Periods of Latin—Estelle Giles.

Language derived from Latin—Latin as a Study in School—Mary Charles Cox.

The Inter Se Club will meet on the last Friday of each month.

Junior One English Club

The students of the Jr. I English class have organized an English club. The purpose of the club is to encourage initiative in public speaking and to become better acquainted with the lives and works of literary men and women.

The club was called to order by the president, Jane Neighbors. The chairman of the program committee, Frances Foshee, read out the program, which is in memory to Sidney Lanier. The program was as follows:

Life of Lanier—Jane Neighbors. Story of the Chattahoochee—Juanita Miller, L. D. Easterling, Mary Armstrong, Julius Martin, Mary Joe Foshee.

After the program, the president appointed Edith Parrish, Bill Hodges to serve on the program committee. The English club meets every Friday, and all take an important interest in it.

The Forensic Club

The Forensic Debate Club was organized December 9, 1931. A committee was appointed to draw up the constitution. At the next meeting, December 16, the constitution was submitted by the committee, and adopted by the club. The club then proceeded to the business of electing its officers as follows: President, Sallye Mahan; vice president, John Ezell; secretary-treasurer, Elizabeth Stanley; reporter, Louise Knox. The club meets on the first and third Thursdays of each month. The first regular meeting was held in the auditorium of the high school, January 7, 1932. The program was carried out as follows: President's address by Sallye Mahan. A speech by Margaret Jones, on Lincoln as a debater. Speech by John Ezell, on why I am a member of the Forensic club. At the second meeting Elizabeth Stanley addressed the club on the subject, "The Importance and Value of Debating." The third meeting was perhaps the most interesting of all. The constitution reads that all members must be elected by special trial speech before the club. Ruth Maddox desiring to become a member of the club, gave a splendid address. The judges consisted of 3 members rendered the decision favorably, and said the candidate is now a full fledged member.

The purpose of the club is to promote interest in public speaking. This movement is instigated by Miss Nell Wells, and under her guidance the club expects to exert all its initiative towards this purpose.

THE RAILROADS HAVE MADE A FIVE BILLION DOLLAR LOAN IN IMPROVED SERVICE WITHOUT INTEREST

THE OLD RELIABLE L&N LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

IF YOU made a loan, even a small one, and received no interest on your money, you would certainly feel that you had been treated unfairly.

The railroads of the United States have loaned the public the use of over five billion dollars, for which they have not received one cent interest in the past two years. Incredible as this statement seems, it is true. Read the following figures.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has fixed 5¾% as a fair rate of return for railroads to earn on the value of their property.

In 1922 the railroads had a total of $21,200,000,000 invested in property devoted to transportation purposes and earned, that year, 3.59%. Eight years later, in 1930, their property investment had increased to $26,300,000,000 but only 4% was earned on the 1922 investment. By 1931 the rate of return on the 1922 investment had decreased to 2.57% and the average for the years 1930-1931 fell to less than 3.50%. Yet, in the eight year period, 1922 to 1930, the railroads spent $5,100,000,000 for improved equipment and service. They are now rendering better service at less cost to you than they were in 1922.

In other words, the railroads have, in effect, loaned the public the use of over five billion dollars for two years, without receiving one cent interest on this vast amount.

This alarming condition has been caused by the present economic depression and has been further intensified by unfair taxation and competition from other transportation agencies.

You are vitally interested in the earning power of the railroads because of large holdings of railroad securities by life insurance companies, charitable and financial institutions.

The railroads must earn a reasonable rate of interest on their tremendous investments devoted to public use, if YOUR investments are to be protected.

This can only be accomplished by legislative relief from unfair competition and by increased railroad patronage.

You can cooperate by traveling on the steam railroads and by shipping your freight by rail.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parnell, of Selma, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell.

Misses Gertrude Eaves and Lucy Mithchell spent the week end with Miss Arra B. Jones.

W. H. Stewart, of Montgomery, spent the week end here with relatives.

C. E. Cagle was called to Jacksonville, Alabama, early Monday on account of the death of his brother, Rev. D. M. Cagle. Rev. Cagle has been a minister of the Baptist Church for twenty years.

Huston Deramus accompanied C. E. Cagle to Jacksonville Monday.

OHIO FLYER FORCED DOWN

Emergency Landing Made Monday Near Sam Headley's Place In Pleasant Grove Community

Rev. G. W. Stewart, of Pleasant Grove Community, about seven miles west of Clanton, came to town at noon Monday, bringing with him an airplane pilot, who was compelled to make a forced landing in a field near Sam Headley's. The name of the flier was Snead. He was flying from Akron, Ohio, to Montgomery.

Mr. Stewart stated that he and some of his neighbors were looking at the plane when it came down. The flier stated that his motor went dead and he glided for about two miles looking for a landing field. When he came down on the soft earth his landing gear was wrecked and the ship turned up on her nose in the ground. The pilot was not hurt. Mr. Stewart and the people who were watching the plane arrived at the scene of the landing almost by the time the pilot had gotten out of the ship.

FOURSQUARE CHURCH

Our Sunday School is doing nicely at present. We invite all to come and take part in this work.

Arrangements are going forward for a revival at this church, to begin on Sunday, May 14, conducted by Rev. H. H. Caswell. Rev. Caswell held a revival here in the fall of 1930. All are invited to the services.

A commissary department has been added to our work. The aim of this department is to collect food and clothes from anyone wishing to contribute, and to place these contributions with needy people. Anyone having articles of food or clothing to contribute to this cause, please notify anyone of the committee, whose names appear below. People in need are asked to do likewise—apply to some member of the committee, who will investigate the applicant's needs, and fill them accordingly. We hope to be able to make this department a permanent one, and believe it can be made to be a very benefical movement, giving able contributors agency in whose hands they may place their offerings with full assurance that they will be placed to the best advanage, and providing needy people with an agency to which they may apply for help, knowing that their needs will be met as far as possible. This Commissary Committee is composed of J. M. Johnson, Route 1, Clanton; Mrs. Alla Taylor, Route 2, Clanton; and Mrs. Minnie P. Mims, Route 2, Clanton.

Again, don't forget the revival to begin Sunday, February 14, and come to every service. This church is located at the east end of Second Avenue (Main street in Clanton).—J. Mat Johnson.

CONCORD WINS DOUBLE-HEADER FROM BAKER

Concord school's team and the independent team won from Baker school team and independents February 5th, on Concord's court. The game was a hard fought one with Concord school team ending the game with a score of 12 to 6 in her favor. The independent team did some splendid playing, but Concord showed the way and ended the game with a score of 13 to 8 in her favor.

Mt. Pleasant will come down Friday to play Concord. Remember the time, place, and date and be on hand.

Don't forget the play Saturday night, February 13. The play, "Poor Married Man," promises to be of some interest to the poor married men of today.

WADESONIAN ANNOUNCES "SUBWAY EXPRESS" FEB 15-16

An immensely vivid and entertaining picture is "Subway Express," Columbia's screen version of the New York stage success, which will be at the Wadesonian Theatre Monday and Tuesday, February 15 and 16. Aside from the human interest element contributed by thirty highly realistic and diverse characters who are subway passengers, there's mystery that fairly takes the edge off anything that even A. Conan Doyle ever concoted.

"Subway Express" has a unique, well-motivated plot and is rich in humor because of the clashes of the oddly contrasted passengers who make up the personnel of the subway coach. These passengers elbow each other and are lurched and jerked realistically by the speeding train. A quarrel develops between a broker and some inebriates, who bump against him and members of his party. There is a struggle and a shot, after which a man is discovered sitting stiffly in a seat.

With thirty people to choose from, not even Killian—a hard-boiled police inspector—can tell who committed the crime. There's even a catch as to how it was committed—it looks like a shooting but it isn't.

Jack Holt plays the inspector with convincing realism. Aileen Pringle enlists sympathy as Dale Tracy and Jason Robards makes the broker, Borden, a likable young New Yorker. Fred Kelsey, William Humphrey, and Ethel Wales score in character roles. Director Fred Newmeyer deserves much credit for his splendid work in trasferring this difficult play to the screen.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON OR PAROLE

Notice is hereby given that I will make application for pardon or parole. I was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County in November, 1931, on a charge of distilling, and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of a year and a day.—Burley Smith. 2-11-2tpd.

Annual Convention Alabama Educators

The golden anniversary of the refounding of the Alabama Education Association will be observed in Birmingham, March 17th to 19th, next, when the educational forces of the State will meet in the fifty-first annual convention. The program is being prepared under the direction of Mr. C. C. Moseley, superintendent of the Dothan schools, who is president of the Association.

The occasion will be featured with addresses from President Moseley, State Superintendent A. F. Harman, and Miss Florence Hale, president of the National Education Association, of Washington. A fourth speaker, a man of national reputation, is yet to be announced.

In addition to the general sessions, twenty-seven departments of the Association are preparing programs that will relate to various phases of classroom teaching and supervision. A number of the speakers for these groups will come from without the State and have been engaged because of their leadership in their respective fields.

On Friday evening, March 18, the visitors to Birmingham will witness a pageant, "The Wonder Gate," to be presented by the Birmingham city schools, emphasizing the development of character through wonder.

Two business sessions of the Association will be held during the convention. Because of the unusual economic conditions now prevailing among Alabama schools, unusual importance is attached to these meetings of the official Assembly of Delegates.

VOLUME 39.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1932 NUMBER 43

MUST ANNOUNCE BY MARCH FIRST

Provisions For Primary Law is Explained By J. Z. Mims, Circuit Clerk

Editor Union-Banner:

Just a word to the Republicans of Chilton County.

It appears from Section 12 of an Act to Provide for and regulate and control primary elections in Alabama, approved February the 25th, 1931, that any person desiring to submit his name to the voters in a primary election shall, not later than March the 1st, next preceeding the holding of such primary election, file his declaration of candidacy in the form prescribed by the governing body of the party with the chairman of the County Executive Committee if he be a candidate for a county office.

For the information of those who are contemplating running for office in the coming primary, I would like to call your attention to this fact and insist that you file your notice with Mr. J. N. Dennis, Clanton, Ala., chairman of the Chilton County Republican Executive Committee, not later than March the 1st, 1932.

As I remember, it has been the custom heretofore for the County Executive Commitee to meet and designate a day when announcements shall cease. Let us not get confused over this for the new law fixes the time limit when you may file your notice with the Chairman of the Executive Committee, and this year for this primary it is not later than March 1st, 1932.

If you have not fully made up your mind as to whether or not you will make the race get busy and make it in time to comply with the law. The field seems to be open yet and plenty of room for all who feel they would enjoy the pleasure of making the race for any office for which the election will be held. There seems to be a lot of talk and prospects, so let us get into action in plenty of time.

Yours for the success of the Republican party in Chilton County, in the State, and in the Nation.—J. Z. Mims.

ANOTHER BIG FLOUR SALE

Buck Gore is all set to uncork another sensational sale of flour Friday and Saturday of this week. He has a solid car which will arrive from the mill today (Thursday) and it will go on sale Friday morning and Saturday at $3.75 and $4.00 a barrel.

At a similar sale of this kind a month ago, hundreds of people bought their supply of flour at a great saving. Mr. Gore says he must have another because there are many folks who want this flour and failed to get in on it at the other sale.

INFORMATION ON TAX PAYMENTS

Statement From W. G. Culp, Tax Collector of Chilton County

To the People of Chilton County:

In keeping with my policy of trying to give you the best service possible, I take this opportunity to say a few words to the taxpayers who have not yet paid their taxes.

The question is being asked daily: How long have we got to pay our taxes? In answer to this, I will say that beginning the first of April it becomes my duty under the law to ask for a decree of sale on all property upon which the taxes have not been paid. Of course, when such proceedings are started, extra costs begin to accumulate.

As I have stated in a former article, it is a pleasure for me to serve you in the best way that I can, and to give you all advantages possible; but in this matter I have a limit.

The discharge of my duties as a county official in accordance with the law must be my first consideration.

While I am not unmindful of the seriousness of the depression, especially as to money matter, yet I hope that each taxpayer who has not been able to take care of his tax obligation will begin now and make a special effort to do so within the time allowed by law.

If I can serve you in any way, call on me.—W. G. Culp, Tax Collector of Chilton County.

These dividends will amount to approximately $600,000.

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WILL MEET

The Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama, is hereby called to meet at the courthouse in Clanton, Alabama, at two o'clock p.m. on Friday, February 19th, 1932, in executive session for the purpose of making necessary arrangements for holding a primary election to be held in accordance with an act approved February the 25th, 1931, to provide for and regulate and control primary elections in Alabama; and to transact any and all other business that may properly come before the committee.

I hereby request and urge that all members of the committee be present at this meeting. —J. N. Dennis, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING AT COURTHOUSE ON FRIDAY

Citizens Will Seek To Secure Republican Primary This Year In Accordance With Former Custom Of The Party in Nominating Candidates

Greatly aroused by a rumor that there would be no Republican Primary election this year, and that nomination of County Republican candidates would be made by the convention system, a group of fifty-odd Republicans from every nook and corner of Chilton County assembled at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon to discuss the question.

The primary law of Alabama was read and discussed, and a report of the meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee recently held in Birmingham was made by Sheriff W. H. Gillespie.

After quite a bit of discussion the group assembled adopted a resolution declaring in favor of continuing the Republican primary system as in the past. The resolution also called the Republican voters to assemble in mass meeting at the courthouse Friday afternoon, February 19, at 2:00 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the question; and the request was made to the county Republican Executive Committee that they give the Republicans of the county an opportunity to express themselves on the question.

Following is the resolution which was adopted Tuesday afternoon and signed by those present:

"We, the undersigned Republicans of Chilton County, hereby declare ourselves in favor of a Republican Primary in Chilton County on the third day of May, 1932, for the purpose of nominating county Republican candidates for the various offices.

"We hereby invite all Republicans of Chilton County to meet at the courthouse in Clanton on next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and we ask that the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County give the Republican voters at that time an opportunity of expressing themselves on the question of a Republican Primary.

"We further respectfully urge the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County to provide for the election of the chairman and secretary and members of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County by popular vote of the Republicans in said Prmary."

The resolution was signed by the following Republicans present in the meeting Tuesday afternoon:

D. S. Robinson, J. D. Collins, G. S. Minor, C. H. Cooper, J. F. Anderson, J. F. Rawlinson, M. C. Rawlinson, T. J. Littlejohn, T. G. Taylor, J. T. Abbott, G. A. Keen, A. P. Vinson, A. J. Davis, W. F. REYNOLDS SOUNDS WARNING TO COUNTY REPUBLICAN LEADERS

Probate Judge Declares That Republicans Must Cut Out Their Knocking One Another Or The Party Will Come to Defeat Soon

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF CHILTON COUNTY

Perhaps I have held public office longer than any other Republican in Chilton County. I say without hesitation that I have always stood for the Republican party, and have worked hard in every possible way to keep the Republican party able to serve the people of our County. My theory has always been that our political party deserves the support of the people of the county, only to the extent which the party proves itself able and capable of serving the public welfare. I have always tried, as a Republican official, to render such official and public service as my party could justly acclaim as worthy, efficient and honorable. I know also that I am not the only Republican official who has tried to do this.

Further I want to say to the Republicans of Chilton County that I have never failed to speak out and declare a word of warning when I saw a danger signal. I have always felt it my duty to do so when I honestly thought it necessary. Therefore I come to the Republicans of Chilton County now with what I believe is a well founded and very serious warning that our party is in the throes of one of the most serious situations we have ever seen. And I want to add that I make these statements with no motive in view, other than what I conceive to be the welfare of the Republican party and the interest of the people of Chilton County, who are depending upon the Republican party as an agency of good government.

I make the plain and unvarnished declaration that the Republican party must have harmony, co-operation, peace and mutual good-will among its leaders, or else we will come to the day when the usefulness of the party will be dissolved and our people will turn elsewhere to find those whom they will choose to administer their public business.

It is a well known fact that the past history of the Republican party in our county has been that the Republican officials who have been elected have stood shoulder to shoulder, ready to aid and assist each other, always keeping in view the best service to the public and the welfare of the Republican party. I ask you Republican voters today to stop and ask yourselves: What is the situation now? What is the condition of our party? Does harmony and good-will prevail as you think it should? Are the Republican officials who are in office trying to help one another for better government and the strengthening of our party?

You folks know what is the situation. I want to ask you to think about it seriously. What fools we will be if we do not set our house in order and avert the tragedy which all of us know our present course will bring us into.

The other day a Republican from Shelby County told me he had wanted to come to Chilton because he had rather live in a Republican county. But he said from what he could see, he is afraid Chilton is going the same way Shelby went politically. Then he related how a few years ago some of the aspiring Republican leaders in Shelby started a movement to clean out the courthouse. These would-be Republican leaders began to knock the Republican officials. The Democrats, much pleased, encouraged them in their foolish plans. In fact, some of the Democrats helped the Republican objectors to clean out the courthouse, and the next election the Democrats turned their guns on the whole works and cleaned out the whole courthouse good and proper. Since that time there has not been a Republican elected in Shelby and this man said he expects the same thing will happen here unless we get our political wires straightened out. I agree with this man that we are headed that way and are sure to come to political disaster, if we do not change our course and methods.

Republicans, stop and think how many kickers and knockers have we in our party? Is it not a fact that we have in recent years heard more criticism of Republican officials by other Republicans than we have of Republican officials by Democrats?

I know the commissioners have been criticised severely by other Republican officials, because they were trying to save you tax payers $25,000 or $30,000 per year of taxes against Alabama Power Co. But why be surprised at this criticism and knocking when yau have but to look around and see that it is coming from Republican officials, who are being advised and counseled by L. F. Ger-

HON. J. O. MIDDLETON

J. O. MIDDLETON GETS PROMOTION

Appointed As Attorney For U. S. Department of Agriculture In Alabama

J. O. Middleton, assistant United State District Attorney for the middle district of Alabama and for years a prominent figure in the legal profession in Alabama, Thursday was notified of his appointment as attorney for the United States Department of Agriculture for Alabama and surrounding territory.

His appointment, and incidentally his promotion followed a recent decision of the Department of Agriculture to assign an attorney to handle civil cases for the state and surrounding territory arising in the Department of Agriculture.

As the Department of Agriculture, attorney, it will evolve upon Mr. Middleton to handle thousands of cases involving loans to farmers made last year for the puchase of seed, feed and fertilizer.

It is reported that these loans totaled millions of dollars and that a large percentage remains unpaid.

The assignment, it is reported, was given Mr. Middleton in recognition of his long and able service to the government, as assistant district attorney in the Mobile, Montgomery and Birmingham districts. During this time he has participated in some of the largest civil and criminal cases on record in the Federal court, and holds the distinction of having written over 5,000 indictments, not one of which has been held defective by the courts.

Mr. Middleton will remain in Montgomery and probably will have offices in the Federal building.

A member of an old and distinguished South Carolina family, Mr. Middleton is a native of Clanton. His family moved into Chilton County during his boyhood and he was educated in the public schools of Clanton. Later he attended the University of Alabama and graduated from the law school there.

He first entered public life in 1907 when he was elected as representative of Chilton County in the Alabama Legislature. He was again honored by the Chilton citizens to a seat in the Legislature in 1911.

For several years he practiced law in Clanton and about 1920 was appointed United states Attorney in Mobile, where he remained until 1925, when he was transferred to Montgomery in the same capacity. He remained here as Assistant District Attorney until August, 1929, when he was transferred to Birmingham. There he served as assistant district attorney on the staff of judge Charles B. Kennamer, who was then district attorney and later was appointed judge of the middle district of Alabama.

Mr. Middleton was returned to Montgomery in July 1931, following the reappointment of Arthur B. Chilton to the office of district attorney here.

In Many Big Cases

Among the recent cases in which Mr. Middleton participated are the Phoenix City liquor trials at Opelika; the Frolence liquor conspiracy trials in which the Sheriff of Colbert County and several of his deputies were convicted and are now serving time for violating the prohibition law, and more recently the seed, feed and fertilizer loan fraud cases which were investigated this month by a Federal Grand Jury in Houston County and in which more than 60 indictments were returned.

WAR VETERANS MEET TO-NIGHT

County-wide Gathering of Ex-Service Men to Be Held At The Courthouse

In response to the call of R. D. Woodson, Commander of Chilton County Post of the American Legion, a gathering of World War Veterans from every part of the County is expected to assemble at the courthouse in Clanton to night (Thursday) at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to give the ex-soldiers all possible information about present laws and pending legislation in Congress relative to the interest of veterans.

Hon. Cage Head, Probate Judge of Shelby County, will be the speaker. Judge Head is a World War veteran himself, and he is a very entertain-in speaker.

Any question that any man might wish to ask about his war business will be answered.

It is earnestly hoped that every ex-service man in Chilton County will come to this meeting. It makes no difference whether you are a member of the American Legion or not. This is a meeting in the interest of all ex-service soldiers, and we hope that all will come.

Commander Woodson stated that he expects to have arrangements made with somebody to furnish music as a part of the entertainment. Come and bring a buddy with you.

GRAMMER SCHOOL LIBRARY DRIVE FOR BOOKS THIS WEEK

Reports from the first day of the Clanton Grammer School Library drive said that over one hundred books were brought Monday.

The principal and teachers of the school expressed their appreciation of the interest of the public in this effort in behalf of the school library. The drive will continue to Friday of this week. If you have a story book or reader you can give to the library it will be appreciated, and will serve a good purpose.

CHANGES MADE AT FAIR STORE

Mr. W. H. Sartor, owner and manager of the Fair Store, has made some very appropriate changes in the arrengement of his store since Miss Callie Watts has moved her business to another location.

The whole of the building is now being occupied by The Fair, and Mr. Sartor will use the extra advantage of more room to make for better service and more attractive display for the benefit of his customers.

This week The Fair Store is advertising some specials which they have just placed in stock for this spring. Read the advertisement in this paper, and when you come to town, visit the Fair.

CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL BOARD

John L. Smith and Reuben Bearden Announce For Primary

This week we have two new condidates out for nomination in the Republican primary. They are John L. Smith, of Clanton, Route 2, and Reuben Bearden, of Maplesville, for member of the County Board of Education.

Both men are well known in their home sections of the county. Mr. Smith is a farmer, in the Poplar Springs settlement, near Clanton. Mr. Bearden lives at Maplesville. He is a son of the late John E. Bearden.

There are two places on the school board to be filled by election this year. The term of office of Mr. Webb and Mr. Yates has expired. It is not yet known whether Mr. Webb and Mr. Yates will ask for re-election or not.

Membership on the Board of Education is regarded with great importance by the people of the county, and very rightly so. It is a place that calls for the best possible men to fill.

EYE KNOCKED OUT

We learn that Mr. John Mims of Thorsby got his eye knocked out Monday. It was reported that he was standing close by where Charlie Bowles was chopping wood and a chip hit him in the eye.

ORIGINAL

JEMISON F. F. A. PROGRAM

Wilson Clements had charge of the F. F. A. program this past week.

Charles Durben spoke to the boys on the subject of "My Home Project." He said in part that his project was a home orchard. He has planted in burr clover, to be turned under and furnish nitrogen from the soil air and plenty of organic matter. He has treated his trees with crystal gas for the peach tree borer. He has pruned and sprayed his trees. In pruning he sought a low-headed tree with an open top. He cut out limbs that crossed and thinned the fruiting wood. He explained the "pruning to the buds," the "in, out, up, and down, buds."

Jesse Splawn commended the F. F. A. boys on their work in keeping the building and grounds in repair. In fixing doorsteps landings and steps, and in renovating sanitary equipment.

Lance Franklin told the boys about the Young dewberry. The Young dewberry is far superior to other dewberry varities in flavor and is a fine berry for home use and to sell on nearby local markets. However, it will not stand shipping long distances.

Mr. Montgomery, the advisor, set certain hours on next Tuesday for the boys to work on the school grounds. He also made a talk on good citizenship. He stressed the fact that we need good citizens who are active rather than a passive good citizen.

The following F. F. A. boys gave their names to Prof. Peterson as entrants into the declamation contest to be held at Jemison High School on February 26; Osteen Lenoir, Lance Franklin, Alton Cobb, Erwin Beasley, Morris Hodgens. The subject will be, "The Constitution of the United States."

In addition to those students there are in the high school a dozen or more girls who will compete. The winner of the contest will compete with the winners from the other high schools of the county.

Notice. The Jemison F. F. A. boys do not want any applications for membership into the F. F. A., from students who "Believe in Santa Claus." The chapter members believe that the way to a well-rounded life is by personal and group application.—Morris Hodgens, President.

A correction. A recent F. F. A. article stated that Mr. Montgomery paid the fees for the Jemison F. F. A., boys. Mr. Montgomery paid the state fees of thirty-five cents each, but the boys are paying him back with farm produce that he can use, as per agreement between him and the boys.—J. P. Montgomery.

CONCORD FALLS BEFORE MT. PLEASANT, 24 TO 3

The Concord Jr. High School basket ball team fell before the swift-passing attack of the Mt. Pleasant boys again last Friday evening. The game was played on the Concord court, with a large number of people witnessing it.

The visiting team swept through the defense of the Concord boys and piled up a large score during the first half; the count being 16 to 2. The last half found them playing mostly a defensive game, holding their opponents to exactly no field goals. The final count was 24 to 3.

Curtis Traywick, captain of the Mt. Pleasant team as usual, led his mates with 14 points, Burnett came next with 6, making 3 beautiful crip shots. Culp, played center, gave a nice performance in defensive play. Parker and Cecil Traywick worked nicely together on the guard position, holding the Concord forwards to a very few shots which were all to no avail. The writer takes this opportunity to commend the clean and sportsmanlike play of the Concord boys. This little team is improving rapidly.

The big band from Enterprise Jr. High comes to Mt. Pleasant next Friday evening. This should prove the feature game of the year. Every body is invited to see these old rivals grapple.

The Mt. Pleasant boys and girls go to Calera again next Saturday night.

THE COST IS SMALL WHEREVER YOU CALL

Let the Telephone
Keep Your Circle Together

When friends have moved to other cities, children are away at school or you are many miles from the folks back home . . . remember you can bring them to you easily and quickly by telephone.

Next best to seeing friends and relatives is talking with them. Even when they are miles away you can telephone them at small cost.

Out-of-town telephoning costs less than most people imagine. For example, the station-to-station day rate to a point 125 miles away is about 75 cents. If you call during the night period, the rate is much lower.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

ITEMS IN THE WAY OF ALABAMA FARM NEWS

Lespedeza (Japan clover) is being recommended by County Agent Jas. H. Nunn, to livestock farmers for pasture and also for hay. The Korean variety will be tried by several farmers for hay crop. His estimate is that the acreage of common lespedeza for hay will be 50 per cent greater this year than it was in 1931.

Thirty-two home-made brick brooders and brooder houses have been built in Hale county since December 1st, as reported to County Agent J. L. Lawson—indicating that the poultry interest in the county is now growing and improving steadily. Farmers are making poultry a cash crop to supplement cotton.

J. A. McLeod, county agent, estimates that cotton acreage in Crenshaw county this year will be 10 or 15 per cent less than last year, and that a corresponding increase will be made in the acreage planted to feed crops. Mr. McLeod made this statement after advising with farmers throughout the county.

An intensive campaign for better farming, more and better gardens, and soil improvement is being waged in Clarke County by County Agents C. L. Hollingsworth and C. O. Helms. Meetings have been conducted, circular letters written and distributed, newspaper articles printed, and hundreds of personal letters written.

An extensive land terracing campaign is in progress in Henry county under the direction of County Agent C. S. Keller. Hundreds of acres of land are being terraced this spring. Teachers of vocational agriculture are cooperating with Mr. Keller in promoting the work.

"Farmers realize," said Mr. Keller, "that they cannot farm profitably on poor, crowded land, and that terracing is necessary in improving such land."

FARM MACHINERY IS ON LOW LEVEL PRICE

Answering questions from farmers about the expenditure of money, J. B. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer at Auburn, says that a dollar will now buy more in farm machinery than in any other way. He made this statement after making a comparative study of prices of different things which farmers buy. He found that machinery is now priced at a lower level. Planters, cultivators, harrows, sulky plows, rakes and wagons, he said, are selling at a lower price basis than washing machines, ranges, milk cans, lawn mowers, and the like.

"It would be desireable if prices for farm machinery and other commodities could be maintained at a price level fixed according to the price paid for farm products but this is impossible," Mr. Wilson added. "True, it is that farm product prices have some effect on the wages paid to manufacture farm machinery, but such effects are always slow. Wholesale prices are slow in affecting retail prices, and retail prices are slow in affecting wages."

Mr. Wilson said that less than 5 cents of every dollar received for farm products was spent for new farm equipment during the years between 1924 and 1930. Included in these 5 cents were almost every kind of power and farming field equipment. At the same time 12 and one-half cents of the farm dollar was spent for labor; eight cents for taxes; 7 and one-half cents for interest on indebtedness; 15 to 20 cents for automobiles; 20 cents for food; 11 cents for clothes and 10 cents for fertilizers.

Additional proof that farm machinery is low in price is that no foreign machines are imported despite the fact that no tariff protects the manufacturer. Most other similarly manufactured products are well protected by a high tariff, he says.

FARMERS AND DEALERS HAVING SEED TESTED

Farmers and seed dealers of Alabama are this year having over 3 times as many seed tested for purity and germination as were tested last year, reports L. N. Allen, seed analyst for the department of agriculture.

During the past five months Mr. Allen has tested 595 samples free for farmers and dealers.

WILL DRIVE FOR BOOKS

The Clanton Grammar School is planning to have a drive for books for the library from February 15th to February 19th. The room getting the most books will be given a suitable prize. The room will be given credit for one book for every fifty cents given. If you have any books you would like to give, please turn them over to some child or teacher of the school. The drive for books is being made to help raise the standard of the school.

PLAN BORN FOR CREATING LIVESTOCK CREDIT BANK

Over 100 industrial leaders, farmers, bankers, and professional men from all sections of Alabama met in Montgomery Friday and set in motion plans for the establishment of a livestock bank or agricultural credit corporation to assist in "bringing about more practical methods of farming in Alabama."

The plan was born at a joint meeting of the Alabama Industral Development Board, the State Board of Agriculture and the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce with leaders in industry, business and agriculture of the state. Those present were enthusiastic over the plan.

A committee was named to work out plans for the bank or corporation. This committee is composed of W. A. Bellingrath, Montgomery, chairman; Thomas W. Martin, Birmingham; Will Bruce, Catherine; H. E. Snow, Montgomery; J. B. Barnett, Monroeville; Wiley Alford, Columbia; E. C. Melvin, Selma; and H. C. Rydding, Birmingham.

"When the plan is definitely worked out, the Industral Board and the Board of Agriculture will then consider and give their endorsement to the same if it appears to be sound and is assured of experienced and capable management," the resolutionsaid.

The one idea of establishing the bank is to encourage and develop livestock growing and improve farming conditions in the state.

CLEAN MILK INCREASES USE

The only milk that is desirable is clean milk and milk is kept clean by keeping cows clean and healthy, by having them milked by clean milkers with clean surroundings, using utensils thoroughly cleaned and sterilized, storing the milk under clean conditions, and cooling it down to the correct temperature.

These simple rules were stated by C. M. Ling, of the extension staff of the Alabama Polptechnic Institute at Auburn. He has observed them to be fundamental with good dairymen, and also with consumers of milk, all of whom insist on clean milk. "If all milk were kept clean a great deal more would be consumed," he added.

HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST IS PLANNED AT AUBURN

The sixth annual Alabama high school dramatic tournament will be held at Auburn April 1 and 2, as announced by Prof. J. R. Rutland, at the head of English at Auburn. Contests in music, public speaking and essay writing will be conducted in conjunction with contests in one-act plays, Prof. Rutland said.

Each high school in the state may enter a team and present a one-act play not exceeding 40 minutes. A handsome trophy will go to the winning team. Music contests will be vocal and piano. Contests will be held also in reading of poetry and delivery of prepared speeches. The essay contest will be on a basis of a thousand-word essay.

EARLY SEED BEARING BY LONG LEAF PINE

A long leaf pine seedling only four and a half feet tall bearing two cones has been reported to the State Commission of Forestry. This unusual tree was found by Mr. E. D. Knowles in Covington County near Andalusia, in a field which had been in cultivation until six years ago. Many species of pine production cones and seed when this size or smaller but ordinarily the long leaf pine does not bear cones until it is four to six inches in diameter. However, the land has been protected against fire almost constantly since cultivation of the field was discontinued, which undoubtedly has strengthened the vitality of the tree.

The Commission of Forestry plans to keep this tree under observation and to determine if seedlings grown from the seed of this tree also show a tendency to early cone bearing. The ability of a tree species to produce viable seed at an early age is a valuable characteristic from a forestry standpoint.

DEALERS ADVISED TO GET STATEMENT FROM SHIPPERS

Seed dealers in Alabama should require shippers, when delivering the seed to present a signed statement that they are delivering the variety and kind of seed ordered, advises Seth P. Storrs, commisioner of agriculture.

"Dealers possessing the statement of trueness to type from the shipper will possibly relieve themselves of liability under the state law. Shippers refusing to make this statement have questionable seed and should be shunned," Mr. Storrs said.

CHILTON COUNTY PASTURES

Again I wish to call your attention to the fact that more Chilton County farmers should improve their pastures. Now is a good time to get the pastures cleaned off and grass seed sown.

Mr. H. S. Shaw of Clanton is doing some splendid work on his pasture. He is sowing 100 pounds of Dallis grass, 200 pounds of Carpet grass and 200 pounds of lespedeza.

A few acres of good branch land cleaned up and sown to above mixture of grasses equals many acres of rough hill land for pasture.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson, Florene and Bob Robinson, Mrs. Relius Franklin and Peggy Mims spent Sunday in Clanton with Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway.

Activities of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association

From the standpoint of information to growers of perishable commodities, the meeting of the fruit growers association held last Saturday was very successful, with a good attendance.

Mr. Hayden, the L. & N. Railroad agricultural agent, and Mr. Livingston of the state department of agriculture, were the speakers and covered the discussions of crops with valuable information which will prove of value to the growers.

The association is now getting ready for the strawberry movement which, if weather remains favorable, will prove to be a large crop, considering the increased acreage coming in.

Crates are now being ordered, to come in at once, and expect to be here for delivery to the growers next week.

The manager, Mr. C. R. Foss, wishes that every grower of the association keep in close touch with the office, which is open every day, in order that the association will be able to line up with him, on his perishable commodities, so that wherever the association can be of service to him, it can be done.

A movement will be started, along the asparagus growing line, with the hopes that this crop will also become one of our major shipping commodities.

At the meeting of the growers the question of government grading and the price to pay the pickers per quart was taken up with the result that it was voted unanimously for government grading, and the price for pcking to be 2c per quart.

From the applications for new membership, the association is going ahead for an even larger membership than it enjoyed last year.

Alcohol special, one pint for 39c at Wright's Soda Fount.

On Saturday night at the dining hall, the Literary Society of Thorsby Institute had a very pleasant Valentine party. The hall was prettily decorated in red and white, carrying out the Valentine scheme. Each one was presented with a red or white heart as he or she entered the dining hall. Each on's name was written on the heart. The hearts were exchanged and as the names on the hearts were called people exchanged places. The one who moved was called by the name of the one whose heart he had; so it was quite amusing to see the various people who came forward under a different name. Various races were entered into in the idea of a tournament and points were given the winning side in each contested game. The red hearts won. At the end Mrs. Ruth Sutlive was chosen as Queen of the tournament and Carmel Snow as King.

A program followed a short article on the origin of St. Valentine's day, read by Ruth Foss. Kathleen Langston read a most interesting Valentine story. After the program refreshments were served, consisting of cocoa, wafers, dainty heart-shaped cookies and heart-shaped candy mottoes. The refreshments were much enjoyed. Mrs. K. A. Ekblad kindly contributed the cookies which was very generous of her and they were very much appreciated.

The evening closed with the Alma Mater song.

At chapel Thursday an interesting bird program, celebrating bird day was given, under the direction of Mrs. Rascoe Maddox.

On Friday, Lincoln's birthday, Miss Marian Fairbank told in her most interesting way a Lincoln story which very few, if any, had heard before.

Next Saturday night the annual declamatory contst will take place at Thorsby Institute. Four boys and four girls will take part. The Glee Club will sing two numbers. Every one is invited. Admission is 15 cents for all not pupils of the Institute or Public School. Ten cents is the admission for pupils.

Special, a 50c pipe and two 10c Grangers, all for 53c at Wright's Soda Fount.

Miss Ruth Peterson of Birmingham was a week end guest of her parents.

Earlene Middlebrook was a guest of Ruby Raybon Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Raybon spent Monday with Mrs. W. J. Billingsley of Clanton, and going Tuesday to Tallassee, to the Eastern District W. M. U. Clinic.

Mrs. A. P. Villadsen of Tuscaloosa will arrive Thursday to spend several days in Thorsby.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson and grandson, Henry Villadsen, will leave Friday for Palatka, Fla., to visit Mrs. C. E. Bice .

Mrs. N. C. Petersen was called to Montgomery last Friday to be at the bedside of her mother, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at St Margaret hospital. The Latest reports are that Mrs. Shannon is resting as well as could be expected.

Mr. Nels Petersen spent Sunday in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth and son, Leonard, spent Friday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss, Mrs. Nels Petersen and Norman, Mrs. A. E. Reagan spent last Wednesday afternoon in Montgomery.

Lesson for February 21

JESUS THE GOOD SHEPHERD

LESSON TEXT—John 10:1-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Our Good Shepherd.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Our Good Shepherd.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Following the Good Shepherd.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus the Good Shepherd.

The occasion for the parable of the Good Shepherd was the excommunication by the Pharisees of the blind man who had been healed by Christ.

I. The Good Shepherd (vv. 1-18).

1. Jesus is the true shepherd (vv. 1-6). He came by the divinely appointed way. John the Baptist and others of the prophets had performed the function of the porter and opened the door to the sheepfold (vv. 2, 3). The power exercised by the Pharisees in casting out this man was not obtained by lawful means. It was stolen by them and exercised in the bold spirit of robbers. The reason the man suffered excommunication was that he recognized Jesus as the true shepherd and turned from the Pharisees, not only as strangers, but as thieves and robbers. Despite the deceit, audacity, theft, and robbery of these Pharisees, those who were Christ's sheep were declared to be forming a new flock and following him as the true shepherd (v. 4).

2. Jesus is the door of the sheep (vv. 7-10). The way to fellowship with God is through Christ. He is not only a door, but the only door (Acts 4:12). There is absolutely no way into the fold of the redeemed but by and through him. All who attempt to gain access to God except through Jesus Christ are thieves and robbers (v. 8.) Those who become members of the flock of God through Jesus Christ enjoy marvelous privileges and gifts (vv. 9, 10).

a. Salvation—"shall be saved" (v. 9). They not only enjoyed present salvation, but are eternally saved (vv. 27, 28).

b. Liberty—"shall go in and out" (v. 9). Only those who accept salvation in Christ know what freedom is.

c. Contentment—"shall go in and out and find pasture" (v. 9.) The one who really enters the fold by Christ, the door, receives that which is all-satisfying to the soul.

3. Jesus is the good shepherd (vv. 11-18).

a. He giveth his life for the sheep (vv. 11-13). The hireling abandons his sheep in time of danger. The hireling, represented by the Pharisee, takes up his work and continues it for his own sake, for the profit that is in it. Jesus was so devoted to his sheep that he willingly laid down his life for them.

b. He has perfect knowledge of his sheep and they know him (vv. 14, 15). Knowing his sheep so well, he looks after their welfare. He enjoys such personal intimacy with his sheep that he knows them by name, goes before them to lead the way and defend them from every danger.

c. His sympathy is world-wide (v. 16). He declared, "Other sheep have I which are not of this fold." This suggests that the Gentiles have a place in his fold.

d. He enjoys the love of the heavenly Father (vv. 17, 18).

II. The Sheep (vv. 19-30).

1. Unbelievers are not Christ's sheep (vv. 19-26). Christ's assertion that he was the good shepherd caused a division among the people. Some accused him of being mad, others that he had a devil. To their request that he would tell them plainly if he were the Christ, he responded by referring them to the testimony of his works, declaring that the secret of their inability to recognize him was their unbelief.

2. His sheep recognize his voice (v. 27.) There are many voices in the world: the voice of the hireling, the voice of the thief, and the voice of the stranger; but none of these will the sheep hear. The voice of the true shepherd is recognized by his sheep even amidst the babble of voices in the world today.

3. He knows his sheep (v. 27). Regardless of how helpless and ignorant the sheep may be, he knows every one and he looks after them.

4. His sheep follow him (v. 27). This is the proof that they are his. The true sheep will flee from strangers (v. 5). This should be a solemn warning to all such as are following strangers.

5. His sheep are eternally secure (vv. 28, 29). The sheep are entirely dependent upon the shepherd. It is the shepherd's business to look after and care for the sheep.

ISABELLA NEWS

The Senior I class of the Isabella High School has started the second semester off fine. Some are trying more subjects and some have dropped one or two subjects, but everyone is doing good work.

Mr. Will L. Martin, our newly elected president, is makng us a good officer. The Sr. I economic girls have entertained the boys at a Valentine party Friday at the third period. We played games and enjoyed refreshments, that were made by the Home Economic girls. Those present at the party were: Mr. Thomas, Will Martin, Parnell Ratliff, Willie Lenoir, Sidney Griffin, Ruth Martin, Joe Lawley, Meldie Sanstome, Wilbur Conway, Mittie Jones, Braxton Lecroy, Jewel Price, Plato Chambers, Claudell Ratliff, Wilson Apperson, and Bill Jones.

Let's all work together and hope to do as good in the future as we have done in the past.

WILLIAM BOWER SALTER

Mr. William Bower Salter, age 69 years, died at his home in Wetumpka, last Thursday night, February 11.

To know Mr. Salter was to love him; but God saw fit in his goodness to take him home to reign with him throughout endless eternity. His seat is now vacant, it can never be filled. The cloud of sadness has now found its way into the home; but God does all things well. May we all be submissive to his will, that we can say, "Thy will be done, not ours."

He was a faithful soldier of the Cross, and lived a life of true Christian. His influence will live on, though his spirit has gone to its reward.

Our hearts ache for the devoted wife and children as they come in, to behold the vacant chair and weep, but our loss is heaven's gain.

Mr. Salter is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence Salter, four sons; two daughters; one sister; and a host of friends to mourn his loss. The sons are; Eernest, Ode, Philip, all of Wetumpka, Preston, of Columbus, Georgia. The daughters are:Mrs. O. B. Smith, Mrs. S. A. Smith, both of Jemison, Alabama.

The funeral services were conducted Saturday at 11 o'clock by Rev. Joe Kelley at Bethel Church, three miles east of Coppers, Alabama. Burial was in adjoining cemetery.—Irene Dennis.

THE SILVER QUESTION

Bi-metallism, now being advocated after a long period in which it dropped from sight is certainly not a principle to be adopted blindly. But ti does seem worthy of intelligent analysis.

Writing in the mining Journal, J. D. Fisher, an engineer, of Colorado, advocates a silver and gold ratio of 20 to 1, and says: "No other single corrective step could be taken which could be as universally beneficial." If it were established, he believes, "international obligations could be paid, credits would be restored, and unemplaymment problems would solve themselves."

It is generally agreed that the depressed price of silver has been a vital factor in prolonging and intensifying, on an international scale, the general industrial depression. The purchasing power of whole peoples has been reduced to half or less of its former level—trade between nations is languishing and dying. If the rehabilitation of silver will help bring order out of chaos, the subject should have the most thorough consideration to determine its practicability.

Metal mining means so much to many of our states that legitimate and practical encouragement of it affects the very stability of our nation.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

The principle of the adherence of the United States to the League of Nations has lost another staunch adherent in this country, in no less a personage than George Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, who is now out in front, for the time being at least, for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932. There s small consolation either for the internationalists in Governor Roosevelt's flat statement that is not in favor of cancellation of the debts owed by European countries to the United States.

In his statement regarding American entry in the League of Nations, Governor Roosevelt is quoted as saying:

"The League of Nations today is not the League conceived by Woodrow Wilson.

"Too much through these years its major function has not been broad, overwhelming function of world peace, but, rather, a mere meetng place for political discussion of strictly European national affairs. In these the United States should have no part.

"In common with millions of my fellow countrymen, I worked and spoke, in 1920, in behalf of American participation in a League of Nations, conceived in the highest spirit of world friendship for the great object of preventing a return of world war.

"If today I believed that the same or even similar factors entered into the argument, I would still favor America's entry to the League, and I would go as far as to seek to win over the overwhelmnig opposition which exists in this country today.

"The fact remain that we did not join the League. The League has not been developed through these years along the course contemplated by its founders, nor have the principal members shown a disposition to divert the huge sums spent on armament into the channels of legitimate trade, balanced budgets and payment of obligations.

"American participation in the League would not serve the highest purpose of the prevention of war and a settlement of international difficulties in accordance with fundamental American ideals. Because of these facts, therefore, I do not favor American participation."

It is true, as Governor Roosevelt states, that the League has spent a great deal of its time in political discussions of strictly European affairs. That is what American opponents to the League predicted in the historic Senate fight on our adherence to the League twelve years ago. At that time the nationalists point out that there was grave danger of our getting involved in purely political questions. The real purpose of the League has not changed since then. No matter what President Wilson's ideals may have been, and it was conceded that they were high, European diplomats and politicians from the first, intended to use the League of Nations for their own selfish purpose.

Buth it is true that the League is being used for European political purposes, what of the League Court, a subject on which governor Roosevelt is silent? In its first big test, that on a question of the Austro-German Customs Tact, the League Court split just as definitely on political lines as it would be possible for the League to do. France with her allies voted on one side, and those opposed to French dominance of Europe on the other. The real merits of the case were lost sight of. Governor Roosevelt might yet inform us what he thinks about this.

As one by one former pro-League leaders in the United States continue to sidestep or repudiate the issue, one fact must be brought home by this time to the deepest internationalist, and that is the fact that the United States will have no mixing in the political quarrels of Europe, but is becomming more and more inclined to follow the advice of George Washington and avoid entangeling commitments. And events as they occur over the world, bay by day, are only adding to the proof of the statement that Washington was right.

WAR MEANS NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY

Many Americans who have thought favorable of foreign debt cancellation are not so favorable toward it now, and their number is likely to increase. Why, some of them are asking should the United States presume to pass upon the ability of Europe to pay its war debts? If Europe cannot pay her war debt let her say so, and the United States will just have to make the best of it. Let it be made perfectly plain that war means national bankruptcy, for that is the meaning of the situation in Europe. Let it be made perfectly plain also that, the United States had better think more than twice before entering upon another war to make democracy safe. This is not a plea for isolation. This is an impossible notion. It is a plea for permitting the devasting effects of war to stand out in a way that he who runs may read.

One thing is certain; The figures at which the indebtedness to the United States was fixed were far below the actual indebtedness and of course any nation which so elects may repudiate its debts to the United States. It should be understood, however, that talk of the United States underwriting German reparations in order to secure the payment of European war debts to the United States does not tend to the increase of sympathy among the American people with difficulties of Europe.—Presbyterian Advocate.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

I was pastor in a certain Alabama town where a railroad ran through the city. That railroad divided the folks as completely as if they had been living in two different sections of the state. To be on one side of the railroad carried with it the stigma that was not excusable. Each side had its own churches and social contacts. The railroad divided it so thoroughly that neighbors lived in exclusion of each other. That looked strange and mean to one who had just moved into the city. We are letting other things than railroads divide us in every section of the state. A little "Blue Blood," will draw a line between people. The family with prided "Aristocracy" will live within a stone's throw of a fine family of people, and yet, in contacts, be as wide apart as the universe. A little social culture will run a line between neighbors and friends, and shove them apart. A few dollars will do the same. The man of wealth will hold himself aloof from the working man. Can you tell me why we have these dividing lines? They look selfish and mean. There is but one aristocracy in the land, there is but one kind of real culture, there is but one real wealth and that is character. If you have character, you have cause for running of a line between you and the rest of the world. The only line that should divide the races, is the line of right and wrong.

I have attended many funerals in my life and I have stood before many open caskets. I have made this observation—a corpse receives unstinted praise. I never remember to have heard any one talk mean about the dead man in the casket. When a person dies the usual custom is to say something nice, or say nothing. When a man is alive we feel disposed to say all kind of things about him, but when he is dead, we do not offer our criticisms. Let us remember that when we meet the hard criticisms of life. If people never say ugly things about you, if they never criticise anything you do, it is pretty good evidence that you are dead. The person in the community, the person in the church, who is out doing something, is sure to meet with all kind of criticisms. When people rise up and talk back to you, when they shake their fist in your face, you are not dead and they know it. That nambypamby kind of a fellow who never creates a stir, and never set tongues to wagging, is dead and he does not know it. As for me, I had rather be criticised for doing something, than to have no criticisms, because I am doing nothing. When you crawl into a casket, folks are not going to criticise you then, whether you be dead or not.

I was standing near a certain place of business when two small boys came out of the door and brought out a half smoked cigarette. He placed it between his lips and then spoke "a son of thunder" to his other barefooted pal—give me a light. The other boy placed his hand into his pocket and brought forth a match, and soon that boy of not over seven, was puffing like a freight engine. That was a sight for a civilized country. I wish that every young man in the state of Alabama could have seen that disgusting picture. I wish that every mother could have witnessed that which I saw. It does not take a prophet, or a son of a prophet, to tell the outcome of those two boys, if they continue as they have started. It will not be long before they will be before the courts of our country. When a boy of seven starts out with a cigarette between his lips, he can look at himself, as the monkey looked at his tail while he sat in the path of a grass mower, and say "It won't be long now."

Not many days ago and not far from your home, there lived a father, with his wife and children. On Saturday night that father had money enough left to buy a little rum, and he bought it. He proceeded to fire up his insides with that awful poison. In a short time he was behind the bars in our beautiful jail. The next morning the wife woke and no husband at home. She went to the kitchen and there was no flour for breakfast. She found her way to a neighbor's home and had to borrow a little bread for her hungry children. Can you tell me what should be done with a man who will treat his family and himself that way? I hardly know what to do with a man like that but I do know what should be done with a man who will make and sell the stuff that turns a man into a demon.

I visited the parsonage in Prattville, and the pastor had just completed the task of felling two large oaks that stood in front of his door. He carried me out to show me how dangerous were these two trees. Each one had decayed until there was nothing that remained but a little sap and bark to keep them from falling. If a storm had come that way, the two big trees would have tumbled, and they would have crushed the parsonage. On the outside they looked safe and sound, but on the inside they were decayed. A like condition is to be found with men and women, who stand about our homes. Secret sins, unholy ambitions, low ideals, have set up a decay in the heart. Often they look beautiful and trustworthy, but it is because we cannot see the heart. Ill fares the community and the home, where the hearts of parents are in decay.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

"Lige" Headley's Tobacco — Meandering around to the A. & P. store last Monday morning, I noticed a big stack of old time twist tobacco lying on the counter. I mentioned the tobacco to Mr. Armstrong, and added that it looked like it had the proper "ginger" about it. And right there he opened my eyes. "That's Chilton County tobacco," he said; "raised right here in Chilton County. Elijah Headley raised and cured that tobacco on his farm out on the Lay Dam road. I bought 8 pounds of it, he sold 8 pounds to somebody else here in town, and still has quite a quantity of it." After looking the stack over a little closer, since I've found that it is home grown, I wouldn't be surprised if lots other farmers couldn't pick up a little extra cash on the side by raising tobacco. We are not so far from the Piedmont region, one of the greatest tobacco raising sections in the world. The sample at the A. & P. store looks like pretty good stuff to me, poor tobacco judge that I am. However, if you're interested, see "Lige"—he knows. The use of tobacco may be a bad habit, but if a majority of the people just will use it anyway, why not get wise and get in on the production end of it. That's just an idea, but it might be worth looking into.

New Blood—I see by the papers that our National government is going to do its bit toward getting the old mare started again, by putting out $750,000,000 through the Federal Reserve System. This sounds like we might get a taste of the "good old days" again pretty soon. Something like a blood transfusion, a fine surgical trick that bears the record of working more than half time. Well—oh, well—$750,000,000 isn't all the money in the world, but it will help.

Another Disappointment—The daily newspapers have just about given up hope that war will be declared. And, what a disappointment! With a great big war going on, and still far enough away so they can't hear the big guns growl, the dailies would be blessed with plenty of material from which to concoct big scary headlines, and so materially boost their sales and subscriptions. However, it looks, now, like the old war would just lie down and die a natural death for lack of interest. If this happens, the scare head boys will have to go back to such things as floods, earthquakes, etc., for their material. What a pity!

Gluttons For Punishment—"East side, West side, all around the town." It looks at present like our close neighbors, the Democrats, are getting all set for another good beating this fall, when the leaves come raining down, and the votes come pouring in. Why? One indication of this (and a good one, too) is the fact that they seem to be all set to run "Al" for president. I would have said run Al again, but a scanning of the records shows "Al" didn't run before—indeed, he hardly started. He might run better this time, but I think most anybody the Republicans might put out could beat him in a walk. There's one thing I'd like to say for "Al" and his supporters—we can't "whip" 'em, although I believe we can "beat" 'em every time. No sir! We can't whip 'em. They're regular gluttons for punishment. Oh, well, it seems to me that anyone could be satisfied with a plastering like the one given them about four years ago, but, if they can't, then all we can do is wait until the proper time, then drag out the old ball 'o string and tie 'em up good and tight again.

No Seconds Yet—As yet I have heard no second to my nomination of "Disgustus" as a candidate for president. Can it be that the people are so short sighted as to overlook an opportunity like this? Just think, folks. If we just had "Disgustus" for our president, we'd never have to worry about mistakes being made in high places. He'd see that this was looked after. I know he would, because he's so good at spotting mistakes (sometimes before they're made) that he would have everything set alright, and then nothing wrong could happen. I never have heard of a mistake he made—at least he has never mentioned one of them, if he has made any. But I'll give you one more chance. Don't you think we could use an all-wise one like "Disgustus" to advantage, provided he can lead us out of the wilderness in the same grand style he uses to criticise our present leaders? If so, speak now, or forever hold your peace. And don't say I didn't warn you and give you a chance.

Don't Be Fooled.—One day last week I listened in on a bunch of farmers discussing the fertilizer situation for the coming year. It seems that the word had gotten around that fertilizer was priced at $30 a ton. All agreed that the price was too high. However, some of the fellows felt that this was some kind of a good omen that cotton would be a good price next fall, and that if such should prove to be the case, the farmers could well afford to use lots of commercial fertilizer, even at this price. I wonder if people never will learn to let their past experience be their future guide. Have you ever seen a year when the price of cotton was not run up a little in the spring during fertilizer buying season, in order to fool farmers into buying, believing that this better price would hold on and maybe go higher? I never have. It's one of the oldest tricks in the catalog, and yet farmers keep on falling for it. That's the reason fertilizer companies and cotton speculators work this old gag every year—it seems to work every pop. During the discussion mentioned above, some fellow mentioned the fact, inasmuch as war seemed almost certain, we might look forward to higher cotton prices. No doubt such a condition of world affairs would force cotton prices higher, but I do not believe cotton raisers should go in for any such gamble as that. It would be about like sitting in on a poker game with the cards marked, or a crap-shooting convention with loaded dice. A regular "heads I win, tails you lose" affair. On the other hand, I believe the average farm has enough home grown fertilizer to very near suffice. Don't be fooled by the age-old trick—look behind as well as ahead. Think—just once! Men were given their heads to think with—goats were given theirs to butt with. Don't be the goat again!

Glimpses—Big crowd around Joe Calloway's drug store reading the latest war news. Bill Coggins says as how he believes all we have to do is just stay out of the way over in China—he don't believe the "Jay-Pans" can whip 'em, anyway. Messrs. Fox and Holcombe take off down the street—the old boat seems to want to use the "one-two" system. "Catfish" Eubanks passes, sporting a new top-piece—must have cashed in on some of those world series bets last fall; "Catfish," you know, goes in for barbering and strawberry raising. A lady passes, wearing a veil—now that's something else that I haven't noticed in a long time. "Mun" Wyatt says he's got to wash the raw peanuts from under his teeth. Here's another guy—no names, though; he looks hungry. And that reminds me—I'm hungry, too.—Man in the Moon.

MR. BAKER'S GESTURE

It is not surprising that Newton D. Baker's sudden pronouncement that he would not take the United States into the League of Nations if he had the power to do so, and that the league should not be opposed or advocated in the platform of either political party, should be interpreted as an attempt to remove possible objection to his eligibility as a Democratic presidential nominee. In the light of Mr. Baker's earlier silence, and his refusal to allow his name to be mentioned as a presidental aspirant, this statement has no omnious ring.

So far as the League of Nations is concerned, Mr. Baker's tactics are sound, even though they indicate that the more extreme Wilsonians are beginning to recognize that the sponsorship of that organization has become a liability rather than an asset to the Democratic party. This conclusion could hardly be avoided in view of the pitable record that the League has made in its handling of the Sino-Japanese conflict. Far from being the heralded millennial movement that it was earlier proclaimed to be, it has shown itself impotent when called upon to deal with major power bent upon war. Moreover, it is impossible to miss the noticeable lessening of the League sentiment in the United States, in circles where it did exist. Under these circumstances, no political leader who valued his party's prospects, would wish to tie that party to an endorsement of American League membership.—Manchester Union.

EDUCATION OVER THE AIR—

A fine example of the educational value of the radio is found in the second series of "Listen and Learn" lectures now being given under the auspices of the National Advisory Council on Radio Education, over the National Broadcasting Company's network. Nationally known authorities on economics, physchology and other subjects are being heard.

The series has proved that where there is a sincere desire, educators and broadcasters can get along without stepping on each other's toes by sensible co-operation and organized effort.

The council has received nearly 100,000 letters from listeners from all parts of the country who desire to learn of the forces now at work in the world.

A DUTY TO THE PUBLIC

Before raising taxes, government owes it to a long suffering public to make every effort to reduce waste and inefficency, and cut costs.

It is unquestionably true that the taxpayers could be saved millions of dollars a year without damaging any legitimate function of government. They are looking to their senators and congressmen for just that.

Total annual expenditures of the Federal government increaed almost $500,000,000 between 1924 and 1930. State expenditures increased $2,200,000,000 between 1923 and 1928.

THINK TWICE

Before you push a brother down,
Think twice.
Before at other's sins you frown,
Think twice.
For who are you in judgement hall,
Your brother to the bar to call?
Tomorrow you may slip and fall—
Think twice.
Beware the stinging gibe and quip,
Think twice.
Lest yourself should feel the whip,
Think twice.
Withhold the gossip's idle sneer,
The thrust that draws the bitterest tear,
For fortune's favoring gales may veer;
Think twice.
Is charity a quickened art?
Think twice.
And does it thrill both hand and heart?
Think twice.
The mercy you to others show
That mercy you shall some day know;
With other's faults be kind, be slow,
Think twice.

Did the Rooster Get Arrested

Uncle Tom Littlefield was propounding the question last Saturday, seeking to find out if the rooster really got arrested. He said he had heard that Deputies Loss Robinson and Norris arrested a rooster up in Stumps hills last week; and that all the hens in the neighborhood wanted to make the rooster's bond and the officers wouldn't let them. According to Uncle Tom, the charge against the rooster was disorderly conduct; but he was very much puzzled because the hens would not be accepted on the bond.

Potato Sprout 6 Feet Long

Prof. H. A. Harris was showing a potato here last Saturday. It had a sprout on it 6 feet long. This particular potato, of the Irish variety, came from the farm of Mr. Charley Wilkins, at Bethsalem. It had been stored in a dark place. Like any good potato might do, this one took a notion to sprout. The little bud came out and began to reach for light. Finally it spied a little crack in the wall six feet away. Day by day it streched itself until finally it reached the hole in the wall. When it had poked its head out into the sunlight a bloom burst forth. This was an odd study in botany. I would guess that the six foot sprout had many times more volume than its parent, the small potato.

Elery Hansen's Hobby

Elery Hansen, of Lay Dam, continues to apply his off-hours in what is both profit and amusement to him. He has a woodworking plant in the basement of his home, where he manufactures the nicest kind of odd pieces of furniture. He makes his products out of selected native woods, often combined with rare pieces gathered from all over the world. He was in Clanton last Saturday with some finished jobs to deliver to customers. As he went back home he carried with him an old antique mahogany table to work over for one of his customers.

Plants Think it is Spring

If winter has not yet arrived, or is not coming at all, or is coming yet, or whatever is going to happen, people, animals, plants, flowers, fish, fowl, and everything seem to be all messed up over the signs. Anyway, it is fine weather, for every bit just like spring, and everything and everybody seems to be going right ahead taking it as it is—which I suppose, is the only reasonable thing we can do. Strawberry plants are beginning to put on berries. Lester Duke brought in one Saturday from the Johnnie Mims farm. It had one grown and almost ripe berry on it, and many others in the bud. Fruit trees are beginning to bloom. Wild flowers in the woods are coming out beautifully. The fish are biting (vociferously), birds are mating, hens are laying, roosters are cackling, and the cattle are browsing in meadows that have been green for the past twenty months.

What Would You Think of This

I went into a store last Saturday. To the little girl behind the counter I said: "Will you please let me have a box of matches?" With a very sweet and inquiring smile upon her dimpled face she asked: "What kind, please?" In my confounded condition of mind I assured her that it made no particular difference. I would use red-uns, white-uns, blue-uns, black-uns, short-uns, long-uns, or just any kind that would do to light my cigarette with.

"Do You Like Ice Cream?"

Some time ago I told you about seeing Prof. Montgomery, of Jemison, coming up Main Street in Clanton, eating an ice cream cone. After that other teachers at Jemison asked Mr. Montgomery about a hundred times a day if he still liked ice cream. Mr. Montgomery did not mind the joke, so long as his wife did not find out about it, to guard against which he had very carefully cut the little item out of his paper before he carried it home. A few days later he and Mrs. Montgomery were together down in Jemison. They met somebody, who asked the professor, "Do You Still Like Ice Cream?" Mrs. Montgomery said that was a foolish question. It had no point to it. Mr. Montgomery agreed with her, adding to himself the further assurance that his wife had not yet found out about the joke.

Then Came A Letter

Everything went along in a jolly manner for about two weeks, when Mrs. Montgomery received a letter from her sister in Birmingham. Enclosed in the letter was the clipping from The Man on the Corner, telling about the professor and the ice cream incident. Pressed for a statement about how the joke worked from then on, Mr. Montgomery refused to venture any further than this: My conclusion is, you just simply can't keep it away from them if it ever gets into the county paper.

Suggests Stapp Try It

That gives me another idea, said Mr. Montgomery. Tell Stapp not to get discouraged over losing his terracing machine. Just advertise it in the county papers, and it will come home, like Little Bo-Peep's lost sheep, wagging their tails behind them. "I lost my terracing machine," said the professor, "and when I advertised for it in the county papers, I not only found the machine I lost, but a farmer brought in a wooden terrace drag that had been out of pocket for three years."

The allies appear perfectly willing to send Germany a nice moratorium, providing Uncle Sam will pay for it.

POOR

EXTRA FINE EGGS

W. L. Mims, of Clanton, Route 1, brought some eggs to town Tuesday. They were of the Barred Rock variety, and gave every apperance of being of extra fine quality, and better than the ordinary run of sizes.

A dozen of the eggs were weighed, and the scales showed exactly 31 ounces. When it is considered that the average weight of a dozen eggs is 22 to 24 ounces, it can very readily be seen that these eggs were really out of the ordinary.

And now here is a little part of the story that we know will be of particular interest to Jeff Ruffin and Clyde Mims. We found out that the hens that produced the eggs were started on Purina Startena when they were babies, and have been fed with Purina feeds all their lives.

"Aha, that explain it," says Clyde. "I have been telling you folks about what Purina will do. Now you see, don't you?

COUNT YOUR CHICKS BEFORE THEY HATCH

(By Prof. A. G. Philips)

They say that what we don't know doesn't hurt, but in business it has been found that what we do not know is the thing that really hurts. The same is true in making our plans for raising chicks this spring. We must know as nearly as possible, in advance, as to what is likely to happen. I even go so far as to oppose an old adage and say "Count your Chickens before they are Hatched."

The more accurately you analyze and figure out results before they happen, the more nearly will they work out as you want them. No one can be accurate and we have only the history behind us to help foretell the future.

I suggest that you plan on setting five eggs or purchasing three chicks for every good pullet you want to raise and put in your laying house. Figure on a 60 per cent hatch, a 20 per cent mortality of chicks, a 55 ratio between sexes, and a 20 per cent culling of pullets in the fall. These are safe estimates. Very often you will do much better and will be financially ahead by so doing.

Plan the feeding program so as to mature Leghorm pullets in five and a half to six months, and heavier loaded trucks defective brakes, etc. grow them so rapidly that they will become sexually mature before they are of the desired and proper size.

Estimate for Leghorns that it will take for every pullet grown to 20 weeks of age, amounts of feed as follows: To 6 weeks, 2 pounds of starting mash; 6 to 12 weeks, 5 lbs. growing mash; 12 to 20 weeks, 6 lbs. growing mash and 6 pounds grain.

These figures are sufficiently accurate to enable a person to figure his feeding requirements for the chick growing season.

If you are growing heavy proilers in batteries, you can figure on the birds consuming from five to five and a half pounds of broiler mash in the first eight weeks. Make this at least seven pounds for the first ten weeks.

We can count and figure in advance. It will pay big dividends to do so.

OPENS CAFE ON SIXTH STREET

Miss Annie Mae Huckabee has this week opened up the cafe between The Banner office and the courthouse, which was formerly operated by Ernest Moore. Miss Huckabee wishes for her many friends to visit her eating place, and assures them that she will feed them in grand style. Miss Annie Mae is well known in the restaurant business, and assures all that she will treat everybody right.

TIPTON L. POPWELL

The receding tide of life hath kissed the day's last beams and borne from earth's shores to the great beyond another immortal being. Once again we have passed by the open grave and poured from our hearts torrents of tears. Once again we have stood in the presence of the dead, and looking into the great eye and soul of God, committed to his care another mortal soul. But yesterday he lived and moved and loved, while today he slumbers beneath the sod, awaiting the dawning of the Resurection morn.

On Wednesday evening, February 3, about 11 o'clock when Tipton Lafayette Popwell, age 22, stepped on a truck to go to Montgomery, where he was working, death, which rides on every breeze, was kneeling at his side. Popwell and his companion, David Arant, were returning from a short visit in Clanton when Popwell was killed instantly in a wreck on the Montgomery Highway, near Mt. Creek. Arant, who was driving while Popwell slept, also fell asleep. Just as they were rounding the curve after crossing over the railroad this side of Mt. Creek, the truck left the highway, striking a pine tree, Popwell's body was crushed between the tree and the front part of the steel body of the truck.

Martin's ambulance was called to the scene, but death was instant. Funeral services were held at Pleasant Grove Church, last Friday p.m., at three o'clock, with Rev. F. A. Gibson officiating. The songs were rendered by the Clanton Quaret, Messrs. Will Culp, Percy Pitts, Archie Devaughn, Jesse Jones, and Akins Collins.

Pallbearers were; Werth Foshee, Tom Johnston, Durwood and J. L. Teel, David Arant, and Arthur Burnett.

Attendance at the funeral was exceptionally large, also the beautiful floral offering, owing to sympathy of the many friends of the deceased. Tip is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Popwell, four sisters, willie Delean, Betty Gene, of Clanton, Mrs. Cecil Smith, of Lakeland, Florida; Four brothers, Clyde, George, Buster and Julious, all of Clanton.

He is gone—Called by the God of Might,
And we alone are lingering here;
His memory both fair and bright
Our sad thought doth clear.

My prayer is: May the Great Consoler lay his hand on the hearts of the beraved ones and heal them forever.—A very dear friend.

LIBERTY HILL

We are very sorry to say that the singing was a failure last Sunday afternoon, on account of rain. The United Singing society was supposed to meet with us. We are hoping they can arrange to be with us on some future date. Everyone is invited to be with us every second Sunday afternoon. Maybe it won't rain us out next time.

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom Fills His Pintment At The Mt. Giliad Church (Colored)

De Lord has been so good to me since Ah was here las fourth Sunday. Ah can't thank him enough fur whut he has done fur me. An you-all look so happy dat Ah feels lak he has ben good to you. Ah wants to make dis nouncement befo Ah reads de lessen. Dar is a couple here dat wants me to marry dem amejeately after Ah close de Sermon. De lessen is foun in Isaih, chapter fifty, fum de fifth to de las verse. Now evy-body stan up an sing, "Am I a Soldier of the Cross? Now set down. Ah wants to talk to you dis mawnin bout our attitude toward our fellow-man. We are so resentful an think so much ob our selves dat we take ceptions at whut folks sa bout us. Befo we has had time to vestigate an lots ob times we finds out dat dey didn't sa it atter we's done hopped up an sed whut we's gwyn to do to um, den dey gits mad an says whut deys gwyn to do, an befo inny body knows it ders a big fuss up. Iffen you want to make a man mad or a oman either, des call dem er hippercrit. Ah would git mad quicker effen you call me a good man dan effen you should call me er hippercrit, cause Ah ain't no good man an dar is more or less ob hipocracy in eny body, but effen we wants tur be lak our Lord, we shuldn't be so resentful, but rudder take an insult. De tex whut Ah am usin is foun in Mat. 5-39. It reads dis way, "Whosoever shall smite thee on de right cheak, turn to him the other also." bery few men is gwyn to turn de uder cheek, dey will snatch out ur gun an shoot an pruve in de cout dat hit wuz in self defence. Ah wants to tur tell you erbout dis, dat young oman you se settin back dar wid sistah Jane Stubbs, is Miz Lucy Tayler. Sistah Jane is her Anty, she cum doun wid me dis wawnin an as Ah passed dat ex-sherif's house Ah saw a yaller dag runnin out frum behin de house, an a man atter him, an he sa, preacher do yo want a dag, an Ah sa yes, an he put him in de back, an dat dog kwyled up on de seat lak he wuz er sleep. De road wuz good an Ah wuz drivin wid one han, an atter while de road got bad an Ah had to watch my besinnss an ob cose Miss Lucy had her eyes shot lak all gimmin do, an when Ah looked roun dat dog wuz standin on his hin feet wid his frunt feet on de back ob our seat, lickin Miss Lucy on de lef cheek, an Ah sa, whut you doin sur? An den she opened her eyes, an it wuz de fust she knowed dat it waz de dog lickin her. Den she got mad an sa, I'm gwyn tur git outen dis car, an Ah no you ain't, but dat dog is. An Ah throad him out an went on, an she set wid her face turned to de back ob de car all de ballance ob de way. She mus hev ben tryin to carry out dis Tex, to turn de udder cheek. You read de lessen an in de sixth vers de Lord sa, Ah turn my cheek to dem whut plucked off de hair, an Ah tells you Brudders an sistahs, till we git more lak our Lord an not be resentful an quit flyin up at eny little thing we aint gwyin to git no whar wid our ligion. Some ob you has done got mad wit me bout whut Ah has sed rite here in dis pulpit, an it is all cause de shoe bit. People can't stan up to de truf dese days. Now Ah wants you tur read my pice ob potry, den we will mak dat cupple happy an den go home.

Iv tried hard all dese years to teach as bes Ah could
Dat people aught to live rite an treat others as dey should
As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto dem.
Is de very words ob de Lord an de lessen taught by him.
So less quit quarlin an fiten an live in pece an love
Den when all our troubles is past we will live wid him above.

Now de couple will come forward an stan here in de alter. Now dats rite. Brudders, sistahs an friends, we is erbout to perform de rite ob matrimony betwixt Mr. Otto B. Coon an Miss Kitty Tabby Katt.

Effen any body knows a reason why dey shouldn't be married dey will now speak or keep dey mouth shet hereafter. You will now jine your rite hans. Mr. Coon, does you take dis oman, who youse got by de han to be your lawful and only wife? An promise to stick to her thrugh thick and thin, until, Gabriel blows his trumpet or longer. If so, de answer is ah does?

Miss Catt, does you take dis man whut holds yoah han to be yoah husban? Fur the time bein at least, or untill de devorce court gits through wid de case. If so, de answer is de same?

Now by de powers ob de paper dat Ah hols in my han, an by de authority vested in me as a minister ob de gospel, Ah pronounce you husband an wife. An whut God has jined togeder let no man tinker wid it.

Now les stan an be dismiss.

OPPOSES BURNETT PARDON

Dear Editor:

Will you grant me the favor of a small space in your paper to protest against the pardon of Otto Burnett.

I understand that a pardon has been recommended by an official in Montgomery.

Otto Burnett, on the night after the election in November, 1928, killed my brother, Lee Traywick, and soon after the killing, Burnett was granted a preliminary hearing. The evidence clearly showed that the murder was premeditated, and cold blooded. Burnett's attorney's offered no defense of evidence, and Burnett was ordered to jail without bail. Later Burnett's attorney, Omar L. Reynolds, got a rehearing before his father, L. H. Reynolds, and again had no rebuttal evidence. And Burnett was released on a $2,500 bond.

At the following term of Circuit Court, the case was handled in a way that the jury was not given the evidence in the case. The solicitor told me that Burnett said he was willing to take four years in the penitentiary without pardon. With the above facts I protest the pardon of Otto Burnett. I Think every law abiding citizen who knows the facts in the case will do the same thing.—Yours truly, Enoch Traywick.

BAKER SCHOOL NEWS

Only a small crowd attended Church Sunday at Liberty Hill on account of the bad weather.

The singing was rained out Sunday afternoon. We hope to meet again soon.

Some splendid work is going on in our school now. The pupils are studying hard in order to pass examinations.

The P.-T. A. will meet here Friday, February 19th, at 3 o'clock. We invite all parents to come.

Several of our pupils attended the play at Isabella School Saturday night.

The Jr., III of this school are planning a program for chapel next Monday morning in honor of Washington.

Miss Myrtice Carroll reported a nice trip to Montgomery Thursday night.

LOCAL FORECASTERS

During the evenings of last week, some of our star gazers observed with interest, the new moon, as it approached and passed a brilliant star. For a brief interval the moon and star were in conjunction; then the moon rose towards the zenith, while the star seemed to sink toward the horizon.

Our native prophets beheld the phenomenon and foretold a change in the weather. Due to schedule it came. Perfect springtime was changed into dark and thickening weather.

Various signs concerning the weather have been tested out from time immemorial; these often proved true in their forecast than the prediction of professionals, whose judgements are based upon mathematical calculations.

Truly spring is here, for many of the various song birds have already returned and are delighting an audience with their wonderful songs.

"It is good of you to say those nice things," she replied.

Some people just "bubble over" with vitality . . . they inspire compliments.

S.S.S.

...sparkling vitality and a clear skin

reflect rich, red blood cells

NATURE has its own way of making a strong body and a clear skin . . . by its use of the red-blood-cells.

So often the pressure of work and worry or some sickness "burn up" these precious red-blood-cells—then the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial. Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

REPORT OF SCIENCE CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Utopian Science Club was held Monday. At this time the Utopians planned a program to be given in chapel in the near future. Mr. Varnell, the director, discussed the scientific happenings of the past week.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many of our friends in this community and other communities for their help and kindness toward us, also the words of comfort spoken, especially those of Brothers Lowery and Deason, during the recent illness and death of our dear father and husband. We also thank E. J. Brand, of Spigener Funeral Home. We pray God's richest blessings on each of you.—Mrs. O. L. Ray and children.

Mr. J. F. Rawlinson, of Pletcher, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Rawlinson has been a friend and subscriber of the Union-Banner for many years.

IN MEMORY

The death angel visited the home of O. L. Ray last Tuesday, February 9, and carried him to his home, beyond of rest and peace. He was sick only a week but in spite of what loving hands could do, God saw fit to carry him where suffering and sorrow will be no more.

He left a vacant place in his home that can never be filled. Weep not dear ones for our loss is heaven's gain. If we will only trust in Jesus, he will carry us home on high, for he has peace somewhere around his throne for us to fill.

He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and ten children.—A friend.

John Bean of Mineral Springs, formerly County Commissioner of the First District, was in Clanton Tuesday afternoon.

T. A. Maddox of New Salem, formerly County Commissioner, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

"DISGUSTUS" COMES FORTH

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you give me a small space in your paper to say just a few words to the man who has been flinging his burlesques at me from the editorial page of the Union-Banner, under the caption of The Man in the Moon; looks over all and overlooks none.

If this is not a wiseacre, I have never seen one.

First, I want to say that I wrote articles to the Banner before the Union was added to the Banner, more than thirty years ago; and have tried to back them up with truth and honesty.

Mr. Man in the Moon, if you will take a single article from among the hundreds that I have written in the columns of the Union-Banner for the past thirty years and show wherein one of them contains such bunk that it makes you call me a disgruntled wiseacre, two by four littleness, an all wise one, who couldn't make a mistake even if he tried, we will examine the article that you might pick out in the way of a discussion, and if you can prove to the readers of The Union-Banner that I deserve such burlesquing as you have given me, I will never attempt to write another article for The Union-Banner.

And should you fail to prove that any of my articles contained bunk that justified your burlesquing, then will you not acknowledge that your conduct has been such that you are fooled in your position, instead of being in the moon you are holding your position just below the surface of the earth, and that you are too small to make a two by four.

I do not believe in criticising any official, if he will keep himself clear, but if his service is not in line with truth and honesty, I shall continue to denounce any policy that favors the few and oppress many.

I am no candidate, and will not be; and my advise to those who will be candidates is, not to accept a nomination from timber that is so small it would not make a two by four.

I appreciate the courtesy that has been shown me by the editor of the Union-Banner, and its readers for the past thirty years. One good subscriber and writer of the Union-Banner, not long ago, accused me of being, both statesman and humanitarians. I do not accept the first charge, but I do accept the latter.

My main object is to do all I can for humanity, regardless of what kind of persecution I come in contact with. —Respectfully, Disgustus Jackson. (Above name given by a subscriber.)

OUR WEATHER

Chilton County has had only 71 days of ideal weather a year. That is, days which are not cool enough for a fire in the furnace or too warm for comfort.

This is the conclusion of the Holland Institute of Themology, following an analysis of official weather figures for this forecasting area covering a period of 20 years.

The report discloses that on only 71 days of the year does the average miximum temperature here remain between 65 and 75 degrees. These days are from March 9 to March 14, inclusive, from March 17 to April 18, inclusive, April 23, 25, 26, and 27, May 7, October 12 to 14, inclusive, and from October 19 to November 11, inclusive.

"Save for these 71 days of so-called 'ideal' temperatures, homes in this area must either be warmed by heating plants or cooled by air-conditioning equipment," states Dr. E. Vernon Hill, consulting aerologist of the Holland Institute, who rates as America's leading authority on air-conditioning. "From April 19 to October 19, except for the days indicated above, the average daily maximum is under 65 degrees, making some form of heating necessary. However, human dread ofwinter cold and summer heat is destined to be permantly removed through recent introduction of air-conditioning units that warm and humidify the home air in winter, cool it in summer and make possible complete indoor comfort regardless of the outdoor weather."

The report revealed some interesting facts. The hottest days of the summer, for example, are June 17, 26, 28, and 29 and July 1, 2, 3, 4, 14, 15, and 16, and August 6, 14, 16 and 17, the average maximum temperature on those 15 days being 90 degrees. The two coldest days of the year are January 13 and February 4, the average minimum temperature for those days being 32 degrees—above zero.

GOVERNOR PLANS TO PAROLE 400

Will Reduce Number of County Convicts Serving In State Prisons

Approximately four hundred county convicts now serving out sentences of less than a year, under the supervision and care of the State, will be granted temporary paroles extending to August 15th, by Gov. B. M. Miller during this week, so that they may aid in the support of those depending upon them.

Two hundred and eighty-one county prisoners have already petitioned the Governor for these paroles, all of them with conduct records that they believe entitle them to consideration for the granting of clemency. This includes all prisons where county convicts are confined, except Atmore, where 180 are on the list of those seeking temporary parole. The State has under its supervision at the present time a total of 646 county prisoners.

The list of petitioners were completed Monday, it was learned, when Director W. F. Feagin of the State Board of Administration received for submission to the Governor names of those at the Atmore prison applying for consideration.

During the two weeks prior to Christmas, last December, Governor Miller granted temporary paroles until July 15th, 1932, to 735 county convicts.

RABBIT HUNT AT REFUGE

There will be a rabbit hunt in the Refuge community on Monday, February 22nd. All who wish to attend are advised to meet at the home of O. R. (Rennie) Robinson, near Refuge church, not later than 7:30 a.m. Bring everything you have to hunt rabbits with except your gun,—leave that at home. In place of guns and shells, bring a good long stick and a sack full of eats. — Marion W. Easterling.

THERE WILL BE A RABBIT HUNT AT MOUNTAIN SPRINGS

The Union-Banner has been asked to announce through the paper that there will be a rabbit hunt, starting at Mountain Springs church, next Monday morning, February 22nd. This hunt will be conducted according to the usual custom of these annual rabbit hunts over the county. No guns will be permitted. Everybody meet about 7 o'clock. Don't forget to bring your lunch.

RABBIT HUNT AT THOMAS JUNIOR HIGH

There will be a rabbit hunt on February 22, beginning at 8 o'clock at Thomas Junior High School. Bring your dogs and sticks, but no guns.

JAKE WALLACE POSTMASTER AT MAPLESVILLE

We learned last Saturday that the appointment of Jake E. Wallace to be Postmaster at Maplesville for another four years has been confirmed by the United States Senate. This will be gratifying news to the many friends of Mr. Wallace throughout the county, and particularly so, we are sure, to the patrons of Maplesville, postoffice.

Mr. Walace has held this position for several years, and the general opinion is that he is one of the best postmasters in the business.

REYNOLDS WARNS THE REPUBLICAN LEADERS

ald, Democrat, and attorney for the Alabama Power Co.?

Consider the history of Mr. Gerald's attitude toward the Republican party and then you can easily figure out why Republicans who take his advice are very apt to be misled in their political ways.

It is a positive fact that Mr. Gerald has tried for years to defeat the Republican party by working on the outside. It now appears that he has gotten a hold inside our party by advising some Republican officials. He could never do us much harm while he was on the outside, but it is a very grave danger when one of our worst political enemies gets in a position to inject his poison through the medium of Republican officials high in the councils of the Republican party.

Mr. Gerald in the past has made repeated efforts to have Republican officials in Chilton County legislated out of office, with no other plea or charge than the mere fact that they were Republican office holders. He has made different appeals of this kind to the Democratic legislature of Alabama. In fairness to those who would be fair, I must say however, that not all Democrats of the county supported Mr. Gerald's efforts.

You doubtless remember in the past there have been elected to office in this county some Republican officials who turned their backs on the people who honored them and began knocking and criticising other Republican officials. Some of these referred to in the past were advised by Democratic lawyer-politicians. Let me ask you, where did these political knockers and kickers land politically?

You know past history proves that when a man who had been honored and elected to office by Republicans began to take Democratic advice and knock his own party, the Republicans very promptly cut loose from such a man and let him go his way.

However, in recent years it seems that the Republican knockers and kickers have been the ones to get the support of the Republicans.

Let me ask you how many of the present Republican officials of Chilton County have split their ticket in the last few years.

Have the Republicans come to the place where we shall reward the people for deserting our party and voting for Democrats?

My theory is that we should never elect to office any Republican who lends aid politically to the Democrats or who takes political advice from Democratic lawyer-politicians.

We must elect to office, those who have been and are yet true to the Republican party. If a man is unfaithful to his party before he gets into office, he will be unfaithful after he gets in. A political party can not stand if it has to depend upon unfaithful leaders to serve in the public offices. Discord, knocking and criticism of other Republican officials is one of the fruits of unfaithfulness to the party before election and in political campaigns.

It we are going to make desertion, knocking and kicking a test of qualifications to hold office, then our candidates ought to let their positions be known so that all Republican voters can understand that voting against their own party will make them popular. Let me ask you is that not a very foolish view to take of such a serious thing as the obligation that is to be assumed by a political party that sets itself up to serve the people in a public matter?

Think what would happen to our party if all Republicans should take a notion to bolt at the same time. Who is it that is responsible for preserving the Republcian party? Is it the Republicans who have been bolters and knockers and kickers? Or is it the Republicans who have remained firm and loyal to the party? It seems to me that our party is in danger of disintergration, when men will assume the privilege of bolting and kicking and knocking, and turn right around and demand the right to run the party according to their own notions and disregard the counsel and advice of any or all who have been constantly loyal and faithful in support of the party.

Now, for a sample of knockers and kickers for leaders in the Republican party in this county, I want to call your attention to a letter in the Union-Banner of January 21, 1932, signed by Mr. A. A. Jackson. Mr. Jackson received a flattering vote for Representative two years ago. He was on the Republican ticket, and was supported by the knockers and kickers of our party—the crowd that was going to clean out the courthouse.

In his letter Mr. Jackson referred to Mr. Hoover, the president of the United States, as a slave dealer, a thief, dishonest, swindler, racketeer, etc., and he referred to local Repubicans who would vote for Mr. Hoover in 1932 as local cottontail politicians. Mr. Jackson seems not satisfied with knocking the Republicans who do not agree with him, but it seems that he must go so far as to appear as a knocker knocking the knockers.

I have been wondering why our county Republican Executive Committee has not been called into a meeting by this time. It has been the custom of our party in the past to call the committee into session in December or January before elections. This has always served to get people to thinking about poll tax and registering and getting ready for the approaching election. There may be some reason for not calling the committee together this year but I have not heard of it.

The rumor has come to me that some of our Republican leaders are considering the nomination of candidates this year in convention instead of primary election. I want to say in regard to this question that it is one of the most dangerous ideas that could be advanced. I have always been in favor of nominating our Republican candidates in a Republican primary where every voter can have the right to vote as he pleases. I still say that is the only safe and sound way to do it. If we are to come to the convention plan of nominating candidates, it will be the last of the Republican party in our county.

In every county in Alabama where the Republicans have fallen back to the convention system, defeat has been visited upon the party in those counties. It will be the same result in Chilton County.

I have disagreed with some of our Republican leaders in the county in some political campaigns, but I have always tried to be honest and sincere. After the elections were over I have always accepted the verdict of the people and tried to cooperate with every official the Republicans have put in any office. I have always sought to help out in Republican party affairs because I thought it a debt I owed to my party. I have tried to serve the people as best I could because I have felt it my duty to be the best public official I possibly could because my party was depending upon me to do that.

Now in conclusion let me say again that my only motive in writing this piece is to see if I can't cause somebody to pause and think and see where we are drifting. Some will doubtless criticise me for writing this and ascribe various motives for me. But I ask you only to be fair and honest when you think of what I have said. I know that I am honest in my beliefs. I feel that I owe a great debt of gratitude to my party and I would be ungrateful if I did not speak my honest sentiments in the face of the approaching dangers which I see are coming surely if we do not get our political house in better order.—L. H. Reynolds.

MR. LITTLE BURIED SATURDAY AT PLANTERSVILLE, ALABAMA

Funeral services for Mr. R. W. Little, prominent farmer of Dallas county, were held at Plantersville last Saturday at 3 p.m. Mr. Little died last Thursday night in a hospital at Dothan. He had been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Little's wife, who was Miss Vivian Hardy, died last August.

CLASTON METHODIST CHURCH

The sailor sets his sails to suit the wind. The sails of the ship are made to assume an attitude toward the wind so that the ship will go where the captain would have it. Set your mental attitude next Sunday so that it will carry you to God's house. You will follow your mental attitude and that is why we urge you to set that attitude toward church.

Considering the weather last Sunday our attendance was good. We encourage the hope for better things. Help us with your presence next Sunday. Be in Sunday school at 9:45, and at preaching at 11 a.m. Night service at 7:00 o'clock.

At our church we are laboring to lift. Come and give us your strength.

WOODMEN CELEBRATION ON MONDAY NIGHT FEBRUARY 22

A big celebration is being planned by the Clanton Camp of W. O. W., for Monday night, February 22, in honor of Washington's Birthday.

The occasion will be the initiation of a large class of new members into the mysteries of Woodcraft.

Two local Woodmen will be specially honored on this occasion for the faithful service they have rendered the order. They are Grover Harris and E. C. Evans.

The meeting will be held at Maddox Hall. Col. L. A. Ellington, of Birmingham, will be Consul Commander and have charge of the program.

Refreshments will be served.

MANY KITCHEN CABINETS WERE SOLD THIS WEEK

Mr. J. B. Tiffin, of the Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Company, states that he is very much delighted with the results of their special sale of Sellers Kitchen Cabines, which has been in progress for the past week.

"We started out with a goal to sell fifty of these cabinets during the eight-day sale," said Mr. Tiffin, "and we have already sold more than half that number. We are getting in a new supply to finish out with, so we can have one here for every customer who comes to take advantage of our unusual offer."

This special sale ends Saturday of this week. Housewives who are interested in better conveniences for their kitchen should not fail to take advantage of this offer. Read the advertisement elsewhere in this paper and see what you can get extra and absolutely free now by buying a Sellers Kitchen Cabinet from Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Company.

MRS. LINDBERG TO BROADCAST

Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will tell of her experiences in the flooded regions of China over a nationwide radio hook-up, February 1st, at 2:30 p.m., eastern standard time, it was announced today by both the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company, both of which will feature the talk on their programs. The broadcast is in behalf of Flood Relief in China, constituted by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Foreign Missions Conference of North America with China Famine Relief U. S. A., to provide relief for flood sufferers there.

Mrs. Lindbegh will describe the flight of herself and husband over the flooded Yangtze Valley, relate incidents of the survey made by them and give a picture of the desolation wrought there by the greatest natural disaster of modern times.

Marvin Marcus, of Memphis, Tenn. was in The Union-Banner office on Wednesday of this week. He is visiting relatives in Clanton.

WILLIAM WAGONER DIED

William Wagoner, age 82 years, died Sunday, February 7th, at his home at Pine Mills, near Mineola, Texas. He was buried the following day at Pine Mills.

Mr. Wagoner was a native of Chilton County, having been born and reared in the Mt. Zion settlement. For the past 18 years he and his wife have been living with their son, Dock Wagoner, near Mineola.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Jane (Giles) Wagoner, age 79; three sons, Dock, of Pine Mills, Texas; Ed Wagoner, barber, of Clanton; Armon Wagoner, of Clanton; Jadie Wagoner of New York; one daughter, Mrs. O. E. Edwards of Birmingham.

Ed Wagoner was summoned to the bedside of his father when he became critically ill. He arrived there before he died, and remained until after the burial.

PEOPLE TO ELECT SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Election to be Held on First Saturday in May This Year

The last Legislature of Alabama enacted a law providing for the election of district school trustees by the patrons of the schools of the several school districts.

Below we print the exact wording of the law:

Section 1. That on the first Saturday in May, 1932, and every two years thereafter, three school trustees shall be elected for each school in every county by the patrons of the school. The county superintendent of education shall appoint three managers to hold the election at each school, who shall conduct the election with regulations prepared by the county superintendent of education and approved by the county board of education. The results of the election shall be reported to the county superintendent of education on a certificate signed by the members of the election, provided, howevrr, that this shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns having city or town boards of education.

Section 2. That the trustees elected under the provisions of this Act, except as otherwise provided by law, shall have charge of the school building and grounds an dshall advise and cooperate with the county board of education on all matters relating to the general welfare of the school. The trustees shall have authority by a unanimous vote to refuse to accept the assignment of any teacher within ten days after the date of the superintendent's notice of assignment upon written notification to the county superintendent of education, setting out reasons for such refusal.

Section 3. That when any vacancy occurs on the Board of School Trustees elected under the provisions of this act, the same shall be filled by the County Board of Education and the person thus elected shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified. Provided that the County Board of Education may remove any school district trustee elected under the provisions of this act upon recommendation of the County Superintendent of Education, for misconduct or willful neglect of duties.

Section 4. That all laws in conflict with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby appealed.

Section 5. Provided that the provisions of this act shall not apply to counties now having or may hereafter have a population of more than ninety thousand inhabitants by the present or any subsequent federal census.

Section 6. That the managers of said election shall serve without pay.

County Superintendent, B. Lawrence, in a letter on this subject, says the term of office of trustees so elected will begin on July the first following their election. Continuing, the letter says, "Since the newly elected trustees will not take office until July 1st, it will be necessary for the old trustees to go ahead in the matter of selecting the teachers for the next year."

J. C. ATCHISON IN THIRD DISTRICT

Maplesville Man Wants Place On Commissioner's Court here

In the political announcement column this week will be noticed the name of J. C. Atchison for Commissioner from the Third District. This is the place now being held by Mr. Burnett.

Mr. Atchison is well known in the western part of the county and especially around Maplesville, where he lives. He farmed all his life until seven years ago, when he became connected with the road working crew of the county, and has worked at that ever since. He was born and raised at Mulberry, the son of R. Y. Atchison, who now lives at Maplesville. This candidate for Commissioner has a strong Republican family behnid him. His grandfather on his mother's side, W. H. Sturdivant, served in the State Legislature from Shelby county for two terms, being sent there by the Republican party. Mr. Atchison has never run for public office before.

He seems to be a man well qualified for the office he is seeking, and we are sure the Republicans of the county would make no mistake in voting for him.

WILL ELECT CHAIRMAN AND SEC. OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

At the meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County last Friday, an order was adopted providing for the election of the Chairman and Secretary of the committee by vote of the Republican electors in the Primary of May the 3rd.

Names of candidates for these offices will be printed on the election ballots, and they will be voted upon by the Republican voters of the entire county.

The Republican voters in each precinct will elect their members of the committee from each precinct by writing the names of the candidates on the ballots.

CHARLEY DUKE'S HAT GOES IN RING

Was Next to the Winner In Race For the Same Place last Time

C. D. Duke says, "Tell the boys that my hat is in the ring again for Commissioner." Mr. Duke is seeking the place now being held by Commissioner A. P. Vinson from the Fourth District. He ran for the same place four years ago, and when the votes were counted he was next to the winner.

Mr. Duke is a farmer living in the community between Concord and Walnut Creek, where he has lived ever since he married 26 years ago. He came to this county from Coosa 28 years ago when he was 18 years old.

Mr. Duke has always taken considerable interest in the advancement of his community and county, and believes that he can be of greater service if the people see fit to nominate and elect him to this office.

He is thoroughly competent to handle the duties connected with the office; and we feel that the voters would make no mistake in taking him as their choice for the place.

Vinson And Burnett Are Running Again

Two County Commissioners To Seek Re-election This Year

A. P. Vinson and J. L. Burnett, Members of the Court of County Commissioners, are candidates for re-election. They will seek to be the nominees of the Republican party in the primary May 3.

Mr. Vinson is now serving his 3rd term as Commissioner of the Fourth District. He served one term, skipped one, and is now finishing up his two successive terms of four years each. Mr. Burnett is now finishing up his second successive term of four years as Commissioner of the Third District.

Both Vinson and Burnett are Republicans in politics. They have rendered loyal and faithful service to the people of the County since they have been in these important offices. While they, like everybody who does anything, have not pleased everybody; yet they have been good officials. They have lots of friends who feel that their service in the past has been such as to merit the continued confidence of the people of the County.

Our Commissioners serve by districts, but they are voted on by the people of the entire county.

Vinson in the Fourth District is being opposed by C. D. Duke and O. L. Devaughn, both of whom ran against him four years ago.

Burnet, in the Third District, is being opposed by J. C. Atchison, with the possibility of other entries before the time for announcements has expired.

CIRCLE THREE MET AT THE HOME OF MRS. ED WAGONER

Circle III met at the home of Mrs. Ed Wagoner, in the Gowan addition Monday afternoon. Devotional was conducted by Mrs. Horace Davis, followed with prayer by Mrs. E. G. Hyman. It was the regular business meeting. After all business was attended to plans for circle work was made. Mrs. S. J. Ezell prayed the closing prayer.

Those present were: Mesdames E. E. Upchurch, Reedie Taylor, Luther Arant, Ed Wagoner, J. L. Ruffin, Hugh Foshee, Horace Davis, Willie Bean, Spurgeon Calloway, Jim Mims, S. J. Ezell, E. G. Hyman and Miss Ressie Harris.

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING LAST FRIDAY

Republican Party Leaders Declare for Republican Primary In County To Nominate Candidates for the County Offices This Year

Editor Union-Banner:

It is with much pleasure that I herewith give you my report for publication the principal actions and a short report of the Republican Executive Committee meeting, which met in answer to the chairman's call at the courthouse at two o'clock p.m. on Friday, February 19, 1932.

Despite the damp rainy weather at the roll call there were 35 out of the 40 members of the committee answered either in person or by proxy. I consider this the best roll call of the committee we have had in years and the great outstanding feature and beauty of the thing was there was not a bit of dissatisfaction exhibited in the committee meeting or among the members of the committee.

There was a large crowd of interested Republicans who were not members of the committee present and I am sure I speak the sentiment of the committee when I say the committee was glad to have them present.

Immediately after the roll call by the secretary and a brief statement by the chairman of the purpose of the meeting as called, on proper motion and second, the committee meeting stood adjourned for 30 minutes for the purpose of hearing any suggestions and recommendations from the people in a mass meeting, which was called through the press to meet at the same time as the committee meeting. The chairman and secretary of the committee on proper motion were made chairman and secretary of the mass meeting. There were a few short stalks by some of the people present, who felt disposed to do so, but no recommendations or suggestions of note except the recommendation that the chairman and secretary of the Republican Executive Committee of the County be elected this time by popular vote in the state primary, as called by this body, and which recommendation was unanimously adopted.

After the adjournment of the mass meeting, the chairman resumed work. On motion duly made and seconded the committee without a dissenting vote, requesed the present chairman, Mr. J. N. Dennis, and secretary, J. Z. Mims to announce for said chairmanship and secretary. Among other necessary actions taken by the committee the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolutions

Whereas, the State Executive committee of the Republican party of Alabama adopted a resolution electing to come under provisions of the primary election laws of Alabama, for the selection and nomination of candidates for the public offices in Chilton County, Alabama, to be filled by election in 1932, and the Chairman and secretary of the County Executice Committee of the Republican party of Chilton County.

And, Whereas, it is the desire and intention of the County Executive Committee of said Republican party in Chilton County to elect and come under the provisions of the primary elections laws of said state for the nomination of candidates for the several public county offices to be filled by election in said year, 1932, and the Chairman and secretary of the County Executive Committee of the Republican party of Chilton County:

Be it therefore, Resolved, by the County Executive Committee of said Republican party of Chilton County, Alabama, that a primary election for the nomination of candidates for the several public offices in Chilton County to be filled by election in the year 1932, and the Chairman and secretary of the County Executive Committee of the Republican party of Chilton county, be held under the provisions of the primary election laws of Alabama.

Be it further resolved, that notice of the election to hold a primary in said county, be given forthwith by the Chairman of the County Executive Committee of said party to the Secretary of State of Alabama, and that a copy of such notice be filed with the Probate Judge of said County.

Be it further resolved, that all qualified voters who believe in the principles of the Republican party and who will abide by the results of said primary election are cordially invited in said election.

Be it resolved by the Republican Executive Committeee of Chilton County, Alabama, the we endorse the wise, able and patriotic administration of the national affairs by Herbert Hoover as President of the United States, and we hereby call upon all loyal Republicans of our county to stand steadfastly behind him and give him the loyal support we are due him.

Be it further resolved, by the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County that we endorse and commend the administration of Hon. Oliver D. Street as Republican National Committeeman of Alabama and of Dr. J. C. Swann, as chairman of the State Republican Committee.

And that we express our confidence and endorsement of the action of our people in the past and are willing to risk our party in the hands of the intelligent voters of our county, and feel assured that the people will take care of the best interests of our county and our party.

I am very glad to say that I do not believe I was ever in a more harmonious meeting of any kind, political or otherwise, than was this committee meeting Friday. I feel that everyone who attended went home in better spirits and with a renewed determination to make more and greater strides for the success of the party.

Permit me to again call to the attention of those who intend to run for office in this election, to file their intentions with Mr. J. N. Dennis, chairman of the Executive Committee, not later than the first day of March, 1932.—Yours for the success of the party, J. Z. Mims, secretary.

Webb Candidate For County School Board

Member of School Board Asks for Another Term of Six Years

Sidney J. M. Webb, of Isabella, is a candidate for membership on the Chilton County Board of Education for another term of six years. Mr. Webb is just now completing his present term of six years.

He announces as a candidate for the Republican nomination in the Republican primary which will be held on the third day of May.

During his past years of service on the school board, Mr. Webb has shown a faithful and loyal spirit of honest service in the interest of the schools of the county. He will boubtless have the strong and tireless support of a great many people of the county in behalf of his re-election.

The members of the County School Board are not elected according to districts of the county. They are each chosen from the county at large, and are voted upon by all the people of the county.

Mrs. Calloway For County Treasurer

Only Woman Official of County Asks Republicans for Re-election

Mrs. Gertrude P. Callaway, treasurer of Chilton County for the past three years, announces this week that she will be a candidate for the Republican nomination and re-election to that office this year.

Mrs. Calloway needs no introduction to the people of Chilton County. She has been in the public service all her adult life. She was chief clerk in the Probate office for many years. She taught in the public schools of the county for some time.

She has in every situation been a very diligent, competent, and willing worker for the public interest.

Elsewhere in this paper there is a letter from her setting forth some facts about her political affiliations and personal ambitions, which we commend to the consideration of the voters of the county.

BILLINGSLEY AND WEBB TIME OUT ON SCHOOL BOARD

It was stated in The Union-Banner last week that the terms of office of Mr. Webb and Mr. Yates would expire this year, and that the successors to the places would be elcted this year.

We have been informed at the office of the County Superintendent of Education that this statement was wrong; that the members whose terms expire this year are Mr. Billingsley and Mr. Webb.

Mr. Webb is a candidate to succeed himself. It is not known whether Mr. Billingsley will be a candidate or not. He is serving out the term for which Robert Bean was elected six years ago.

O. L. DEVAUGHN IS CANDIDATE AGAIN

Second Effort Will Be Made For Place as County Commissioner

The name of O. L. Devaughn is again this time before the voters of the county for the office of Commissioner from the Fourth District. Four is the district in which Clanton is located and is now represented in the Court by A. P. Vinson.

Mr. Devaughn is well known over the county, having run for this same place four years ago. He made a good showing in the race before. He boasts of a staunch line of Republicans in his family before him, and he has always stayed with the party straight himself. He lives between Maple Springs and Bethel in Beat 10. He is 41 years old and the son of P. R. Devaughn, who died four years ago. Mr. Devaughn has farmed all his life and has taught singing school quite a bit during his spare summer months. He has served his district as school trustee and as road overseer under the old road working system. He says that his home is near the center of the district which he hopes to be commissioner of.

O. L. Devaughn is a man of strong convictions, splendid personality, and can handle the office, we are sure, to the satisfaction of his constituents should it be the pleasure of the voters to elect him.

Hill Grocery Co. Has Birthday Sale Now

Twenty-first Anniversary of Alabama's Largest Food Distributors

This week brings around the 21st birthday of the organization of Hill Grocery Company, which concern bears the proud distinction of being the largest food distributing medium in the State of Alabama.

In line with their adopted policy, Hill stores in Alabama are celebrating with a great Anniversary Sale.

J. W. McEathern, manager of the Hill Store here, asserts that the Birthday Sale this year is a knockout when it comes to buying food stuffs and things in the grocery line at unheard of low prices.

Readers of The Union-Banner this week will find a big half-page advertisement which tells you of some of the high-lights in this special birthday sale of Hill's. It begins Friday and continues through the third day of March.

This is a good time to lay in a supply of staple items, many of which can be bought at the Hill birthday sale at prices which represent a distinct saving over the regular prices of such things.

P.-T. A CELEBRATES

The Parent-Teachers Association celebrated Founders Day at the high school last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The president, Mrs. Hugh Jones, presided. The program was arranged by Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Miss Martin and Miss Kendrick. The principal features of the program were the history of the organization, the cutting of the birthday cake and the lighting of the candles.

Refreshments were served by the home economics department of the high school. The P.-T. A. as a national organization was launched in 1897. The meeting was well attended and there was much interest manifest.

STUDENTS WILL GIVE PROGRAM

Washington Memorial To Be Presented to Kiwanis Club Today

A most excellent program was rendered at the regular weekly luncheon of the Clanton Kiwanis Club at the Baptist church, when several members of the Kiwanis Club of Montgomery were present and had charge of the program for that meeting last Thursday.

These from Montgomery Club who were present were Dr. John Abercrombie, past president of the Montgomery club; Ben Hardeman, secretary; Chas. W. Greer, chairman of music committee; Thomas B Hill, Jr., vice-president and L. H. Waller.

Thomas Hill took charge of the program, and introduced Charlie Greer, who thrilled those present by his most accurate imitation of bird songs, whistles and calls, and gave some interesting information concerning bird life. His ability to imitate the whistles and songs of birds was most amazing to members of the Clanton club.

This was followed by a splendid address by Dr. John Abercrombie. Several other men were present as guests of local Kiwanians.

The program for today's luncheon at 12:15 will be in the form of a George Washington program, in which several students form the local high school will take part, in observance of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Attendance at the Kiwanis Club of Cnanton each week is growing and much activity is seen looming for the club.

LOWE-ENTREKIN MARRIAGE

A copy of the Decatur Daily of February 22, has the following wedding announcement which will be of interest to the many freiends of Mr. Lowe in Clanton.

Mrs. Alice Entrekin announces the marriage of her daughter, Jamie, to Mr. Willis Clyde Lowe, on February seventeenth, nineteen hundred and thirty-two, at Athens, Alabama. At home on Godon Drive west of Decatur.

The above announcement is of interest to numbers of friends who wish Mr. and Mrs. Lowe every happiness. Mr. Lowe has been with the Decatur Daliy for several years, having come here from his home in Clanton, Ala.

Mr. Lowe was born and reared in Clanton. He served his apprenticeship as a printer and linotype operator with The Union-Banner. Some years ago he went to Decatur, where he has been employed as linotype operator on the Decatur Daily.

His many friends here extend hearty congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Lowe.

MRS. GEANETT HUBBARD

Mrs. Geanett Hubbard, age 75, died last Sunday at the home of Mrs. John F. Kincaid, at 1527 Berkley Avenue, Bessemer.

The body was brought to Macedonia and buried Monday afternoon, by Spigener, of Clanton.

OTHERS SEEKING COUNTY OFFICES

E. H. Littlejohn, Beat 7, Wants Office of Commissioner In Third Distrct

The name of E. H. Littlejohn, of Lawley, Route 1, appears in the candidate column this week as an aspirant for the office of County Commissioner of the third district.

Mr. Littlejohn is a Baptist preacher, a prominent farmer, and altogether substantial citizen of Beat 7. He has many friends who are pulling for him on the board of county commissioners.

FOR SCHOOL BOARD

D. S. Robinson, of Coopers, and W. J. Easterling, of Beat 4, announce this week as Republican candidates for the County school board. Mr. Easterling was a candidate for this office some years ago. Mr. Robinson has never been a candidate for public office before.

Both of these are good men, good Republicans, and are able to serve the county well and capable in the school business. Other candidates for the school board are S. J. M. Webb, Jonh L. Smith and Reuben Bearden. There are two to be nominated and elected this year.

ALABAMA PRODUCTS SOLD IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 22.—Several Alabama products are in demand on the Birmingham market, according to Dr. M. F. Jackson, farm products agents for the Tennessee Coal Iron and Railroad Company. They are sorghum and sugarcane syrup, blackeye peas, peanut pork, and several other products.

Hay is difficult to sell. The warm winter has reduced demand for it, and other factors, too, have influenced it.

In making this announcement Dr. Jackson said that products offered should be correctly graded and neatly packed for market. He urged farmers having syrup for sale to put it in half-gallon cans rather than in gallon cans.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., Feb 23.—Colonel William E. Persons, commandant of cadets at the University of Alabama for the past two and one-half years, has been detailed to command Uncle Sam's newest transport, the Republic. Col. Persons will begin his new duties April 15. He is a native of Alexander City, Alabama.

Dr. A. J. Farrah, dean of the law school, has been appointed to the Association of American Law School's committee on the teaching of professional ethics in law schools. Herschel Arant, Ohio State University law dean and academic graduate of the University of Alabama is chairman of the committee.

C. E. Williams, University Summer school official, attended the national convention of Kappa Delta Pi education fraternity in Washington on February 22-24.

The Hon. W. B. Oliver, sixth district representative in Congress and former dean of the law school at the University represented this institution at the Bicentennial convocation of George Washington's University February 22.

"One of the best in the South," is Dr. Warren King Moorehead's opinion of the Alabama museum of Natural History at the University. Dr. Moorehead lectured here on aboriginal life.

Freshmen at the University of Alabama are original. That much can be said in their favor. Lieut. "Tiny" Hewitt of the military department in a recent quiz called for a definition of drowning. And here is the winner of the cutglass buttonhook: "Drowning is the science of being able to get enough water in your lungs to keep from living."

I. Lazarus Sick (vv. 1, 2).

Even those who are in close fellowship with the Lord are not immune from sickness.

II. Martha and Mary Send for Jesus (v. 3).

Because they had come to know Jesus as more than a mere man, they instinctively turned to him when the shadow of death fell across their home. Those who receive Jesus into their home when all are well and happy can be sure of his love and sympathy when sickness and death overtake them.

III. Jesus' Strange Delay (vv. 4-6).

Martha and Mary sent for Jesus because he loved Lazarus. They said, "He whom thou lovest is sick." Observe that when Jesus heard that Lazarus was sick he "abode in the same place" because he loved Lazarus and his sisters (v. 5). This mystery is to be explained by the fact that Jesus was divine and knew all things.

IV. Jesus Goes to the Bethany Home (vv. 7-17).

Jesus knew, and apparently the disciples knew, that going into Judea at that time meant his own death. He told his disciples that his purpose in going was to awaken Lazarus out of his sleep to the intent that they might believe (vv. 11-15). Jesus fearlessly discharged his duty even though his life had been threatened.

V. Jesus Teaching Martha (vv. 18-27).

As he was nearing the village, Martha met him with a complaint because of his delay. He ignored her complaint and taught her concerning the resurrection and life.

1. "Thy brother shall rise again" (v. 23). Most blessed words are these to fall upon the ears of a sister sorrowing for a dead brother.

2. "I am the resurrection and the life" (vv. 25, 26). He is the source of life and all who are joined to him by a living faith experience such a vital fellowship as to be unaffected by any bodily change, death being but an incident in the course of an endless life.

VI. Jesus Weeping With Mary (vv. 28-35).

Mary fell at Jesus' feet uttering the same words used by Martha but no doubt with a different tone of voice and attitude. She had been sitting at his feet in the days of sunshine, therefore, she knew where to go in time of sorrow. Being a real man, he suffered with these bereaved sisters, and though he knew the joy that was so soon to come in the restoration of life to Lazarus, he wept.

VII. Jesus Raising Lazarus (vv. 38-44.)

In this stupendous miracle we see an illustration of the quickening into life of those dead in trespasses and sins. Observe:

1. Lazarus was dead (v. 39). This is a type of the sinner dead in trespasses and sins, even morally corrupt (Eph. 2:1).

2. The stone must be rolled away (v. 39). As Christian workers we should remove every obstacle from between a dead sinner and a life-giving Saviour.

3. Martha's protest of unbelief (v. 39). She insisted that Lazarus had already undergone putrifaction. Christ is able to save the sinner regardless of the degree of his sins.

4. Christ's intimacy and fellowship with the father (v. 42). In his prayer he declared that it was not for his sake that he prayed but for those who stood by.

5. Christ's manner of dealing with Lazarus (v. 43). It was by a call. He is calling men and women today by his Spirit, Word, and providence.

6. The response of Lazarus (v. 44). This shows that the call of Jesus is with authority and power.

7. The command to the people (v. 44). They were to remove the grave clothes and set him free. They could not make Lazarus live, but they could remove the grave clothes which bound the man whom Christ made alive.

VIII. The Effect of This Miracle (vv. 45-57).

1. Some believed (v. 45).
2. His enemies sought to put him to death (vv. 46-53).
3. His withdrawal (v. 54).

COTTONSEED MEAL AS A COTTON FERTILIZER

Those farmers desiring to use cottonseed meal as a cotton fertilizer, should make the following mixture:

One hundred and twenty-five pounds of cottonseed meal, One hundred pounds of superphosphate, and 15 pounds muriate of potash.

Apply this mixture at the rates of 200 to 200 pounds per acre, a week or ten days before planting. Mix thoroughly with the soil by running a scooter down the furrow.—C. E. Stapp.

HOW VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE HAS HELPED ME

I do not think any course in high school will help a form boy, so much as vocational agriculture, and to a boy who intends to make farming his occupation. I think is is absolutely necessary for him to include vocational agriculture in his course, for it means that the only seccessful farmers of the future will be the present vocational agriculture boys. Boys studying vocational agriculture, are taught by actual experience how to prune trees, repair farm machinery, prepare good seed beds, fertilize for best results man age winter legumes and numbers of other valuable things about the farm.

Along with vocational agriculture goes the F. F. A., which serves to train boys in leadership, which is one of the greatest assets to any business. I have begun my second year in vocational agriculture. I regret very much that I did not get to take it in my junior III year, but I did not start to school at Isabella until I had finished the ninth grade in another school.

My project last year was a purebred Jersey dairy heifer. This project is not yet finished. I have not fully decided what my horticulture project for this year is going to be, but I will try tomatoes. Besidees this I am going to plant and keep a record on about half an acre of Irish potatoes.

I believe that if the vocational agriculture and the Auburn plan of farming are applied to a farm, one will make a success. I believe a new era in agriculture is dawning.—S. L. Broadhead.

LETTERS TO MR. WARR

Dear Mr. Warr:

We still remember your kindness of the fall when you gave us the Alabama Map. We appreciate very much the picture you gave us. We have been studying Washington in reading, language, history and art. We have learned very much about the picture, and have also learned something of Gilbert Stuart. You could have given us nothing more useful. It is hanging in the main entrance of the building. We will try to pay this kindness back in some way.—Sincerely, Mildred Maddox, Fifth Grade.

Dear Mr. Warr:

We, the pupils of the Clanton Grammar School, are very proud of the unfinished portrait of Washington. Each room would like to have it hang in their classroom; but we are all enjoying it in the hall. As we pass by, we stop to look at it.

We thank you very much.—Yours truly, Margaret Golson, Sixth grade.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the entire community for their kindness and help during the illness and death of W. E. Smith.—His widow, children and grandchildren.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES

The department of commerce has announced that the value of wheat and flour exported from the United States in 1931 amounted to $84,232,000. Exports in 1930 were valued at 157,494,000; $192,285,000 in 1929; and $197,730,000 in 1928.

Bibb county poultrymen are feeding a home mixed ration, 75 per cent of which is raised on the farm. They are buying a protein supplement through the farm bureau to balance the ration in order to get the best results in egg production, according to county agent T. P. Lee.

A recent issue of the Commerce and Finance said that "it was times like these that Andrew Carnegie laid the foundation for what was to become one of the world's greatest industrial enterprises. Likewise "it was times like these that Edison, Alexander Graham Bell, Worchester Warner and Ambrose Swasey prepared themselves for lives of outstanding usefulness and success."

"If the farmer turns his back upon a complete and sweeping organization of the agricultural forces of America, nothing under heaven can prevent his going to the wall. Federated control of group actions means taking advantage of all the benefits of group organizations without submitting to the tyrannies of a new feudalism. It means the death of the old individualism, yes! But it means the birth of a new individualism, surrounded by the protection of cooperative strength." said Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin.

RUPTURE
SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. Shevnan, widely known expert, of Chicago, will personally be at the Whitley Hotel, Montgomery, Saturday, Sunday and Monday only, February 27, 28, and 29 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired. Address, 6605 Talman Ave., Chicago. For fifteen years assistant to F. H. Seeley, famous rupture expert, of Chicago. 1tpd

A. A. JACKSON WRITES ON POLITICS AND OTHER THINGS

Dear Editor:

Will you grant me space in your paper to reply to what Judge Reynolds said in last week's paper, in the way of a warning to county Republican leaders.

It is not my desire to get into a newspaper controversy with such high ups as Judge Reynolds and the Man in the Moon, who really know things. But since they have attacked me in such a belittling way, I am inclined to resent such attacks.

Judge, it does seem to me if the articles that I have been writing have been so detrimental and disgusting, that you as head of the Republican party of Chilton county would have come to me in a statesmanlike way and told me where I was wrong.

You said in your letter that I referred to Mr. Hoover, the president of the United States, as a slave dealer, a thief, dishonest swindler, racketeer. Judge, isn't your statement misleading? I referred to what the American Freeman, a weekly newspaper, published at Girard, Kansas, said about Mr. Hoover. I am sure the readers of tha county papers understood it as I wrote it. I am of the opinion that the charges made by the paper is true, since Mr. Hoover has passed the charge unchallenged.

Judge, you said that I received a flattering vote for Representative two years ago. And that I was supported by the knockers and kickers of our party. The election returns showed that I got nine hundred votes two years ago, and it seems to me if all of these are knockers and kickers, you should handle them more gently, because if this number should turn loose to knocking and kicking you and the Republican party of Chilton county, you could not last long.

Judge, I want to call your attention to an article that appeared in last week's Union-Banner and the Chilton County News, in which Mr. Traywick tells how you and your son handled the Lee Traywick murder case. Now I shall ask you some questions. Did Otto Burnett kill Lee Traywick? Did Burnett get a preliminary hearing before justice, McDowell, and the evidence was so cold blooded that Justice McDowell ordered Burnett back to jail without bond? And did Burnett later get a second hearing before you, L. H. Reynolds? And you turned Burnett loose on a twenty-five hundred dollar bond? And at the following term of the Circuit Court the case was handled in a way that the jury did not get the evidence? Was there ever any rebutal evidence offered by the defense? Did Burnett agree to take a four year sentence without pardon? And did Judge Smoot pass sentence on Burnett to serve four years? And after Burnett received the sentence, was he turned loose to frolic over the country and have a big time until the appointed day for him to go to Kilby to serve a four year sentence? And was the State Attorney notified by Republicans that Burnett was not in jail?

Now I do not know whether or not all of the above are facts, but I do know that part of them are facts; and I have been told by several persons all of the above are facts.

Judge, it was what I knew about the above case that made me cease my support for you.

If I have to endorse such disgraceful demonstartions as was performed in Clanton on the night after your election as Probate Judge of Chilton county in 1928, and the tactics that you used in the Lee Traywick murder case, to be loyal to you and the Republican party of Chilton county, I would prefer to see you knocked out; and the Republican party knocked out; and be called, "A Knocker for the Knockers."

In conclusion, I want to ask you just one more question. Do you endorse such a principle as was manifested at the Clanton demonstration on the night of your election as Probate Judge, and the tactics that were used in handling the Lee Traywick murder case.—Respectfully, A. A. Jackson.

MT. PLEASANT DEFEATS ENTERPRISE 20 TO 19

Rallying in the last five minutes of play, the Mt. Pleasant boys overcame a 7 point lead and won over the Enterprise team 20 to 19.

The game was played at Clanton last Friday before a large crowd of supporters for both teams. The Enterprise boys lost no time in getting away with a lead, which they held until the last minute of play. With the count standing 19 to 18 in their favor and only 45 seconds to go Curtis Traywick dribbled up the center of the court and flipped a perfect shot, the ball dropping through the net just before the final whistle. Thanks to the man who built the gymnasium or else there would have been a collapse. This was the 2nd defeat for the Enterprise team and was the 14th victory for Mt. Pleasant this year. Next Friday will close the basketball season. Mt. Pleasant goes to Collins Chapel for her final game.

A young man fell into the state of coma, but recovered before his friends had buried him. One of them asked what it felt like to be dead.

Dead, he exclaimed, I wasn't dead, and I knew I wasn't dead, because my feet were cold, and I was hungry.

But how did that make you sure?

Well, I knew that if I were in heaven I shouldn't be hungry, and that if I were in the other place my feet wouldn't be cold.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the good people of Thorsby and vicinity for their many acts of kindness during our recent trouble and bereavement. May the Almighty bless each and every one of you, is our prayer.—C. C. Bowles and family.

A SILVER TEA

The music appreciation Club of Clanton will be hostess at a silver tea, given at the home of Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Friday afternoon, February 26th, between three and five o'clock.

The purpose of the tea is to raise a fund to pay the pro rata of the club's obligation on a district musical scholarship at Auburn. The district committee will decide to whom the scholarship shall be given.

A cordial invitation is extended to all. You are urged to come and enjoy the program, and the fellowship of this community affair.

NIGHT HAWKS WILL BROADCAST OVER WAPI

The Nighthawks Band will broadcast a program over WAPI next Saturday afernoon, beginning about 3 o'clock. This band is composed of Lloyd Howard, accordion; Herman Lowery, guitar; and Holly Jones, mandolin. They invite all their friends to tune in and send them a request.

SERVICES AT FRIENDSHIP SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

The pastor will preach at Friendship next Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. Night service will be at 6:30 o'clock and the Sunday morning services at 11 o'clock. The pupils is cordially invited to attend.

There has been some talk of the old folks service again this year; and it is supposed that it will be held the fifth Sunday in May. Further announcements will be made later.

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Eleder Blosom Fills His Pintment at the Shiloh Church (Col)

As Ah rises to mah feets dis mawning to dress you, Ah caint hep feeiin dat our Lord, in dis depression, is tryin to make us see how wasteful we is. Our lesson is foun in 1st Kings, 8 to 16 verse. After Ah reads, Ah want you to stan an sing, an den Ah wants Brudder Ed Banks to lead us in prayer. Now befo you set down, Ah wants tur ax you all dis question, "How many pairs ob shoes hab each one ob you got?" Evrybody what has three pairs, hole up yo han. Now dars sixty-two. Now all dat has jest one pair, hole up yo han. Sakes-o-life, dar must be over a hundred. Now is dar enybody here whut aint got none. Well, well dars Sistah Joyce Allen wid her han up. Sistah Joyce, whose shoes is dem whut yous got on? (she stans up and says) Ah wanted tur come tur church so bad dat Ah axed Sistah Gowan effen she had two pairs ob shoes, an she sa no, but Ah cant go to church caus my baby is sick, an you can war mine. So Ah come wid her shos on.

Now some ob you women whuts got 3 pairs ob shoes, why cant you give Sistah Allen one pair. Now dat rite Sistah Sue, de Lord will bless you fur givin her dem shoes.

De tex dis mawning is in de book ob Matthew, 26th chapter an de 8th verse, which reads lak dis, "To what purpose is this waste." Ah goes roun rite smaht, here an dar, an Ah notices all ob de waste dat Ah sees goin on. Ah do believe dat de Merican people, both black and white is de most wasteful peoples in de world. In every little town in dis country you can see a big pile ob old automobiles whuts got thousands an thousands of dollars wurth ob steel an brass an copper in dem, an it is jes laying dar an wastin. An Ah specs some ob you wimmin is got two or three coats hangin up at home sides de one whut yous got on, des hangin dar an de moths eatin it up. An dar is four women dat Ah can see settin here widout no coat on. You ought to des look at my wife, she give a good coat to a woman las week an she wuz the proudes thing you eber saw. We dont wast nuthin at my house.

One Monday las fall, a sistah gib me a jah ob string beans to take home an when Ah went back down dar, she axed me effen we had eat dem yit. Ah sa yes, we has eat all we culd ob dem. An she sa, whut you mean by dat. An Ah sa, da wuz so stingy we couldn't eat all ob dem. Ah knowed da wuz stringy when Ah wuz cannin dem, so Ah sot dat jar to one side so Ah culd tell it from de odders. An Ah sa, but we didnt waste nuthin, we chewed de strings outen dem an den de ole oman dried de strings and made de purtiest fluffeyist hen nes you eber seed outen dem. Sum folks is penny wise an pound foolish. De disciples felt dat it wuz a waste to use all ob dat ointment. But in dat particular case it wuz no waste but de trouble wid us is dat effen we sabes anything we use it all on ourselves, an enber think ob de poah. Whut does you think ob some people burnin wheat, an some others starvin, an some people talkin bout plowin up evy third ro ob cotton, an some others gwin naked.

An den dars anuder thing, des think ob de sugar an shorts an cornmeal dat is eider burned up or throad in de creek by de probishion agents. Ah dont believe de Lord will continue to bless a people dat is so wasteful. Suppose dat widder in de lessen had started to scatterin dat meal all ovah de flo, an porin dat ile on her hed fur hair ile. Do you think de Lord would hab kep on furnishin it? No yu don't and I don't nuther. Is we gwine ter jes keap on wastin an wastin whut de Lord gibs us? It looks to me lak de las two years ought to teach people to not waste whut de good Lord blesses dem wid. Why, Ah knows sum chuches an Sunday schools whut wastes lots ob money evy year, by de women gibin de song books to de babies to keep dem from cryin. An anuder thing, des look at de people ridin roun burnin gas. Lots ob church folks will ride roun Sunday after noon an burn five or six gallon ob gas. An dat ebenin when de wife sa she is goin to church, her ole man will sa, Ah aint got nuf gas, an she would sa well, we can walk, an he sa yeah an wear out dem new shoes ob yourn. An den jes look at de lipstick dats used in dis country in a year. It's nuff to paint every church house in dis country two coats. An den jus think, de young men have to eat all ob it. De trouble wid us is dat we waste it on ourselves, but aint got no feelin fur udder folks. Ah nows a man whuts got plenty an libs well, an charged a widder woman five dollars fur sum strawberry plants, an he say he wuz goin to plow dem up.

Now when Ah reads dis poem Ise gwin tur close cause Ahs done talked longer nuff. But befo Ah closes let me sa dis. De churches aint wastin nuthin on their pastor dese days, an Ah do believe dat some folks feels lak da hab thoad de money away when da gibes it tur de preacher.

De good Lord in heben for his throne
Is always lookin down,
An watches de waste dat is gwyn on
In de country an in de town.

De people is wastin an wastin till,
It's almost become a crime
But de biggis waste ob all, my frins,
Is de awful waste ob time.

Jes keep on wastin an wastin an den
Will come a day,
When you will be thankful to de Lord
Fur jes a little time to pray.

Now les stan an be dismis.

IN MEMORY OF O. L. RAY

On February 9, Mr. O. L. Ray closed his eyes in an endless sleep.

For two years his health had been failing. All that loving ones could do was done, but the death angel, beckoned, calling him to that beautiful isle of somewhere. Those that knew him longest loved him best. He was kind to all he knew. God in his love and wisdom saw fit to release him of his suffering. He was in bed only one week, but never murmered against his suffering.

He has from us forever gone, although we will never forget his smiles and pleasant face. So weep not dear ones, for him, who is at rest from the pains and troubles of this world.

He leaves a wife and 10 children to mourn his loss. We can only say that the loved ones, to so live here, to meet him on a better day.

The pallbearers were E. G. and Cary Mullins, J. J. Bice, D. H. Hicks, John Pierce, L. C. Cagle. The large attendance the funeral, showed the attendance at the funeral showed the many friends of the family.

J. C. EDWARDS REPLIES TO REV O. T. HEADLEY

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please give me space for a few words? After reading Rev. Headley's letter, I feel like everybody ought to cheer up. He gives such a wonderful answer as to when will the millennium arrive; saying where he lives a church is either dead or there is preaching every Sunday, good music and worship in which the people take part; and the preacher has something to say and must know how to say it or else get out of the business. What a wonderful place is New England.

It is estimated that the Protestant churches are in debt 135 million dollars. Under the present depression, if they stay in business until they collect that 135 million dollars, they will stay in business a long time. Probably the cranks and fanactics will all be dead or reformed before it is all paid.

Most of the Protestant preachers seem to know what to say when a collection is taken. They most always quote "more blessed to give than to receive." They do a lot of thinking as to how to get a good collection. Some of them figure out just what to say in criticism of Russellites and Rutherfordites. Even the five kinds of Catholics have accused the others of being wrong. The Savior was accused of being wrong. If there is a church or religious class anywhere that is not accused of believing and teaching false doctrine, I have not heard of it.

I had rather be called a crank and fanatic and be right than to be called a P. H. D., L. L. D., or D. D., and be wrong. If people think wrong they are more than apt to act wrong. Many people think Russell and Rutherford teach things which I know they do not believe and teach. Now and then I hear someone say you will have a thousand years to repent after death. People who think they believe and teach such are absolutely mistaken, for they do not teach that people will have two chances in Christ to be saved. In Adam all die; so in Christ all shall be made alive.

Members of any creed who are not doing God's will are not following Christ. Just that sure all man-made churches will go down and be on the wrong side in the hattle of Armageddon. Surely no one who is believing and teaching false doctrine is doing God's will. For that reason all good people should come out of Babylon and learn what is the Lord's will and do His will to the best of their ability, and be in God's organization, and be on the side of the Lord in a great battle that is near—so near that this generation will not pass away until all will be fulfilled. That is spoken of in the the 24th chapter of Matthew.

I have no objection to anyone figuring days and years to while away time for the purpose of trying to learn more about dates and the purposes of God. No doubt many would be more Christ like if they would use more time in studying Bible chronology with the sights and seasons of time.

Russell said the Gentile times would end in 1914 and that a great war would begin; and that would be the begginning of sorrows; and after the war was over the people would go down politically, religiously, socially and financially, and that anarchy would follow. He said many other things that are valuable to all who desire to love the Lord with all their mind, soul and strength.

Paul said without love I am nothing. Those who oppose God's organizations love themselves. There is good reason why we should cheer up, for we see that satan's kingdom is tumbling. We are in the last days. Many are high minded lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God. Many people do not know that the war in heaven has ended.

John the Revelator says woe be unto the inhabitants of the earth, for the devil has come unto you, for he has but a short time. Judge Rutherford explains the prophecy of Daniel and Revelation in such a (nice neat) way that all intelligent people who desire good information should be proud of.

Rev. Headley has reference to some figuring that Russell and Rutherford know nothing about, at least not published. The burning of Babylon is yet in future. Cheer up. The kingdom is the only hope of the world. Each generation of cranks and fanatics has children, and then grandchildren and so on. So the millennium will never come, according to Headley's best answer.

There is a preacher who once lived here. He moved to a place where there is snow and deer. This preacher tells how they live and thrive; and when the millennium will arrive.

It seems to be his special delight to ridicule and belittle a Russelite. He says a Russellite does not know; and for that reason we are learning slow.

All through the winter he is smoking, and knows the writer is only joking. The people go to church every Sunday to get spiritual food to last till Monday.

The people have common sense and reason, and never kill a deer out of season. The people are not hurt by the depression, and never make a public confession.

The preacher hit at a letter written by a Jacksonite; and tried to his a little Russellite. People will know the truth and be better fed when all the cranks and fanatics are dead.

But the trouble is while they are dying their children will be weeping and crying. And while their children are raising more, we will be in as bad fix as before.

Every generation raises a good crop. So I think cranks and fanatics will never stop until the learned prognosticators get up some better commentators.

Now to all who have been thinking and reading, I know his best answer is misleading. All thinking people are ready for excusing one who writes a letter so amusing.—J. C. Edwards, Maplesville, Ala.

BLUE STAIN IN TIMBER

Montgomery, Feb. 23.—Although blue stain in sap lumber is caused by a species of fungi, it does not represent a stage of decay, says Col. Page S. Bunker, state forester. The strength of the wood is not affected by the blue stain. However, conditions such as sufficient moisture and favorable temperatures conducive to the growth of the blue stain also favor the development of various wood destroyers.

Heavily stained material should be carefully examined for signs of decay. Surface growths which are fluffy and glistening, compacted into strands, fan shaped in patches, or definite crusts, denote the presence of wood destroyers. Toad stools and bracket growths are absolutely evidence of decay.

If the signs of the decay producing fungi are absent, the dealer holding blue stained stock can recommend its use for specific purposes where the grain of the wood is not to be given a natural finish. Usually blue stain is accepted in rough lumber, lath, plank and occasionally in dimension stock. When the discolored wood is to be painted, it can be used in the manufacture of frames, sash, doors, trim, finish and mill work.

WEST CHILTON

Everybody busy, just like there was no depression. Farm work going on reasonably well.

The singing at Freeman was rained out the 2nd Sunday afternoon, but we will meet again the 2nd Sunday in March at 2 o'clock p.m. All come Providence has been kind to us in those services for several months. They have been to us, as Bro Dyer has said, "Rifts in the Clouds."

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Clanton, attended the burial of their grandfather here Tuesday.

There is a new store at the Cross Roads near L. G. Posey's. S. N. Waldrop is proprietor.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Lowery came to Mr. Smith's funeral Tuesday.

Died near Union Springs Church on the morning of the 15th after a long illness, W. E. (Jake) Smtih. He lived to extreme old age, between 80 and 90 years old.

Mr. Smith was the last descendent of one of the pioneer families of West Chilton. He will be long remembered for his neighborly kindness. He was never too busy to stop and do a kind act for his fellow man.

He spent his life in West Chilton and is survived by his wife, three sons, and one daughter.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt, assisted by Rev. Dyer. The funeral was attended by a large crowd of his friends. The floral offerings were nice. Burial was at Union Springs, in the shadow of the home of his youth.

When the magistrate asked me how old I was I couldn't remember exactly whether I was 24 or 25.

And what did you say?

Eighteen.

MISS MATTIE WRIGHT DIED

Miss Mattie Wright, age 72, one of the pioneer citizens of Clanton, died at her home here last Sunday night. She was buried Monday afternoon in Clanton cemetery, with Martin in charge. The funeral was conducted at the home by Rev. Haskew, assisted by Rev. Ezell.

Pallbearers were Dr. J. E. Gowan, Dr. T. H. Neighbors, V. J. Elmore, Tom Kemp, Leonard Williams, and Mac Broadhead.

Miss Mattie was a sister of Uncle Billie Wright, who is well known throughout Chilton County.

THOMAS MITCHEL BATES

Thomas Mitchell Bates, age about 61 years, died last Sunday night at St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery. He suffered a sudden attack of heart trouble and was carried to the hospital where he died a short time later. Burial was at Providence in Beat 16 Tuesday afternoon, with Martin in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. W. W. Robinson, assisted by Rev. M. J. Parrish.

Mitch Bates was born and reared in the Providence community. He was a son of the late Moses A. Bates. His first marriage was to Doshie Powell, daughter of A. J. Powell, of Providence. They had one daughter, who is now Mrs. Emmett Singleton, of Route 5.

At the time of his death Mr. Bates was living with his third wife in Montgomery. He spent last week here, going back to Montgomery Friday before his death. He was planning to move back to Clanton to live in a short while.

The Eskimos

While no one knows precisely their origin, many of their features, legends and language indicate that the Eskimos are a primitive American race related to the Indian. The name "Eskimo" means eaters of raw flesh, but they term themselves "Innuit," meaning "people." Although scattered over Alaska, Labrador, Greenland, and Arctic Islands, all speak the same language.

Yes, the chances are you are paying too much, if you are ordering them from a mail order house. People have been coming to our store, and after seeing uor seeds and learning the prices, they have been astounded to learn that they have bought their seeds here at 40 per cent cheaper than they got them from a mail order house. Don't let it happen to you. Give us a chance to show you before you order seeds. We can prove that our seeds are as good as any you can get and the price is far below the mail order houses. The Indolent College Student

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

A prominent university professor broke into the newspapers recently, as professors often will, in an article in which he deplored the indolence and constant misuse of time by the indifferent undergraduate in college today. I gather from his remarks that the college man of today is lazy, unambitous and given almost wholly to pleasure seeking and this in striking contrast to what was true in former years, or when he was himself in college. The student of today has little interest in intellectual things, he claims; he works little at his books and spends his time generally in social and extra-curricular matters.

It is the practice of middle age and old age to exaggerate the sacrifices it made in youth and to enlarge upon the labors it performed. I have heard my older brother relate to his children the herculean labors which he performed when a boy and emphasize the fact that children are not made to work now as he did then. There is some truth in what he says, but the difference is not so great as he now imagines.

I have been a student in three of the largest universities of the country—Illinois, Chicago, and Harvard—and I have had pretty close contact with undergraduate life for many years. There have always been loafers in college and always men who had no serious purpose, and these men were allowed to hang on much longer thirty years ago than they are today. So long as he paid his tuition thirty years ago, little was said.

There is no comparison between the tasks assigned to the undergraduate in college today and those which we were assigned when I was an undergraduate. The student's elementary preparation today is, of course, more thorough, bad as it is, than it ever was, and he is better able to do work, and he does do it better.

At least 80 per cent of the students whom I know today are serious-minded, purposeful, and give quite as serious attention to their studies as they should. These students work harder and longer than we did when I was in college. They read more, they apply themselves over a longer period of time daily.

CANDIDATE FOR

County Treasurer

In the Republican Primary of May 3rd

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

I am announcing my candidacy this week for the County Treasurer's office. It has been the tradition of our party to give two terms to an official if their work was satisfactory, therefore, I am submitting my records and asking for the second term.

I have done the very best I could with my work. The auditor who examined it said that it was the only official account he had ever examined, that exactly balanced—no cash over and no shortage. I also asked the last Grand Jury to compare the records in my office with those in the banks, and they found them to balance.

I have never voted for nor worked for any party except the Republican. I am a member of the State Republican organization, and I have always paid my assessments to help in the county organization.

My office has always been open to the women when they wanted to rest, if they were compelled to come to court, or if they had leisure time in town for any reason, and I have tried to make them as comfortable as possible. During this depression, I have tried to do my "bit" by sharing my work and salary with Republican women and girls.

There will be no "mud slinging" in my campaign, for I believe that we should cooperate in our official duties, and I shall do nothing to create any breach that would be detrimental toward electing a Republican to my office this fall.

It will be impossible for me to call personally to see all the voters, as I try to give the very best possible service in my office, but I want you to keep in mind the fact that I want your vote, and if I am the nominee, I shall continue to try to give service in the office that will help uphold the party's standards, but should I not be the nominee, I shall do all in my power to help elect the person of your choice.

Sincerely yours,
GERTRUDE P. CALLOWAY.

JESSE BAKER

Republican Candidate for

County Treasurer

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

Having been solicited by a great many of my friends, and because I would like to serve the public in that office, I have made up my mind that I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Treasurer of Chilton County in the Primary which will be held on the third day of May.

I have no long statement to make, as I do not feel that it is necessary for several reasons. I will say, first that I have served as County Treasurer jn the past. I am proud to say that my record of service is such that I am proud to point back to it and say that it was the kind of service which I hope to give the people again if the voters see fit to nominate and elect me to the office.

In the second place, I want to say that I am a Republican from away back. My father and forefathers have been among the first people in Chilton County who voted the Republican ticket. So far as my connection with the politics is concerned, I want to say that I lay claim to no affiliation other than as a firm, loyal, honest, and conscientious Republican. I have never countenanced or affiliated with any so-called factions of the Republican party. And if I am nominated and elected as your servant again in the Treasurer's office, I have only one promise to make, and that is this: I will first of all endeavor to serve all the people of the county in the manner they are entitled to; politically, I will continue to be a Republican, and will always endeavor to co-operate with the other Republican officials of the county to the end that our party may be strengthened and perpetuated for service to our people in the years of the future.

Now, that is all at this time. I will be glad for all Republicans to consider my candidacy, and if you can support me at the Primary and lend me your influence among your friends, I tell you now I will appreciate it most sincerely.—Jesse Baker, Clanton, Ala.

THEY DON'T CHANGE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

We change very little after we are beyond the high-school age. I may have emphasized this fact at one time or another before, but it is more and more impressed upon me as time goes on. Between fourteen and eighteen our habits are pretty definitely formulated, and if they change it is generally only in degree. Only a revolution or a crisis will effect any material change.

I used not to think so. Going to college or getting married, or taking up a business of some sort, I imagined would work miracles in the development or the modification of a man's character. I see now that none of these things makes very much difference.

I hadn't seen Maguire for more than thirty-five years until he dropped upon me a few weeks ago. He was the wittiest, cleverest man in my class, cheerful, happy, ready for a lark and ready to laugh at a good joke even if it were on himself. He did his work easily and well; he had a keen insight into human nature and a dependable judgment in critical matters. He was clean-minded and reverent. When he decided to enter the legal profession we all thought he had chosen wisely, and then having finished law he suddenly decided to enter the priesthood of the Roman church. I hadn't cast him in that role, but the qualities he had revealed when we were young fellows are admirable qualities for a leader of the church.

He had not been in my office ten minutes until I saw that, priest that he is, he has not changed excepting to strengthen the fine qualities which he had revealed when we were boys together. He still has the happy outlook upon life and the keen sense of humor which is so characteristic of the Irish.

Making "Aggies" for America's Boys

Springtime is marble time for young America, and as it approaches, R. W. Walker of Los Angeles is very busy. He is said to be the only agate marble cutter in this country. The onyx is mined in Mexico in four-ton blocks that will produce about 11,000 agates each. These blocks are cut into ⅞-inch slabs and then cubed and put into a rotary grinder that grinds out 200 at a time. A second machine polishes them with tin oxide and they are finished after being calipered for size. The output is about 6,000 a day.

MUST ANNOUNCE BY MARCH FIRST

Provisions For Primary Law is Explained By J. Z. Mims, Circuit Clerk

Editor Union-Banner:

Just a word to the Republicans of Chilton County.

It appears from Section 12 of an Act to Provide for and regulate and control primary elections in Alabama, approved February the 25th, 1931, that any person desiring to submit his name to the voters in a primary election shall, not later than March the 1st, next preceeding the holding of such primary election, file his declaration of candidacy in the form prescribed by the governing body of the party with the chairman of the County Executive Committee if he be a candidate for a county office.

For the information of those who are contemplating running for office in the coming primary, I would like to call your attention to this fact and insist that you file your notice with Mr. J. N. Dennis, Clanton, Ala., chairman of the Chilton County Republican Executive Committee, not later than March the 1st, 1932.

As I remember, it has been the custom heretofore for the County Executive Commitee to meet and designate a day when announcements shall cease. Let us not get confused over this for the new law fixes the time limit when you may file your notice with the Chairman of the Executive Committee, and this year for this primary it is not later than March 1st, 1932.

If you have not fully made up your mind as to whether or not you will make the race get busy and make it in time to comply with the law. The field seems to be open yet and plenty of room for all who feel they would enjoy the pleasure of making the race for any office for which the election will be held. There seems to be a lot of talk and prospects, so let us get into action in plenty of time.

Yours for the success of the Republican party in Chilton County, in the State, and in the Nation.—J. Z. Mims.

Huge CLEARANCE Sale of USED CARS

We must dispose of our entire stock of used cars and trucks by March 10th. Successful bankers liquidate all loans once a year. It is just as necessary for automobile dealers to clean house once a year by disposing of all used cars. So this is truly a clearance or liquidation sale. All cars listed in this sale will be sold out at cost or below.

Never before have you ever been offered quality cars as such low prices. We really mean to clean house, so come in and buy the car or truck you have intended buying in the spring.

Cars will be sold on terms of one-third to 40 per cent down, balance on GMAC plan. We will take in your old car at liberal price as part of down payment.

RAISE MORE HOGS

St. Louis, Mo.—That Pig hides make good feed bags has been a well known axiom in the corn belt for years and one which promises to gain in popularity in Dixie with the increasing crops of home grown grain and low priced cotton, according to E. H. Hamel, head of the Hog Department of the Purina Mills.

"With year around pastures, feed crops easily grow, every farm family in the South should be able to grow its own meat," Hamel thinks. "Especially should it be emphasized in view of the fact that the meat bill for the average family will average around $200. This is equal in value to six or eight bales of cotton depending of course on the price of cotton."

Referring to an article by O. B. Taylor, vice-president of the Merchants Bank and Trust Co., Jackson, Miss., in the January number of the Bankers Service Bulletin entitled, "Profits in Home Grown Feeds," Mr. Hamel agreed heatily with the statement that there is an abundance of home grown feed this year in the South which must be turned to milk, meat, and eggs at a profit to help offset the low price of cotton.

O. B. Taylor points out in his article that it takes 12 bushels of corn to make 100 pounds of pork. With 40 cents it would cost $4.80 to produce 100 pounds of pork. With 50 pounds of balanced protein supplement, and 5 bushels of corn the same 100 pounds can be produced for around $3.20. This is $1.60 less than if corn was fed without the protein supplement.

Mr. Hamel says that today in the South there are rare opportunities for producing low cost pork for the home consumption, and that the big grain crop of the South, if fed with a balanced protein supplement such as Purina Pig and Hog Chow, can be marketed profitably in the form of hogs. This sort of feeding would in a big way help to make up for the low cost of cotton—the South's largest crop.

Pig and Hog Chow, a supplement to lower the cost of making pork with corn, is available at the store of J. L. Ruffin in Clanton.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

The Ladies' Guild of Thorsby will hold their monthly social on Thursday afternoon of this week, at the home of Mrs. M. J. Soberg.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler had as their week end guest, their granddaughter, Dorothy, from Atlanta, and for Sunday their son, Clarence, with his wife and two daughters, from Montgomery.

On Tuesday afternoon Miss Jenkins, accompanied by Mrs. Thornburg, went to Birmingham to take Miss Leech from the Baptist Hospital, where she has been for upwards of two weeks, and is now so far recovered as to be moved to the private home of Miss Robinson, an old friend, for convalescence.

Mr. Each, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Peterson, expect to leave for West Florida Thursday of this week, and return Saturday, bringing with them Mrs. Each and Mrs. Gerald, who have been down there several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mixson and children returned Monday night from a visit to Mrs. Mixson's mother at Union Springs.

Mrs. W. F. Lowe, of Birmingham, who has been spending two weeks at the N. Laurell home in Thorsby, while her mother was in Brmingham, returned to her home Sunday evening.

Miss Ruth Maddox, who has been spending several months with Mrs. Bob Smith, her Aunt, in Thorsby, returned Sunday to her home in Clanton.

Frances Wilson left Sunday to visit friends in Birmingham.

The Union prayer meeting, which was announced to be held at the Baptist church in Thorsby last week, was postponed to Wednesday night this week, at 7 o'clock, because the electric lights were out of commission.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Piper had as their guests Sunday, Mrs. John Fowler, Mrs. C. E. Croker, and Mrs. H. H. Smith, all from Bessemer.

Mr. Tom Kemp and daughter, of Clanton, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Merchant.

Sidney Davenport, who has been ill at the home of his sister, Miss Hattie Davenport, has so far recovered as to return to Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Horton had as Sunday guests, two of Horton's brothers, C. G. Horton, of Moulton, District Masonic lecturer, enroute to Grand Lodge meetings in Montgomery, and Paul Horton, a bird dog trainer, of Hillsboro, enroute to a dog show in Selma.

Mrs. Martin Peterson spent a day last week with Mrs. Connatser.

Miss Stella Martin of Selma spent Friday of last week with her sister, Mrs. Conway, in Thorsby.

Miss Clara Hayes was a guest of Mrs. Martin Peterson last Friday.

Mrs. W. F. Blood had as guests on Monday, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Williams, of Birmingham.

Mrs. Blood also had as visitors later in the day, her sister, Mrs. R. B. Tucker and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nichols and Mrs. Lee, formerly of Thorsby.

Miss Bonnie Honeycutt of Atlanta spent the week end in Thorsby visiting relatives.

Mr. John Mims, who recently suffered the loss of an eye by accident, and went to a Birmingham Hospital for treatment, is at home again.

The cutting of a tree which accidentlly fell on a transformer, put Thorsby electric and power system out of business for several hours last Wednesday afternoon.

Activities of Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association

Carload shipments of crate material is now arriving and is being distributed to the growers. Some 15,000 crates will be unloaded to begin with, with 10,000 more to follow later. If no freeze takes the berries the outlook for the season so far points to an early crop, with shipments to begin soon after March 15. The patches are beginning to show heavy blooming, and to have a freeze now would be a considerable loss.

Mrs. Russell Peterson spent Friday with her mother, Mrs. Bean.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marcus have moved from the Meade home to the old Charlie Peterson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall will move into the old Meade home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Petersen and Norman spent Sunday in Montgomery.

Miss Naemi Turnquist of Selma spent Sunday and Monday in Thorsby.

Mr. J. Bice was taken to Hillman Hospital in Birmingham Saturday, where he is taking treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Blood entertained friends at a bridge party Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin won high score prize.

Miss Edna Childress entertained the Worth While Pals Sewing Circle Tuesday afternoon, with Miss Mattie Scott in charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meade, Helen Louise, with Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall, and Mrs. Russell Peterson, spent Wednesday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meade and Helen Louise, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall spent the week end with their mother, Mrs. Bean.

Mrs. Roy Raybon and children left Saturday for their home in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Peterson spent the week end in Birmingham.

Miss Edna Raybon is spending several weeks with her brother and family, Roy Raybon, of Birmingham.

The Annual Declamatory Contest of the Thorsby Institute was held February 20 at 7:30. The following program was rendered:

FROM REV. W. H. CULP

On the 5th day of January I was injured by a falling limb and have been deprived of being out much. I am thankful that the Lord has seen it best for me to live during this time. Quite a number of my church folks from Pleasant Hill have visited me, and brought me nice flowers, in which I can't express my gratitude for I wish to thank the good people of Mt. Pisgah church for their warm visit and the flowers, and the surprise pounding. All of these make us very happy.

I wish to thank the good people of our home church for their visits and assistance, also thanking the ministers for filling our church appointments.

Thanking the Editor for printing these few broken remarks.

We will have services at Mt. Pisgah next Sunday. Sunday school at 10 a.m. and preaching at 11, C. E. at 6:30 and preaching at 7:15.—W. H. Culp, pastor.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR FATHER, MR. O. L. RAY

On Thursday morning, February 9, the death angel visited our home and carried away our loving father, to a better world, where there is no more pain or sorrow. He was forty two years of age, and he was a good church member. He wore a smile to greet everyone. He loved the Lord and we know he is at rest in the beautiful heaven above, where there is no more pain or sorrow, but will rest forevermore. He will walk the golden streets, where the Savior bids us come, and we are praying to meet him up in heaven when our work here on earth is done.

He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and ten children, six boys and four girls.—Two daughters.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

We have now come to the celebration of the bicentennial birthday of Gearge Washington, America's greatest patriot. As we approach this event, it would seem practially everything has been said that can be, concerning the patriotism, the sacrifices and the achievements of this great man. America's gratitude toward this greatest of patriots is perhaps now keener than it has ever been before. As the years roll by the greatness of his wisdom becomes more manifest.

We might wish that the year 1932, marking the bicentennial of Washington's birth, could have brought us happier times than seem probable now. But despite the trouble which beset us, we shall go fearlessly ahead throwing off the gloom which at times envelopes us, struggling forward more bravely as we pause to consider the tremedous handicaps through which George Washington struggled to victory. When we recall the terrible winter at Valley Forge an the equally terrible on at Morristown, when we remember that the thirteen struggling colonies were beset by the enemies from within and without, had little wealth and no credit, and a few developed resources, and when we consider that despite the tremendous handicaps, Washington and the other patriots of his day, relying on the justness of their cause, and trusting in providence, fought on to victory, surely America's difficulties of the present day seem small and unimportant by comparison.

Now we have great wealth, boundless natural resources, a great population of intelligent men and women, and a standard of living that is the admiration and the envy of the rest of the world. Surely unless it has lost the moral fiber of the forefathers, America will come back to even greater heights of prosperity and achievements.

The wisdom of Washington becomes more manifest to us today when we read his farewell address and consider the perils against which he warned us, perils which seem to be as real now as in the time when the first President was retireing to private life. The advice to beware of foreign entanglements has been followed, with little variation ever since it was given, and it is only when we have strayed that we have suffered. Surely no one today will have the hardihood to say that the advice was not well given.

One hundred years ago, on February 22, in the city of Washington, the eloquent Daniel Webster delivered an address comemorating the centennial of Washington's birth. Speaking of Washington's farewell address, he said:

"I hardly know how a greater service of that kind could now be done the community, than by a renewed and wide diffusion of that admirable paper, and an ernest invitation to every man in the country to repurse and consider it. Its political mixims are invaluable; its exhortation to love of country and to brotherly affection among citizens, touching; and the solomity with which it urges the observance of moral duties, and impress the power of religious obligation gives it the higher character of truly disinterested, sincere parental advice. vice.

"The domestic policy of Washington found it's pole star in the avowed objects of the Constitution itself. He sought so as to administer that Constitution, as to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, prome the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty. Those were objects interesting in the highest degree, to the whole country, and his policy empraced the country."

There is little more to be said concerning George Washington. Little has been left unsaid. May his spirit continue to hover over us through every peril which may beset the United States.

GO SLOW

It is now known that federal taxes must be increased to take care of the shrinking national income, and that economy is in order. Yet in spite of this, we see every day or so, bills introduced for the expenditure of hundreds of million dollars, with the excuse that such expenditure will help lift the depression.

It is not to be forgotten that every dollar appropriated and spent will have to be raised from the American people by taxation. For this reason it behooves Congress to move slowly in making appropriations. Fortunately the present Congress seems to be in fairly sane mood so far as the expenditure of the public money is concerned. A continuance of that mood will go a long way toward dissipating the idea prevalent in many quarters that Congress is a nuisance.

Horses are staging a comeback on the farms in North Dakota. Well if the horse can come back maybe the rest of us can too, if we will only use a little horse sense.

Of course the Chinese won't worry too much about Shanghai. They know that the League of Nations will take care of the situation.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

The family was seated at the dinner table on Sunday and the morning worship came up for discussion. The father criticized the sermon, the mother criticised the music, saying that it was horrid, the grown daughter criticised the urshers, the stuffy room and the pep of the crowd. She wanted it to go off with a bang like a dance hall. There was a small boy sitting at the table, listening in on all that was being said. He was just at that school age, when they believe in fair play, and when he caught a moment of pause in the conversation, he chimed in, "Dad I think it was a bully good show for a penny." This boy had observed that his kin did not pray, they did not sing and when the collection plate came around, he saw his father clip in a penny. It behooves all of us to first ask the question, "What did I do to make the service better?" There is a lot of criticised services when the critic invested a penny, or less in the service.

A sad death occured in Montgomery a few weeks ago. A boy near the age of ten was suffocated in a cave that he had dug. Just to the north of our capitol city where there are many tall banks of sand, and this place is a great resort for frolicsome yeuth. This boy had gone to these banks and had tunneled out a cave for himself. He invited other boys to go with him, and enjoy his cave. The invitation was accepted and the three boys entered the cave together. It looked safe. It had been there for days and no dirt had fallen in. It was a good place to play and into it they went. While far under the embankment, the roof gave way, and down came tons of dirt. Two boys were partially covered with dirt and pulled themselves free, but the boy who had dug the cave was farther in than the others and was buried alive. When he was recovered he was dead. There are men and women in every county of our great state, who are digging caves of pleasure. The cave may be a Sunday picnic, it may be a dance hall, it may be a drinking and smoking party, it can be any kind of worldly pleasure. When the cave is dug, invitations are issued. The sad part about it is that thousands of our young people are accepting the invitation to play in these caves. We admit that the ball room looks to be a great place for a jolly good time, but you had better watch. There often falls into the dance halls tons and tons of filth, drinking, impurity, low ideals and the soul is crushed. Not every one that goes into the cave of pleasure is killed, but I want to tell you that it is a mighty dangerous place for you to play.

I stood beside the anvil of a blacksmith and watched him as he went about his work. He had some welding to do, and I noticed that he went to a sack and brought out a special kind of charcoal. This was placed into the furnace over a few smoldering embers. He placed his hand on the bellows and soon the dead embers were coming to life. In a very few moments they were a white heat. I remarked to the blacksmith, "I wish that I could blow the currents of the Spirit through my church membership and heat them into a burning glow like you have done to those dead coals." The man with the hammer made this sensible remark, "You could parson, if you had the right kind of coal." No one can accuse the pastors of your town of not working the bellows in your churches. The current of the Spirit is sweeping through every church in our town and county, but the charcoal, the membership of our churches are soggy with the world, and the pastor may do his best but there is no burning glow. Every church in our county should be at a white heat, but we are not. We are unable to produce welding heat because of the inferior quality of the membership composing our church. If we were the fine Christians that we shoud be, it would be no trouble for us to melt the hard hearted sinners and weld them to Christ.

I was passing a home not many days ago and I saw the lady of the house out in a weed patch following an old hen with a bunch of chicks. The lady had a brush in her hand and she was shooing the strayed hen back to the yard. This mother hen had decided that a neighbors flower bed was a good place for exercise, and she had gone there with her brood. With a brush, she was shooing them back home. Not many people are experts with a "brush," but it is a pity that we do not have more who know how to shoo folks away from places where they do not belong. I noticed that if the lady crowded the hen that she would lift her feathers, and her little brood would scatter elsewhere. It takes patience and time to get that straying bunch back where they belong. The same thing is true of men and women, boys and girls, when they are astray. It takes time and patience to shoo erring youth back to God and back to our Father's home. We become impatient because they have gone over the fence, and then we crowd them as we are trying to get them back where they belong. Take the "brush" of authority, and follow slowly, patiently, kindly and you will be able to shoo them back home. Now I do wish that we did not have so many human hens and cockrels who insist on going over the fence with their brood. Parents should stay where they belong and then the little ones will not go where they do not belong. In doing right yourself, you make it easy for your children to do right.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Super Salesman—Just to start the old column off in a good humor this week, our first article will be about a man who is qualified as a super-salesman. And you would never guess who it is. None other than Ed Edwards. Now Ed has been known as an extra good cement worker, and has built quite a reputation in this line of work, but I'll bet you never suspected him of possessing extraordinary sales ability, too. But such is evidently the case. And I have the word of one of the most prominent men in this town as the evidence. Here is the story. When times got a bit tight, and jobs became scarce, Ed got busy on his own hook and made up a nice little cement bowl contraption, and called it a bird bath. And then Ed proved that he was just as good at the selling game as he was at construction—he went right out and sold that bird bath. Imagine a guy being good enough to sell a "bird bath," especially during such a period of depression as has been our experience in the immediate past. If that doesn't qualify him as a master in sales ability, I'd like to know what it would take. When the incident is mentioned in Ed's presence he just grins good-natured like, and mumbles something about "you can't keep a good man down." And the man who bought the bird bath grins, too, and agrees with Ed—in fact, he believes that Ed has the making of a first class sales manager in his system.

Kinked or Unkinked—"Kinked or unkinked," that is the question. Up until a few years ago, beauty parlors were few and far between. But of late, these institutions have come into their own, and enjoyed a good paying business. And here is the funny part. The "cullud sistren," seeing their chance to break into the moneymaking racket, began to set up beauty parlors for members of their own race. And now the question of whether a woman will have her hair "kinked" or "unkinked" at the beauty parlor is not so much the question of taste as it once was. Now, it is more a question of color, as one magazine puts it—generally, the white woman visits the parlor to have the kinks put in her hair, while the "cullud sister" makes a like visit to have hers unkinked. Ain't that sump'n?

Woco Pep's Turnip Patch—Maybe you did not know it, but there is a turnip patch right smack in front of the courthouse here in Clanton, and, believe it or not, that patch is right on one of the busiest corners in town. It is in the little triangular space in the corner of the Woco Pep Service Station. I guess a turnip patch is about the last thing you would expect to see right in the middle of town, isn't it? "Mun" Wyatt, proprietor of the Woco station says, "Drive in—if we can't fill you up with one thing, we'll use another. We now have gas, oil, air, drinks, grease, and pretty soon we can furnish turnips, too." That little three cornered plot of ground has been pretty busy ever since the station was opened several years ago. I have seen hay raised on it. A lemon tree grew up and produced lemons (fine ones) there; and now turnips are growing there. Let's hope they don't start raising cotton there too.

The Big Race is On—Well, we've got around to it, at last. The "weeding out" campaign is on. They're dropping in right along now, and announcing for the different offices which are to be filled this year. At the present rate, there will soon be a bunch of starters. You know, these political races boil down until they are, in a way, just like horse races or automobile races. At the start, they all look about the same—one appears to have about as much chance as the other. As the race progresses, there will be one or two will begin to lead the field; pretty soon the race settles down to a question as to which of the leaders will really win. Of course, only one can win in any one race, and that's where the big thrill comes. Too, in racing events, sometimes starters known as "boxers" are put in the race; these are not expected to win; but one or two of them may serve the purpose of keeping a dangerous contender "boxed" or held away from the rail, giving another headliner a better chance of winning. It's an old trick ni racing circles, but it seldom fails.

Try, Try Again—You have heard the old saying: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again." At least, that's a pretty good way to go about this business of getting elected to office. That's what C. D. (Charlie) Duke has decided. Charlie was in the race for Commissioner from the Fourth District the last time, and was defeated. But that didn't cool Charlie a bit. He was beaten, but not whipped. Instead of giving up, Charlie has come back for the same office again, and from the zip and snap with which he is waging his fight, somebody will have to be good to beat him. I believe I know Charlie Duke about as well as the next one, and I really believe he would make a good commissioner. He is a good business man, honest and straightforward, and one who, I believe, would be willing to consider competent advice in the execution of his duties, in case he was elected. Charlie proceeds on the theory that "two heads are better than one, even though they both be sheep heads," and that is a pretty good procedure to follow. That does not mean, at all, that Charlie would allow Dick, Tom and Harry to dictate to him, but that he would listen to all advice, then take the good and discard the bad. And that's the kind of men Chilton County needs to elect to take care of County affairs.

Oil Tank Land—I had occasion to visit the storage tanks of one of the larger oil companies operating in this vicinity recently, and I certainly got an eye full. Several companies have bunches of tanks like these, and I suppose all of them together keep quite a lot of gas and oil stored around Clanton, making this little town one of the biggest gas supply centers to be found anywhere close. But to get back to the visit and the surprise. Just to drive by a bunch of these storage tanks, they don't look so big, but just stop and have a good look at them some time. As I began scrambling around and up and down ladders to get over and under the big tanks, their enormous size became more and more impressive. Finally, I couldn't hold it any longer, so I asked the capacity of one of the big fellows; 20,000 gallons, was the answer. I thought over this a moment and then fell to counting the tanks in sight from that place. Gee whiz! I never imagined that Clanton had grown to be such a center of distribution for petroleum products. It is enormous. Just goes to show you how things can grow up right under your nose, without notice.

DON'T WEAKEN NATIONAL DEFENSE

With the renewal of difficulties in the far east in a critical form and the growing conviction that militarism is rapidly developing in Japan, more and more people are beginning to view with doubt many of the proposals which, advocated for the sake of economy, are believed to endanger the strength and efficieny of the army and navy of the United States. America will never engage in an offensive war, but every American believes that we should maintain an adequate defense.

Several proposals, supposedly in the interest of economy, have been advanced. One of these would consolidate the War and Navy Departments on the theory that this would make for economy. That there is grave official doubt of this can be gathered from the words of secretary of the navy, Adams, when he appeared before the House Committee on Expenditures a few days ago. In part, Secretary Adams is quoted as saying:

"No other country of any size in the world has adopted such a scheme as this. The presumption throughout the world is strong that no economy can be effected. England has tried it twice, and the case here should first be proved against the presumption. Separate set-ups are necessary, the whole history of management shows.

"The man in charge of either service must have the power to act quickly and act with authority. By creating a 'higher-up' this could not be done. Put another man over the chief of the army or navy and you ruin his efficiency. You are going in the wrong direction on the theory of economy. It is wrong.

"Think of the political organization that one man would have. You are creating a tremendous power against the principle of the government."

Doubtless Congress will go slow before inaugurating so radical a change as this in our defensive machinery.

Another proposal calling for drastic reduction of the army personnel, and this, too, has been objected to by supporters of the administration who believe that such a course would be not only false economy but a real danger to the security of the country. Disapproval of such a step was made recently, according to newspaper reports, by secretary of War Hurley, when he called on Speaker Garner. The proposals call not only a reduction in the number of officers in the army but reducing the number of enlited men 8,000, suspending the Citizen's Military Training Camps and drastically curtailing the Reserve Officers' activities. Such action according to secretary Hurley, would be a grave mistake in the present state of world feeling.

The American people favor economy in government but not at the expense of the national safety and our legislative officials would do well to keep this in mind.

Life in Russia is said to be just one five year plan after another.

Thirty men were killed in a mine explosion in Mexico last week.

The House of Representatives at Montgomery, passed the local option bill last Friday.

By Their Fruits Ye Shall Know Them—Yes, sir, "by their fruits ye shall know them," and it's a good thing, too, that such is the case, especially in regard to the two young men which I intend to mention presently. If you should be reading over the roster of the Chicago White Sox, and run over the name of Minter C. Hayes, I'll bet you'd never think of Jack Hayes, of Clanton—very few, if any, would. And if you should scan over the Cleveland Indian list and find Mr. Bruce M. Connatser, maybe you wouldn't connect the name with our own Broadus Connatser, but such is the case. Yep, our boys are to ramble in new pastures this year. Jack Hayes is expected to hold down second base for Chicago this year, instead of picking up splinters on Washington's bench. And Cleveland baseball fans are jubilant over Cleveland's acquisition of Connatser to do their first-basing this year. We, here in Clanton, of course, will be pulling for our boys "under the big tent." Jack left the first part of this week for the training field at Mineral Wells, Texas, and Connotser leaves next week for New Orleans to meet the rest of the Cleveland club for training. I expect to try to make some kind of an arrangement this year to keep in touch with the progress of the teams these boys are with, so I san give you a little dope from time to time as to just how they are getting along. Look for it soon.

Glimpses—Out for a ride—whoa!—there's a house, right smack in the middle of the road—guess I'll detour. Two or three guys are bunched up, talking matters over—looks like a regular bee hive—sounds that way, too—buzz, buzz, buzz. There goes the siren, announcing a fire—the usual rush to the middle of the street—you'd think the sidewalk was hot all of a sudden—how foolish. Red Wagoner and Jack Hayes in a hot golf game—Red can't see $9.00 difference in Jack's $10.00 club and his own $1.00 one—I can't either. Emmett Powell in town—makes me think of old times again—and there is his brother, Oce—must be a family reunion. T traveling tie salesman comes into view—got enough ties in his arms to dress up the whole town. I smell hash and onions frying. So long.—Man in the Moon.

Walter Clark, Show Man

Walter Clark is a circus bill poster. He goes out with a circus every season. In winter time when the show is not on the road, he stays with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vanderslice, in Stumps Hills. During his winter stay in this county he frequently visits Clanton. On a recent trip to town, he was impressed by the new traffic signal on our main street. When he got back home he sent us a poem which he picked up from somewhere, as follows.

The "GO" Sign

Sometimes I get to thinkin' life is like a traffic cop,
Who tells you when you ought to go and when you've got to stop.
There's folks that won't admit it, but I guess they really know
That it's best to keep movin' when the sign says "Go"!
There's enough work to furnish ever mother's son a share,
So get your pick and shovel, 'cause there ain't no time to spare
And the cop ain't got no patience with the man that's movin' slow.
Better keep up with the traffic when the sign says "Go"!
Don't waste your time a-cussin' 'cause your snubbed again by luck
Remember his twin brother who goes by the name of pluck
Say, there's a little fellow you really ought to know,
And you'll find him right beside you when the sign says "Go"!
When some guy walks around you in his brand new coat and pants,
And a hat and tie to match 'em—has he had a better chance?
Well, it's two to one he hasn't, and besides, you wouldn't know
If you didn't keep on movin' when the sign says "Go"!
To keep your pace with work you've got to look him in the eye,
And never bat an eyelid, but agree to do or die!
Then you'll have no grounds for worry and no blame for movin' slow
And be smilin' from the front ranks when the sign says "Go"!
It's well to bear in mind the fact that this old traffic cop
Some day is gonna turn his sign for you and bid you stop.
And where you'll spend your latter days and what you'll have to show
Depends on how you're movin' when the sign says "Go"!

Who Wants These Jobs?

Last week announcement was made of the American Legion's program to aid the unemployed in and around Clanton. Lonza Robinson, of the Robinson Machine Shop, was appointed Employment Officer by Commander Woodson. Now comes Lonza and reports that he has listed several jobs, but has not had any applications from anybody to do such jobs. That's odd, isn't if, especially since we hear so much these days about unemployment and depression. Looks like the Legion is right in its presumption that somebody ought to do something to bring the jobless into contact with the jobs.

Marvin Marcus Back Here

Marvin Marcus, son of Dr. T. J. Marcus, has come back to Clanton, after an absence of several years, most of which time he spent in and around Memphis. Marvin is a sign painter by trade. For the past three years he has been engaged in the advertising and sales promotion business. He expects to open an office in Clanton and hang out his shingle for business here. His many friends are glad to welcome him back to the native heath.

W. F. Broadhead Visitor Here

Mr. W. F. Broadhead, of Birmingham, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. Mr. Broadhead is business partner with J. B. Tiffin in the Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Co., of Clanton. While here Mr. Broadhead expressed great satisfaction with the sale of Sellers Kitchen Cabinets, which was put on at the store in Clanton, terminating last Saturday. The goal for this sale was fifty cabinets. Mr. Tiffin says "we came so close to selling our fifty that we are perfectly satisfied with the results." Mr. Broadhead is a native of Chilton County, and has many friends who are always glad to see him here.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

JURY GIVES COTTON CO-OP CLEAN BILL

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 23—A clean bill was given the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association by the Montgomery County Grand Jury following an investigation made under instruction from Judge Leon McCord, who said in his charges to the jury that "it is current on the streets that the concern defruded the members."

"We have endeavored to give special attention to the particular matters mentioned in your honor's charge," the Grand Jury report said. "We find no evidence that the cot-association has gambled on the board unless the holding of cotton for better prices be called gambling.

"We find at times cotton has been sold without direct authorization from the parties who delivered the cotton to the Association, but in all cases that have come to our attention the ransacions have been handled seemingly in accordance with the rules of the Association. and apparently in accordance with law and custom.

"The evidence before us indicates that in some cases members of the Association may have been defrauded; but this was due to the acts of a former officer of the Association against whom indictments have been returned, and the evidence shows that the association has settled with members so defrauded in all cases where legitimate claims against the Association have been presented.

"We further find that the books and records of the Association have been audited at least once a year by a firm of auditors, who we understand rank high in their profession."

FARM BUREAU FIGHTS GAMBLING ON COTTON

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 23—Limitation of gamblnig of cotton exchanges grows nearer in every day's session of the seventy-second Congress, reports Chester H. Gray, farm bureau Washington representative to E. L. Deal, executive secretary of the Alabam Farm Bureau Federation.

"We are making efforts to try to eliminate undue speculation in farm crops, principally cotton and grains, Mr. Gray explained. "Organized agriculture's bill, sponsored by Chairman Haugen is now the subject of deliberation in executive sessions of the House Committee on Agriculture." Mr. Gray believes that the measure will soon be reported favorable by the committee.

"It appears," he said "that the bill will soon be out of the committee with a favorable report, with conditions set out in it that will make it a bit tougher for short sellers and other manipulators on the exchanges to buy and sell products which they neither have nor desire to possess."

Regulation of future exchanges is only one of the many important planks in the national farm bureau legislative program on many points of which it has already met with success at this session of congress. Another plank calls for amendment of the agricultural marketing act to make it more effective in the control of surpluses of farm crops.

KUDZU IS VALUABLE CROP FOR ALABAMA

Planting of kudzu this spring is being advocated by county demonstration agents and also by J. C. Lowery, extension argonomist at Auburn. The best season for planting is from late February to late March.

Last spring Alabama farmers planted 500,000 kudzu crowns. Most of them were planted in furrows or in holes about 10 feet apart in each direction. To produce crowns for later planting several farmers planted small areas above rock dams or similar areas.

Kudzu has been endorsed in strong terms by the experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Director M. J. Funchess says to the farmers, "You can't go wrong in planting it."

It is a legume which can be used for producing hay, averaging more than 2 tons a acre, the feeding value of which is slightly better than alfalfa. It produces abundantly; it is a soil builder and a pasture crop. It is especially valuable as a grazing crop during dry weather in the summer and fall; and is also valuable as a green feed for poultry. Poultrymen cut it and feed it as it is needed.

Mr. Lowery and the county agents are recommending that farmers get good crowns and plant them properly after they are dug. Last spring the supply of crowns was inadequate and the same may be true again this year. Next year many more should be available from plantings of a year ago.

MOVE TO AID AGRICULTURE GETS WIDESPREAD APPROVAL

The move to restore real farm prosperity in Alabama through cooperation of industry, business and agriculture and the organization of a livestock credit bank is declared by many to be one of the most outstanding and progressive steps that has been taken in Alabama in many years.

Hundreds of workers in all walks of life in all sections of the state are expressing their gratification and appreciation that business men and farmers have joined together for the advancement of all groups. They declare that "When agriculture is prosperious that business will prosper and that when farmers suffer all groups suffer."

Daily newspapers and many weekly papers have voiced their approval of the cooperative movement in strong language.

"It means the dawning of a new day in Alabama when the business man and the farmer of the state stand up shoulder to shoulder and attack their problems with unity of purpose and a spirit of mutual helpfulness" says one editor. The same feeling is expressed by most of the editors.

STORRS WANTS COTTON USED INSTEAD OF JUTE

Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture and industries, has written United States senators and congressmen from Alabama urging them to support bill, H. B. 5612, which places the post office department in position to use cotton twine instead of jute."

"It is my information that while jute is cheaper per pound ordinarily that cotton goes much further and is equally as cheap in the long run. The amount of twine used by the post office department would certainly be a large field for low grade cotton. I would appreciate it if you could see your way clear to support this bill," Storrs wrote.

ENCOURAGE PLANTING OF BETTER COTTON

County Agent Stapp, has received the following letter from E. L. Deal, executive secretary of Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, relative to the movement to encourage the planting of better cotton in Alabama:

You are no doubt aware of the fact that considerable meritorious work has been done in Alabama toward encouraging the planting of better coton seed in an effort to improve the quality of cur cotton. We believe this movement is one to which all public-spirited agencies can well afford to give full vigorous support.

Recently Benjamin Russell, prominent citizen and cotton mill owner of Alexander City, said, "Supplying the mills with this better cotton would result in a gain in price received by Alabama farmers and in a savings of transportation charges to Alabama cotton mills of around $5,000,000 yeearly." We believe this estimate is somewhat low and that the figures should perhaps be around $7,500,000.

The attached statement, prepared by our department of information, shows that this $5,000,000 or $7,500,000 is almost within our grasp. If the work that has already been done can be followed up, there is every reason to believe that 1933 or 1934 will find Alabama growing cotton stapling below 7-8 inch.

Alabama farmers now have on hand at least 80,000 bushels of improved seed. We feel sure that you will use whatever promotional and educational forces at your command to help us in seeing that these good seed are planted and that the seed produced are saved pure again next fall.

ADS IS NEWSPAPERS WILL PAY FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 23—With the farmers diversifying their crops and offering additional products for sale an enlarged opportunity for advertising of farm products has arisen. By advertising in the local papers, farmers and farm women can find markets for their products, thereby converting them into cash, said P. O. Davis of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn.

Classified ads should be effective but some may wish display ads. Editors will be glad to confer with any farmer as to the best type of advertising for the service needed.

The addition of other market products produced on the farm and in the home means that the farm people need to give more attention to the business of selling and the local newspaper is an excellent medium for such a purpose, Mr. Davis added.

POULTRY

EGGS ARE STORED FOR BETTER PRICE

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 23—Because of low prices Alabama farmers are placed eggs in cold storage for sale in late summer and early fall when the egg market usually reaches a peak, reports J. B. Sylvest, manager of the produce department of the Aabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association.

Last year producers stored 4,922 cases of eggs in this way. "This project is several years old and farmers have always received from 4 to 10 cents per dozen over prevailing markets at the time of storage," Sylvest said.

"The movement was started not only to hold eggs for better prices, but also to remove the usual seasonal surpluses of eggs from local markets," he added.

The eggs will be handled on a monthly pool basis, eggs arriving each month being handled and sold separately from those being delivered in other months.

Certain standards of quality have been set and eggs stored must measure up.

SELECTING EGGS TO HATCH

When hatching eggs are selected for one particular thing which is especially wanted, the poultryman is quite apt to defeat his purpose by overlooking other equally important qualifications. It is a common practice to select large eggs because the farmer wants good-sized eggs to sell. It is true that egg size is inherited to a large extent, but many other factors must be considered before eggs are selected simply on size.

Take the dairy cow, for example. Holstein is generally lower in butter fat than Jersey milk. In other words, generally the breed of cows which gives the most milk has the least butter fat in the milk. Similarly, the egg, the fewer eggs a hen will lay.

Thus, if the poultryman selects only for large size, year in and year out, he may soon have a good-looking flock of birds that lay large eggs, but the annual egg production may be very small. In general, a bird which lays large eggs will only lay a few eggs a week. Birds lay larger eggs in spring and summer than in the early fall or winter, due to the degree of maturity. The size of the eggs, then, varies according to the hen's age.

Hatching eggs should not be selected then for size alone, but combined with the characteristic of heavy production if at all possible.

FARMERS ADVISED TO REDUCE CASH COSTS

Alabama farmers are advised to reduce cash costs on the farm whenever possible and consider keeping more livestock for home and local consumption, according to a report released by F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician for the department of agriculture.

"Each farm should have, if possible, at least one other cash enterprise, supplementing receipts from cotton," says the report adding:

Adjust crop acreages and livestock numbers to keep regular workers busy throughout the year with a minimum of hired help. Consider keeping more livestock for home and local consumption but do not overlook the present low prices of livestock products.

"Make the farm produce as much of the family living as it can and reduce cash costs whenever it can be done. Repair old machinery to make it last another year if possible.

"Reduce the cost of producing cotton (1)By planting cotton on only the land best suited to its production and using poor cotton land for other enterprises; (2) By using good seed of a variety recommended by the state experiment station as high yielding and of good quality; (3) by early plowing, close spacing, and good cultivation.

"Make a plan and budget for the year's operations and try to live up to the plan. Borrow as little as possible. Foresight and careful planning are especially important in the times like these.

"Advise with your county agent."

WHAT I HAVE LEARNED IN VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE AT ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL

My study of the science of agriculture began several years ago while I was attending Grammer School. My first course was studying a text which dealt only with the primary elements of rural surroundings. In the course we learned the different families of plants and their relation to each other, how trees could be improved by grafting, the necessary conditions for seed germination, and the preparation of seed beds. We also touched on the methods of selecting and improving planting seeds, the importance of crop rotation, detecting and controlling crop pests and the value of animals on the farm. Our school was small and did not have a specialized agriculture department. Each topic was briefly outlined and we were referred to bullitins of The Department of Agriculture for any further information we might want. Not seeing any of the methods I had studied in practice, I did not have much interest in what I had learned and and it soon passed from my memory.

Upon entering high school I took up a course in the Vocational Agriculture Department. Here we had equipment to carry out in detail the many different subjects we studied, and for the first time agriculture became very interesting. By actual practice we learned to select, improve, test and store planting seeds, and by using statistics and running experiments of our own, we found that good seed was very necessary to a good yield. Insects were studied in detail and we learned profitable means of controlling them. Specimen plants were collected and we mode a study of their root and fruit formation, their purity to type, and the effects of fungus diseases. Many samples of milk were collected and tested to determine the importance of good breeding and correct feeding of dairy cows. We received instructions on caring for live stock and were given practice in judging animals of the most satisfactory type.

Special emphasis was placed upon soil improvement. We learned the correct methods of terracing and drainage. Cover crops were viewed from every angle and by tests and observation we were made to fully realize their importance to successful, low cost, farming. Fertilizers of all kinds were thouroughly covered and we were repeatedly drilled in working of formulas and selecting the best mixture for different crops. Great stress was placed upon Auburn reccommendations and were found to be best by test. We were taught to repair farm buildings and machinery. Suggestions were given to plan a farm for beauty and convenience. Seemingly, agriculture is not very broad, but if it is studied in detail, many, many interesting things will be found that are apparently unnoticed on the average southern farm.

A study of Vocational Agriculture greatly increases one's appreciation of nature. It provides culture that no other study can give; it prepares one to do more efficient work and surely everyone should be familiar with the primary industry of our modern civilization.—Delos Culp.

STAPP CALLS ATTENTION TO STABLE MANURE

As a fertilizer for cotton, stable manure, if used at the rate of two or three tons per acre, should be applied in the drill and bedded at least ten days or two weeks before planting. If more than ten tons per acre are used broadcasting is adviseable.

For each ton of manure, apply 100 pounds of 16 per cent phosphate. That is, with 2 and one-half tons of stable manure, 250 pounds would be required.

The actual outlay in money would be les than two dollars per acre.—C. E. Stapp.

MERITORIOUS WORK NOTED IN COTTON IMPROVEMENT EFFORT

Efforts being made by a large number of public spirited citizens and organizations to improve the quality of Alabama cotton are beginin to bear fruit.

The latest Government report on the subject shows that 92.1 per cent of the 1931 crop stapled 7-8 inch or better, and that 15.5 per cent was better than 7-8 inch in staple.

This is due mainly to two causes, we are told, namely, weather conditions and educational work done by farm organizations, chambers of commerce, editors, and particulary the extension service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute through county agricultural agents.

Last spring due to this promotional work, cotton seed planted on 186,760 acres of land was of recognized improved varities as recommended by the Auburn experiment station. Most of these, or 119,070 bushels were grown by Alabama farmers and saved at "gin days." On "gin days" only cotton of the improved variety was ginned at cooperating gins, and every effort made to keep the seed pure. The remainder of the seed were purchased cooperatively from originators and breeders. In all, 140,070 bushels of pedigreed or "gin day" seed were planted.

These seed have now been multiplied, according to J. C. Lowery, Auburn extension agronomist, and close to 800,000 bushels or nearly enough to plant one-third of the Alabama cotton acreage are now available, having been saved a "gin days" conducted in the fall of 1931.

Over 16,000 bushels of these seed were grown by the farmers of Coates Bend Community, Etowah County, which has the honor and distinction of being the only 100 per cent one-variety cotton community in the Southeast. Producers in this community formed themselves into the Coates Bend Cotton Improvement Association, and agreed "to grow in 1931 only the D. P. L. 4-8 variety of cotton." Every man, and there are 57 of them, stuck to this agreement, and they now are selling to other Etowah farmers and to farmers in other counties practically purebred planting seed of the recommended and approved variety which they grew.

Improvement of the quality of cotton is of prime importance. Many experts say that this is the only way American cotton will ever be able to regain its former predominant position in foreign markets. This is a problem that should concern every person in Alabama, whether he is connected directly with farming or not, since so much of the wealth produced in the state comes from growth of the fleecy staple.

It behooves every good citizen to promote better cotton. In this way he can do something to help himself and his state. The good planting seed now available should go into the ground. In this way, if the seed produced are saved at "gin days" again next fall we will have available enough good seed to plant the entire crop.

A train in England, the Cheltenham Flyer, travels 77 miles per hour. Motorists at grade crossings are going to find it hard to hit.

Doctor—Mr. Jones, it is taking an awful long time to pay that bill of mine.

Mr. Jones—I know it doctor; but you ought to remember that you were an awful long time curing me.

POLAND CHINA RECORD

"A Brood Sow on Every Farm," is the accepted slogan throughout the southern states this year. Never before have we seen choice brood sows sales still to be held. Breeders generally have one or more good gilts to spare—they are the pick of the herd. Is there a club or farmer in your county who wants to buy? We shall be glad to send names of breeders as near you as possible.

The story by County Agent, J. K. Luck, Americus, Ga., printed in the enclosed News Letter shows what 1 Georgia farmer is doing with pure bred hogs.

The January issue of the Acco Press, Houston, Texas sets forth clearly the necessity of pushing the pork program in every county, and the publishers offer a liberal and constructive plan for getting buyer and seller together. The brood sow is the bone back of farm relief.

We want to cooperate with you and the 4-H boys of your county in recording pedigrees and awarding prizes to Poland China club winners.

The state fair prize is a five dollar fountain pen to the champion Poland China pig exhibitor who is a Junior member of this association.

The county fair prize is a silver mounted Dur-o-Lite pencil at the rate of one pencil to every three exhibitors of Poland China gilts, litters and barrows. Fifteen exhibitors will receive five pencils, etc. All pigs, except barrows, shall be recorded in the American record before the fair opens. Awards will be sent direct upon receipt of names and adresses of all exhibitors, giving name and registration number of each pig exhibited.

Delighted to have met you. Come over one evening soon and bring your husband."

Thank you so much, but we never go anywhere. You see my husband is paralyzed.

LETTERS FROM JEMISON PUPILS

The Japanese children wear kimonos. They are made of silk and are very gayly colored. They are made of silk because Japan leads the world in the production of silk. They wear wide sashes around their waists. The Japanese boys are dressed very much like the girls.

Their work is not very hard. They only have to pick cherries when they are ripe. They run errands for their mothers. If they farm, they probably thrash rice and they pick tea, too. The boys and girls tend the flowers for Japan has very beautiful flowers.

The Japanese children have flower festivals every year. The buildings are gayly decorated. If you were to come along on a windy day, you would see the children flying kites. Flying kites is their chief sport.—Edna Daniels.

A Trip to Japan

Last summer I took a trip to Japan. The first thing I noticed was the little Japanes girls' dress. They wear robes with large sleeves. In these sleeves they have their pockets which they keep their toys in.

Once I was going along, I passed a little girl who was putting some jewels on an idol. Then I saw a girl bouncing a big rubber ball, and a boy flying a kite.

I did not know how to ask for a foreigner's room in the hotel. The servant took men to a room with a mat on the floor. It had a bowl and some chopsticks on the floor, so I had a comfortable night.

The Japanese women wear their hair plaited and they wear flowers in their hair. Japan is noted for its flower festival. They have one once a year.—Ruth Davis.

POULTRY CAR LAST WEEK

Figures from the Chilton County Farm Bureau office show the following amounts of poultry loadings on the chicken car that came through Chilton County last week.

Verbena, 2,280 pounds; Clanton, 8,600 pounds; Jemison, 4,600 pounds, a total of 15,480 pounds.

The total amount received for the poultry loaded on this car is given as $1,702.80.

VOLUME 39.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THRUSDAY, MARCH 3, 1932 NUMBER 45

WILL ENFORCE SCHOOL LAWS

Resolution Passed By School Board at Meeting on Last Friday

The Chilton County Board of Education has determined to enforce the attendance laws of the State, as they effect schools in Chilton County. At the meeting of the Board last Friday the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Section 305, Article 16 of the Alabama School Code of 1927 provides as follows:

"Each parent, gurdian, or other person having control or charge of any child required to attend school or be regularly instructed by a private tutor, who fails to have such child enrolled in school or who fails to send such child to school or have him instructed by a private tutor during the time such child is required to attend public school, private school, denominational school, or parochial school, or be instructed by a private tutor, or fails to require such child to regularly attend such school or tutor, or fails to compel such child to properly conduct himself as a pupil, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars, and may also be sentenced to hard labor for the County for not more than ninety (90) days. The absence of a child without the consent of the principal teacher of the school he attends, or should attend, or the tutor who instructs or should instruct such child shall be prima facie evedence of the violation of this section."

Be it Resolved by this Board that we call upon the attendance officer and superintendent to see to it that the privisions of this Code are executed, and,

Be it further Resolved, that we call upon the teachers, patrons and trustees to cooperate with us to the end that the children may attend school as contemplated in the Code of 1927, and that the attendance may be better in our schools; that a copy of this resolution be furnished the press and a mimeographed copy be mailed to each teacher and trustee of the County.

HANCE ALRED NOW A REGISTERED PHARMACIST

Mr. J. Hance Alred, of the Alred Drug Co., is now a registered pharmacist. He took examination before the State Board of Pharmacy on February 9th. The test was passed successfully and Mr. Alred has been granted a license to fill prescriptions.

In the future the prescription department of his store will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Alred.

Alabama Conference of Social Workers To Meet Soon At Mobile

Mrs C. E. Stapp, Superintendent of Child Welfare for Chilton County, has been named County Chairman of the Membership Committee of the Alabama Conference of Social Work, wich will meet in annual session in Mobile, April 10th to 12th, announced Richard Hudson, President of the Conference, Monday.

The Social Workers meet each year to discuss the social welfare and health problems of the state. Prominent social workers from other states as well as from Alabama, are invited to appear on the program and bring to social workers, public officials and interested individuals, the benefits of their experiences throughout the nation. Miss Margaret Shook, of Montgomery, Chairman of the Program Committee, states that her Committee is making rapid progress in building the program and that a number of prominent men and women of national reputation will appear as speakers.

Mr. Hudson stated that every person interested in the welfare of the people of Alabama should be interested in the Conference and that membership inthe Conference was open to every one interested in social betterment.

The officers of the Conference are: President, Richard Hudson, Birmingham; 1st Vice President, Miss Florence Van Sickler, Mobile; 2nd Vice President, Miss Louis Dunn, Montgomery; Secretary, Miss Margaret Shook, Montgomery; Treasurer, Mr. E. B. Robinson, Talladega.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We are going to make March a go to church month. Wonder how many people in Clanton who will see to it that you attend church every Sunday and every service during the month of March? We are going t otest you out on Easter Sunday night and see. Going to church is not a duty, it is a privilege. Resolve now, that you will be in your place each Sunday for one whole month.

One fourth of this conference year is gone. Play fair with your soul life and with the God whom you worship, and bring to the services next Sunday one fourth of your obligation for the year.

Sunday school at 9:45, preaching at 11 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m. Please not that the night service has been changed to seven thirty.

We note many visitors in our congregation. We are glad to have you. If you have no church home, come thou with us and we will do thee good.

HILL'S BIRTHDAY SALE RUNS THROUGH THIS WEEK

According to a statement of Mr. J. W. McEathern Tuesday, the twenty-first anniversary sale of Hill Grocery Company will continue to the end of this week, through Saturday.

Mr. McEathern said, "We are grateful to our friends and patrons for the hearty patronage accorded us during this sale. We also appreciate the friendly felicitations of good-will which have been expressed by so many of our customers."

J. B. Tiffin is building a large two-story barn at his place on Lay Dam Road near Clanton.

ROBBERS VISITED COUNTY OFFICES

Gun and Two Coats Taken From the Office Of Sheriff Gillespie

Robbers entered the courthouse of Chilton County Monday night, and by "jimmying" the locks on the doors they entered the offices of Sheriff Gillespie and Judge Reynolds. Deputy Norris explained that "jimmying" the locks means working their way without the use of keys; or picking the locks.

Entry was gained into the office of Tax Collector Culp, through a window from the outside. From Culp's office the thieves went through a connecting door into the office of Tax Assessor, Akins Collins.

Deputy Norris in reporting the affair said the robbers took his gun and leather coat from the Sheriff's office; and also a coat belonging to Deputy James Gillespie. He said $1.15 in cash was taken from the Probate Judge's office. Nothing was missed from the tax offices, he said.

Mr. Norris offers a reward of $10 for any information leading to the identity of the parties who committed the theft.

WARR AND QUINN RE-ELECTED TO THE CLANTON SCHOOLS

At the regular monthly meeting of the Chilton County Board of Education last Friday, Prof. L. C. Warr was re-elected Principal of the Chilton Co. High School for next year; and Prof. I. J. Guinn was re-elected as principal of the Clanton Grammar School.

The re-election of the two principals was recommended by the local board of trustees, and promptly ratified by action of the county board.

Selection of teachers to compose the faculties of the two schools will be made by the principals and the local board of school trustees in the next few weeks.

INMATES OF THE COUNTY JAIL THANK FOURSQUARE VISITORS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you allow us space in your paper to thank the good people of the Foursquare Church for their visits and sermons to us, while here in prison. Some people may think they are wasting their time, but we realize how much good they are doing, and how good it makes us feel to know there are some who remember us and think enough of us to visit and try to cheer us a bit. We appreciate the sermons and songs of Rev. Caswell and his corps of workers. We only wish they could visit us more often and stay with us longer.—Inmates of the Chilton County jail.

Joe Hall Johnson First To Register For Attendance at Camp for Boy Scouts

Scout Joe Hall Johnson is the first to register for the 1932 season of Camp Spring Villa, the popular scout camp for this district, according to camping chairman, John Hollis. Joe Hall registered for the full three weeks of the camp. Those scouts who will only stay one week at the camp will go the week of July 18 to 25th. Joe will start his camp experience June 4. Others in the Clanton district troops which include Lay Dam, Thorsby and Mitchell Dam, besides Clanton will register within the next few weeks. Last year over a dozen local scouts enjoyed Camp Spring Villa.

The scout executive on his visit last week visited and reported to local chairman C. E. Stapp that they were all in good condition and were all at work on the scoutcraft jamboree to take place at Auburn on Friday, May 6th. Last year the local boys, even though it was their first jamboree brought home a number of first awards.

The Cub pack at Mitchell Dam will soon erect a flag pole with a new American flag. Cubmaster McRay is doing a good job as leaders of these pre-scout age lads.

Scouting needs and deserves the support of every citizen in Chilton County. One only needs watch the scouts in their attractions to see that to them this movement means everyhing that stands for good clean fun and instruction in the better traits that make the finest citizens.

Joel Fulmer Visited His Old Home In Coosa County Last Sunday

It is quite interesting to hear people tell of going back on a visit to their old boyhood home after having been left there on toward half a century. Such was the story told by Joel Fulmer to the Union-Banner on Monday morning.

On Sunday Joel went to Lay Dam and crossed the river, going to the home of Crick McGowan, who lives near the Foshee Eiland. Crick is an old friend of Mr. Fulmer. After they had talked of old times a while the two set out for Joel's old home place near the old Clipper Hill church and cemetery, which is six miles north of Weogufka. They had to walk nearly all the way, because the roads and trails have all grown up with trees and undergrowth.

Clipper Hill was a Methodist-Protestant church, which suspended services around twenty-five years ago. Mr. Fulmer visited the grave of his mother, Mrs. Francis Fulmer, who died in 1893. Also he recognized the grave of his brother, William Thomas Fulmer, who died in 1880. Joel knew the grave of his brother only by a large cedar tree near it; his mother's grave is marked by a tomb stone. Rev. M. J. Parrish went with Joel Fulmer back to Clipper Hill and preached there about 27 years ago.

Mr. Fulmer, who is well known around Clanton, is now living and farming with Tom Driver near Coopers, on Verbena Route 2. He returned home Monday after greatly enjoying his trip back to his old home place in Coosa County, where he spent most of his early days as a romping boy.

NINE ARRESTS IN PAST WEEK

Reports from the Sheriff's office Wednesday morning stated that nine arrests have been made the past week as follows:

Four for violating the prohibition law, two for truancy from school; one for non-support; one for assault and battery; one on peace proceedings.

At the time of this report there were 16 in jail.

Since Sheriff Gillespie took office a little over a year ago, there have been 395 prisioners locked up in jail, and perhaps as many others who were arreated and released on bond without being put in jail.

CHARLEY D. DUKE

Republican Candidate for

County Commissioner

Fourth District

To the Republican voters of Chilton County:

I take this means of calling your attention to my candidacy for Commissioner of the Fourth District of Chilton County.

I was in the race four years ago and was defeated by a small majority. So I am entering the race again upon the solicitation of many of my friends.

I will say to those who do not know me personally, that I am 47 years old. I am a farmer, and I was reared on a farm. I live three miles east of Clanton on the same farm I moved to when I married 26 years ago. I have always voted the Republican ticket. I believe in fair and square dealings, with equal rights to all and special favors to none. I have always been interested in Chilton county's roads and schools.

I believe in broad roads that you can meet and pass on without getting in the ditch. I believe in doing permanent work, as much so as possible. I believe in being saving with road funds, but I do believe that when a piece of road work is started, fix it right so what has been done will not be lost.

I think that every taxpayer should have his road worked to his house. I am a great believer in every man having a road. I believe the road funds should be equally divided as much so as possible over the county. Of course, it takes more work to keep some roads up than others. But I do not believe in spending too much on roads for tourists and pleasure seekers.

I think where a piece of road is to be done, if it requires men and teams, the men in that community should be given the work, and not somebody from somewhere else.

I am against any increase in taxes. I think the people are overburdened in this time of depression with too much tax.

I have only one promise to make, and that is to do right. If I am elected, the office will not be mine, but the people's. I will be your servant. I will try to serve all the people alike. I have no special favors for anybody. All men look alike to me.

I have seen a good many of the voters, and hope to see many more between now and the primary. It will be impossible for me to see all the voters. So if I happen not to see you before the primary, I want to assure you now that no one will appreciate your vote more than I will. If you favor me with your vote and I am nominated, I will try to conduct myself so you will never have just cause to regret doing so.

Thanking you in advance for your vote and influence, I am, Yours truly, C. D. DUKE.

JESSE BAKER OPENING UP LADIES READY TO WEAR

Just released for publication is the announcement by Jesse Baker that his line of hats and ready to wear for ladies will be in within the next few days and that the prettiest line in this section will be on display. Mr. Baker adds that this part of his store will be in charge of Mrs. Ollie Robinson and Mrs. Clara Mullins. Both these ladies are well known salesladies, and they know their business when it comes to ready to wear, hats, etc., for the fairer sex.

Beginning about the first of this year, Messrs. Obe Deloach and Jesse Baker separated their grocery and dry goods business, Mr. Deloach taking the grocery side and Mr. Baker taking the dry goods side. They are now operated as two separate stores, and the dry goods will go under the name of the owner, Jesse Baker.

Mr. Baker will have a big adv. in The Union-Banner next week making the formal announcement of his opening— that is, the opening of the ladies ready to wear department. Watch for this announcement.

SAMPLE SHOE STORE MOVED

The Sample Shoe Store, owned and operated by Mr. Ben Margolis, is now delightfully situated in the Fenn Jones Building, recently vacated by the Sims Drug Company. The place is two doors east of the County Agent's office.

Mr. Margolis requests his friends and customers to take note of the change of location and come to see him.

This store carries a full line of shoes. A special item which is featured is the "Robin Hood" shoe for children.

JR. HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT ON

Event to Be At the High School In Clanton on Saturday Of This Week

Don't forget the basket ball tournament for the Junior High Schools of the County, which will be played next Saturday, March 5, at Clanton, Ala.

It will be sponsored by the Chilton County Jr. High School Athletic Association. These games will be played at the C. C. H. S. gymnasium in the usual official way.

A season ticket for 25 cents may be purchased at the door at 8:30 a.m. Saturday. These tickets will be good for all games, including the final game that night. To those who do not hold a season ticket, 10c will be charged for separate games.

All teams must be on the court promptly at 8:30 a.m. The first game will be played at 9:00 o'clock and games will follow until all teams are eliminated except two. These teams will meet at 8:00 o'clock to decide the county champions.

This will be one of the feature programs of Chilton County this year and as a large number always attend these games we urge everyone to purchase a ticket. A limited number are being printed. Be there and pull for your school.

The eight schools entered are: Baker, Concord, Enterprise, Thomas, Union Grove, Stanton, Collins Chapel and Mt. Pleasant.

NEW DRESS SHOP

Mrs. Harold Olson arrived from Chicago, and intends to open up a dress and hosiery shoppe, known as Ena's Smart Shoppe, in Clanton, next door to DeMable's Beauty Salon.

Mrs. Olson was formerly Ena Grenn, and lived in Thorsby for several years, attending school there and is well known to many people there. She hopes to bring the ladies of Clanton and surrounding community, the last word in style at a moderate price. She will handle dresses, hosiery, costumes, jewelry and other smart accessories. Watch for opening announcement next week.

She recently visited the style show at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago. So she has selected those styles and fabrics which she thinks will be the most appealing to all.

SOME HEALTHY PIG

Last Tuesday, February 23, Mr. J. W. Mims of Clanton Route 4, with the assistance of several neighbors and friends killed and dressed a duroc jersey pig that weighed 826 pounds dressed. Several cans of lard were made, amounting to about 218 pounds. Mr. Mims said that this was the largest pig he had ever raised on his farm.

ELECT TRUSTEES SATURDAY, MAY 7

Procedure of Election Is Outlined By Chilton County Superintendent

Provisions and regulations for the election of trustees of the various schools of Chilton County have been given out at the office of County Superintendent Lawrence, as follows:

Notice is hereby give that in accordance with law number 590 passed by the 1931 Legislature and approved August 1, 1931 providing for the election of trustees for the various schools of the state of Alabama, an election will be had at each schoolhouse in Chilton County on Saturday, May 7, 1932 for the purpose of electing three trustees to serve for a term of two years beginning July 1, 1932.

In order that the names of those nominated may appear on the ticket in proper form any legal voter who resides in the definite territory served by the school and meets the qualifications set out in Article 6, Section 133 of the School Code of 1927 may be nominated, provided his nomination is filed with the County Superintedent on or before April 23, 1932.

Three managers will be appointed for each school. If for any reason those managers appointed should fail to appear the remaining number shall appoint one to take his or her place. In case no managers appear on the day of the election to conduct the election then the trustees now serving shall either serve as managers or appoint substitutes who shall conduct said election.

The polls shall be opened at 8:30 a.m. and close at 2:30 p.m. The managers shall then canvass the ballots and certify the results to the County Superintendent of Education.

These elected as trustees must be legal voters.

Those voting in the election must be patrons of the school for which the trustees are being elected. They may or may not be legal voters.

The word patron is defined by the Attorney General of the State in an opinion rendered February 20, 1931 as: "Those persons residing in the definite territory served by the school who are parents, guardians, or custodians of children who are attending such school, who are eligible to attend."

Miss Francis Bean spent last Sunday with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Bean, at Thorsby.

Flem Junior Higgins has been ill with malaria and pneumonia for the past week. He is better now.

KIWANIS SPECIAL PROGRAM TODAY

Subject Of Agriculture is In Charge of Mr. Earle Thomas

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton have another treat in store for today at the luncheon, when Earle Thomas will have charge of the program with Agriculture as the main item.

Two outstanding men of the state in agriculture are to be on the program as speakers. These are Dr. L. M. Jackson, who is widely known for his interest in agriculture in the state, and J. L. Giles, county agent of Jefferson County. Luncheon begins promptly at 12:15 today.

One of the most interesting and informative programs rendered at the Kiwanis club meetings here, took place last Thursday when Prof. L. C. Warr had six students of the local high school present for a Washington program, in observance of the birthday of this outstanding American. Attendance at the club meeting Thursday was one-hundred per cent, with interest increasing.

Those students taking part on the program were Miss Mary Courtney Jones, Miss Ruth Maddox, Miss Sallye Mahan, Miss Elizabeth Stanley, Joe VanDerveer and John Ezell.

Each one took topics from the life of George Washington and in a most interesting manner, told of America's first president as a farmer, soldier, statesman and of his social life and other activities. Mary Courtney Jones told most vividly of the many monuments erected in honor of Washington. A rising vote of thanks from the members of the club was given, in appreciation of this splendid program.

POOR ORIGINAL

FAVORS MR. ATCHISON FOR COMMISSIONER FROM THIRD

To the Voters and Citizens of Chilton ton County:

I can wait no longer to write you in the interest of my friend, Mr. J. C. Atchison, who has recently announced as a candidate to succeed Mr. J. L. Burnett as Commissioner in the Third District of Chilton county.

Very few question the fact that it is time for a change and the people every where in the county will vote for a change in the administration of the affairs in the third district. There is considerable dissatisfaction with the present administration and the Republicans are almost unanimous in voicing their sentiment in behalf of Mr. Atchison.

It has been my pleasure to know Mr. Atchison since boyhood and to esteem him as a gentleman of the highest type. He is honest, efficient courageous and experienced to make him the man equal to the position he now seeks. I, with a number of friends have solicited his candidacy for more than a year and feel proud that he has decided to make the race. We feel sure that he is the proper man to do the service the county so badly needs and feel confident that he will be an easy winner in the primary. May 3, 1932.

Mr. Atchison is a life-long Republican, having been born in Shelby county and is a grandson of the late Mr. Sturdivant, who represented Shelby County in the legislature several years ago. The people know and are proud of the fact that if Mr. Atchison is elected, everybody will get a square deal, Democrats as well as Republicans. I know that a majority of the voters in this district will join me in commending Mr. Atchison to the voters of the county and urge that they give him their support and valuable influence in the campaign now in progress. Please do not commit yourselves till you have the pleasure of meeting our man. He makes a very favorable impression everywhere that he goes, and to know him is sufficient for we know that it means to like him. One remarkable feature is that he will not be flirted about by every wind that blows and has the grit to stand for what he thinks is right and proper for the people of the county. Come on now boys and join the crowd, for we are going to elect the right bunch this time and you will soon know who they are. We are going to put them in and watch them grow and succeed. With very best wishes for all, I am, Yours for good government.—L. B. Broadhead.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1932, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for March 6

JESUS WASHES HIS DISCIPLES' FEET

LESSON TEXT—John 13:1-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Washes the Disciples' Feet.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Performs a Humble Task.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Dignifies Lowly Service.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Spirit of Christianity.

I. Christ's Amazing Love for His Own (vv. 1-3).

Jesus was fully conscious of what was immediately before him. He knew that the cross with all its shame and anguish was upon him. He knew that his disciples would shamefully forsake him in a few hours. He knew that one of that number would be the instrument in the hands of the Devil in his betrayal. He was fully conscious of his deity. He knew that all things were in his hands. Despite all this, he displayed great patience and manifested untiring love. He did not withdraw his love from them because of their weakness and the shameful failure which he knew would soon be made manifest. He not only loved them to the end of his earthly ministry, but loved them unto the "uttermost." "Loved to the uttermost" means that he bestowed upon them his love even to the extent of taking their place in death.

II. Christ Washing the Disciples' Feet (vv. 4-11).

This act was symbolic of his amazing love for his disciples. Jesus did not regard his hands too holy to do this menial service.

1. Steps in this service (vv. 4-6).
a. He rises from supper.
b. Laid aside his garments.
c. Took a towel and girded himself.
d. Poured water into a basin.
e. Washed his disciples' feet.
f. Wiped them with the towel wherewith he was girded.

These steps symbolize Christ's entire work of redemption. His rising from supper represents his rising from his place of enjoyment in the heavenly glory. His laying aside his garments symbolized his putting aside his vesture of majesty (Phil. 2:7, 8). His girding himself symbolized his taking the form of a servant (Phil. 2:7). The water in the basin—his cleansing blood. His washing of the disciples' feet—his actual cleansing of them through his Word (John 15:3; Eph. 5:26). His taking his garments again—his returning to his place and position of glory.

2. Peter's impetuosity and ignorance (vv. 6-9). When he realized what the Lord was doing, he refused to have his feet washed. When he realized the peril of refusal, he desired to be fully washed. He went from one extreme to another.

3. The significance of this service to those who participate in it (vv. 8-11).

a. It is a spiritual cleansing (v. 8). Fellowship with Jesus is only possible as we are continuously cleansed from our sins. The cleansing here is not the washing of regeneration, but that of sanctification. Even those who are regenerated need the continual cleansing of Christ's blood in order to have fellowship with him. He that is regenerated; that is, washed in the blood of Christ (symbolized by water baptism), does not need a repetition of the act, but he needs the cleasing of sanctification (symbolized by the washing of the feet).

b. A badge of brotherly affection (v. 14). This act showed his abandonment to the service of his disciples. This is a lesson that is much needed today. True love is tested by the service it renders.

c. A proof of humility (v. 15). This was a lesson much needed by the disciples, and much needed by us all today. They had just been disputing as to who should be the greatest in the kingdom. Thus their selfish ambition was expressing itself. On every hand we see expressions of pride, vanity, and even arrogance, in those who are professed followers of the lowly Jesus.

d. Equalization (v. 16). As the disciples were thus served by Jesus Christ, their vain ambitions were rebuked. To enter into this service in the Spirit of Christ is to encounter a leveling of humanity.

III. An Example for Us (vv. 14-16).

Christ the Lord of all became the servant of all, and his disciples are under solemn obligation to follow him in their service to others.

This obligation rests upon his lordship (v. 14).

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Full redemption removes remorse.

• • •

Christ can change sadness to gladness.

• • •

Sin is like a river which begins in a quiet spring and ends in a stormy sea.

• • •

Jesus on earth—his path, his spirit, his ways—is the measure of our walk and obedience.

CALF CLUB MEETING

On Thursday, February 25th, the breeders of purebred Jerseys in Chilton County met at the Clanton Calf club.

The purpose of this meeting was to introduce the State-wide calf club contest and to elect new officers for the club.

The following officers were elected: James Dennis, president; Clyde Popwell, vice president; Osmond Glenn, re-elected treasurer; and Quenton Kelley, re-elected reporter.

After scoring our points on the contest and electing officers; one new member, William Pattillo, was united to the club. We are always proud to have new members and all boys interested in purebred jersey calves are welcome to join us.

There being no further business, we adjourned until the next meeting. —Quentin Kelley, reporter.

TAXES INCREASED 6 TIMES AS FAST AS THE BUSINESS

...but Electricity costs you LESS

Alabama Power Company pays over $1,900,000 a year in taxes. Taxes assessed against this Company have increased more than 6 times as fast as the business during the past ten years. They are now 2½ times what they were in 1925.

While the cost of government, as reflected by taxes paid by this Company as well as by every business and home owner, has steadily increased—the cost of electricity in the average home has grown steadily less. The average rate per kilowatt hour for home electric service was 37.1 higher in 1926 than in 1930.

Under the American plan of business management, the citizenry sharing as stockholders, the number of towns and communities served in Alabama has increased over 1100% during the past 10 years—The service has been improved—millions have been expended for wages and materials in the home territory and the cost to the public has been lowered. Under the Alabama Public Utility Act and the regulation of the Public Service Commission the utility companies are required to economically and efficiently operate their properties.

As opposed to this, advocates of government ownership would offer you political management and experiments seemingly limited only by the depth of the tax-payers' pocket.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp. County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

ALABAMA LED IN 1931 IN IMPROVING COTTON

Alabama made more progress in 1931 in improving cotton staple than any other Southern state and was surpassed only by Georgia and South Carolina in improving cotton grades, according to F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician for the department of agriculture.

The state's increase in staple was 33 per cent and in grades 11.8 per cent over 1930.

"Material advancement was made in states in the length of staple of the 1931 crop over that of 1930," Mr. Gist said. "Alabama made more than twice the proportionate progress of any other state."

Better season, less weevil damage, and delaying ginning, which gave time for greater lint development, were important factors in staple improvement.

"In the case of Alabama, much of the improvement was undoubtedly due to the use of improved seed for a longer staple length," Gist said.

"Alabama also made excellent progress with respect to grades, being surpassed only by Georgia and South Carolina. Since grade is controlled largely by the presence or absence of foreign matters, including trash and dirt and also weather stains, it is assumed that differences in grades represent weather conditions during the picking season."

GRADUAL GROWTH INTO LIVESTOCK IS ADVISED

Farmers should gradually grow into the livestock business instead of jumping in temporarily and out again when the pirce of cotton goes up, advises F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician.

"Nothing is to be gained by jumping into the livestock business temporarily and out again when the price of cotton goes up," he said. "Unles it is to be a permanent industry, farmers had best not enter it. For this reason gradual growth is to be desired rather than an unhealthy increase in one season."

STATE POULTRYMEN HAVE 37,758 BIRDS TESTED

To improve their flocks, Alabama poultrymen had 37,758 birds tested during the past year, reports R. B. Jones, state department of agriculture poultry inspector.

Tests were made in the state laboratories at Auburn under the supervision of Dr. C. A. Cary, state veterinarian. There were 2,716 reactors.

Mr. Jones reports there are 28 accredited hatcheries in Alabama and that a list of these and of the accredited and certified flocks in the state will be furnished anyone writing the department of agriculture for it.

GARDEN-COWS-HENS EQUAL GOOD FOOD

Auburn, Ala. March 2—A family that has a good garden to supply vegetables, one or two good cows to supply milk and butter, and a flock of hens to produce eggs and meat for the table needs to spend very little for food, remarked Miss Helen Kennedy, extension nutritionist of the Alabama Poltechnic Institute, in reply to a request for a practical suggestion.

Miss Kennedy added that a person must be well fed to be healthy and efficient and happy, and that supplying needed foods at home is much better than buying them.

For a person to be well nourished he or she should have daily a quart of milk for children or a pint for adults; 5 servings of vegetables and fruits, including a leafy and a raw fruit or vegetable; one or more servings of whole grain cereal or bread; two servings of eggs, meats cheese, or other protein foods; and 6 to 8 glasses of water.

4-H CLUB GIRLS WILL WEAR COTTON GOODS

Auburn, Ala., March 2—To encourage the use of cotton, 4-H club girls who attend the state short course at Auburn on May 31 to June 4, will wear cotton clothing. Miss Margaret Garret, 4-H specialist at Auburn, says that they will wear cotton clothing only that one day of the short course will be used to feature dresses made of cotton sacks.

The decision of the club members to observe cotton week is an outgrowth of a resolution adopted by their mothers at the annual meeting of the Alabama Council of Home Demonstartion clubs in August, 1930. At that time a resolution was adopted to encourage the use of cotton materials for clothing and household purposes; and, as far as possible, for commercial containers.

COTTONSEED MEAL HABIT IS NEEDED

Auburn, Ala., March 2—Farmers need to get in the habit of feeding more cottonseed meal, in the opinion of Prof. J. C. Grimes, head of the animal husbandry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, at Auburn. Cottonseed meal, he says, is a most excellent protein feed for beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, hogs, horses and mules. Since it is a concentrate it must be fed intelligently for best results. It is a mistake to feed too much of it, as well as not to feed enough.

In view of the fact that a big crop of cotton was made last year with an ample supply of cottonseed meal and other cottonseed products on hand, Prof. Grimes is recommedning that farmers feed more of it to the horses, mules, and hogs as well as to dairy cattle, beef cattle and to the sheep. Recent experiments have shown that cottonseed meal up to 9 per cent of the total ration is a good feed for hogs. It is also good for horses and mules.

CALL ISSUED FOR THE MONEY IN HIDING

Auburn, Ala., March 2—L. N. Duncan, of the Extension Service at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, has joined other forces in Alabama in behalf of bringing into circulation money which is in hiding around in sacks, tin cans, fruit jars, mattresses, and similar receptacles.

This money, said Mr. Duncan, "is not working and its idleness is harmful to people. For example, it is contrbuting to unemployment because it is curtailing buying and restricting worthy credit."

Mr. Duncan recommends heartily that this money be brought into circulation because it can be invested in interest-bearing government bonds. When it is invested in these bonds it begins bearing interest and will also be helpful to business. And money lurking around under such conditions may be stolen or lost, he added.

HIGHWAY TREES PLANTED

Montgomery, March 2—During 1931 the State Commission of Forestry in cooperation with the highway Department and the Federal Womens Clubs continued the highway beautification program initiated in the fall of 1929 by planting thirteen and eight tenth miles of trees along the highways of the state. On account of financial limitation, the work was not as extensive as that of previous years.

The various planting projects are located at Birmingham, Florence, Loxley, Dothan and Montgomery.

The planting labor was furnished by highway maintenance crews, city employees and employees of the commission of Forestry.

A total of 2,215 trees were planted in extending the plantings of prior years. In addition to this, 896 trees were used on old projects at Troy, Luverne, Montgomery, Union Springs, Ozark, Ashford and Dothan, to replace those that had failed to survive the severe drought of 1930.

Of the total number of trees used on new projects and in replacements 2,016 were water oaks, 960 live oaks and 135 hackberry. All the trees were furnished by the Commision of Forestry except 160 live oaks and the hackberry, which were supplied by the women's clubs.

HOW TO PRONOUNCE PURINA

Thirty odd years ago a young man with a bent towards scientific livestock feeding, then rather new-fangled idea, began experienting in feed mixing. His idea flowered, bore fruit, and today is known as Purina Mills. The young man's name was Wm. H. Danforth, now Chairman of the Board of that company.

And in Purina, Mr. Danforth gave to farming America a word that probably today is one of the most mis-pronounced in the language. Just how many ways Purina is mis-pronounced, no one knows. And yet there is but one correct way.

The word Purina, which is a part of the name Purina Chows by which the feeds and supplements made by this company are known, comes from the common word pure. When this young man got the idea on live-stock feeding and feed mixing, he set up as one inviolate rule that always all ingredients must be pure. So it was only natural to seek to put the word into the name of his products.

Purina was the result. And the correct pronunciation is pure-ee-na. That's the way it is said in home offices and research labrotories in St. Louis. That's the way the man that coined it said it.

The most mispronounced way is pure-eye-na. Other garbled editions are purr-ee-na, pa-roo-na, and even prog-nee. But there is just one right way, Pure-ee-na.

Purina feeds and supplements are sold locally by J. L. Ruffin.

NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Three yeas ago (1929) farm woodlands in Tennessee produced two products which only sold for $17,000,000 according to the United States census.

"Money lurking around the house and hiding away from service should be put into circulation by investing it in government bonds or by other wise investment and expenditure," says L. N. Duncan, Auburn, Ala.

Tobacco production in the United States in 1931 included: cigarettes, 113,449,048,000, a decrease of 6,000,000,000. Cigars, 5,318,892,000, a decrease of 571,000,000. Manufactured tobacco, 327,995,000 pounds, a decrease of 80,000,000 pounds. Snuff, 39,543,000 pounds, a reduction of 600,000 pounds. The government received in tobacco taxes $424,532,700, a decrease of $21,000,000 from the year before.

The Federal Farm Board at Washington has reported on the use of the $500,000,000 fund appropriated by Congress. In two years the board made loans to 3,613 different cooperative association of farmers, having a membership of 1,250,000 producers. These loans were directly beneficial to farmers and they were also beneficial to banks and other financial institutions.

A writer in the American Banker's Journal for February states that the United States entered 1932 with a national debt of $17,000,000,000, which included $12,000,000,000 war loans to other nations; state debts aggregating about the same as the national debts; $40,000,000,000 on real estate loans; installment debts of $4,000,000,000 or more and bank indebtedness of $35,000,000,000. Leaving out miscellaneous personal debts and running accounts at stores the writer said that debts aggregate $1,200 per person.

ATTENDS SEED MEETING IN BIRMINGHAM LAST WEEK

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me a few lines in you valuable paper to say something that I believe will be of importance to every farmer in Chilton County.

A few days ago I attended a seed meeting in Birmingham, sponsored by the State Department of Agriculture. The meeting was attended by a group of seedmen from different parts of the state, and presided over by our seed analysist, Mr. L. N. Allen of Montgomery.

The purpose of this meeting was to explain our new seed laws, to all of its dealers throughout the state and as to how dealers should protect themselves in buying misbranded seeds and seeds of low vitality. Dealers are particularly cautioned against buying seeds from shippers who are not willing to back up their products, for example, in the buying of soy beans: There are two brands of identically the same in appearance, namely, the O-too-tan and the Black Ebony, yet there is quite a difference in the yield, and unless shippers give guarantee of variety, dealers should refrain from buying from such irresponsible shippers.

From the above paragraph, possibly you have conceived that I am writing this for the benefit of other seedmen, but is it not of interest to the farmer who buys his seeds, and who has his whole years work at stake, to be assured that he is getting seeds true to variety? Another thing, that our state laws require, and that is: A complete analysis of the seeds one buys. The wide-awake farmer can now demand of his local seed dealer, purity, germination, weed seed, and the date of tests, then if he is assured that the seeds will measure up to requirements of state laws, he can plant seeds with more satisfaction.

A few weeks ago your local county agent published through the columns of the local papers the fact that if farmers had seeds of any description to offer for sale, they should bring in samples and have them sent to the state testing labratory for analyzing. This was a very good announcement, but I do not believe the importance was emphasized enough. In fact, one of the announcements carried no signature whatever.

Farmers are probably not aware of the fact that it takes two or three weeks to develop a test and with samples coming in from every section of the state, there will probably be a delay in getting out returns. Bring your sample in to your county agent or your local seedman and he will send them off for you. Your report will be mailed direct to you. When you get this report, take care of it, and when offering your seeds for sale, you can show the analysis, which must be copied onto a tag and fastened on to receptacles from which the seed are being sold.

In getting your samples to send away, do not select them, but bring samples that will look just like the balance of the seed you will be offering for sale. It is always best to have your seed free from inert matter as possible, but if inert matter (hulls trash, etc.,) are to be offered for sale, then the same inert matter should be shown in analyzation.

In getting your sample, run your hand as far down into the container of seed as possible and get sample from the center.

For further information, inquire of your local seedman.

Yours for more protection to the farmers.—Evan Parrish.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., March 1.—Mr. E. Hudson Strode, professor of English, will take up his work on the University of Alabama faculty next September, Dean Charles H. Barnwell announces. Mr. Strode has been away for the last three years, on leave of absence. He has been residing in Bermuda, where he went for the benefit of his health.

Director Walter B. Jones of the Alabama Museum of Natural History accompanied by his staff of archaeologists, David and James de Jarnette and James Hayes, are in Mississippi County Arkansas, where they are collaborating with Dr. S. C. Dellinger, archaeologists of the University of Arkansas, in reseach among the mounds of that county.

Registration of women at the University of Alabama for the first time in 191 years of its history reached 1,000, according to Dean Aghes Ellen Harris.

Lieut. Joseph Rousseau of the Coast Artillery Corps, U. S. Army, has joined the military faculty of the University. Lieut. Rousseau came all the way from Honolulu.

Crawford Johnson and H. C. Ryding of Birmingham, and Fain W. King, Paducah, Ky., and R. E. Fletcher, Osceola, Arkansas, have been appointed to the board of Regents, Alabama Museum of Natural History. These men have shown great interest in the museum and have rendered invaluable assistance to the institution and its projects, contributing heavily to its collection, director W. B. Jones said.

Edward Branch, Montgomery, is the new president of the Student Association of the University. Branch succeeds Theodore Jackson, Ashford, who resigned.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Opelika, Ala., March 2.—June is the month when Boy Scouts everywhere start their summer camping and the Central Alabama Area Council Boy Scouts which serves Auburn, Selma,, Tallassee, Alexander City, Clanton, and the headquarter City, Opelika, will open the Council Camp at Spring Villa, seven miles from Opelika, on Saturday morning, June 4. The camp will continue for three consecutive weeks, with a maxium of sixty boys each session.

John J. Sigwald, scout executive and camp director, has again put into use the Camper's Saving Club idea whereby Scouts are given an opportunity to make small weekly savings thereby carrying out the ninth scout law, a Scout is Thrifty.

Mr. Sigwald announces that again E. J. Harris of West Palm Beach, Florida, will serve as assistant camp director. This will be Mr. Harris' third summer in this capacity.

Dr. O. H. Tatum, chairman of the camping committee, has designated that Opelika Toops 1, 3 and 5; Hurtsboro Troop 32, all Selma Troops, Minter Troop 42 and Marion Junction Troop 49 shall attend camp the first session. Opelika Troops 2 and 4, all Tallassee Troops, Auburn Troop 7, Greeville Troop 45 and McKenzie Troop 46 will attend camp the second session. Ashland Troop 12, Alexander City Troop 29, Thorsby Troop 43, Clanton Troop 47, Lay Dam Troop 51, Plantesville Troop 48 and all other troops in the Council will come to Spring Villa during the third and last session, June 18 to June 25.

The newest feature for old campers this year will be training in marksmanship by a National Rifle Association instructor. Proffessors at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute will have charge of instruction classes daily.

The Scout Executive is ably assisted by an adequate camp committee headed by Dr. O. H. Tatum, chairman, of Opelika, Capt. E. S. Ott of Auburn, John Hollis of Clanton, L. A. Ward of Selma, P. R. Dubberly of Tallassee, and L. S. Hunter of Alexander City.

The Camp Saving booklets are being handled by banks in the various Scout districts.

LEARNING TO BE A NURSE

The young daughter of Mr. and Hrs. J. R. Griffin of Coopers, is taking a nursing course from the Chicago School of Nursing. She is taking it through mail, and we hope that she will keep up her studies, and above all, we hope that she will be able to stand her examination at the end of every four weeks, and receive her diploma at the end of the course. Miss Ethel is trying hard for her diploma pin and ring, that the students wear.

So let's everybody help her, that she may become a complete nurse of the Chicago School of nursing, and a real good helper of our community.—Just a friend.

SPENDERS ON THE RUN

The uproar against high taxation is being heard over the nation. The governor of New Jersey is pounding his fists upon the table and insisting that all divisions of the State cut expenditures to the limit. Taxpayer's groups are holding meetings and explaining reductions that should be made. Similar activities are taking place in other states and for once, it seems, the taxpayers have the booming political spenders on the run. The fellow who talks economy and then distributes expensive favors, contracts and jobs among his friends has had his day. He is going out.—Sioux Falls (S. Dak.) Argus-Leader.

Speaking of parental authority have you noticed how Japan minds the League of Nations?

Remember the good old days when the appearance of green onions on the market was the sign that spring was coming?

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

The situation in the Orient, clouded and uncertain as it is, has done quite a little to clarify the atmosphere in America from the nationalist standpoint. The inability of the League of Nations or any of the so-called peace agreements to stop the invasion of China by the Japanese, in spite of the urgent calls of the Chinese for help and arbitration, has done a great deal in the United States to discredit international agreements and supergoverning bodies as war preventives, and has caused a chrystallizing of sentiment inside Congress and out, against getting the United States into any foreign entanglements, or inducing Uncle Sam to depend too much on promises and not enough on his defensive armament.

There is no militarism in the United States. In fact, peace sentiment is well nigh universal, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. But the people are more and more becoming convinced that the world cannot depend so much on the League of Nations and its Court, the Kellog-Briand and other peace pacts, as it can on defensive armament and a disposition to mind its own business and let the other nations of the world, so far as possible, settle their own problems without foreign interference.

As a result, there never was less sentiment for getting Uncle Sam into the League of Nations than at present. All of the predictions made by the anti-league senators a decade ago, seemed to have turned out to be true, while the claims of the pro-leaguers have been refuted by world events. Even former League leaders like Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Newton Baker, have so far deviated from their earlier paths, so far as the League is concerned, that Joseph Tumulty, who was secretary to President Wilson, has seen fit publicly to chide them for their change of faith, or perhaps lack of faith.

All of this, it is expected, will furnish ammunition for the anti-league Court Senators when the question of getting Uncle Sam into the Court through the Root protocol comes up in the senate. The anti-Court Senators are much encouraged by recent international development, which they claim, have substantiated their views that Uncle Sam should stay out of the League of Nations and the League Court and devote his time to building up a nation. In fact, they believe that come to a vote now they could defeat it, along with the Root modification. One anti-internationalist Senator told the writer recently that he would like to get the World Court resolution voted out now, because he felt assured that the result would be overwhelming defeat for the resolution. Just when it will be reported out cannot be stated but it is evident that the pro-league Court Senators are just a smuch depressed at the present as their opponents are elated.

The Sino-Japanese situation, also has confounded the pacifists as well as the internationists. In view of the late Japanese action, sentiment for strengthening our national defense, instead of weakening it, has grown rapidly. The threat to cut the army for economy's sake may not materialize in Congress and it is very much more likely that the Vinson ten-year naval program, to give us a navy up to treaty strength, will be passed in Congress.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Hasker)

I saw an older brother of mine do a foolish thing. We were waiting at the pasture gate and the mule that my brother plowed and rode came near us, and stood like an animal of confidence and safety. My brother walked up to him and leaped to his back. The mule had no objections, but when he felt the spurs digging into his ribs, he turned and made for the pine thicket with all his speed. The faster he would run the deeper the spurs would dig into his side. The mule being without a bridle could go where he pleased, and the thoughtless daring boy could do nothing but hold on and yell for help. He had plenty of time to see how foolish it was to ride a mule without a bridle. At our house that night mother had to patch a shirt and put turpentine on bleeding arms and back. That ride was not half as foolish as is to be seen among our people today. When you see a man or woman riding the ways of pleasure without restraint, you may expect broken ties and bleeding hearts. When we ride our temper, our pride, our passions—with the bridle pulled off, it is not far down the road before there will be a calamity. You had better put a good bridle on yourself, and then ride as master of yourself. A good bridle is a mighty good thing to have when a fellow is going to ride a wild mule.

And it come to pass that a certain young man in a certain Alabama town decided that he would make some easy money for himself, and so he rented a hall and printed in box car letters the sign that told of his line of business and the hours when the business would open and close. Then he took to his feet and went from store to store and from house to house and told about his business, and urged his friends to patronize his shop. There was to be music and waxed floors, evening gowns and rare perfumes. There were promises for beauty and windsome smiles, there were hours of merriment for all. In due time the doors were opened and a crowd of young men, and a few older, came in to slip and slide. They stood around as sober as judges, and looked for what they never saw. Wonder why these young men did not embrace each other and make use of that waxed floor and that waiting music. Soon they began to break off, one at a time, and long before the place of business was announced to close there were no customers in sight. That business went dead. There was shouting in heaven because the mothers of that town refused to furnish daughters as the drawing card to that business. So endeth the parable, Amen and Amen.

Well do I remember that Sunday afternoon, when a company of boys found their way to a hillside where there were tall oaks and long grape vines hanging by the tree trunks. The old reliable barlow knife was called into service, and soon the grape vine was cut in two. I swung down upon the vine to see if it was secure among the branches of the tree. I had located a choice swing. I climbed the hillside and holding to the grape vine I let myself go. I swung out and out, until I was among the branches of a Beech tree, when the grapevine gave way, and down I came. I remember until this day that sickening feeling that comes in the fall. There was a terrible thud, and I was literally covered in trash and a long vine that coiled about me like snakes. I got that fall because I put faith in something that was not securely woven into the limbs far above my head. Many a hard fall comes to men and women today because they swing out on things that are not safe. The next vine that was cut, not one, but half a dozen boys swung down upon it to see if it was safe. There are many vines in this world that are not safe. Swing out on the vine of smoking, drinking, Sabbath desecration, profanity and the like, and you will be litterally "busted" in the fall that is sure to come.

A Georgia friend told me this story. This man's father had a five acre field back of his barn and it produced corn and cockleburrs in profusion. The farmer was the proud owner of a fine gray mare and a billy goat. Both had been turned into that five acre field, after the corn was gathered. The mare had long hair on her tail, and the cockleburs had matted it until it was a sight. One cold morning in November the old mare was standing by the barn in the sunshine when the goat came up behind her and began to rub his head on the matted tail. It felt good to his hard head, and he rubbed vigorously. Finally his long horns caught about the center of the tail that was matted with burs, and the mare decided to move about the same time. That forced the horn through the hair of the tail, and the old goat started to jerking. The mare became frightened and started off in a trot. Billy murmered "wait a minute," but the horse picked up speed. Billy could not get his horns from its tangle and soon he was a kite flying clear of everything behind the racing animal. The old mare ran around the five acre field five times and every fifty or one hundred yards billy would cry "W-a-i-t." On the fifth lap his horn let go and billy fell over in a fence corner and rolled against the fence with a thud. He staggered to his feet and looking toward the mare he said, "Blame Fool." It is not everything that feels good and that tastes good that is safe to tamper with.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—Overlooks None.

Strawberries—I always try to start this old column off with something just a little bit amusing. Maybe that tends to get the readers in a kind of jolly frame of mind, and they might overlook any mistakes I might make. Following out this idea, here's what really happened the last part of last week. The job printing department of the print shop was busy getting out a letter head, which was a strawberry, with leaves, stems, etc., all in natural colors, necessitating running the job in three colors, blue yellow, and red. The question arose as to which color should be run first—some suggested one color, and some another. Finally a man dropped in and settled the question for them, although he was not a printer, and knew nothing whatever about the printing game. "Well," he said, "I don't know which color should be printed first, but in the actual growing of strawberries the red part shows up last." The printers decided that was a pretty good hunch to work on, so they proceeded in that way. And strange to say, it worked.

What Price Justice?—I don't know why it is so, but anything or anyone doing meritorious work, will have knockers. I have heard of bills being introduced to legislative bodies, and no matter how good or how great the need for the making of the bill into a law, it would have its objectors. The same is true of good, earnest, conscientious officers of the law. You may let a man be as great criminal as is possible, and let him be caught in the toils of the law, and there will be some who will criticise the officers who are instrumental in bringing him to justice. There have been instances, even, when officials and men high in authority have used such instances to further their own personal or political dislike for officers. This is wrong. There might be some excuse for a trial for revenge on an officer by the man who is caught in the net of the law, although he really would have no cause for such desire for revenge. But, when high officials inject their influence into such matters, purely for the chance of striking in revenge at officers for whom they harbor enmity, personal or political, it is high time for a general house cleaning. Officers of the law have hard enough job, as it is, of keeping everything running smoothly, without having to bear persecution—and prosecution—aided and abetted by influential officials who wish to vent their rage, yet who are afraid to call a spade a spade, come out in the open, and let folks know their real stand in such matters.

Running On Her Record—There is one candidate in the race this time who comes out and says: "I am running on my record." This is Mrs. Gertrude Calloway. In entering the race for re-election as Treasurer, Mrs. Calloway has this, among other things, to say in regard to her candidacy: "I hope every voter will take the trouble to look up my record as treasurer during the term just closing. If anyone can point to one single instance in which I have failed to serve in my office as I should, through willful neglect, lack of courtesy, or failed in the execution of my duties to the best of my ability at any time, I would like to have them tell me about it. I feel that my record as treasurer will bear the closest examination. State autlitors of my acounts found them correct to the penny. I am proud of that record—I think it is one to be proud of. And that record I am using in my effort for re-election because from it, the people of the county may know that I am fully confident t ofill the office, and willing to show them every courtesy in my power." Who wouldn't use such a record for campaign purposes? Mrs. Calloway has every right to use her record in such a way, for it has taken much care and hard work to establish it. She has made a good treasurer. She has been beset by many difficulties in the execution of her duties, but has come out with a clean slate. She has proved herself a worthy servant of the public, and that the confidence of the voters as proved when they elected her to office, was not misplaced. After the primary—win or lose—Mrs. Calloway can point to a priceless possession—a record which can not be beaten.

Another Commissioner—I came to know another candidate one day last week—Mr. J. C. Atchison, of the Third District. I know nothing much about Mr. Atchison, but I have heard a good bit. Yep! That's right—a GOOD bit. From all I hear from neighbors of Mr. Atchison, and the people who know him intimately, he would make a good commissioner. In his own community he is known as a good business man, and that is one great point to be considered by the voters in picking commissioners, for you know, in the commissioners hands lies the big job of handling county affairs intelligently and honestly. And from the short talk I had with Mr. Atchison, I believe him just as efficient as his friends and supporters have reported. Mr. Atchison says: "If elected, I will do all in my power to fill the office to the best advantage of the whole people. And, whether nominated or not, I will be there on general election day to help put over every Republican nominee. That's all I've got to say—I don't believe I could promise any more if I talked all day. And I don't believe anyone can do better than his best—I propose to do just that."

Does It Pay?—Does it pay to advertise? Ask Mr. Tiffin, of Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Company. He is a successful business man, and one of the main reasons is that is a good advertiser—a REGULAR advertiser. Never a week passes that Mr. Tiffin does not advertise. In that way he keeps his firm name and his wares in the public's eye—and don't forget to accent that word KEEPS. He has advertised to get his business before the public and now he advertises further to KEEP it there. A few days ago Mr. Tiffin decided to put on a special sale of kitchen cabinets. Having already made his business well known to the people of the community, he carried a special advertisement calling attention to this special cabinet sale. He sold 41 of his kitchen cabinets, and, curious to say the better cabinets went first—he did not have one of the higher priced ones left. Needless to say, Mr. Tiffin is an advertising enthusiast, as he attributes a great part of the success of the sale to his advertising. He realizes that there are three main divisions to successful business operation—(1) advertising; (2) value in merchandise; (3) customers' ability to buy. First, advertising does its great part in bringing the prospective customers into the store; they read the advertisement and thus find out what it all about. Second, once they are in the store, the merchant must have merchandise of real worth while value to show them; a smooth-tongued salesman might be able to sell shoddy goods, but a sensible merchant would not use such tactics, as he knows that he would be found out in the long run, and his business would suffer from such abuse of the public's confidence. Third, the merchant must be able to furnish a system whereby his prospects can buy his goods out of income; one in a while a direct all-cash sale might be made, but not often; its becoming more and more common to buy on installments, and if the merchant has a system whereby a prospect can buy his goods and then pay for them, his selling system is complete. It is a complete set-up. The wide-awake merchant advertises to draw his customer, he has real values to show them when they come in, and when they have made their selection he can make them able to buy. And, as Mr. Tiffin's experience proves, people recognize real value and buy the best first.

Glimpses—Bill Coggins with a truck load of shucks and cobs—must be going to build a hog bed, or sump'n. Frank Massey has found an old time horn—guess he"ll be out foxhunting, soon. There's a guy leaning back against a terrace, while his wife makes a round or two behind a plow—long time since I saw a woman plowing. Well, I haven't been able to stir around and gather many glimpses, and as everybody seems to want to go fishing, I think I'll just drift along with the gang.—Man in the Moon.

BUCK DOE GETS OFF ON NATIONAL POLITICS IN TALK WITH HARVEY—

"Gimme a shot, Harvey," called out Buck Doe as he entered the Tavern last Friday afternoon in search of his usual decoction After he had been served and expressed his satisfaction in the usual way, Buck talked in the following vein:

"Harvey, I wuz talkin to that there feller J. O. Middleton whut is the assistant United States district attorney. He is a old line Repub and don't keer who knows it. I keeps on a good side uv him cause he's allus got grand juries over there in the Federal buildin. I figgers that ef I keep on the good side uv him he won't git me afore 'em in no way. Taint Harvey that I'm skeered to go 'fore any grand jury. I shore would luff to go 'fore all uv 'em cause I'm shore sociable-lak. But when I gits 'fore a grand jury my memry gits bad. As you know, Harvey, no Doe ever got skeered er nuthin but somehow theres allus sumthin abopt a grand jury that makes me fergit when I git 'fore 'em. I'd shore lak to help 'em out with all sorts er dope but I jest kaint remember nuthin when I gits in that cheer 'fore a grand jury. And I figger ef I keeps on the good side uv this here feller Middleton he won't be so anxious to git me up there where I might embarass the jury by my failure to recall things that I shore would lak to recall.

"Well Harvey I wuz talkin to my friend Middleton the other day and I tole him that these Repubs air shore smart. I tole him in the fust place they had about 6,000,000 more votes than us dimmykrats. I tole him in the second place they wuz jest a wee bit smarter than us dimmykrats. And I tole him in the third place they had a heap more money than us dimmykrats. When I got that fur he said 'Buck you needn't go to the fourth, fifth and sixth place cause you have said enuff. You alreddy got the answer.'

"Now Harvey it shore looks lak we may git all messed up again with these here Repubs settin by and a laffin. It looks lak our old friend Al Smith is a goner spill the potato chips. The Repubs had ruther see the dimmykrats nominate anybody in the world than Roosevelt. And theres a heap uv dimmykrats whut wanta stop Roosevelt frum bein the nominee. Our old friend Al scents a dimmykratic victory and it looks lak he wants to be the man with the strawberry nose. If he gits into this here scramble fur the nomination and with Ritchey and White and Baker and others also atter the plum, things aint a goner look so good fur us. We may have to sit back another four years to git our mail frum the hands uv Repub postmasters and mistresses and be nice to Repub district attorneys to keep us frum fergittin when we goes 'fore grand juries. Course fur as I been able to figger out you git yore mail as fast with a Repub in the postoffice as you do when a dimmykrat is in but some times maybe there is a spot or sumthin on the envelope lak sumbody handled it without gloves. A dimmykrat handles mail with gloves on cause he aint so ust to handlin it as a Repub.

"I shore hope Al Smith don't monkey with the dimmykratic machinery and give these here Repubs another laff. They've laffed at us so much that whenever I see one lak Middleton I jest git to laffin myself. I jest beat him to it. He who laffs last may laff best but he who never gits to laff much votes the dimmykratic ticket. Ef Al will let us alone we will be gittin dimmykratic mail from dimmykratic postmasters and will be persecuted fer bootleggin by dimmykrat district attorneys and will be sent to the pen by dimmykratic federal jedges. Course when a feller goes to the pen he might as well go with a ticket frum a Repub as frum a dimmykrat but somehow I'd ruther be sent to the pen by a dimmykrat. You feel better when you git there. If Al musses up us this time he oughta be ashamed uv himself. But the mere thought of Al makes Middleton laff. When he thinks uv Al he thinks uv a long time in his job. When he thinks uv Al he goes right home and looks at the pitcher uv Herbert Hoover and then winks. That guy is smart jest lak all these here Repubs. He laks dimmykrats but he wants 'em to stay in their place and that's outside uv the postoffice and not inside."

"The Clock of Life"

A subscriber sends in some poetry, with the statement that she would like The Union-Banner better if it had more poetry in it. Poetry has always been a bugaboo to the publishers of this paper. It is seldom that poetry appeals to us as worthy of publication. It is easy to write poems in which the words match up and sound good; but it is hard to find a poet that can really make the words say something worth while. The contributor here referred to sent two compositions. One of them covered two pages. The other was only two little paragraphs. The little one said a heap more than the big one. Here it is. The title is "The Clock of Life."

The clock of life is wound but once
And no man has the power
To tell just when the hands will stop
At late or early hour.

Now is the only time you own
Live, love, toil with a will;
Place no faith in tomorrow,
For the clock may then be still.
—Bertha Mae Hawes.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—and Some He Saw Not.

Better Times Are Coming

I see by the papers that better times are coming back. Or, to be more exact, some of the big business executives have said better times are coming. They do not venture to say when the happy return will be accomplished. The president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and some of the railroad presidents are the latest heralds of the return of prosperity. Locally, however, the signs are still dim. We of the ordinary classes are having a hard time to scramble together enough means to pay the groceryman and the washwoman.

Voting On Prohibition Again

The country is once more embroiled in the periodical Literary Digest poll on prohibition. The question this time is out and out on the keeping of the eighteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution or the repeal of that measure. Several people locally have sent in ballots. There is the usual concern about what effect the poll has on prohibition sentiment. My guess is that the main thing the Literary Digest is interested in is the possibility of increased circulation which that magazine may attain by virtue of the interest which is attached to the prohibition question.

Seed Business Is Rushing

I notice the seed business is the most active line of trade right now. The stores in Clanton are putting out great quantities of garden and field seeds of many kinds. Early corn is going in a rush. This would lead one to conclude that our farmers are going to try to grow something to eat again this summer. It is a mighty sound program. It is much better to live out of a garden than out of a paper sack and a tin can. I can say from experience that the paper sack and tin can fellows have a much harder row to weed than the man who only has to keep the weeds out of his garden rows.

The Mail Order Seed Business

In every possible business activity the mail order houses poke up their heads as a scarecrow to local dealers. The seed stores have this trouble to contend with. They say seed bought from mail order houses cost the farmers much more money than the same seed bought in local stores. But the seed catalogues have mighty fine pictures in them and they do attract buyers. It is so easy to simply go to the mail box and buy a money order; then in a few days go back to the mail box and get the seeds. Personally, of course, I favor trading with the home stores. I think the farmer should at least give his home dealer a chance before sending his money away.

Electing School Trustees

I guess that you have noticed before this time that we are to have elections in Chilton County this year to choose trustees for the various schools in the county. It is a provision of the state law that was passed in the last legislature. This should be a help to the school spirit, because it puts a very important matter back into the hands of the school patrons. The election of trustees by the patrons, and the policy of the county school board to let the trustees handle the local side of the school business sounds to me like it will give our patrons better satisfaction with the schools. The election of trustees will be held May 7. Full details of the plan will be found in this paper.

Boy Scout Work

Along with everything else, Boy Scout work is feeling effects of the business depression. It is mighty hard to gather funds necessary to keep the program moving forward. But the great value of boys, and the great necessity of building them into strong men has not lessened one bit. I say without one bit of hesitation that if you have a boy you should line him up in the Scout program, and put into your budget something to help out with the Scout program. I have been closely identified with Scout work in recent years, and I am sure there is no movement in existence that is worth more to a boy.

Hance Alred, Pharmacist

Hance Alred says that he has exploded the old saying that you can't teach an old dog new tricks. It all depends on what becomes necessary, says Hance. And plenty of things have become necessary in these perilous times of business. When Coos Neighbors withdrew from Alred Drug Company, a while back, it left the store without a pharmacist. Hance began to turn the matter over in his mind, and concluded that rather than hire a pharmacist, he would be one himself. He took the examination, and was given a license by the state board. So, there you are. Hance is now filling prescriptions.

Some Building, I Notice

Clanton is not completely dead. There are still some signs of life. I notice a new residence being built in the Gowan addition. Remodeling is also in progress at the Seventh-Day Adventist Tabernacle and the school building. No, Clanton is not hopeless. The fact is Clanton is in much better shape than many towns and communities in the State. A man from Prattville was up here one day last week. He said things look mighty good to him, compared with the situation in his home town.

Not A Candiate This Time

Alf Mims came around the corner Tuesday. He was smiling his great big friendly smile; and I thought shore he was running for something. "I know what you are thinking," he said, "but you are plum wrong. I am not a candidate for anything this time. I am going to have more fun out of the campaign this year than I have had out of one in a long time. I am going to thoroughly enjoy watching all of the other boys try to get on the band wagon." Alf concluded by saying: "You can tell your friends one thing though. I have got beat every time I ran for office, but I am still a republican, plum to the core, and I can stand right up to the lick-log, even if I don't get any salt."

Back At Her Trade Again

Friends of Mrs. Clara Mullins will be glad to know that she is to be back into business in Clanton again. She will be at the store of Jesse Baker, in charge of the millinery and ladies department. Mrs. Mullins will be assisted in this department by Mrs. Lonza Robinson.

POOR OR

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

The Congregational Ladies Aid social will be held Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. J. O. Johnson. All ladies invited.

Sunday school meets next Sunday, March 6th at the Congrgational church. Preaching by the pastor at 11 a.m. Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p.m. and preaching again at 7:30. The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these services.

Mrs. Lillie Maddox, wife of Alex Maddox, of Pates Chapel, died in a Birmingham hospital at 10:20 Saturday night, February 27. She was 50 years old. She is a sister of Davis Cleckler and the widow Merchant of Thorsby. Mrs. Maddox for many years was a prominent member of the Baptist church at Pates Chapel.

Besides her husband, she leaves four sons and two daughters: H. R. Maddox of Thorsby Institute, Mrs. E. J. Hayes of Pates Chapel, Chester, Wilbur, Hazel and S. E. Maddox who live at the family home. The funeral was held at Pates Chapel at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, February 28th, and burial was in the cemetery adjacent to the church. Rev. Deason conducted the funeral. J. Mell Martin was in charge. Quite a number of friends of the young people of the Maddox family in Thorsby were in attendance.

Mrs. Maddox was the kind of a woman that will be greatly missed in any rural community. A thoroughly good wife and mother, and friendly and helpful to all that know her.

Mrs. Nels C. Petersen spent last Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Shannon, of West Grove, Ga., in a hospital at Montgomery. She reports her mother very much improved and expecting to go home this week.

Miss Lois Leech, of Thorsby Institute, who has been ill in Birmingham for several weeks is reported to be making a good recovery.

"Mammy's Little Wild Rose," is coming to Thorsby Saturday night. It will be at the public school building. Everybody is invited to come. Admission 10 and 20 cents. The play starts at 7:30. Don't miss it.

The Christian Endeavor Society was led by Gerald Smith and Jack Higgins. Questions and topics relative to the good Christian Endeavor or a similar organization does for young people was given. It was also consecration meeting so that the roll was called. The executive committee minutes were also read.

The dormitory of the Thorsby Institute wishes to thank Mrs. Christ who has kindly contributed vegetables several times recently. It is a big help to receive such things.

Thursday afternoon the Home Economics girls of Chilton County High school played the Thorsby Institute girls. This was the first game the T. I. girls have played with an outside team, as games are generally intra-mural. The Chilton Girls won. The score was 28-8.

On March 19 there will be an opening meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society. A French and Latin play will be given. One will be able to follow the plays by the action of the players.

Mrs. Harold Olson, (formerly Miss Ena Grenn), of Chicago, arrived in Thorsby Sunday night. We understand that she expects to put in a dress shop in Clanton.

Mr. Clarence Wallace, of Birmingham, has returned to the Sam Goddard place and expects to move his family here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Townsend, of Birmirgham, were visitors at the home of A. N. Laurell Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Leslie and family, of Ensely, spent the week end with Ed Piper's folks.

ACTIVITIES OF FRUIT GROWERS

Thorsby Association Getting Ready To Market Crop of Strawberries

Up to date some 15,000 strawberry crates have been distributed among the growers, with possibly 10,000 to 20,000 more to come later if the present weather prevails, and no killing weather occurs.

The outlook for the crop, is good, and for a lengthly season, though the high prices of the past seasons are not to be expected, due to the large acreage coming in throughout the southern strawberry sections.

The Association will have government inspection, on all its carlot shipments of berries this year, and it will be very much to the interest of the growers to take more care than ever in packing their berries, so as to come in under the U. S. No. 1 or No. 2 grades, or Alabama Combination.

For this reason, to help the grower, in the proper packing of his berries, for the necessary grades, the U. S. grade standards are given below:

U. S. No. 1, shall consist of strawberries of one variety, with the cap (calyx) attached, which are firm, not over-ripe, under-ripe or undeveloped; which are free from mold or decay and form damage caused by dirt, moisture, foreign matter, disease, insects, or mechanical or other means. Unless otherwise specified, the minimum size shall be not less than three quarters of an inch in diameteer.

In order to allow for variations other than size incident to proper grading and handling, not more than 10 per cent, by volume of the strawberries in any lot may be below the requirements of this grade, but not to exceed one-half of this tolerance or 5 per cent shall be allowed for defects causing serious damage, and not more than one-fifth of this amount, or one per cent, shall be allowed for decay.

In addition not more than five per cent, by volume, of the strawberries in any lot, may be below the specifiedminmum size.

Alabama Combination Grade, shall consist of strawberries which may be slightly damaged by sand or dirt, provided that in other respects not less than seventy-five per cent by volume of berries meet the quality and size requirements of U. S. No. 1 grade and that the remainder shall not be below the quality and size requirements of U. S. No. 2 grade.

In order to allow for variations, other than size, incident to proper grading and handling, not more than a total of ten per cent by volume of the berries in any lot shall be allowed for defects causing seroius damage, but not to exceed one-fifth of this amount or two per cent shall be allowed for strawberries affected by decay.

In addition, not more than five per cent by volume of the strawberries in any lot may be below the specified minimum size which are free from decay and other serious damage caused by disease, insects, mechanical or other means. Unless other wise specified the minimum size shall be not less than five-eights of an inch in diameter.

In order to allow for variations other than size incident to proper grading and handling, not more than a total of ten per cent, by volume of the strawberries in any lot, shall be allowed for defects causing serious damage, but not to exceed three-tenths of this amount or 3 per cent, shall be allowed for strawberries affected by decay.

In addition, not more than five per cent by volume of the strawberries in any lot may be below the specified minimum size.

Definitions of Terms as used in these grades:

"Overipe" means dead ripe, becoming soft, a condition unfit for shipment and necessitating immediate consumption.

"Underripe" means so immature that less than two-thirds of the surface of the berry is of pink or red color.

"Undeveloped" means not having a normal shape and development owing to frost injury, lack of pollination, insect injury, or other causes. "Button" berries are the most common type of this condition.

"Damage" means any injury from the causes mentioned which materially affects the appearence, edible or shipping quality

"Serious damage" means that the strawberries are soft, badly deformed, badly bruised, leakey or otherwise serously injured. Strawberries which are caked with dirt or which show no pink or red color shall be considered seriously damaged.

"Diameter" means the greatest dimension at right angles to straight line running from the stem to the apex.

H. L. Collins is reported to be out of school with the mumps.

Little Mary Virginia Bice is reported to be some better than last week.

Mr. Johnathan Bice, who has been under special treatment in Birmingham for several weeks, is at the home of his grandson, Grover A. Bice, so ill that he is unable to sit up.

Cecil Each was a visitor at the home of his parents in Thorsby on last Sunday.

Frank Calloway's Suit On Sheriff Gillespie Is Failure

In Federal Court at Montgomery on February 24th, Judge C. B. Kennamer Directs Verdict In Favor of the Defendant; Fridge's Story Told First Time

Sheriff W. H. Gillespie, of Chilton County Wednesday was absolved of any blame in connection with the shooting and alleged treatment of Frank Calloway, Chilton farmer, when Judge Charles B. Kennamer, of the United States District Court, directed a verdict for the defendant in a suit for damages brought by Calloway.

Attorneys for Calloway admitted that evidence introduced was insufficient to hold the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, joint defendant, as surety for Sheriff Gillespie's bond, as being liable for the bond. They contended, however, that Sheriff Gillespie was personally liable and that he was acting as sheriff of Chilton County beyond the bounds of his jurisdiction when the still raid took place in Coosa County.

Judge Kennamer held that Sheriff Gillespie was not serving in his capacity as sheriff when the raid was made but as posseman for the Federal prohibition department, the evidence showing that Sheriff Gillespie accompanied Federal agent Charles F. Fridge upon the request of Fridge.

Says Sheriff Tipped Agents

Attorney Grady Reynolds argued that while Sheriff Gillespie accompanied Fridge at the the request of Fridge, that the evidence showed that Gillespie was investigator of the still raid in Coosa County as it was sheriff Gillespie who called the Federal prohibition Bureau office in Montgomery and "tipped off" the still.

Judge Kennamer overruled the plea of Reynolds and directed a verdict for the defendant.

Plaintiff's counsel introduced two eye-witnesses of the raid and shooting of Calloway—one of them Calloway and the other Oscar Mims, who accompanied Calloway to the spot on an island on the Coosa River.

Calloway said he and Mims and Baker had gone to the island to get some water from a spring on a return from attending some trot lines in the river above the island. He said that upon landing he saw some barrels a short distance from the water's edge and that he knew he had no business there and turned to reenter the boat. Somebody shouted to him to halt, he said, and the next moment he felt the sting of gunshot in his back.

Calloway said he arose and stumbled on towards the boat when somebody struck him over the head and a "fog" appeared before his eyes. He floundered into the water to reach the boat, he said, and one of the men had reached the boat before him and struck him with a paddle when he attempted to climb into the boat.

He told them not to let him drown, he said, and two of the men, he said, Fridge and Deputy Louis Gillespie put handcuffs on him. Sheriff Gillespie, he said, came up and kicked him on the shoulder and declared that he ought to drown.

Mim's Testimony Riddled

Mims testified he fled with Calloway and Baker and that he witnessed the beating of Calloway after hearing the shot. Mims said Sheriff W. H. Gillespie and his son Louis "ran in" on Calloway after he had been shot and beat him with a "shotgun or stick" like they were killing a snake. He said he went to help Calloway and that he helped pull him out of the water.

Cross-examined by Attorney L. F. Gerald of Clanton, Mim's story was riddled when a statement was introduced which Mims had made to agent Phillips, of the local prohibition bureau who investigated the shooting. In the statement Mims had stated that only he and Calloway went to the island, but on the stand he admitted that Baker accompanied them. His statement showed that he knew the men to be officers when they shouted to him to halt, but he testified he did not know they were officers.

Mims then admitted that he signed the statement but said he didn't know what the agent had put in it.

Sheriff Gillespie denied that he struck Calloway and declared that during the shooting and altercation that he was some distance away, holding a flashlight on Mims who was treading water in a slough.

Louis Gillespie said it was he who had struck Calloway and that he struck him when Calloway resisted him when he approached the boat. He said he hit him with a .38 caliber revolver.

Officers Waited 18 hours

The officers said they had been waiting at the spot for 18 hours when Calloway, Baker and Mims visited the still site on the night of September 21.

Former Agent Fridge, who is facing a charge to murder Calloway in Federal Court took the stand for the defense and for the first time gave his version of the shooting.

Fridge said he fired twice, first time "accidentally" when he slipped and stumbled to his knees while chasing Calloway, and later into the water to frighten Mims. Questioned about firing into the water, Fridge said he didn't fire into the water but over the water.

Deputy Gillespie, however, stated Fridge fired into the water.

Fridge's Story

Fridge said he went to the still site about midnight on Sunday night preceding the raid, and wit hSheriff Gillespie and his son Louis, they watched the place all day Monday. About 11 a.m. Monday a boat came to the landing with two men in it, one of them was Mims, who went to the still site, but he said he could not see what they did.

He testified that about 4 p.m. Calloway and Mims visited the still site with another man they did not know and unloaded some wood on the bank. They remained there about 30 minutes, he said, and after they de parted he found that the still had been uncapped and emptied as though preparatory for a run.

About 7 p.m. he said they heard the motor of a boat again and he told Sheriff Gillespie to "flush them" and told Louis Gillespie to watch the boat to prevent an escape.

Calloway, Mims and Baker, he testified, came upon the island and Calloway struck a match, lighted a lantern and said: "Come on boys, lets get this run off, there's a man on the other side waiting for a keg at 12 o'clock.

Sheriff Gillespie, he declared, then shouted to the men to stand where they were, declaring, "we're officers."

Calloway uttered an oath and said "let's get away from here," as all three ran, he said.

Calloway came towards me, Fridge said, "and I grappled with him and he got away. I started to chase him but there was some pine straw there and I slipped and fell and my gun went off. Calloway kept going and I followed him and put the handcuffs on him. Calloway was bleeding at the head and said he had been shot. That was the first I knew that he had been shot."

He testified Sheriff Gillespie did not strike or touch Calloway, and that he was 25 yards away playing a flashlight on Mims in the water. Fridge said he fired once into the water.

Cross examined by attorney Reynolds, he said he did not beat or kick Mr. Calloway and that when he scuffled with Calloway the gun was in his (Fridge's) right hand. He said he fired the second shot into the water to make Mims come in, but later said he fired into the air.

He said he saw Louis Gillespie strike Calloway, but did not see Sheriff Gillespie kick him.

Calloway is "partially permanently injured," as a result of the shooting and beating, Dr. V. J. Gragg, of the Central Alabama Hospital, at Clanton, testified. Dr. Gragg said the charge was of shot about the size of No. 7 or N. 8, and exhibited pictures showing that the shot had flattended against Calloway's spine. From his knowledge of guns, he said, the shot was fired from about 15 feet distance.

Calloway had testified that he was unable to walk any distance, and that his left arm and shoulder pained him. He remained at the hospital about five weeks. The government paid his hospital bill for about three weeks, it was shown, or until Calloway made bond on a charge of violating the prohibition law, which had been docketed against him as a result of the raid.

A charge of assault to murder is pending in the Federal Court against Fridge and is set for the present term.

The case against Calloway has been set for March 2. Calloway was under a suspended penitentiary sentence at the time of the shooting.

Attorney Percy Pitts and Grady Reynolds of Clanton, represented Calloway.

Sheriff Gillespie was represented by Attorneys Gerald and J. B. Atkinson, of Clanton, and J. O. Middleton and Arthur B. Chilton of Montgomery.—Montgomery Advertiser.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

(By S. S. Reporter)

Although it rained the Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. out for several times lately, I think we made up to some extent Sunday. There was a good number present at Sunday school and a very interesting discussion was had. We have a race on between the ladies and gents. We are trying to see which side can have the highest attendance record. The one having the lowest will entertain the side having the highest. I am sure the winning side will be well entertained. So lets all be present one side is going to win, make it yours. Remember to bring an egg Sunday morning.

Our B. Y. P. U. is doing good work too. Do your part, come at 7 o'clock.

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom fills his Pintment at the Mt. Gilead Church (col)

By request I am gwyn to open de doah ob de church at de close ob my sermon dis mawnin. After Ah reads a lesson frum de 18 chapter ob Matthew, beginnin wid de 23 verse an closin wid de 35 or las verse. Now Ah wants you to stan an sing dat fine ole song, "All to Him I Owe," (they sing). Now bow yoah heads while brudder Webb Foot leads us in prayer (he prays). Now set down. De tex dis mawnin is in de 28 verse ob de 18 chapter ob Matthew. It reads dis way, "Pay me that Thou Owest." Ah knows dat dis am an unpopular subject wid some people, but Ah finds church members whut won't pay their jest dets, dat Ah decided to preach on it. Fust, let me say dat dar is three kinds of people in de worl, when it comes to payin dets. De fust kind is dem whut always pays their dets. De secon kind culd pay effen da wuld. Ah belongs to de las dink, cause Ah woud pay effen Ah could. It goes mighty hahd wid er man dat want ter pay his dets, an jest can't do it. Las week Ah went into a Clanton bank to borrow fiftey dollars, an de president axed me who Ah could get to endorse fur me. Ah axed him whut he ment, an he say you will have to git at leas two good men to stan good fur de money. An he axed me who Ah could git an Ah sa Ah don't kno, who would you take on de note wid me? An he say how bout Mr. T. E. Wyatt, an Ah sa no, Ah owes him fur two years fur de Union-Banner now. An he sa how bout Marion Gore an Ah sa, he wont, cause Ah owes him fur groceries Ah dun et up. Den he sa go an git Dr. Ezell, an Ah sa I knos Ah can't git him, cause he knos too much bout preachers to stan good fur one. So dat let me out an Ah aint got dat fifty dollars yit.

Las Tuesday evenin one ob my neighbors come over tur my house an had his han full ob letters. He couldn't read much, an he axed me effen Ah could hep him out an Ah sa how you mean, an he sa, Ah ben gittin dese letters since de fust ob de year, an Ah don't know whut it means. Ah hab got two each frum three doctors, an one frum four diffrent fillin stations, an some frum drug stores. And at de bottom ob evryone is a please remit. An Ah don't kno whut dat means. An Ah tole him dat it ment, please come an pay me, an dat nigger say, is dat it? Ise been owin dem bills so long dat Ah had dun furgot it. Now whut Ah would like to know is, how can a man be a Christian, an furgit whut he owes. In Romans 13:8. It says, "Owe no man aught save to love one another." After all the poor gets into det, an can't pay. De king in de lesson, wuz gwyn to sell dat poor man an his family fur a det. An when dat poor man went to him an promised him effen he would hab patience wid him, he would pay him, den dat king had compassion on him, an jest gib him whut he owed him, but dat same feller run across er man whut owed him jest a little bit, an when he axed him fur it, an de man say he couldn't pay him. He got mad an takes him by de throat an trys ter choak it outen him.

Now in dis lesson de Lord is tryin ter show us how good God de Father is ter us. Cause we all owed a det whut we couldn't pay. A big det ob sin. An when we went to him an axed him to furgive us, he done it. Ah knos er deacon whut et up bout a hundred dollars wuth ob groceries dat he bought frum his brudder, bout four or five years ergo, an still owes fur it. An dat same deacon is so strict dat he don't want de young men ob his church ter play ball. Ah believe dat is whut our Lord ment when he told de old Pharisees dat da strained at a gnat an swallered a camel.

One time Ah went into a store an one ob my bes frins wuz talkin to de sto keeper, an when de sto keeper sa to me. Blossom whut can Ah do fur you. Ah sa, boss, Ah cum in ter tell you dat Ah can't pay you dat bill, whut Ah owes you now, but Ah am on a trade wid a man to sell him my cow, an effen he buys her, Ah can pay you. An den mah frin spoke up an sa. How much does you owe? An de boss sa twelve dollars and fowty cents. An den my frin sa how many cows you got. An Ah sa jes one, an dat frin ob mine pulled out a check book on writ er check fur dat bill, an giv it to de sto keeper, an den he sa to me, Brudder Blossom, Ah's givin you dat cause you need dat cow. An Ah don't need dat money so bad. An atter Ah thanked him Ah went out. Ah thought bout whut a det I owed to God, an couldn't pay it. An den his son, our Lord, steps in an pays it fur me wid his own life. Oh, my brudders and sistren, jest think whut we owes our Lord fur whut he has done fur us. We ought to gib our whole life to him. An not only dat, but we should try to prove to de worl dat we is his, cause we is his, fur he bought us wid his own blood, an since we is his, dat makes us his servants.

Now a servant ought to serve, an one good way to serve Him, is to serve our fellowman. An you kno dat we aint servin our fellowman rite when we owes him an won't pay him. All Christians should sta as clear ob det as possible, cause nuthing will separate frins, or cause people to loose confidence in us any quicker dan to owe an not pay. My opinion is dat it has runied dis country. An befo things will begin to move on lak dey should, dar must eb a great det payin campaign put on. You see effen you pay me, den Ah can pay de udder feller, an dat enables him to pay de udder fellers an so on down de line.

So les fust begin to pay de Lord whut we owes him in service, an den try to pay our brudders whut we owes dem. An Ah belivese a great revival will break out in de churches. Now Ah feels lak Ah have talked long enough. Now let me read dis poem, an den we will stan an sing an open de doah ob de church.

How can we make dis ole worl,
A better place to live?
By payin our debts to our fellowmen
An be willin to forgive.
So les settle up wid de Lord,
An wid our fellowman,
An a great revival will break out
An de hallelula time begin.
Den sinners will be converted an
De wheels ob Zion move,
An dis ole worl will be happy,
Wrapped in Savior's love.

Now stan an de doah ob de church is open. Now set down. Brudders dis girl presents herself to you. Whut will you do with her. A motion is made to receive her. Ah will announce de time ob her baptismal at de nex service. Now les stan an be dismissed.

ANNUAL SCOUT DAY AT AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., March 2—Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, during the celebration of the 22nd anniversary of scouting early last month announced that the fifth scoutcraft jamboree sponsored annually by the Auburn district of the Central Alabama area council will be held this year on Friday, May 6th. Several new projects have been added to the jamboree program.

The scout executive with Prof A. L. Thomas, president of the council, in conjunction with Dr. Knapp, have issued a program which calls for events in inspection, rescue race, semaphore signaling, map and compass, morse signaling, axe, hatchet, firebuilding, cooking, fire by friction, scout pace, first aid and patrol project window display.

At noon the college will serve a luncheon for scouts and scouters, and following the events in the afternoon will make ribbon awards in every event as well as three major award to the 3 outstanding troops in this council.

This year the chief judge will be Grady Bradshaw of West Point. Other committee chairmen are Coach W. H. Hutsell, E. G. Salter, B. L. Shi, and P. P. Popwell. The head judges in each event are Capt. E. S. Scott, Coach Frank Dubose, Sgt. Charles Livingston, Capt. R. W. Grower, Sgt. G. Moxham, Prof. M. L. Nichols, Dr. R. S. Sugg, Rev. S. B. Hay, Dr. B. F. Thomas and Prof. Nan T. Jones.

Following the scoutcraft jamboree all scouts and scouters will be the guests of the college at the Oglethorpe-Auburn baseball game.

Each year this gathering of boy scouts from every community in the 12 counties served by the local executive has grown larger. On May 6 Auburn will be alive with many hundreds of khaki clad scouts out for friendly competition with their own scout friends, each hoping that his troop will be the victor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mahan and Miss Ruth Jones spent Saturday night with Miss Maude Mahan.

Please come to this convention and let's boost our Sunday school work. A good number of Sunday schools in a community means a good place to live.—W. J. Patrick.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Foshee visited in Birmingham Friday.

Central Singing Society

The Central Singing Society met at Poplar Springs last Sunday afternoon. There was a large crowd present, and the singing was mighty good. This is the first singing the society has had since the first Sunday in February. Everybody seemed hungry to sing, and the spirit was good all through the afternoon. Prof. L. T. Grant presided and served as arranging committee too, as no member of the committee was present, except W. M. Devaughn. There was a long list of directors called on to lead.

Several numbers were sung by the Clanton Quartet composed of Jesse C. Jones, Akins Collins, Floyd Devaughn and Renfroe Jones, with W. G. Culp at the piano. These gentlemen propose to do quite a bit of singing over the county this spring and summer.

The society is to meet at Concord next Sunday afternoon. Singing will begin promptly at 2 o'clock; and all singers are invited to take part. It will not be long until all day singings will interfere with our society, so we should all support it while we have the opportunity. Do your best to meet with us at Concord next Sunday afternoon, and bring your books without fail.

MT. PLEASANT DEFEATS COLLINS CHAPEL AGAIN

A large number witnessed the two games last Friday afternoon, when the Mt. Pleasant boys and girls motored to Collins Chapel and hurled them to a double defeat, the girls winning by a low close score of 4 to 3. The boys coasted to an easy 22 to 4 victory.

The irls game was hard fought, both teams struggling for possession of the ball, but the visitors succeeded in looping 2 field goals, while the home team was limited to only one goal from the filed, with the other point coming by a foul shot. However, both teams missed numerous shots.

The boys game was entirely too slow and dull at times, with the Mt. Pleasant boys getting about the worst game of their career out of their systems. They were guilty of much individual play, which resulted in their missing many crip shots. Little Curtis Traywick was pitifully off his usual form. He only accounted for 10 points, which is terribly low considering the many open shots that he had. His team mate Burnett followed closely with 8 points.

Aycock, Center, for Collins Chapel looped their only field goal.

Concord-Billingsley

Our hearts were made sad on last Thursday when we received the news of the death of Mrs. W. L. Herrod, of Plantersville, Red Hill community. Mrs. Herrod was seriously burned when her home was destroyed by fire on last Wednesday morning. She was rushed to a Selma hospital where she was given every attention by the best doctors and nurses, but it was all in vain. On February 24, between 9 and 10 o'clock p.m., the death angel bore her spirit to the great beyond. The many friends sympathize with the bereaved ones in their hour of sadness.

Our singing society meets next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. We invite all singers and lovers of music to meet with us.

Mr. and Mrs. David Tendoll attended preaching at Antioch Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Williams and children spent Sunday afternoon at the home of their Aunt, Miss Alice Williams.

Mrs. Willie Tendoll and children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fonso Williams Sunday.

Mr. Carson Williams, of Haynes, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Williams motored to Lawley Sunday afternoon to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanford.

Misses Kate Dickinson and Clara Delle Sims attended preaching at New Cedron Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pike spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams and daughter, Bessie, and son, Charlie, attended the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. Herrod, at the Colee cemetery last Friday.

Remember Sunday School at 10 o'clock a. m. and C. E. at 6 o'clock p. m. Every body is invited to come. You are always welcome at Concord.

SINGING AT THORSBY NEXT SUNDAY FEB. 6

Are You Paying TOO MUCH For Seed ?

Yes, the chances are you are paying too much, if you are ordering them from a mail order house. People have been coming to our store, and after seeing uor seeds and learning the prices, they have been astounded to learn that they have bought their seeds here at 40 per cent cheaper than they got them from a mail order house. Don't let it happen to you. Give us a chance to show you before you order seeds. We can prove that our seeds are as good as any you can get and the price is far below the mail order houses. For instance, we sell Stone Mountain Watermelon seed at 65c per lb.

"LEAP IN—LEAP OUT"

An event of much interest was enjoyed Sunday night, when Mrs. Thos. Strain, as hostess, entertained a party of relatives and friends at lunch in honor of her mother's birthday, Mrs. John H. Benson.

Since it comes only every four years a number of guests leaped in as a surprise to her. They were: Mr. and Mrs. George Pate of Shelby, Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. Doctor Robinson of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. Lonza Robinson Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. George Murrah, Thorsby; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vinson, Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Collins, Mrs. J. M. Beasley, Mrs. Luther Davis, Mises Hazel Collins, Louise Collins, Anna Strain, all of Fairfield.

Mr. Edgar Pate, Shelby, Alabama, Mr. Henry Lee Scruggs, and Thos. Strain, of Fairfield, Alabama.

Although the day was enjoyed by all, it was regretted that Monroe Benson and family could not be present, due to his illness for the past week. But hope he will soon recover and be out again.

The Chilton County Medical Society held its regular meeting at the courthouse Tuesday morning.

H. H. CASWELL
Pastor

Our Sunday school is growing fast; every Sunday new faces are to be seen in the several classes.

There will be no mid-week service this week, because of repair work being done on the building. The old steeple is being torn away. Plans call for the addition of new rooms, and a commissary. Services will be held next Sunday, although the building will be in an unfinished condition. We invite all who have no church home to come and worship with us.

Sunday school at 9:45 Sunday morning. A class for every age from the Cradle Roll department, to the adult classes.

Morning worship at 11:00 a.m. As this is the first Sunday of the month there will be communion service.

At 6:30 p.m. the Crusaders meeting will be held, with Mrs. Pearl Mims in charge.

The evangelistic service will begin at 7:30. Rev. H. H. Caswell, evanlist and pastor, will speak on "A Three Days Journey." Everyone who will be saved must take this three days journey—what is it? There will be special music at every service.

MR R. W. LITTLE DIED

Mr. R. W. Little, whose death occured in a Selma Hospital on February 11 at 7:52 p.m., buried at Plantersville, in the family lot, on the following Saturday afternoon. Funeral servces were conducted by his dearest friend and choice preacher, Bro. J. W. Dunaway, and pastor of the Plantersville Baptist church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Little had spent his entire life at Plantersville and in that vicinity, where he was born and reared. Had Mr. Little lived until March 17, he would have been 82 years old.

We feel that everything was done for him that loving hands could do, but God in His infinite wisdom, saw fit to take him from our midst, to that eternal home.

He left to mourn his loss, one daughter, Mrs. Ruby Mae Biscoe, one son, J. T. Little, one step-daughter, Mrs. Sarah Coker of Gadsden, and one grand child, Henry Eugene Biscoe, Jr., of Plantersville. Besides these he leaves many relatives and friends.

Children you have my deepest sympathy and prayer.—A Reader.

Mt. Pleasant School News

We are glad to say that our Sunday school is still growing, although we don't have as good attendance as we should. There were many more here last Sunday than we have had for the past two weeks, probably due to the bad weather, but we hape to have a large number present next Sunday. No one will have an excuse if this pretty weather holds out.

Our Epworth League is doing nicely. We have several new members, and there are others who could join if they only would. I am sure their attendance is almost perfect, so why not put your name on the roll and take part. We need all the help we can get. The more that comes and takes part, the more will want to come.

Every third Sunday is Bro. Marbury's regular appointment on which he always delivers some splendid sermons. Last third Sunday and Sunday night, his sermons were postponed on account of the bad weather. He will be back on next third Sunday at 11 o'clock and Sunday night at 6:30 o'clock, if nothing prevents. Everyone is invited to come and try to bring someone with you.

Misses Ruth Glasscock, Augusta Campbell, Clyde Willis, Amzie and Berniece Thrash dined with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thrash Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Benson spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Thrash Sunday.

Miss Voncile Thrash spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Thrash.

Mr. Grady Glass was the week end guest of Mr. Arnol Aldridge.

Miss Ruth Glasscock spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Lois Thrash. She was a visitor to Sunday school and League the past week end.

Miss Saderia Glasscock was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Orman Aldridge during the week end.

Mr. George Benson made a business trip to Clanton Saturday.

Mr. O . E. Gray spent the week end at home with his wife and children, returning to work at a late hour Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Wilson is spending a while with her neice, Mrs. Vadie Glass of Siluria, who is very ill.

Mr. B. W. Grey of Siluria was a visitor of Mrs. O. E. Gray this week.

We are sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mr. Leonard Martin. He hope him a speedy recovery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend to our friends in Clanton, in Providence and Friendship communities, our sincere thanks for the kindness shown us in the recent death and burial of Mr. Thomas Mitchell Bates.—His family.

L. H. BEAN FOR TREASURER

Mr. L. H. Bean, prominent and well-known business man of Jemison, has entered the race for Treasurer of Chilton County in the Republican primary to be held on May 3. His announcement appears in the candidate column this week.

For many years Mr. Bean has taken an active interest in public affairs. Two years ago he was a candidate for member of the County School Board.

His business activities and public interest have brought him in touch with many people in different parts of the county.

A big freight truck on the highway turned over just north of Clanton Wednesday morning, spilling its cargo all over the place.

BERRY PROGRESS STOPS IN FREEZE

Prospect of Early Crop Wiped Out By Cold Weather of Past Week

Freezing weather made a deferred appearance here last Saturday night, and wrought havoc to everything in the way of growing crops, plants, and early vegetation. It was the first time a freeze of any consequence had happened during the entire winter.

Everything was wilted by Sunday noon. Strawberries bore the severest damage. With the fine weather that has prevailed for the past month or more, every indication was that picking and shipping of strawberries would be in progress within two or three weeks. The fields were loaded with almost mature berries. But the freeze of Saturday night wiped the slate off clean, and it is certain now that the plants will have to make an entirely new start if they are to produce a crop of berries.

While some are very much disappointed at the destruction of the present crop, yet there are those among the berry growers who are optomistic enough to declare that the freeze was a blessing in disguise. They say the strawberry fields will come out and make a crop yet, and that it will be late enough to bring a better return to the growers than they would have gotten of the early crop had come off according to schedule.

Strawberries are not all that suffered from the cold. Many early gardens were laid low. In the fields and woods many wild things had already put out, and they were killed outright.

AT THORSBY

This section was visited with a severe freeze on last Saturday night and Sunday, which did a considerable damage to the strawberry patches.

All strawberries in all sizes that were formed, are gone, and there only remains to hope for the chances the plants have in coming back for new blooms, and this depends entirely on whether the crowns were hurt or not.

We have estimated here that 50 per cent of the crop is gone, but of course these figures may have to be revised, for possibly less or maybe more.

In this connection we call your attention to the benefits of mulching. First it was necessary to mulch berries, if you wish to have them free from sand, and therefore make your grades better, as the government grading is very severe on sandy berries.

Then again, we believe that a well mulched patch will be able to withstand a freeze better than a patch not mulched. If on the danger of a coming freeze, the berries were covered with some pine straw or other straw, and this later raked off the top, so as not to suffocate the plants, we believe that a grower may in most cases get by a freeze like the one we recently had.

We understand from Castleberry that they are now held back until about April 1st, while we may not look for shipments until some time after the 20th of April.

However it is found that where heavy application of fall fertilizer was used, an dthereby the patches being further advanced, the most damage had been done, while again many other patches, not so far advanced, seemed to have suffered only slightly. To those who have not as yet received any crates, a notice is given that as soon as we can tell how the crop will come out, we will get in touch with you, and will also have plenty of crates for you. In the meantime it would be well for you to be in touch with us and keep us advised how your patches look.

DON'T LET THEM COUNT YOU OUT

The above is the heading on each of a series of advs. of the famous blood tonic, S. S. S., the first of which is appearing in the Union-Banner this week. Careful reading of all these advertisements will give you some dots on health. Even if you don't buy a bottle of S. S. S., it will pay you to read these messages of advice from other people who have suffered with the various annoyances arising from impure blood. This family remedy is said to be a great strength-builder; and if you happen to be one of the many who crave a beautiful complexion, it might pay you to read carefully every word in this series of advertisements. These ads. will be found at the top of some page, near the front of the Union-Banner every week.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

At 11 o'clock next Sunday the pastor is going to speak from this subject, "Why I Hate Whiskey." It will not be long before candidates will be nominated for the presidental race, and should I speak then on the whiskey question, some would accuse me of speaking against or for some candidate. Before nominations are made, I am going to have my say. I do not dabble in politics in the pulpit, but I try hard to be strong on all moral questions. I am not ashamed to acknowlege that I hate whiskey, and this message next Sunday should be heard by every man and woman, every boy and girl in Chilton County. The message will be red hot, and we want you there to help us in outlawing this curse of our race and civilization.

Sunday school at 9:45, preaching at 11 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m. There will be a general asembly of the Sunday school at 10:30. On account of bad weather last Sunday we made a discouraging start for March, but we want you to make up for that day by breaking records next Sunday.

JOHN EZELL IS ON CAMP STAFF

Will Assist Director of Activities In Boy Scout Camp at Spring Villa

Scout John Ezell, son of Rev. S. J. Ezell, one of the patrol leaders of Troop 47 of Clanton, Ala., has been selected as the Clanton District representative on the Junior Camp Staff, announces Camping chairman, John Hollis, of the Clanton District. The scout executive is well pleased that this young scout will be one of his helpers and he has already been designated as staff leader in charge of all woodwork, carpentry and kindred subjects.

Each day at the camp improvement period John will assist the campers in building benches, repairing cabins and other minor carpentry duties.

Prof. A. Carnes on his weekly visit to camp will have John as his assistant in teaching the Merit Badge subjects that require the use of hammer, saw, nails, wood, etc.

There are other duties that John will have, but none more important than the nightly planning of the next days program with the other junior and Senior members of Camp Spring Villa. This assures each day of camp being a little better than the last.

CITIZENS OF THIRD DISTRICT ENDORSE MR. J. C. ATCHISON

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

We, the undersigned citizens of the third district, wish to take this means of endorsing the candidacy of Mr. J. C. Atchison, who has decided recently to make the race against Mr. J. L. Burnett, the present commissioner of the third district.

Mr. Atchison has had seven years experience in road work and we know that he is thoroughly qualified for the position that he is respectfully asking for, and will do efficient work in this capacity. He will do justice to all and lend special favors to none, and he favors reduction of tax values if the depression lasts.

We respectfully and earnestly insist that the Republican Voters of the county give this matter due consideration, as the people everywhere are clamoring for a change and we fell like a change in this district is absolutely necessary and Mr. Atchison is the proper man for the place. With best wishes, we are, sincerely yours, L. B. Broadhead, Ben Glasscock, J. H. Ratliff, H. J. Langston, C. F. Merchant, R. C. McGee, Z. L. Hamrick, L. L. Seales, H. Provisions of The Law Relative To Tax Valuations of Real Estate Are Outlined

Concerning the matter of valuations of property for taxation, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County has issued the following statement, which is a condensed digest of the law relative to the fixing and determining valuations of property for taxation.

The four members of the Court of County Commissioners and the Tax Assessor constitute the Board of Review. The Tax Assessor is Secretary of the Board and the Board selects a chairman from among the membership.

When the Tax Assessor shall have completed the assessment, valuation and equalization work in his county, it is his duty to notify each member of the Board of review and the Board shall meet on the second Monday in April and sit at the Courthouse of the County from day to day until their duties are completed, which shall be not later than the first Monday in May, and shall review, revise, correct and fix the assessment values made by the Tax Assessor by raising or lowering the assessment of any person, partnership, corporation or association.

Upon the completion of the work of reviewing and adjusting the assessed valuations by the Board of Review, the Tax Assessor shall give notice by publication once a week for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper publshed in the county, that the assessed valuatitns of the property listed for taxation have been fixed as provided by law and that the tax return list showing thereon such assessed valuations are in his office, open for public inspection and that the Board of Review will sit at the Courthouse of the county on the first Monday in June to consider such objections as may be filed by the taxpayer as hereinafter provided.

Any taxpayer who is not satisfied with the valuations of his property as fixed and entered on the return list, may file objections in writing to such assessed values, with the secretary of the Board of Review (Tax Assessor), on or before the last Monday in May. The taxpayer shall set out in such objection filed, the description of each item of property and his reason for making objections to the assessed valuation as claimed therein.

For the purpose of hearing objections filed in writing to any assessment or valuation fixed as provided, the Board of Review shall sit at the Courthouse on the first Monday in June for such hearing, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and shall continue as long as may be necessary, provided such sitting shall not be extended beyond the second Monday in July.

At this sitting the property owner may appear in person, by agent or attorney and produce evidence in support of his objections to any assessment or valuation theretofore made. The Board may examine the property owner under oath and also any other witnesses in order to arrive at the fair and reasonable market value of such property. The Board of Review shall then fix a valuation at sixty per cent of its fair and reasonable market value and which amount shall constitute the assessed value of the property.

In cases where objections have been filed in writing by a taxpayer, his agent or attorney, as provided and the objections having been overruled by the Board, such taxpayer may take an appeal from the action of said Board to the Circuit Court of the county and obtain a trial by jury. The appeal may be taken within thirty days from the final decision of the Board and the taxpayer may execute a bond and demand a trial by jury and the jury shall render judgment fixing the fair and reasonable market value of the property for purposes of taxation.

Blanks are provided at the Probate office for use of any taxpayer who is not satisfied with the valuation of of his property, and who wishes to get his case before the Board of Review for further consideration.

Any and all taxpayers who wish to appeal to the Board of Review must get one of these blanks and fill it out and file with the Tax Assessor, who is secretary of the Board of Review, as provided and explained above.

A. P. VINSON

Republican Candidate for

County Commissioner

In the Fourth District

Editor UnionBanner:

I wish you would publish the within letter, which I am addressing to the Republcian voters of Chilton County.

I am a candidate for Commissioner from the Fourth District and no doubt most of the voters are now busily engaged in preparing their lands for this year's crop, and I am very busy with my official duties, and farming, and there will be many of you I will not get an opportunity to see personally. I would like to say at the outset, that I have always been a Republican, and have always voted the Republican ticket, not only for a part of the man on the ticket, but the full ticket and I have never heard anyone discuss or doubt my loyalty to the party. And I want to make it clear also, that if I am not nominated, it will not affect me as far as my party is concerned, but I will be just as loyal in the future, not only with my vote, but with my help and assistance as well.

I feel that it is my duty to state to the voters some of my official acts and the things that have been accomplished during this term of office and what my intentions are in the future, if nominated and elected. I have endeavered to discharge my duties without special favors to anyone and it has been my intentions to keep overseers who will do their duty, and I have urged them, at all times, to be as economical as possible with the people's money. While I have in my district something like one-third of the mileage of the public roads in the county, I would like for the voters to see my district and see the condition of the roads before they vote. For the years 1930, 1931 and 1932, the Commissioners Court passed an order, which I supported and voted for, re-

PROMINENT MEN KIWANIS GUESTS

Outstanding Features On Club Projects for Month of March

The program for today's luncheon of the Clanton Kiwanis Club will include several peppy songs and musical numbers, with talks by local citizens, reports of various committees of the club to be made, and any business that may come before the members.

Last Thursday's luncheon was among the outstanding of the year. A well prepared and tastefully seasoned lunch, started things off in the right way, along with the enthusiasm displayed in songs by Cohen Stapp. Two visiting speakers, guests of the club were present and a new slant on present conditions of agriculture and industries was given the club in the talks by these two men, Dr. L. M. Jackson and J. L. Liles, the latter being County Farm Agent of Jefferson County. Earle Thomas had charge of the program.

Mr. Liles' address was most interesting, as he gave some very important figures and information concerning the farm life of the state. Attendance last Thursday was only a little off with two members absent. A full attendance is expected today.

CLANTON QUARTET WILL SING IN MONTGOMERY

The Clanton Quartet will sing for Big Brothers Bible Class in Montgomery next Sunday morning. The program will be broadcast over station WSFA between 9:30 and 10:30.

Judge Leon McCord is teacher of this class. Attendance at the service is usually more than a thousand men.

The Clanton Quartet is composed of Jesse Jones, Renfroe Jones, Akins Collins and Floy DeVaughn. Will Culp is pianist and director.

PREPARING FOR FARMERS LOANS

County Agent Stapp Making Ready to Receive Applications for Federal Aid

Mr. Stapp announces that beginning March 15th he will begin receiving applications for loans to farmers who cannot get financial help otherwise to make a crop in 1932. In order to avoid the rush at the office on the 15th, Mr. Stapp asks that farmers come by Beats as follows:

March 15th—Beats 1 and 2, March 16—Beats 3 and 4, March 17—Beats 5 and 6, March 18—Beats 7 and 8. No applications will be handled on Saturday the 19th.

March 22—Beats 9 and 10, March 23—Beats 11 and 12, March 24—Beats 13 and 14, March 25—Beats 15 and 16.

No applications will be received from farmers in adjoining counties.

Mr. Stapp points out the following important facts pertaining to loans this year.

(1) Those making application will have to pay a fee to employ clerical help as the Department of Agriculture does not furnish any clerical help for making applications.

(2) No loans will be granted at present to farmers who borrowed last year and have not paid up.

(3) No loans will be granted to farmers who did not farm in 1931.

(4) Those making application for loans must take oath that they have been unable to get financial aid for this year and that unless they get aid they will not be able to farm.

(5) Farmers found guilty of making false testimony relative to this are subject to six months imprisonment and a thousand dollars fine.

(6) All who make applications must give description of land, including numbers that they will cultivate this year.

(7) Tenant farmers must get their landlord to appear with them and sign waiver of lien to all his interest in the crop until the government loan is paid.

INDEPENDENT BASKET BALL TOURNAMENT

BREAKING DOWN DENOMINATIONALISM

Edtor Union-Banner:

Please permit me to say through your paper a few words. I am glad to say that we have a free place to worship at Jemison and wish to thank Rev. Honeycutt for the message that he brought to us the last fourth Sunday. It was delightful and encouraging to all the hearers. We had a a large crowd and the Gospel was preached with power. Two came and fell prostrate at His feet calling on the Lord and asking what they could do to be saved. We invite all denominations to come and worship with us. Our services will be held next Sunday, March 13. Rev. Parker will conduct them. We have Sunday school every Sunday, and everybody is cordially invited.—Rev. C. J. Moates.

COURT SENTENCES MAN TO CONTINUE CRIME

The trial court of Walnut Creek church was called for a special case to be tried Sunday night, Feb. 21. Due to inclement weather, no one was in attendance, so the case was set for Wednesday night, February 24. The defendant Rev. P. A. Lynch and family being called away to Cullman County, on account of the death of Mr. G. S. Collins, a near relative, of the family, so the trial was again delayed, but on Sunday night, February 28, the case was called again and tried.

Court was called to order by Judge C. D. Duke. Attorneys J. J. Johnson and Cleveland Driver, represented the church, and Irving Kennedy represented the defendant. Sheriff R. E. Powell kept rather good order considering the nature of the case. Court Clerk, Jesse Baker, was very much on the scene.

A score of witnesses were called and sworn for each side.

The judge ordered the sheriff to produce the defendant. (He was ignorant of being tried until now.)

The indictment was ordered read by judge, which follows:

The State of Alabama, Circuit court of Chilton County: Indictment for January term, 1932:

The Grand Jury of said County charge that before the finding of this indictment, that P. A. Lynch, whose name is to the grand jury and otherwise known in Chilton County, Alabama, and being more particularly at the Walnut Creek Methodist Protestant Church and within the past four years did commit the charge and crime, both in day time and night of preaching and delivering good sermons.

Count two—The Grand Jury of said county further charges that before the findings of this indictment that said P. A. Lynch, whose name is to the grand jury otherwise unknown and in Chilton County, Alabama and at the Walnut Creek Methodist Protestant Church and within the past four years was guilty of causing and creating a spirit of harmony and did cause and create such church and its members to cooperate in harmony.

Count Three—The grand jury of said county further charges that before the finding of this indictment that said P. A. Lnych, whose name is to the the grand jury otherwise unknown, within the past fuor years and in Chilton County, and at Walnut Creek Methodist Protestant Church, was guilty of visiting the sick and visiting those afflicted and distressed and otherwise and in general attended to the spiritual needs of the members of said church and other parties in and around said community, and also was guilty of actively engaging in and assisting and working with the Christian Endeavor and in general helping and aiding said church and the members thereof in various and sundry ways.

The court proceeded with the trial with the prosecution first making their case, which was done in great style. The defense came with a flood of evidence, which had no small effect on the church's case. The nature of the case, the ignorance of the court proceedure, on the part of the judge, lawyers, and witnesses, the nutty questions asked the witnesses and unexpected answers in response to these questions, the continued flood of rebuke coming from the judge o the attorneys of each side, the regular and continued imposition of fines on both attorneys and spectators for divers forms of disorderly conduct, all shared greatly in causing some one hundred or more very sore sides, which were the after effect of a continuous, ever-increasing uproar of laughter, during the deliberations of the above named court.

When both the prosecution and defense had rested the case. The judge called for the argument of the case, which was very short and humorous.

The judge then gave the verdict as follows:

I find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, and set his sentence at life to continue living and committing life as charged in the indictment. The Sheriff was ordered to turn the fines over to the defendant, Rev. Lynch, to use as he saw fit.

The defendant was then asked to say what he liked. The court was made to feel ill at ease, for his comments were really good.

Another feature of the evening was a very able discourse by a young man whom we are justly pround, Mr. Cleveland Driver. Come again to visit and may God bless you everyone.

SCOUTING

(By Lone Scout Charles Foshee)

The question may be asked—What is scouting?

Scouting is an organization designed to help in the preservation of health and character of the members. It was incorporated February 8, 1910, and passed by Act of Congress. This movement provides on outlet of activities of young boys by forming outdoor sports that will lead them to be better citizens of tomorrow.

Scouting was first in Great Britain in the form on Knights, but it was called Scouts in America.

The Scout takes oath as follows: On my honor, I will do my best—1. To do my duty to God and to my country, and to obey the Scout law. 2. To help other people at all times. 3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

There are classes of Scouts, such as: Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life, Eagle and Veteran Scout. Every boy can pass these tests and be awarded merit badges.

Why Be a Scout?

1. Membership in the greatest boyman organization n the world, a brother Scout to over 893,000 Scouts and Scouters in our own country and over 2,000,000 throughout the entire world. 3. Service to Council and to mother country. 3. Has a rght to participate in Scout camps, Jamborees, Etc. 4. The Lone Scout has a right to select the best man in his community to be his Friend and Guide.

The Boy Scout handbook is one of the most worth while books available for boys. He can use this book in Scout service and reference for his school works.

If you live near a Scout council offce, get in touch with the Scout Executive at once and take steps to become a Scout. Or if you live outside the territory or rather become a Lone Scout write to the Boy Scouts of Amerca, Lone Scout Service, 2 Park Avenue, New York City, for littrature and application blanks, which cost nothing. You will like this work because others have. "Once a Scout Always a Scout" has been said by many of the presidents of the United States.

The handbook costs 50 cents per copy, and the Scout yearly fee is also 50 cents, making it $1.00. This will be the best investment of one dollar that a boy can make. This work is carried on by the Congress of the United States. The president and vice president are always the president and vice-president of Scouting. Any boy may become a Scout within the ages of 12 to 21. Write at once for information on Boy Scouts or Lone Scouts of America.

SPEAKS FOR VINSON

Editor Union-Banner:

I want to say a few words to the voters of Chilton County, and I hope you will see fit to publish what I have to say. I have always voted for what I thought to be the best interest of all the people and if I live to get to the polls this fall I expect to vote for Mr. A. P. Vinson for County Commssioner.

I have lived at the same place for many years and up until the last few years I have not had respectable roads to travel. Sometimes I could hrdly get away form my house in a two-horse wagon. I lived in a muddy country and Mr. Vinson has worked the roads and nearly all the roads near my house have been graveled, and I believe it is a bad time to change commissioners. I think it would be against the best interest of the taxpayers of Chilton County to put new inexperienced men in charge of the county affairs that will have to learn the work before they could do as well as those who have had experience.

There is one thing sure that when we put commissioners in office who do not know how to spend the taxpayer's money, we taxpayers have to pay for every mistake they make, and I would hate to see us take this risk of putting men in office that know nothing about how to work roads to save money. I am not interested in any controversies that usually arise in politics, but I am a citizen of Chilton County and all the interest I have is to see my county go forward in progressive movements, such as road building and etc., and I would hate to see us take a backward step and I do not believe we have any candidates in the fourth district for Commissioner that would do as well as Mr. Vinson would. I think experience is a great benefit to any officer.

I am proud of my county and the way the county affairs are being managed, and I can see no reason for a change.—Yours very truly, E. M. Hilyer, L. H. Hilyer.

GROWERS GET RATE HIKE SUSPENSION

Montgomery, Ala., March 9.—Suspension for a period of seven months of proposed increased freight rates on fresh vegetables to, from, and between points in the south has been granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission upon petition of J. D. Oliver, traffic representative of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

The railroads throughout the south filed schedules with the commission seeking to substantially increase the rates on fresh vegetables and watermelons, effective February 23.

Upon receipt of the schedules, Mr. Oliver investigated the new rates and finding them detrimental to the farm bureau membership, immediately filed petition with the commission for suspension. Such suspension was granted and schedules were suspended for seven months. The case will be heard in Atlanta, March 25, and farm bureau members will be represented by Mr. Oliver.

IVEY IS MANAGER OF SUPPLY CO-OP

Montgomery, Ala., March 9.—John E. Ivey has been elected general manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association by the co-operative's executive committee, it was announced here this week by Col. J. Litt Edwards president.

Ivey has been in charge of the feed service department of the supply association and his remarkable success in this connection led to his election to the position of general manager, which is a new position in the farm bureau organizations, Col. Edwards said.

The new position was created as a part of a program of expansion and improvement being inaugurated by the supply co-op, he added, stating that the main object of the new plans is to expand the marketing service to members.

"We have made great progress in the marketing of cotton, pecans, peanuts, livestock and poultry, eggs, and produce in carload lots, and in the purchasing or supplies, but we have never been satisfied with our efforts in providing a day-to-day market for chickens, eggs, beans, peas, fruits vegetables and other miscellaneous products in small lots," he said. This is one of the greatest needs of Alabama farmers and we are adjusting our machinery to meet this need.

Ivey is a former professor of poultry of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and is a graduate of North Carolina State College. He was reared on a North Carolina farm.

LIVESTOCK PAYS DIVIDENDS

Montgomery, Ala., March 9.—A patronage dividend of 15 per cent on gross commission receipts for the period July 18 to December 31, 1931, has been declared by the Alabama Farm Bureau Livestock Commission Firm.

Decision to declare the dividend was made by committee elected from the Farm Bureau livestock advisory board, of which Captain Glenn Deffke, of Orrville was chairman, Frank L. Wade of Catherine, vice chairman, and Joe K. McClurkin, of Cecil, Roy J. Crawford of Marion, and E. H. Scarborough of Mt. Willing, members.

They had been authorized to take whatever action they thought best at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Alabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association.

Checks will be sent to patrons of the firm in April, 1932, it was decided by the committee.

Meeting of the committee to decide on the dividend followed a meeting of the livestock advisory hoard. Members of this board, in addition to those on the dividend committee, include C. W. Rittenour, president of the Montgomery County Farm Bureau, J. W. Guthrie, Bullock County, Leroy Upshaw, Russell County, Lyle Smith, Dallas County, U. C. Jenkins, Marengo County, Vyron Turnipseed Bullock County, and Judge Stonewall McConnico, Wilcox County.

The cooperative commission firm was organized in November, 1929, and since that time has paid off several thousand dollars indebtedness, and was able to declare the liberal dividends despite business conditions, the dividend committee said.

POOR OR

TIMID MONEY FOR U. S. BONDS PLAN

"The anti-hoarding campaign in Alabama will not be an extensive drive to sell bonds as we did in the Liberty Loan campaign during the World War. The Alabama Committee plans no house-to-house solicitation of subscriptions.

"Its sole purpose is to call to the attention of those who are holding "timid" money out of circulation that this money may be exchanged for U. S. Government bonds which carry the same guarantee by the government that the money carries and in addition will pay two per cent interest.

"These bonds will be available March 15. They will be redeemable by the holder at full value at any time on 60 days' notice.

"The week beginning March 6 will be devoted to intensive educational efforts to let citizens of Alabama know that these bonds will be available in exchange for "timid" money, which is being held out of circulation. Sunday, March 6 of that week has been officially proclaimed by Governor B. M. Miller as "Faith In your Nation" Sunday in Alabama, when all pastors are asked to refer to this movement in their sermons. During the week speakers will be asked to appear before all groups of meetings to acquaint them with the purpose of the campaign. Local communities are asked to organize their own efforts along this line.

"Again it is emphasized that the sole purpose of the campaign in Alabama is to bring "timid" money back into the regular channels of circulation by offering to exchange for it, interest-bearing Government bonds, which carry the same guarantee by the Government that the money itself carries. We are concerned only with "timid" money now out of circulation and do not wish to disturb any money already in the channels of circulation."

NEW HAMPSHIRE PARSON REPLIES TO EDWARDS

Wolfeboro, N. H. Feb. 27.

Permit me to congratulate Bro. Edwards on his defense of Russellism. His letter is so sensible and his argument is so moderate that I cannot think that he is a strong Russelli it. He is tinged with the doctrine but his modicum of common sense will save him, from the extremes of the doctrine, which we usually see in the exponents of that fallacy—for in its usual form, Bro. Edwards is a fallacy. I have attended several of their lectures in the cities by seemingly scholarly men, and evidently somebody has put some good money behind the movement, but the doctrines propounded by such lectures as "Millions now living will never die," even if eloquent, scholarey, and to the unthinking so convincing, is bosh, pure and simple. Such things are simply put forth to attract attention, to get a bearing, in order to propound its collateral fallacies. And that set of books, "The Divine Plan of the Ages," is of the same stock and form. Enough truth is given in these books, just enough, to make them dangerous. The sensational big things that are going to take place, simply catches the unwary, and knocks them off their balance. A fine young man came to my parsonage one time at Erie, Pennsylvania, and asked me to talk to his sister. He said that she had read "The divine plan of the Ages," and other Russellite literature, until the family was afraid she was losing her mind. A man in West Virginia, an uneducated minister, had presented to him this set of books. He came to me all unnerved, and distracted, and began to unravel some wierd prophetic vogaries, and wanted to know if I had come across these ideas in my reading of the Scriptures. I replied, "Where did you get such ideas?" He replied "The Divine Plan of the Ages." He had read the Bible all his life, including the prophecies, but he had never come across such wierd doctrines as found in the "Divine plan of the Ages." And no one ever will. He knew nothing of the Russell movement. I acquainted him with the nature of the Russelite doctrine, and advised him to burn the books, which I think he did. I burned a set of them last year, when they were given me along with a collection of books to send down south to establish a library. I have too much respect for you Bro. Edwards from the tenor of your letter, to dispute your judgment, your interpretation, but my opinion still is that no living man knows of a certainty the meaning of much of the books of Daniel and Revelation, and the ablest commentators of America and England are honest enough to acknowledge so. And in conclusion, Bro Edwards, you could not get a body of college professors in all America, outside of a Russellite college if such exists, to give any credence whatever to the Russellite principles, yet these college professors nearly all pive full credence to the underlying principles of religion, as taught by the usual run of denominations. Some of the methods may be wrong, and many of these should be reorganized in policy, but their fundamental principles are founded on the Bible and Christ. Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian—all alike. The same cannot be said for the Russellite movement.

As to the greatness of New England, I saw when I read my letter after it appeared in The Banner, I had been too complimentary. I wrote the leter a stormy afternoon and did not read the letter before mailing, or I would have corrected this. New England has some great points in her favor, but she hasn't all of them. I can think of some lines in which Alabama and the South is ahead of her. For instance, your all day singings—one could well wish that every section of our country would borrow that institution from the south. We have only classical singing here, and most of the singers have to be paid or they don't sing. The people down in Chilton County there sing right down to the baby. Its a great institution and it is fine that our southern people are keeping it up. The school system in Alabama is right; the next thing to the school system in Massachusetts, but Massachusetts has been at it 200 years, and Alabama, really only fifty years. And Massachusetts, besides having all this time, was an old rich state when Alabama was an Indian wilderness, and never in all her 300 years has her State been overrun and her property absolutely destroyed, as was the case in Alabama in the 60's. Besides, again our government has favored New England at the expense of the South and West. Many New Englanders admit this. If with all these advantages New England was not somewhat ahead in some lines, something would be wrong with her. People here who have traveled south, admire the south. Only those who haven't been there are critical, and not all of them. About the only thing they speak lightly of is our revival meeting. Yes. Bro Edwards every church in Chilton County ought to have preaching every Sunday. If not by an outside preacher, let a home layman preach.

Importing a preacher from the outside to preach is somewhat a modern idea, and not the best one. The original idea was for the best man of the local congrgation to be its minister—called by the people—not sent by a presiding elder. My friend Joe Culp out there on Route 7 is good enough to preach in anybody's pulpit, and he's coming to see me in New England sometime, and when he does he is going to preach to these New Englanders, some real religion. Ordination means nothing—or little at least—a good man is everything. And Bro. Edwards, if you can preach as good sermon as you can write an article, I'll let you preach too, for me—only I'd want you to forget that Russell stuff, before you begin.

No, Bro. Edwards, ours is a big country, and no one section has all the good points. We of the South ought to come North and learn the "Damn Yankee," is a "damn good nieghbor," in most cases, and nine-tenths of the yankees have already forgotten slaveholders, the real "rebel" war, and acknowlege "reconstruction days," was an adominable sin. So why not shake hands, Bro. Edwards.—Orman T. Headley.

This month will bring two brilliant entertainments for the Kiwanis of Clanton, when these oldtimers will have the ladies on two consecutive programs. On March 17th the Kiwanis club will hold the annual "Ladies Night" which is always looked forward to, by the members of the club, and those who are fortunate enough to be invited as guests. On the night of March 22, the Clanton Pilot Club will entertain the Kiwanis Club at a banquet.

Lesson for March 13

JESUS COMFORTS HIS DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—John 14:1-18.

GOLDEN TEXT—Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Plans a Home in Heaven.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Plans a Home in Heaven.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Comforts His Disciples.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Comforts His Disciples.

The hopes of the disciples were utterly shattered when Jesus told them about the cross. He had told them that he was going away and that they could not follow him. He consoled them by

I. Pointing to the Coming Reunion in the Father's House (vv. 1-3).

1. He asked them to trust in himself even as God (v. 1). Faith in the God-man, Christ Jesus, will steady the heart, no matter how intense the grief or how great the sorrow. Faith in God and Christ is one and the same thing, for Jesus Christ is not merely another God, but one with God. Christ himself is divine and therefore the revealer of divinity. Jesus Christ is the same object of trust as God himself. The believer should repose in him the same confidence and yield unto him the same submission as to God. Trust in Jesus as God is the secret of a quiet heart.

2. He informed them that he was going to the Father's house to prepare a home for them (v. 2). Heaven is the Father's house. Heaven is an eternal dwelling place. There is in it abundant room for all. There are "Many mansions." All who come to God through Christ will find room.

It is a prepared place for a prepared people.

3. He assured them that he would come again and escort them to the Father's house (v. 3). Jesus will not wait for his own to come to him, but will come and call forth from the graves those who have died and transform living believers, taking them all to be with himself forevermore in the heavenly home.

II. Revealing the Way to the Father's House (vv. 4-11).

Jesus informed the disciples that they knew the way to that place to which he was going. To this Thomas interposed a doubt, in answer to which Christ asserts that he is

1. The way to God (v. 6). He is something more than a mere guide or teacher—he is the way itself. He is the door of the sheepfold—the very entrance to the tree of life.

2. The truth (v. 6). He is not merely the teacher, but the truth incarnate. In Christ's incarnation the spiritual and material worlds were united. Therefore, every line of truth, whether spiritual or material, converges in him. No one can ever have the real truth about anything who does not have Jesus Christ. In him we have especially the truth about God. To pretend to know God while at the same time rejecting Jesus Christ is utter folly. Only as Christ reveals God can we know him (John 1:18).

3. The life (v. 6). Christ is not merely the giver of life, but he is the essence of life. Only those who receive Christ have life in the truest sense.

III. Assuring Them That His Work Was to Continue (vv. 12-14).

Jesus' going away was not to end the work which he had begun. This, no doubt, means that through the ministry of the Spirit-filled disciples the work which Christ began would assume larger proportions. There would be a much greater number of conversions than under his ministry. The means by which they were to get the power to do such wonders was prayer. God will surely answer prayer, not only because he loves his children, but through answered prayer his own name will be glorified.

IV. Promising Another Comforter (vv. 12-17).

The word "Comforter" means literally "one called to the side of another to give help, protection and deliverance." This Comforter is the Holy Spirit. Jesus was the Comforter while here on earth. The Holy Spirit was to be "another" Comforter. The condition upon which they might enjoy the comfort of the Spirit was obedience to Jesus (vv. 15-17).

V. Assuring Them of His Return to Them (vv. 18-24).

Although Jesus went away he did not leave his disciples as orphans. He is spiritually present all the time. The Father and the Son make their abode with the disciple who loves and obeys Jesus Christ.

Trust the Lord

Difficulties afford opportunities for learning God's faithfulness, which otherwise we should not have. It gives me great comfort to remember that the work is his; that he knows how best to carry it on, and is infinitely more interested in it than we are. His word shall not return unto him void: we will preach it then, and leave results with him.—Hudson Taylor.

Gratitude is the continuous echo which our hearts give to God's mercy.

Miss Maud Mahan is spending a few days with Miss Maxine Nelson in Clanton.

REORGANIZATION OF OLD BUSINESS FIRM

Organization of the Hobbie Co., Inc., with a capital stock of $115,000 has been completed here and plans are under way for an expansion program that will include the establishment of many branch stores throughout the state. The new concern succeeds the Hobbie Grocery company, for many years wholesale dealers in grain and food products in Montgomery.

The new company will be associated with the Independent Grocers' Alliance of America, with officers of the latter holding office in the reorganized concern; R. M. Hobbie will be chairman of the Board of Directors.

The I. G. A. is composed of independent grocers throughout the nation who banded themselves together for the purpose of co-operative buying and advertising. Operators of the individual member stores retain full ownership of their establishments while their buying power is equal to that of any organization.

Mr. Hobbie has announced that the same personnel will be retained here, with other local employees to be added as the expansion program progresses. Officers of the organized company are W. K. Hunter, vice president of the I. G. A., president; William W. Thompson, secretary of the I. G. A., secretary; L. G. Groebe, treasurer of the I. G. A., treasurer; C. F. Emerson, head of the supervision department, and Paul L. Herrick national director of buying for the I. G. A., are vice presidents of the Hobbie company. Frank McPherson vice president of the First National bank, is a member of the board.

Biology Field Trip
(By Tina Hyman)

Mr. Vernell's Biology class made a most interesting and instructive field trip last Wednesday morning, the purpose of which was to gain a first hand study of new specimens for experimental work and discussion at the regular class periods. Quite a varied collection of wild flowers and animals that live on both land and in the water were found by the students. A rare specimen was a wood mouse, which s quite different from the familiar mouse found around our homes.

Forensic Club
(By Louise Knox)

The Forensic Club presented a program at assembly on Wednesday, March 2. The following numbers were offered:

The Importance of Debating.—Elizabeth Stanley.

History of the Club. — Louise Knox.

Why I am a member of the Club.—John Ezell.

A book on debating was presented to the high school by Sallye Mahan, Class President.

The regular meeting was carried out Thursday afternoon, Dan Smith told how to select a subject for debate. Pearl Vinson discussed the presentation of a subject, and John Ezell offered several suitable subjects for debating. The Club feels a great deal of good can come from an organiation of this nature. The program was received well by the student body.

Mr. Wyatt Talks to Sr. II English Class
(By Pearl Vinson)

During the first period last Friday morning, Mr. Mack Wyatt, editor of The Union-Banner, talked to the Sr. II English Class on the subject of the literary value of the newspaper. His talk was very instructive and appreciated by the entire class.

In this talk he urged the class to study newspapers more carefully becuse each printed newspaper is a contribution to the world's history. He also emphasized the fact working with newspapers is an honorable calling, and that editors of newspapers are always anxious to get the news fully and truthfully for their readers.

At present the Sr. II English Class, under the supervision of Miss Nell E. Wells, is studying the history and development of the newspaper. Mr. Wyatt's talk helped us very much in our study. We appreciate his interest in our school and we extend a cordial invitation to visit our school agan soon.

POOR OR

IN MEMORY OF S. M. YATES SR.

On Saturday, March 5, 1932, the death angel came into our midst and took from us our loving grand father. He had been ill for sometime, but did not take his bed until one week before his death.

He was good and kind and everyone who knew him loved him.

He was born November 15, 1852, and was reared in Chilton County. His home was near Coopers, Ala. He was married to Miss Martha Webb about 60 years ago.

To this union were born 8 children, 4 of whom survive.

He joined the Baptist Church at an eary age, and soon thereafter was ordained as a deacon, and was loyal to his church and to his Master until God saw fit to call him home.

Dear grand father, we mis syou more than any tongue can tell. We know that you have gone to Jesus, and our loved ones already over there. We know that our loss is Heaven's gain. He will have no more sorrow, all is gladness and everlasting love where he is.

He fought a good fight and bore his suffering without a word of complaint

Burial was at Chestnut Creek Baptist Church, March 6 at 2:30 o'clock, with Martin in Charge.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Hood.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow: one sister, Mrs. I. J. Vinson; four children, Mrs. Eula Thomas, Mrs. Nancy Thomas, W. T. Yates and S. M. Yates Jr.; ten grand children; thirteen great grand children and a host of relatives and friends.

We miss him, oh we miss him,
For our Saviour called him away;
But we are praying to meet him,
In a better world some day.

He's not dead, just sweetly resting,
From life's labors and cares;
And if we live as Jesus taught us,
We'll meet him over there.

His great grand daughter.—Ruby Yates.

SPECIAL SESSION UNITY BAPTISTS

Will Be Held at Billingsley Baptist Church on March 25th

In response to a call of the State Baptist organization through its secretary, that all the Baptist churches in the state be called together in their respective Association in a one-day session between the 21st of this month and the 2nd day of April, 1932, the Executive Committee of the Unity Baptist Association has designated Friday, March 25, 1932, as the day on which to meet and the Baptist church at Billingsley, Ala., as the place to meet.

I, therefore, as moderator of the said Unity Baptist Association, hereby respectfully call upon all churches in said Association to immediately take the necessary steps to have delegates appointed to attend this meeting of the Association.

This is to be an inspiratonal meeting, and it is hoped that great spiritual blessings will come from same.

Delegates are to appointed, just as they are in our stated annual meetings, but there will be no reports to be made, as they are in our annual meetings.

It is expected of each delegate to carry lunches, that there may be no burden on any one church and community.

Churches that will not have regular preaching or business meeting between now and the 25th, of this month will please have a call conference at some suitable time between now and the 25th, and appoint the proper number of delegates to attend this meeting; and I call upon the clerks, deacons, and pastors of all churches to see that this is done and that each church has a good representation at the meeting.

Remember the time and place, on March 25th, 1932, at the Baptist Church in Billingsley, Ala.—Yours for the on-going of the Kingdom work, J. Z. Mims, Moderator.

POTPOURRI

Fireflies

There are several kinds of fireflies, the most common of which is the lightning bug. The lightning mechanism, usually situated on the sides of the abdomen, is composed of tissues to which are connected air tubes and nerves. The latter excite the air tubes, which convey to the fatty tissue the oxygen from which is produced the light.

Our Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. are progressing nicely, but there are still others that could come.

We are sorry that on account of the bad weather we could not have preaching Saturday night, but our pastor, Rev. Davis Durbin, delivered a fine sermon Sunday to the young people.

Health of this community is very good at present, except Miss Olyce Littlefield, but we all hope to see her out gain soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pascal spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Gore.

Mrs. Parlee Martin, from the Mt. Zion community, spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. Martin Gore.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gore spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jode Sammons.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gore spent Saturday afternoon with their daughter, Mrs. Euell Robinson.

Mrs. Wash Sammons and litle son, Edom, spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Sammons.

Mr. Davis Durbin spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gore.

Miss Olyce Littlefield spent Saturday night with Miss Gracie Pascal.

Miss Mary Giles has returned to her home after spending a while with her sister in Florida.

Miss Martha Jane Robinson spent the week end with Miss Onzell Littlefield at Jemison.

Mr. James Earl Harrell spent the week end with home folks at Providence

Mr. Dayton Ashcraft spent Saturday night with Mr. Doverd Gilmore.

Mr. Bernie Martin spent Saturday night with Mr. Edom Gore.

Miss Gertrude Gore, Miss Syble Vinzant spent Sunday with Miss Mildred Dobbs.

We have preaching services here every first and third Saturday night and Sunday. Visitors are always welcome.—A Reader.

BAKER SCHOOL NEWS

Next Saturday and Sunday, the regular monthly services will be held at Liberty Hill; Bro. J. S. Holland will be with us.

Only a small number of our pupils attended Sunday School last owing to the extreme cold.

The singing society will meet at Liberty Hill next Sunday afternoon. We hope to have a large crowd.

This community was saddened by the death of our friend, Mr. T. J. Baker, which occurred last Friday night. Burial was at Liberty Hill Sunday, March 6, at 11 o'clock, Rev. J. S. Holland and Rev. G. G. Williams spoke comfortable words to the bereaved family and friends. Spigener was in chage of the funeral.

Quite a number of boys and girls enjoyed the singing given at the home of Miss Clara Trice last Saturday evening.

The coach of Enterprise brought his second team to Baker and defeat the Baker boys in a hotly contested game by a score of 11 to 5. The game went off nicely and both teams heemed to enjoy the game.

At present we have quite a number of people who are ill in our community. We wish them a speedy recovery.

The Baker boys played the second game of the tournament against Concord Saturday morning, but lost 11 to 7. They hope to do better next year, as this was their last game to play.

STORY TELLING CLUB PLANNED

Will Be Under Direction of Miss Mary Ellis of Clanton

The National Junior Shakespeare Story Telling Club, through the assistance of local teachers, will shortly form a branch or association here, under the direction of Miss Mary Ellis.

The club is educational in purpose and is designed to acquaint every grade school child with the works of the famous bard and in such a way that it will appear like play to them. At the same time, it prepares them for high school English studies while those who are not fortunate enough to advance beyond the grades will have a working knowledge of the classics.

The plan consists of story hours for the children when groups meet and tell Shakespeare stories in simplified form.

Prizes for the best story tellers will be offered at various stages of the course and diplomas will be awarded each child who has finished the prescribed course.

The grand final will be a Shakespearean evening or pageant or Shakespearean program, having the children portray the Shakespearean characters.

The national association now reaches into pratically every state and has been immensly successful. Aside from the fact that members of the Club are improving their education and mastery of English, there is a social feature. Parents and teachers have endorsed the plan with enthusiasm.

Foursquare Church

H. H. CASWELL
Pastor

The ladies of the Foursquare Gospel Church have organized a Dorcas Society with a two-fold purpose; they will meet every Wednesday afternoon to sew for their commissary department, through which they expect to minister to the needy, food and clothing, and one week out of each month, they will devote their time to a study of Missions. The Foursquare Gospel organization is Missionary in spirit, and have missionaries on the field, both home and foreign, and the Dorcas society intends to become better acquainted with the work through a study of the various fields.

The ladies will hold their meetings at the home of Mrs. J. J. Mims each week until the new addition is made to our church, which will provide a room for that purpose. They will sew from two until four o'clock, then spend one hour in devotional meeting and prayer. All are invited who are interested in sewing for the poor. Charity is "active love" and we feel this is a good way to manifest our love for others. "And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing."

The mid-week service will be held on Thursday evening. Mrs. H. H. Caswell will bring the message. The subject is, "The Unspeakable Gift."

Sunday school at 9:45 Sunday morning. We are re-organizing the Sunday school, and invite all who do not attend Sunday School to come out. We will have a class for every age.

The Sunday morning service will begin at 11:00, Rev H. H. Caswell evangelist and pastor, will speak on "A Present Help in Time of Trouble."

The Crusaders service will be held at 6 p.m. with Gertie Mae Easterling in charge. There will be special music at each of the Crusaders services.

The evening evangelistic service will be at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Caswell will speak on "Demon Obsession."

Rev. and Mrs. Caswell are now living in Clanton at the extreme end of First Avenue South. They will be glad to help anyone who calls upon them, who are in need of Spiritual aid. We also welcome all to our services who have no church home, and who wish to worship with us.

DAT BLOOMIN PREACHER

Elder Blossom Fills His Pintment At The Shiloh Church (Col)

Dis first Sunday in March 1932 is a great day wid dis church, because ob de fac dat it wuz organized on dat day in de year ob 1889. It started wid only twelve members, an she now has sixty-four. Dar has been nineteen deaths and twenty-seben has ben letered out, which effen dese wuz added to the present membership wud make de gran total ob 110, an ob dis total only 51 wuz Baptized into her fellowship. Now ise gwyn ter read you one ob de greatest lessens in de Holy Bible; it is foun in de 5th chapter ob de Acts, fum de fust to de lebenth vers. You can stan now an sing dat ole song "I Am Bound for the Promised Land." Jes wait rite dar, befo you sing dat second vers, Ah wants evybody whut nows dat de is boun fur de promis lan to sing, an all ob you whut dont no it to shet yo mouf, cause Aninias an Sapphira los da lives jes fur lyin to de Lord, an effen you stan dar an sing dat you is boun fur de promis lan when you kno you aint, you aint lyin to dis congregashun, but you is lyin to de Lord. An Ah dont want no body fallin down ded here dis mawnin. Now sing, hole on er minit, dar aint but 14 people in dis crowd singin, an eben de organis is got her mouf shet, whut is de mattah wid you folks? Aint dere but 14 christians hyar? Now sing de res ob dat song an den we will prey. Now be seted. Brudder Luke Giles, ise be callin on you to prey, an you is one ob de Deakens ob dis chuch. An atter de fust vers ob dat song, you shet yo mouf an neber sung anuder word. Now does you feel lak leadin dis preyer (Giles stans an says) Ahd ruder youd lead it Brudder Blossom, an Ah wants you to prey fur me, cause Ah feels dis mawnin lak Ahs so fur fum de Lord dat He coldnt hear me (Blossom prays).

Now den mah tex is foun in de 11 vers ob de 5th Chapter ob de Acts. An it reads lak dis, An a great feear came upon all the church. To open dis subject Ah wants ter sa dat lyin is de mos uncalled-for thing dat people is guilty ob, fust because we neber gains nuthin by it, an in de nex place we looses evy thing. De fust thing we looses is our selfrespect, An jes belebe dar is folks here dis mawnin whut sung dat dont respec dey selves as much rite now as dey did when dey lef home dis mawnin, an den we looses de respec ob udders. Who can respec a lyar? Nobody. Dat makes me wonder effen a lyar thinks de Lord will respec him? Now to de tex, Ah dont suppose dat Ananias an his wife wuz de only lyars whut went to church dat mawnin, cause de tex says da great fear came upon all de church. Dar mus hab ben lots ob dem ole fellers settin back dar whut got scard dat de Holy Ghost wuz gwyn to sho dem up too. Ah can jes see de men lookin at dey wives an dey wives lookin at dey husbans, each one expectin to see de udder fall doun an die, or expecin to fall down deselves. Let me tell you Ah wuz pastor ob a church one time whut boasted ob bein de mos spiritul church in de county, an one ob de Deakons never did ax me to go home wid him, and when Ah exed him bout his wife, he would sa dat he couldnt git her to come to church an dat he done evy thing in his power to git her to attend church or she would sa dat she didnt want to. So long bout June Ah waied till he lef de church an got in my buggy and drove to his house and she had a good dinner an she wuz jes as pleasant as could be, an in de afternoon when we all wuz settin on de poach Ah up an axed her why she didnt wan to go to church, an she looked spized an seemed lak she didnt no whut to sa, den Ah up an tole her dat her ole man tole me at evy meetin dat he couldnt git her to go. Den Ah could see dat she got mad, an she looked at me an sa, "dat nigger has been lyin to you all diss time, cause Ah am always after him to git me some clothes so Ah could go to church an he wont do it."

An den he tried to turn it off by sayin, "Brudder Blossom, de reason Ah don't fix her up is caus Mag is sich a good lookin oman dat Ah am afraid to take her out to church fur fear some udder man will take her away frum me. An den Ah tole her dat he neber would ax me home wid him, den she say, de lyin dog, why ebrytime Ah axed him why he didnt bring de preacher home wid him, an he woud tell me dat he axed you but you wouldn't come. Ah thinks it is about time fur great fear to come upon dis church, an not only dis one but all de res ob dem. Ah knows Ah am jes a nigger, an not much ob a preacher, but Ah knows dis much, dar is more lyin gwyn on mung de church members dan eber befo in de history ob de church.

In de book ob James, de fus chapter an de 26 verse, he sa, "If any man among you (an dat means omen too) seem to be riligious and brideleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, dis man's religion is vain." Dat tongue ob yourn was jes now singing, "Ah am boun fur de promis lan," an de Lord knowed dat it wuz a lie, an sides all ob dat, when you jined de church you had de church fooled, but Ah wants you to know dat de Lord knowed dat you wuz lyin. An you has been lyin ever since. Ah thinks it is time fur you to git scared, an I do hope an pray dat great fear will come upon all ob you whuts ben lyin to de Lord all ob dis time.

Ah belive dat all ob de churches has got members whut has been lyin to de Lord. You look at John 8:44, read all ob dat verse, de las line sa: "For he is a liar an the father of it." Will you quit doin de things ob your father and be adopted into de family ob God? Read all dat 8th chapter ob John, an you will find who your father is. You can get away from all ob dat by takin Jesus as your persional savior. It is time now for me to close. Dis little poem whut Ah wants to read to you in my mine, tells de hole story. Dese poems whut Ah reads at de end ob every sermon, is composed by me, nobody ever heard dem befo, an Ah wants de readers ob de Banner to rite me effen da likes dese sermons. Jes rite to Elder Blossom in care ob de Union-Banner.

De hole universe is built on truth,
de earth, de air an sky,
An moved along in de bounds ob de truth,
Till de devil interdused a lie.

Den when man fell from truth,
an fell into a lie,
He can tell a falsehood,
An neber eben try.

So les quit lyin an tell de truth,
An de truth be ready to hear,
Den when dat dark day comes,
We hab nothin to fear.

Now les all stan an be dismis.

Mt. Pleasant School News

MT. PLEASANT WINS COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP

The basket ball season in Chilton Junior High Schools ended last Saturday night with the Mt. Pleasant Juniors emerging victorious over the Thomas Juniors in the final, via the victorious route.

With the Mt. Pleasant team leading 7 to 3 soon after the second quarter opened, one of the Thomas Jr. players committed a personal foul, then following quickly with a disqualifying foul which resulted in his expulsion from the game. At this junction of the game the Thomas players were called from the floor by their coach and principal, which automatically resulted in a forfeit game to Mt. Pleasant 2 to 0.

These two teams had been successfull in winning the opening games that morning and then coasting on to victory in the semi-finals that afternoon.

The first game was between Thomas and Stanton, with the Stanton team being eliminated 15 to 12. The game was close all the way through, neither side being sure of a win, until the whistle blew. The game was tied with two minutes to go. Thomas looped a foul shot, then followed with a field goal to clinch the game.

The second game drew Concord and Baker, with Concord trimming their opponents by the count of 18 to 7.

The third game followed with Mt. Pleasant turning back the Collins Chapel quint by the one-sided count of 27 to 6.

The fourth game proved to be one of the thrillers of the day, when the fast-stepping team from Union Grove set the heavier team from Enterprise down by the close margin of 18 to 17. Little Charles Retherford and Danny Jones were the big shots for Union Grove. The former turnng in 7 points and the latter 6. M. Glass for Union Grove was outstanding in the center position, as he repeatedly placed the tip-off over Cagle from Enterprise. He also rung up 4 points.

James Griffin, the speed demon from Enterprise, led his mates in scoring honors, with 8 points to his credit. Enterprise held a 5 point lead at the half, but the Union Grove boys rallied in the third quarter, running up a five point lead for themselves, which was never overcome. With the count 18 to 13 against them, the Enterprise boys came through with two nifty field goals, pulling up within one point of their foe. It was here that the Union Grove boys showed their couarge and stamina in warding off this sudden attack, with the game one and one-half minutes to go. The Enterprise lads grew over anxious in rushing the ball, which resulted in their missing several shots from underneath the goal, which they ordinarily make good. A hard game to lose but clean fought.

In the semi-finals, Thomas rapped the Concord boys by the tune of 22 to 12. Then came the Mt. Pleasant and Union Grove game with Mt. Pleasant winning 28 to 14. The Mt. Pleasant boys made a miserable showing in the first quarter, letting the Union Groveers get away with an 8 to 1 lead, and also led at the half by 12 to 8. But at the opening of the second half, the Mt. Pleasant team began to click and they drove through the Union Grove defense to stack up a 22 to 12 lead at the end of the third quarter. They added 6 points in the final quarter against 2 for Union Grove, giving them a 28 to 14 victory.

Curtis Traywick, captain for the Mt. Pleasant team, again swept the honors, by looping the ball from all angles and in some odd positions, in accounting for his 18 tallies.

The Mt. Pleasant team will lose him, along with his team mate, Harry Parker, through graduation this year. Also J. P. Culp who has recently developed into a great defensive player, and deadly shot from under the goal. Littlejohn does not plan to enter school next year. This breaks the winning combination from Mt. Pleasant who have won 16 out of 19 games this season. This included wins over the Shelby County Champions from Calera and the varsity of the Chilton County High School. Their losses were as follews: Enterprise 15 to 8, to Stanton 19 to 20, and to Calera 19 to 17. Their total points for the year are 351 against 187 for their opponents. Of this 351 points Curtis Traywick has made 217, and his running mate, Burnett has 88.

This closes the career of one of the smoothest working teams ever to represent the Mt. Pleasant school. They have one more game booked, which is with the 1931-32 Shelby County champions, from Wilsonville, who defeated the Calera team in the final game at Calera last Saturday night. This game will be played at Calera next Saturday, March 12, at 8 p. m. Make your plans to see it. A great thriller. In the girls games last Saturday, Collins Chapel won over the Thomas team 7 to 5. Then the Mt. Pleasant girls defeated the Thomas team 11 to 8, only to lose in the final to Collins Chapel 7 to 5.

APPEALS TO VOTERS IN RACE FOR TREASURER

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words to the voters of Chilton County.

I am a candidate for County Treasurer on the Republican ticket.

I wish to say I am a life-long Republicans. I have always voted the ticket straight. I have never stepped aside in any way. I have always stuck to the party and expect to as long as I live.

I am asking your consideration in this race, your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.—L. H. Bean, Jemison, Alabama.

BILLINGSLEY

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Simmons, of Odenville, Alabama, were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Beadlescomb.

Mr. Basil W. Thompson is visiting relatives in Brmngham.

Mr. and Mrs. Collier Marlar, of Birmingham, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Marlar Sunday.

Mrs. Gaston Gaines and children, of Birmingham spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Beadlescomb.

Messrs. W. J. and T. L. Patrick attended the Sunday School Convention at Alpine Sunday afternoon.

Miss Betty Jane Gregory spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Lucille Pattillo.

Miss Annis Peoples, of Boothton, is the guest of Miss Pauline Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Braisher, of Boothton, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Donahoo and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wyatt and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Vinson.

Mr. Hobson Deramus was the Friday night guest of Mr. Eugene Davis.

Mrs. Robert Oglesby Jr. was the guest of her parents in Prattville the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert Jones, of Kilby, were the week end guests of Mrs. Hattie Dickinson.

We are very much encouraged over developments in the building High School program at Billingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jones announce the arrival of an eight-pound baby boy on March 7th. They will call him Jimmie Cost.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., Mar. 7.—Apparently experts, cracksmen entered the vault of the University of Alabama treasurer early Friday, March 4, and succeeded in getting a $4,000 haul. The combination on the vault door was punched in after the thieves had gained entrance into the office by forcing a lock on the door. The loss was covered by insurance. Birmingham finger print experts were assisting local police in the case.

Bishop Ainsworth of the Methodist Conference of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, and Cuba, will speak at the University Monday, March 21.

Dr. W. A. Smart, professor of theology at Emory University, will address the student body on Monday, March 14.

Dr. Paul De Launay, professor of French and music director at Howard College, spoke here Tuesday evening, March 8.

Speaking of efficiency, you've got to hand it to the U. S. postoffice officials for speed. Major E. H. Underwood, professor of military science here- received a letter March 4 from Fort Monroe, Va., and the postmark read "April 1, 1932". We figure that he got the letter almost a month before it is to be mailed.

Dr. James McLester of the medical faculty will deliver the McGuire lecture in medicine at the Virginia Medical College, Richmond, next week.

The Southern Regional Committee of the Social Science Research Council meets here March 25th and 26th. Among prominent guests to be present are Dr. E. E. Day, Rockefeller Foundation; Dr. Henry Suzzallo, Carnegie Foundation; and Edwin Embree, Rosenwald Fund.

OAK GROVE

Miss Lesta Cobb is presenting a play at Oak Grove, Friday night, March 11, entitled, "Always in trouble," or "The Hoodooed Coon."

It stars with a laugh and ends with a roar. When it is all over you will want some more.

The play starts at 7:30. Everybody is invited to come. The admission is 5 and 10 cents.

I have a new Guitar to sell at $5.00 cash.—G. W. Moore, Clanton.

Give the Railroads A HELPING HAND

THE OLD RELIABLE L&N (LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.)

THE RAILROADS of the United States can not move this weight alone. YOU must do your share if they are to survive the deplorable conditions now confronting them.

The following figures show what the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has accomplished toward overcoming the tremendous handicap imposed on all railroads by unregulated and unfair competition, increased taxes, decreased freight and passenger revenues and government subsidized barge lines.

The revenues of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad have declined $30,000,000 since 1921. One-half of this vast sum was due to the decrease in freight rates amounting to 17%. The other half was due to loss of passenger traffic.

During the same ten-year period this railroad has reduced its operating costs by more than $34,000,000 in spite of the fact that taxes have increased nearly $2,000,000.

And although the L&N, in 1931, under such drastic economy, still earned less than 2% on its half-billion dollar property investment, the above achievement emphasizes the remarkable efforts the L&N made to "carry on" and preserve its standing and credit in the face of such tremendous odds.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has fixed 5¾% as a fair rate of return on the value of railroad property used in transportation. It is evident, therefore, that less than 2% is a dangerously low return. Continued operation on such basis would be ruinous to the railroad systems of the United States, and would seriously impair the Nation's whole economic structure.

This condition must be averted. The railroads are doing their share and have earned your help. Do YOUR part by traveling on the steam railroads---ship by rail and lend your cooperation in their effort to obtain legislative relief. Give the railroads a helping hand!

The Railroads Must Earn To Spend

POOR OF

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

The most important item we have this week, as it concerns more people in Thorsby and vicinity, is the sudden and severe change in temperature Saturday night from summer to winter. All through February and almost a week of March mild weather prevailed, forcing growth of vegetation, especially truck crops and strawberries, the latter loaded with blooms and fruit in various stages of development, to such an extent that the 325 acres owned by 300 members of Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association, would have begun to yield carload shipments in another week of favorable weather.

These plants are not entirely hardy, and a sudden drop of temperature from 70 to 80 degrees to 18 or 20 degrees simply wiped out all the buds, blooms and fruit in sight over the whole area. Whatever of strawberry crop is obtained in this section in 1932 will have to be a new crop developed on the vines as they stand today. A more detailed estimate of the losses will be found in a report from the manager of the Fruit and Truck Growers Association, in this issue of The Union-Banner.

Next Thursday afternoon, March 10th, the Baptist Ladies Aid Social will be held at the home of Mrs. Green Burnett, on Michigan Avenue.

Sunday, March 14th, will be regular preaching both morning and evening (night), Sunday school at the usual hour, at Thorsby Baptist Church.

Mrs. Sidney Davenport, who has been confined to her home for more than a week, with an attack of flu, was back at work in Harper's Store Monday.

A letter received from Prof. C. M. Williams at Boaz, Alabama, states that he has been so ill for the past week as to be unable to attend his school duties.

Mrs. C. M. Williams had as her guest Monday her sister, Mrs. Tom Burdette, of Clanton.

Sunday school, morning preaching service, and Christian Endeavor meeting will be held at Thorsby Congregational Church at the usual time for each, next Sunday, March 14th. There will be no preaching at night.

Hollis Pate and wife, of Montgomery, spent the week end with Mr. Pate's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pate, of Thorsby.

Mr. Cecil Each spent a few hours with home folks in Thorsby Sunday evening, returning to Birmingham at night.

Messrs. Herbert and Gresham Lowery spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Lowery, in Thorsby.

A report from the Bice home says Mr. J. Bice is in some respects better, though not sitting up yet, and that little Oleta is very sick with tonsilitis.

Miss Cynthia Bell Barr is reported to be suffering with bronchitis.

Mr. Arnold Soberg, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg, at their home, in Thorsby.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins, accompanied by Mrs. S. E. Norton, went to Birmingham Saturday to bring Miss Lois Leech home from Miss Robinson's, where she has been recuperating for a week after leaving the hospital. She was warmly welcomed by T. I. dormitory folks.

Lester Pate has bought the Leary interest in Thorsby Filling Station, housed in the cobblestone building at the southeast corner of the highway and Jones Street. Mr. Pate is one of Thorsby's enterprising young men, unmarried, and has had some experience in the filling station business. He has made some interior changes in the place which make it an attractive place of business, and we hope he will have enough patronage to make it a success.

There are some people in Thorsby who promised money towards the building of Helen Jenkins Hall, and have not paid yet. Inasmuch as Thorsby Institute teachers have voluntarily offered to reduce their salaries for the rest of the school year, and the schools needs all the help it can receive in the way of donations, to finish the year's work, it is hoped that those who can will redeem their pledges, and that some who have not helped the school lately, will do so. Contributions may be handed to Rev. E. W. Butler, treasurer, or to Miss Helen C. Jenkins, principal.

Thorsby Institute term tests begin on Thursday of this week and lasts through Friday.

Last Thursday at chapel the biology class under Mr. Sutlive, their teacher, gave a very interesting and helpful program.

A week from Saturday night is the next open meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society. All are invited to come and see the play, "Theseus and Minotaur," and the French play "Blue Beard." Both stories are familiar to many, but have never been given in Thorsby.

March 25, 26, and 27 are the dates for the Young People's Christian Life Conference. The banquet will be at noon, March 26. All young people are invited to register. The registration fee is 50 cents for those living in or near Thorsby.

Mrs. Anna Phalin, Mr. Thomas Phalin and Mr. Frank Dick of Tuscaloosa, the latter a University student, spent the week end with Mrs. Phalin's brother, Charlie Howard, and family.

Mr. Nels Petersen spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mrs. A. P. Villadsen returned to Tuscaloosa after spending a while with her mother, Mrs. T. W. Balsam.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Gerald and daughter, Celia, of Clanton, were visitors at the home of the Gerald's in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard on last Thursday, the day being the 37th wedding anniversary of the Goddards.

Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Odom of Calera were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard.

On arriving in your hospitable city, I had the pleasure of spending my first evening in the Grammar School auditorium, attending a most excellent play, entitled, "Mammy's Lil' Wild Rose." Each character clearly portrayed his part. It was in my opinion, well performed in every way, and I'm sure the audience will enjoy seeing it played again. I am especially fond of the characters of Mammy, Celie, Orpheus and Rose. I take this pleasure and opportunity to suggest to all who appreciate a good clean play to come and see this play, when it is shown again.—Mrs. J. M. Cox, Leesburgh, Florida.

Mrs. N. Laurell spent Friday in Birmingham with her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Love. It is reported that Mrs. Love is quite sick at this present writing.

Miss Mary Ella Gerald, who is attending the University of Alabama spent the week end at home in Thorsby.

Mrs. Ola Kelley fell in her yard last Friday and broke her ankle. Dr. Franklin was called and set the broken ankle.

Mrs. Clyde Meade entertained for dinner last Thursday, Mrs. Earl Meade, Mrs. Starks and McKelley Hand all of Calera, Miss Marie Pow-Sims and Mrs. Elbert Hall.

Mrs. I. S. Gerald and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moody of Birmingham were guests at the home of their mother, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, for the week end.

Miss Edna Raybon, who has been spending weeks with her brother, Roy Raybon, in Birmingham, returned to her home Saturday evening.

Misses Justeen and Zalia Hall spent the week end with their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall.

Misses Loutishee Bean and Mary Ward returned home from Birminham last Thursday after spending a week in Birmingham.

Mrs. Clara Self of Birmingham spent the day last Thursday with her mother, Mrs. Martin Peterson. brother, Willis, who has been in Birmingham for a visit returned home with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall had as dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Hall and Granny Hall, Mr. and Mrs.Clyde Meade, Helen Louise and Misses Justeen and Zalia Hall.

SAYS JEREMIAH'S PROPHECY WILL SOON BE FULFILLED

Editor The Union Banner:

Will you please permit me to say a few words through your valuable paper, or rather quote a few scriptures recorded by the prophet Jeremiah.

First I wish to say that prophecy is the foreknowledge of God, spoken through his servants, just as He chooses. I don't understand that it makes a person any better because God chooses him for this purpose, but only puts more responsibility on him.

Now friends the prophecy that I wish to quote is shortly to come to pass. We will first notice Jerimian 4:6 says, "Set ye the sandard toward Zion, retire, sta ynot, for I will bring evil from the north and a great destruction. The lion is come in from his thicket and the destroyer of the Gentiles is on his way, he is gone forth from his place to make thy land desolate and thy cities shall be laid waste without an inhabitant, for this gird you with sackcloth, lament and howl, for the fierce anger of the Lord is not turned back from us.

And it shall come to pass at that day saith the Lord. "That the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the priests shall be astonished, and the prophets shall wonder at that time shall it be said to this people and to Jerusalem.

A dry wind of the high places in the wilderness towards the daughters of my people, not to fan nor to cleanse even a full wind from those places shall come unto me. Now also will I give sentences against them.

Behold, he shall come up as clouds And His chariots shall be as whirlwind, His horses are swifter than eagles, woe unto us, for we are spoiled.

O, Jerusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou mayest be saved. How long shall thy vain thoughts lodge within hee.

Now turn to 5:15. Lo, I will bring a nation upon you from far, O house of Israel, said the Lord, it is a mighty nation, i tis an ancient nation. A nation whose language thou knowest not, neither understandeth what they say.

Now lets go to Ezekiel 7:15, The sword is without and the pestilence and the famine within, he that is in the field shall die with the sword, and he that is in cities. Famine and pestilence shall devour him. But they that escape, of them shall escape and shall be on the mountains like doves of the valleys. All of them mourning, every one for his iniquity.

Now friends I think this prphecy has direct reference to the destruction of the Gentile age.

Just what the destroyer is, I don't know, but the prophets call it a lion. pestilence, famine and sword. However it will be sufficient to complete the job, and it will be cut short in rightousness. The wine press will also be trod without the city of Babylon. We may look for this prophecy to fulfill in the near future.

With best respect to all.—J. H. Jackson, Clanton, Rte. 1.

The play "Mammy's Lil' Wild Rose," which was given by the Public school of Thorsby, on last Saturday night, was highly successful, in that it kept the audience intensley interested from start to finish. It was exceptionally well given, the characters, all being well suited to their parts.

In spite of the bad weather prevailing last Saturday, a good audience was in attendance. However, owing to so many requests for the play to be given again, it was decided to give it again on Tuesday night, March 15, has been set as the date for the return engagement. Don't fail to see it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Biolus of Birmingham spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Atlanta visited at the home of Ed Piper last Wednesday.

MRS. NETT HUBBARD PASSES

Mrs. Nett Hubbard died February 21. A lovely character is gone from the walks of life, whose charm and Christian life portrayed, in her words, thoughts and deeds, a spirit of love, and influence, sweeping through a vast throng of personages, with whom she was thrown in contact. She yielded untold devotion, a building of His, unsevered, even at the call of death, ever patient, yielding submissively to the prolonged days and nights, where her body bore the burden of disease. Gradually menacing the vital organs that functioned her purpose in life and until the candle of her life gradually grew dim and obscured by the ravages of disease.

She was ever appreciative of deeds of kindness and affection shown her. She was a lover of home and her church, being a life long member of the Baptist church of Macedonia, near Maplesville, at which place she was laid to rest. The cortege to the cemetery was evidence of a large number of friends who held in their high esteem of life.

She was a resident of Chilton County, until 15 years ago. She cast her lot with her grand-daughter, Mrs J. L. Kincaid of Bessemer, at which place she died. Spigener of Clanton had charge of the body, and brought it to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Nix that night, taking it to Macedonia for interment Monday afternoon.

Nannie, as she was called by those most dear spent her wedded life with Mr. D. C. Hubbard, who preceded her to the grave in 1912. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. D. Nix of Maplesville, one son, Mr. Vernon L. Hubbard of Milton, Ala., seven grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren.

WILLIAM MINOR

On March 5th at 11:30 p.m. that grim monster called "death" laid its icy hands upon our friend and neighbor, Mr. William Minor, and wafted away his spirit to its reward.

Mr. Minor was confined to his bed almost six weeks to a day. His death was instant, but not altogether surprising. His illness was pronounced as heart dropsey.

Mr. Minor was a well noted farmer of Refuge community. He was a man that believed that this is the month (March) in which corn should be planted, and the writer recently heard it said that "William always had corn in the crib."

Our friend was married to Miss Elizabeth (Bloss) Cleckley about 39 years ago. There were seven children born into the family—four girls and three boys. The oldest girl died at the age of 3, about 25 yeears ago.

He leaves to mourn his passing, a devoted Christian wife and mother, and the following children: Mrs. Lillie Ann Cleckley, Mrs. Cludie Easterling, Mrs. Flossie Bice, Virgie, Gerthie, and Lee. He also leaves a mother, three brothers and two sisters. They are: Matthews, J. B., Jodie, Mrs. Joe Easterling, and Mrs. W. J. Easterling, also 14 grand children.

The remains were buried at Refuge Baptist Church, with Rev. M. J. Parrish officiating. This marks the 3rd grave at this place.—M.Lockhart.

Mrs. Dial and daughter, Miss Melna left recently for Montgomery where they will in the future reside.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

We have been hearing more and more of late about our declining foreign market, due to the efforts of our American free traders to make capital out of the depression by claiming it was a result of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill. Such efforts are of course more than childish, as anyone who will take time to analyze the situation can soon see. In the first place our exports were declining before the Smoot-Hawley tariff was passed, and they have continued to decline, not because of the bill but because of the world wide conditions. Part of the decline is due to the lower values of the commodities exported and part is due to the fact that the stagnation of world business has made it possible for our consumers or manufacturers, to use as much of our produce as in normal times. This has been true of countries in South America, against which we have no tariffs, as in Europe where there is always less demand for our finished products than our raw materials.

Nobody has yet been able to make out a good case for the theory of lowering the tariff, to increase our trade abroad. That this is true can be gathered from the fact that in every major campaign for a generation in which the tariff has been an issue, the free traders have lost. It is difficult to convince the American people, most of whom are producers, that it would be wise to open up to cheap and unfair competition, the richest market in the world, in an effort to gain across the sea a market which exists principally only in the imagination of the free traders themselves.

Americans consume 90 per cent of what they produce, and there is a reason. The reason is the American standard of living which gives every American, no matter how humble, the right to expect necessities and semi-necessities which would be regarded as only designed for the wealthy in every other country of the world. Our automobiles for all of the people, our radios, our iceless refrigerators and various other household necessities, are abundant proof of the foregoing statement. In what other nation in the world is the ordinary citizen equipped with such modern conveniences as these? And as our productive genius improves new sources of demand from the people come into view.

There is no such market in Europe and will not be in this generation at least. In Europe the workers live on a different scale. The theory of the cheap production still holds because the producer has his eye on the foreign market and has no sympathy with the American ideal of a big market at home. He is always convinced that there is greener grass in the next pasture, and he knows there is much greener grass in the United States, if he could only invade it with his cheap commodities produced at something a little more than starvation wages.

It is true that European nations have tariffs but these are political tariffs enacted principally in an effort to get the better of the other fellow in the matter of foreign trade. They have little or no conception of the Americon idea which because of our high standard of living is to equalize the cost of production at home and abroad.

Uncle Sam will recover from the present depression, not because Santa Claus brings him a miraculous fat foreign market but because he is tightening up his belt and preparing to look after his own children first. And when Uncle Sam once gets on his feet things will begin to brighten for the rest of the world. Nothing would so help world confidence as definite indications that business was on the upgrade in the United States.

THERE SHALL BE NO SIGN GIVEN

In all this depression, the people, nearly all of them, seek a sign, not from heaven, but from government, and there will be no sign—for there is no salvation in government. Government has nothing to give the people that they do not have.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

I was driving down the highway and far down the road I saw a cross bar by the roadside. On coming closer I read the words, "Stop, Look and Listen!" A railroad track crossed the highway at that place and the management of the road had placed the sign of caution, so that the traveler would be on his guard against danger. Many people traveling that way will obey the instruction of that sign, but the majority of travelers will dash by as if it were not there. That is why we have so many accidents at railroad crossings. The sign says "Stop." We are going fifty and sixty miles an hour. We are in too big a hurry to bring our car to a stop. We are going somewhere, but we do not know where. The sign says look, but we have no time to look for anything except for that one thing that fills our minds. The sign says listen, but we have no time to listen for anything but that voice that is calling us on. God has placed his signs of danger across the pathway of men and nations, but we pay no attention to His words of caution. This is a fast age, and we have no time to stop, we can not afford to look for anything but pleasure and we are unwilling to listen for the voice that speaks to us from heaven. There are thousands of crashes in human life every day, and all because people refuse to heed the warnings along the way.

I am not saying when and I am not saying where, but not many days ago two men and two women came to a hotel at three o'clock in the morning. The men were rather boisterous, and had to be rushed to their rooms. The next morning they came down to the hotel clerk and asked, "What town is this and what hotel?" They acknowledged that they were all "shot" the night before and had no idea where hey were, and why they were in the hotel. These men were not Alabama men, but they had been fishing in Alabama streams. There are two things that will make a fool out of a man—women and whiskey. These two men had been willingly or unwillingly trapped, and they had lost their honor and their minds, and were guilty of things that they would not dare face where they resided. My Lord, what are we coming to? Yet, there are people in our county who are willing to vote like the Literary Digest wants them to vote, and say by their straw ballot, "Do away with the 18th amendment." We have plenty of fool men and crazy women now, but if we do away with the 18th amendment, we are going to multiply this number by the hundreds. When we turn our government over to wet forces, we will have acted as foolish as a mother does when she puts her children in a car to be driven by a drunk chauffeur.

Have you ever noticed that vultures never make a noise unless they are feasting on something dead, or are perched on a roost near something that pleases them well? That is what I am reminded of as I listen in on croakings of Lowel Thomas as he gloats over the straw ballot that is being taken by the Literary Digest. The ballot is strictly wet propaganda. The Digest is dripping wet in its policy, and it has yielded its columns to the millions of wet money to send out these card ballots, knowing that every wet voter in the United States will rush in his vote to do away with the 18th amendment. Whiskey men were sent out to secure the voting list, and if they took the name of a voter and he was dry, it was just blunder and their part. They expected to get a few dry voters on their lists, but they did not calculate to get over one dry vote to four wet voters. The percentage of wet votes was determined before the voting started. This was done to make it appear that our country is overwhelmingly wet. There was never a bigger lie prepetrated on the public. When the Literary Digest straw ballot is over, they will report about eleven million wet ballots and not over three million dry ballots. The percentage may be larger than that in favor of the return of the saloon. Back of this effort there is a deep set scheme to frighten both political parties into the adoption of a wet platform. The same forces who have spent their thousands to get this expression through the Literary Digest, will be before each gathering when a man is to be nominated for president, and they will go to the last limit to force a wet man into the race for president. Should the Republicans, should the Democrats, nominate a wet candidate, the man will be brought out by the corrupt element in our nation. Never before has the corruption asserted itself with more determination than it is now. This is the last supreme effort if they fail now they know that prohibition is here to stay. When Lowel Thomas pulls his bill out of the straw vote, like a vulture fresh from a carcass, he smacks and croaks for it looks to him like the United States is hopelessly wet. The underworld is unanimous for the return of the saloon. Many who can not be classed as belonging to the underworld, are voting to do away with the 18th Amendment. The unfortunate thing is that such people will not be so thoughtless as to line up with that bunch who will kidnap the Lindy baby, or do any thing else that will destroy morals or hinder civilization. When the wet forces in the United States will produce a finer civilization and a better standard of morals than the godly men and women are clamoring to produce, then it will be time to turn affairs over to them, but not until then. Let them show their hand in production of the better and finer things in life before we give them one inch of rope.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Run Out To Nothing—Now that you're all cocked and primed, and rearing back in your easy chairs, prepared to read and enjoy, here's my latest little bit of fun. Two Fellows, evidently strangers in Clanton, were roaming about over the town late one afternoon of last week. I suppose they were just "seeing the sights". Anyway, they walked all about over town, and finally reached Gore's corner, headed east. When they came to this point they halted, looked a little bewildered, and squinted up one street and down another. Finally, one of them scratched his head, tilted his old top piece over one eye, and spoke thus: "Well, I guess we had just as well go some other way. This looks like it is about all there is out this way."

This "Hoover Prosperity" Joke—I Thought everybody and his brother had heard that old "Hoover Prosperity" gag, about the man who was hitch-hiking on the highway and had a sign painted on his back which read, "If you don't pick me up I'll vote for Hoover." It's as old as the Pat and Mike jokes, and never was half as funny; it was a poor joke when it was fresh, and now it has grown stale—well, words fail to describe what a puny attempt to poke fun it really is. However, every once in a while some poor old moss back fogy hears about it, and pretty near kicks over his old wooden spitoon laughing at it. It don't take much to tickle a guy who can find a laugh in a poor old worn out gag like that. The Oneonta Southern Democrat is the latest I have heard of who got an earful of it. What a kick he got out of it! I'll bet he laughed so hard until his whiskers got all unplatted and part of the old cockle burrs and hay seed fell out of them; maybe he laughed until the tears streamed down and washed part of the "baccy" juice out of that old beard. I would go up there and tell him the war is over but I'm afraid the old boy might get all excited and fall backwards in the rain barrell and get a bath and catch cold, and then I'd feel guilty. Nope! I can't do it—haven't the heart.

A Good Sign—I heard something last Saturday night which really made me fell good—something I haven't heard much of in some two years or more. It was a conversation between two men, the conversation bearing an optimistic ring. One of the men was a merchant, the other a farmer. The merchant stated that his week's business was bigger than it had been for some time; the farmer "allowed" that maybe times were getting better. I perked up my ears at this, because it was something new to hear people talking better times. One after another joined in on the confab, until we had quite a few talking the matter over. There was one down-in-the-mouth guy in the lot, who felt that times were "still mighty bad, and might get worse." One of the other fellows set out to prove to him that he was wrong, and finally made him admit that there were several good signs of better times. That man merits a star in his crown, if he ever gets a crown, for that one convincing argument in favor of better times. And, folks, such favorable talk can do more toward bringing back prosperous times than all the law-making bodies, working overtime, can do. When people get it into their heads that the world isn't headed for the dogs, things will begin to pick up. And all of us, just common, every-day folks, must have a leading part in the proceedure. All the leaders in the world can't lead us out of the ditch unless we make some effort to follow their direction with some work of our own. Remember, an automobile will run in a ditch by itself, without a pilot, but it takes a pilot and a lot of push to get out out again. The pilot is already in place—get yourself a place, brace yourself good, and begin to push; pretty soon we'll have the old bus back on the pavement, running smooth.

Sunday work Doesn't Pay—A few years ago I worked in the time office of the Wisconsin-Alabama Lumber Company, at Sylacauga, Ala. The manager of operations at that time was a strict observor of that command to "remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it holy." He wouldn't allow any of the company's units to operate on Sunday. Everything was running smoothly, with no accidents of much importance. One day the president of the company blew into town, from Madison, Wis. Being the big shot of the whole works, he began setting out plans by which operations might be speeded up; one of these was that the log trains should run on Sunday, thereby getting the pond well stocked with logs while the mill was shut down. The general manager didn't like the idea, and said so; he got a good calling-down, and direct instructions from the president of the company to run those log trains seven days a week, or he might get a chance to look for a new job. The new orders went into effect, and the second Sunday one engine ran dry and blew up, while the "main line" train, the one which brought the logs from the woods skid-yard to the mill, hit an open switch and left the rails, sticking her nose in a bank. During the next week, one of the big 14 inch band saws bit into a railroad spike imbedded in a log, ripping the saw and completely severing a worker's leg. It was plain to see that everything was going wrong, and the general manager was very certain he knew the cause; he wired the president that he would put operations back on a 6-day week basis, or look up another general manager. After the president had been told of all that was happening, he gave in to the manager's contention, although he still didn't believe in "such bosh" as he called it. What happened? The epidemic of accidents stopped as suddenly as it began; it was months before there was another major accident in that company's operations. And, to cite what one of the country's leading men thinks of observance of the Sabbath, I'll quote Mr. Henry Ford, as he explained why he was a bit late in bringing out his new line. He said: "We are a bit behind schedule with our announcement of new models. Somebody got overzealous and had the plant put on a 7-day week plan, we got all bawled up, slowed up, and we came to the realization that when we worked on Sunday it took us the better part of the next week to correct the mistakes we made on Sunday. We went back to our original plans, and now we are about to get back to normal. If we can just keep our men in the plant through the week and in church on Sunday we will show you something." I think you'll have to admit that Mr. Ford's ideas, as a general thing, can be depended on, as he is a "fairly good" business man, to say the least. What do you think?

DEFENSE SENTIMENT GROWS

The celebration of the bicentennial of the birth of George Washington is serving once more to call the attention of the people of the United States to the advice of the first president of the United States against entangling alliances and in favor of the preparation for national defense. Vice president Curtis made this clear at the dedication of the Administration School Building at Philadelphia a few days ago when he said:

"Today when we read of the conditions in the far east, we recall that history tells us of the first formal document of its kind in the world's history—it was the neutrality proclamation; it was issued by George Washington.

"As Washington advised, it was never more necessary than now that the country be kept in a state of national defense. It would be wonderful if the strong nations of the earth would agree upon a plan of disarmament which would reduce their armies and navies to the smallest strength needed for defense, but the fear of the offense keeps them from doing so.

"Unless we all disarm, none will. So we must keep both our army and navy strong enough for complete nationl defense. So, too, we must keep up the strength of that new branch of the common defense, the air force.

"We hope for, have done, and are doing everything possible to bring about world peace, but it must be peace with honor; peace not involving us in political quarrels of other nations. Washington's advice of "no entangling alliances" might almost have been given with present day conditions in mind.

"Now, as then, we should chart and follow our own course, not that of any other nation. Now, as then, should we be indignant at every attempt of a foreign power to establish an influence in our councils.

"Today there are in our midst men of alien thought and race, who would sow the seeds of discord and disunion amoung us; who would overthrow our cherished ideals and traditions. We must rid our beloved country of all such, and of all alien criminals, and of all alien racketeers. The sooner such aliens are deported the better it will be for all."

The words of the vice president are well worth repeating. The American people are more and more each day becoming alive to the dangers which confront us. The action of Japan in Manchuria and Shanghai, thrusting aside all international agreements and treating the League of Nations as a schoolboy organization has opened our eyes to the dangers of trusting entirely in international agreements for the avoidance of the war. The United States now as always, is willing to meet the other powers halfway in the matter of disarmament. We are not going to Chinafy ourselves however and by following pacifist advice, render ourselves helpless as an example to a war-filled world, which would not respect any such example and would use it only to coerce us in any possible way. Pacifists cry for disarmament to bring peace and then advocate the dangerous policy of entering into a commercial boycott of Japan, a step well calculated to plunge us into war. Sometimes we are led to believe that politically the international pacifists in the United States have not yet advanced beyond the dollcart stage.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Weather is Principal Topic

All I can see or hear this week is something about the weather. And believe me, I have seen a plenty so far for one spell. Since last Saturday night a great big crop of strawberries have passed out of the picture in Chilton County, by way of the freezing route. Not only strawberries but many other tender young things have gone the same way.

Seed Business Slowed up

This week I do not observe so many farmers buying garden seed. Those who haven't bought and planted yet are glad they didn't Those who have planted are wondering if they will have to plant over. One fellow says the freeze will put everybody back on an even start in the planting business. I guess he is about right.

Optimists In Everything

I am glad there are optimists in every situation. The man who can smile and take things easy is always the happiest. While most people were wearing long, dejected looking faces over the loss of their strawberries, there were some who immediately declared that the freeze was a blessing in disguise. They say the plants will put on another crop allright, and the growers will get more for them later than they would have gotten if shipping had begun in two weeks, as would have happened without the freeze.

Optimism on the Extreme

Robert Alred came down to the drug store Wednesday morning, all "drawed" up and about half froze. The whole outside world was snoozing under a mantle of snow and ice. Various remarks were being exchanged about the weather and its devastating effects. Bob boldly declared he saw a beautiful rainbow on this snowy, freezing morning, as the sun was rising. I declared that was optimism carried to its remotest interpretation. Catfish said he didn't know much about what optimism looks like; but it appeared to him that Bob's tale about the rainbow looked like plain old prevarication to him.

Atkinson Raises Protest

Some time ago I told of my observation of J. B. Atkinson with a can of kerosene and an Irish potato stuck on the snout to keep it from sloshing out. Now comes Mr. Atkinson with a protest at my statement. He says he has been humiliated because I attributed to him such extravagant waste of potatoes; and he further declares that it was not a potato, but a piece of corn cob, that he had on the snout of the can.

Jeff Ruffin is Expanding

Jeff Ruffin, the Purina Store man in Clanton, is expanding his business facilities considerably. Back of his store he has built an additional warehouse. Inside the main building he is making changes and additions that will greatly faciliate the handling of his different operations. A limited stock of groceries has been added. Jeff declares his business is growing steadily, in spite of the Farm Bureau.

New Garbage Cans

The town authorities have provided a complete new layout of garbage cans throughout the business section of the city. This is a good plan directed toward keeping Clanton clean. Every person, citizen of Clanton, or visitor here, is requested to make use of these cans and not to scatter refuse on the streets.

Vatchel Went To Church

Vatchel Lindsay reports that he went to a certain church in Clanton last Sunday. "When they observed the Lord's supper," he says, "they refused to allow me to participate. But when they passed around the collection plate, they gave me a cordial invitation to put in my mite."

Cotton Mill Running

An employee of the Cotton Mill in Clanton stated to me recently that the mill is now running a full force day and night, on an order that will require several months to fill. He also stated that other orders were under consideration, which, if secured, would carry the mill under full capacity operation for more than a year. While this is not official, yet we hope it is correct.

Lowci Making Pipes

"Here is a pipe I made for you," said Frank Lowci, Tuesday morning. "I have some extra time now and then at my place out on the farm. I always use my time at something. The other day I decided to make some pipes, and here is one of them for you." I took it home. As I sat by the fire Tuesday night, while the snow was falling outside, I filled the Lowci hickory pipe with good ole P. A., and, Oh, Boy, what a joy as I toasted my toes in the ashes and went back many years ago when I tracked rabbits in the snow over the hills of Providence.

The Smallest Milk Cow

Arthur Tippett reports some interesting facts about his little milk cow, which he belives is perhaps the smallest in the county. He says she is two years old and weighs 345 pounds. She is a Jersey, and livestock authorities pronounce her very nearly perfect in her features, all except her unusually small size. Mr. Tippett expects to bring her to town to show the folks right away.

Clanton Quartet to Sing

Will Culp informs us that the Clanton Quartet will sing for the Big Brothers Bible Class in Montgomery next Sunday morning. The services of the class, including the singing, will be broadcast over radio station WSFA. Judge Leon McCord is teacher of the class. Many radio listeners will be delighted to hear our boys at that time next Sunday. The hour will be 9:30 to 10:30. The quartet is composed of Will Culp, Jesse Jones, Renfroe Jones, Akins Collins, Floy Devaughn. Mr. Culp is pianist and director.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

FARMERS WITH LIVESTOCK GET LARGEST CASH INCOME

The cash income of farmers which obtained 65 per cent of their income from livestock in 1930 was nearly four times that received on farms which gathered only 25 per cent of their cash from livestock.

This was found in a study of the cash income on farms of the United States in 1930 by F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician for the Department of Agriculture, who tells of his findings as follows:

"In the cotton producing states of the South only 27 per cent of the cash income derived from livestock, while 54 per cent of the cash income from crops came from the leading crop in each state. In most of the states this leading crop was cotton, only in Kentucky and Tennessee obtained its larger proportion of cash from tobacco. The average per capita cash income in the cotton producing states in 1930 was only $115, or less than $600 per farm family.

"In all the rest of the states 65 per cent of the cash income came from livestock, while 34 per cent of the cash from the crops came from the leading crop in each state. The average per capita cash income in the remainder of the United States, outside of the South, was $421, or around $2,000 per family.

"Of course, all ths difference in cash income was not due to increased profit from livestock farming directly. Part of it came from the fact that livestock requires less labor and enables one farm laborer to utilize much more land than a purely cropping system, especially if cotton be the principal crop.

Southern Songbird

RUTH PICKARD, a demure little miss from the mountains of Tennessee, though still in her teens, has already sung her way into the heart of the nation. A year or two ago, her father bundled Ruth and her brother, Obie, into the family Chevrolet and went to Louisville. Without suspecting it, they took the road to fame. Millions of radio listeners now acclaim their native songs of the Southland

Miss Pickard and her family have been chosen to lead in the musical tribute to Tennessee on Monday, March 14, in the radio panorama known as the "Parade of the States."*

ADDED MONEY VALUES THROUGH FORESTRY

Montgomery, Ala., March 9.—That over forty-eight million dollars has been added to the wealth of the state and its citizens through operation of the forestry department is revealed by the figures compiled in the recently completed Annual Report of the State Commission of Forestry, for the calendar year 1931. These values have been accumulating during the past eight years and have resulted from following the methods and procedures recommended to landowners by the department and from the latter's active cooperation with the citizens in advancing timber production on the non-agricultural lands of the state.

Certain methods of lumbering and turpentining are more economical and profitable than others. Determining the best systems for use in Alabama and promoting their adoption among the operators has benefited the latter to the extent of two million dollars over and above the gains from the older methods. The young growth on some six million acres of land reforested through the Commission's co-operative work with the local communities represents a value of substantially fifteen million dollars. Lands and funds recovered to the State through the operation of the State Land Act of 1927 amount to about forty-eight thousand dollars. The acceleration of growth in the residual timber stands due to following methods of silviculture, protection and management promoted by the Commission has been determined at approximately thirty-one million dollars.

These values are distributed over the greater part of the state and have accrued particularly to the farm and other owners of small timber tracts. Timber values, the commission points out, are of a stable nature, fluctuations being but temporary. The nonperishable nature of standing timber as a commodity enables the farmer or other landowner to carry it over from year to year, while it constantly increases in value, and to market it at the most favorable opportunity.

BIRMINGHAM BASE SULFATE AMMONIA

Montgomery, Ala., March 9.—Due to the activities of the Alabama Farm Federation consumers of sulfate of Ammonia in north Alabama will this year enjoy the benefit of Birmingham becoming a base point in the freight rate making, reports E. L. Deal, executive secretary of the farmers organization.

Heretofore, all freight rates on sulfate of ammonia regardless of origin have been from port, such as Mobile or Pensacola, he explained.

"The new arrangements will mean a saving of approximately $1.50 per ton in that territory surrounding Birmingham," he said. "In other words, consumers now have the benefit of port rate for south Alabama and Birmingham rate for north Alabama.

BETTER COTTONSEED AVAILABLE THIS YEAR

Auburn, Ala., March 9.—Cotton growers wishing to plant seed of good varieties can get them in Alabama this year. One million bushels of good seed were saved last fall for planting this spring. Most of these are D. P. L. 4-8 with Cook 1627 and other vareties being second in the central and northern portitons of the state. In south Alabama farmers must stick to wilt-resistant varieties, county agents advise.

"Although these seed may cost a little more than ordinary seed," J. C. Lowery of Auburn said, "they are worth a great deal more because they produce large yields of the kind of cotton wanted by manufacturers, and that means that it will bring more money. Where farmers are unable to buy the seed it is suggested that they exchange other seed or other products for them. Planting these seed is too important to be overlooked."

PRE-SCHOOL CHILD FORMS HABITS EASILY

Auburn, Ala., March 9.—The most important period for establishing habits in behalf of the mental and physical welfare of a child is the preschool period. It is not unusual for parents to make children of the preschool age victims of imaginations. Miss Nell Pickens of Auburn says, "A boy was examined by a physician who found no physical defects, but because his family talked a great deal about his headache or his sore finger or his sore toe, he was constantly magnifying his ills in order to receive the privileges whch inevitably came with illness."

"The family came to realize the need for a change of emphasis, so he was praised for gaining weight, for drinking milk, for being strong, for a clean plate at dinner, and he soon acquired the habit of beng proud of health instead of having wrong imaginations."

FARM AND GARDEN QUERY BOX

(By K. C. Davis, Knapp School of Country Life, Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.)

Query.—At this time of the year what is a safe number of eggs to set in order to produce 200 pullets for laying next year, allowing for culling?

Ans.—About 1,000 eggs should be set in the incubators for this purpose. Remember that about 30 per cent or more will fail to hatch because of the infertility or other causes. A small percentage of the baby chicks will die or must be killed while young because of imperfection. Allow 20 per cent for this purpose. Half the remainder will be males and about 15 per cent of the pullets may be culled out in the fall in order to have the best for laying.

Query.—What can be done for control of San Jose Scale, if one has failed to put on the winter spray until this time?

Ans.—If the buds have swelled and are showing some green, spray with a solution of lime-sulphur which is about half as strong as that used in the winter. This will do little if any damage to the buds and will control the scale pretty largely. On all peach and apple trees, it pays at this time to add some arsenate of lead, about one pound to fifty gallons, to control insects which feed on the early opening buds such as curculio beetles and peahces and the canker worms on apples.

Query.—Please give a spring spraying program for apples and peaches.

Ans.—In addition to the above mentioned spray, be sure to spray the apple trees thoroughly with Bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead combined, when the petals fall. Repeat this every two weeks for two more sprays. On plum and peach trees spray soon after the petals fall or about the time the brown rings or calyx are falling from the little peaches. Use the summer strength of lime-sulphur and add one pound of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons. Repeat this twice about two weeks apart. These sprays should control both insects and diseases and should give good clean fruit.

FERTILIZER TAG SALES OFF OVER 50 PER CENT

Fertilizer sales in the cotton belt are over 50 per cent lower than they were to the same date last year reports the Alabama Department of Agriculture.

In Alabama the tag sales to March 4 showed the sales to be off 54.5 per cent compared with the same period last year. Through March 4 this year tags for 40,200 tons had been sold compared with 88,350 tons to the same date last year and 196,300 tons to the same period in 1930.

At the close of February, tag sales over the south amounted to 473,351 tons against 972,080 tons for the same period last year and 1,571,743 tons the year before last.

The figures by states on March 1 this year follows:

Georgia, 58,086; North Carolina, 160,644; South Carolina, 108,547; Alabama, 33,800; Mississippi, 19,982; Arkansas, 7,650; Louisiana, 32,510; Tennessee, 21,077; Texas, 24,098; Oklahoma, 6,144. Total 473,351.

STRAWBERRIES TO BE SHIPPED UNDER FEDERAL CERTIFICATES

Thorsby, Ala., March 9.—Arrangements have been made for strawberries shipped in carlots from Thorsby, Clanton and Jemison this year to be shipped under federal and state certificates.

This has been announced by managers of the Thorsby, Clanton and Jemison fruit and truck growers associations, who declare that the inspection service of the state and federal departments of agriculture will assist in establishing the fact that Chilton County produces high class berries.

Managers of the Chilton County marketing association are C. R. Foss, Thorsby; S. P. Shaw, Jemison; and L. E. Diefenderfer, Clanton. They report that they have completed plans with B. P. Livingston, chief of the plant industry division and Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture, for state and federal inspection for all cars of straberries shipped by the associations this year.

In addition to getting inspections service, arrangements have been made for the department of agriculture, Montgomery, to daily furnish market quotations from the leading markets of the United States to the Chilton County marketing associations.

Strawberries are expected to begin moving from this county during the later part of this month, officials report. Over 100 cars are expected to be shipped from the county. Last year 91 cars moved from Thorsby, 39 cars from Clanton, and 32 from Jemison, making a total of 160 cars moved from the county during the season.—L. O. Brackeen.

DAIRYING

DAIRY FEEDING PROGRAM

A complete dairy feeding program that runs the whole course of profitable dairying from calves to test cows is told in easy reading home-spun way in a popular bulletin just prepared following many dairy experiments of the Purina Experiment Farm. The bulletin is entitled, "A Complete Dairy Feeding Program."

It contains not only the fundamentals of good dairying information, but the latest news that the dairyman wants in workng out a year-around program of handling cows, bulls, and calves from brth to the show circuit.

Possibly of most signficance is the information on how to handle the dry cow out on pasture as soon as she is through giving milk. It suggests feed and care to prepare her for freshening and for a season of hard work.

Such topics as "How to Feed the Cow during adjustment Period," "Feeding Calves from Birth to Four Months of Age," "Feeding Heifers from four months to freshening," and "The Most profitable Home ration"—pages of help like these are contained in this very latest handbook for the dairy feeder.

For the man who is contemplating taking cattle on the show circuit there is helpful information. For the man who is feeding test cows, and who is interested in making high milk records there is information. For the 4-H calf club member and for the student of vocational agriculture with a dairy project, there are ideas that will help them as well. A copy of this bulletin may be obtained for the asking at J. L. Ruffin's, local Purina dealer.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES

"The Care of Linen," is the title of a bulletin written by Miss Dana Gatchel, associate professor of Home Economics, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, now available for distribution. The bulletin is explicit about the proper care of linens and methods of removing stains.

The economic structure of the United States is such that money and people must work together. Idleness of either causes idleness of the other. This is why money is not now in circulation should be put to work.
